Irvin Feld, chairman of the hospital's Board of Governors, in commenting on the success of the campaign, said, "Once again the community has shown its support and acceptance of the hospital's building and renovation program. This will allow us to continue to provide the citizens with the health care services they require."

Board member George Edwards called the campaign a "total community project." He said it is being supported "by all segments of the county."

According to Jacquelyn Shirer, chairman of the building committee for the Board, Project G is within budget and on schedule. "The contractors are doing an excellent job and we are planning to open the new areas in the spring of 1982," she said. Renovations to the existing hospital building will begin soon after the move to the new

Young Career Woman Named

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club has selected Jeri Lynne Jones, assistant director of Continuing Education at Garrett Community College, as its Young Career Woman for 1981-82.

Ms. Jones was selected by a panel of judges at the annual program at the Will O' the Wisp on December 14.

Prior to her current responsibilities of planning and implementing non-credit courses in the community, Jones developed the first Job Placement Office for GCC Students. Her responsibilities included providing career direction and goal identification, assisting with resume writing and teach-

County Parents Raise Questions On Proposed School Board Policy

Nine representatives of Parent-Teacher Association from throughout Garrett County braved poor road conditions and the snowstorm Thursday to attend the county Board of Education meeting and to express their views on the Board's proposed policy on student activities.

The two items raising the biggest question concerned the Board's stance against requiring an assessed fee to participate in an activity and the Board's establishment of grade limitations as requirements for participation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fillmyer representing the Southern High Band Boosters, told the Board there are certain trips the band takes in which students must pay for their own food, transportation and lodging. If the Board meant to restrict this sort of fee requirement, they pointed out, the band program would be severely affected.

After some discussion, superintendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, who drafted the proposed policy governing curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities, stated the policy would not encompass personal expenses of students incurred in participation in an activity, but would mainly affect any organization which required a certain amount of money before a student could join.

Exxie Colaw, representing the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, told the Board he agreed with part of the proposed academic requirements for participation in an activity. He said he did not object to setting a 60 percent grade average limitation, but he did object to also requiring a 60 percent average in each of the major subjects.

Ryscavage noted that 60 percent was the Board's minimal requirement for passing a course and a grade level, but said the state required a student to pass certain courses to be

THE SPIRIT OF GIVING is one of the finer characteristics of the Christmas season and Kelly Vance, a resident of Mt. Lake Park, showed this week just exactly what possessing that spirit is all about. Vance made a trip into Oakland Monday morning in order to present personal donations to the Southern Rescue Squad and the Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Project G fund. Both checks were in the amount of $1,000. Accepting on behalf of the hospital in the above photo is Joyce Bishoff, chairman of the hospital board's public relations committee, and below is Hazel Stewart, a member of Southern Rescue.

Weather

Variable cloudiness, breezy and cold today with a few snow flurries. Highs in the mid to upper 20s. Mostly cloudy and cold to night with lows 10 to 15 above. Cloudy and continued cold Thursday with snow likely by afternoon. Highs in the low to mid 20s. The chance of precipitation is 30 percent today, 10 percent tonight and 70 percent Thursday. Winds north-west 10 to 20 mph today diminishing to light and variable tonight.

Lingering flurries Friday. Fair Saturday and Sunday. Very cold through the period with nighttime lows ranging from 5 to 10 in the mountains and the teens and low 20s elsewhere.

25 Inches Of Snow Reported On Mountaintop

About 25 inches of snow was reported to have accumulated in the county last week following three full days of continuous snowfall. Maryland State Police report the snow emergency plan went into effect in Garrett County at 3 p.m. Tuesday, December 8, and was lifted at 12 noon on Saturday. Students in the Garrett County School District were dismissed early from classes on Wednesday and enjoyed an extended weekend, as school was canceled Thursday and Friday.

Snow-covered, icy roads and high winds presented a challenge to the Garrett County Roads Department and the State Highway Administration.

A State Highway spokesman said crews began work at 8 a.m. December 8 and worked straight through, 24-hours, up until 5 p.m. Saturday. Even with the continued snowfall and winds the department was able to maintain two-way traffic he said. All crews worked 16-hour shifts, with eight hours rest in between. The maximum number of men out of that department working at one time last week was 53, with a maximum of 39 pieces of equipment.

The same situation began again at 7 a.m. Monday and continued through 3 p.m. yesterday, the spokesman stated. Additional crews were sent home at 4 p.m. yesterday, but were called back out at 7 p.m. to begin again State Highway reports that currently Route 48 is about 25 percent bare; primary roads are about 20 percent bare, and secondary roads are snow-covered.

Ken Metheny, interim administrator of the Garrett County Roads Department, said all crews and all equipment were out round-the-clock last week. He said that today roads are snow-covered, but open, plowed and salted, adding that the public should have no problem in road travel.

Highs and low temperatures and precipitation levels for the week were, Wednesday, high 27 degrees, low 18 degrees, .12 precipitation, four inches of snow; Thursday, 23, 14, .15 prec., 12 inches of snow; Friday, 20, 15, .08 prec., four inches of snow; Saturday, 22, 18, 0 prec.; Sunday, 36, 14, 0 prec.; Monday, 35, 16, .26 prec., two inches of snow; and Tuesday, 35, 22, trace of prec. The overnight low was 18 degrees.

A TRUE TEST OF CHRISTMAS SPIRIT is being taken by this bundled shopper last week, as she trudges through the midst of winter's first real display in Garrett County. Head bent to the chilling wind, she makes her way home, tree and packages in hand. The storm of last week dumped more than two feet of snow on the mountaintop, closing school for two days and causing hazardous road conditions. The weatherman promises more of the same this week, with snow showers and gusting winds reported around the district this morning.

County Board Considers Proposal For Adoption Of Building Code

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has been asked to consider adoption of a county building code by a Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development official.

Harry Allen, code enforcement officer from the Building Codes Administration of DECD, met with the commissioners Tuesday to discuss institution of standard building codes in the county.

He noted that currently there are three counties in Maryland without any code, Garrett included.

Allen said that currently there are an average of 140 housing permits issued in the county each year, but no inspection for compliance with standard building codes is required.

The commissioners would need to adopt a county ordinance and hire a part-time inspector if they decided to have a building code. Allen said the cost of the inspector could be covered by imposing a housing permit fee.

The codes would act as a quality control for construction in the county, Allen pointed out. There would be three separate inspections involved: one for foundation work, one for plumbing and electricity and one for the completed building and site. If all standards were met at the final inspection, an occupancy permit would be issued.

The codes would even govern modular and mobile homes, Allen said, particularly those which are transported into the county across state lines.

Allen pointed out problems such as those at the Bradley Manor apartment complex would never have occurred if the county had a building code.

Although no members of the Mt. Top Builders' Association were present during that meeting, Robert Fousek, county clerk, reported some members have expressed support for a building code.

In other business, the commissioners approved the Transportation Program for Garrett County for fiscal year 1982 and a request for a transportation operating assistance grant as presented by Marilyn Metheny, Commission On Aging director, and Bonnie Zimmerman, county bus system administrator.

The grant requests $16,914 from the state and $12,000 from the federal government.

Bill Grant, First National Bank Trust Officer, and Bob Garner, Beall, Garner, Screen and Geare, met with the commissioners to propose an alternate pension plan for county employees which would allow them the option of withdrawing from the Maryland state retirement system or pension plan.

They made the proposal because of the large amount of money paid into the state programs. They said the plan would reduce the county's liability in the state plan and would be more economical.

The commissioners stated they wished to have more information on withdrawal from the state programs.

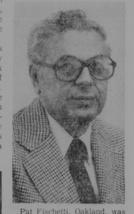
Fischetti Elected Private Industry Council Chairman



Pat Fischetti, Oakland, was recently elected chairman of the Western Maryland Private Industry Council. Fischetti recently retired as general manager of the Bausch & Lomb facility in Mt. Lake Park since 1971. He has been a member of the Private Industry Council since its inception in 1979 serving as vice-chairman for two years.

He is also president of the Mountaintop Chamber of Commerce, district chairman of the Deep Creek Lake Council of Boy Scouts, and a member of the Tri-County Council and the Oakland Rotary Club.

While plant manager of Bausch & Lomb, Garrett County's largest private employer, Fischetti was involved in numerous successful training programs for plant employees.

Seibert Shifler, of Shifler Electric Company, Hagerstown, was elected vice chairman of the Council which serves Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

The Private Industry Council is primarily composed of Baltimore Man Hospitalized After Shooting Mishap

A Baltimore man visiting the mountaintop spent the weekend in Garrett County Memorial Hospital after he suffered an accidental self-inflicted gunshot wound to his hand. Melvin A. Stanlewicz was admitted to the hospital about midnight on Friday and was released Monday.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department reports that Stanlewicz was camping in the Eagle Rock area off the Uperman Road when the incident occurred. Reports indicate he was showing a companion the operations and safe handling of his 243 caliber Kodiac rifle while the two were seated on the floor of a tent. Police said the victim loaded a shell in the breach, had the barrel of the rifle pointed toward the ground, and had his right hand over the muzzle. The gun then discharged and the bullet passed through his right palm and into the ground. Stanlewicz was taken to the hospital by his companion.

St. Mark's Church Honors Rev. Seaks

The congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland held a surprise appreciation dinner on Sunday following worship to honor Rev. Richard A. Seaks for his eight years of service to the parish. The event was planned by the church council and a committee composed of Polly Hanst, chairman; Sue Pagenhardt, Harry Fox and Charles Trautwein.

Over 250 persons were in attendance, including Rev. Seaks parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Seaks of Stewartstown, Pa.

Most of the buffet meal, which included seafood crepes, roast beef, ham, fresh fruit and vegetables, was prepared and served by Martin Heise and employees of Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Heise is also a member of St. Mark's. Other dishes were prepared by members of the church.

Brief remarks were made by church council president, Jack Fridinger, followed by a statement of appreciation by Rev. Seaks.

During the worship service which preceded the dinner, Kristin Seaks, infant daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Sue Seaks was baptized.

Rev. Seaks came to the Oakland parish from Baltimore in 1973. During his eight years at St. Mark's, the congregation moved into a new church building and over 200 new members have been added to the congregation.

Rev. Seaks resides on Pennington Street with his wife, Sue, and their three children: David, Amy and Kristin.

Christmas Treat Set For Saturday

The Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its annual Christmas treat on Saturday, December 19, on Second Street adjacent to the St. Matthews Episcopal Church, beginning at 1 p.m.

Santa Claus will make an appearance at the event, and oranges, popcorn and Christmas candy will be distributed, compliments of the Greater Oakland Merchants' and Businessmen's Association and the Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce. The National Guard is in charge of the treat, assisted by Boy Scout Troop No. 31 of Oakland.

Everyone is welcome.

Before You Sign Up For An IRA . . .

Look At The Other Plans . . .

Then . . . Compare Garrett National Bank's Plan

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE!

Our Plan gives you the best of both worlds

★ The flexibility and ease of use of a Passbook Savings Account, and

★ A high rate of return from your very first deposit of $10 or more.

The Difference Could Mean MANY More $$$ For You!

1. HIGH RATE OF RETURN. Your Garrett National "Special" IRA account* will have a variable rate of interest subject to review every 30 days. This rate will be tied to our 30 month "small saver" certificates of deposit. The yield on your "Special" IRA account will be equal to the rate on our 30 month small saver certificates. (Current rate on 2½ yr. small saver C.D.s is 12.70%). From your first deposit of $10 or more, your "Special" IRA account will earn this high rate of return. Garrett National requires no minimum amount to accumulate before you begin earning a high yield.

2. FLEXIBLE DEPOSIT SCHEDULE. You can set up a deposit schedule that fits your specific needs. You can make as many deposits during the year as you wish, in any amount.

3. AUTOMATIC DEPOSIT. We can even set up an automatic deposit that will transfer your IRA deposit from your GNB checking account to your IRA account at any time or in any amount you wish.

4. INTEREST COMPOUNDED DAILY. Interest earned on your Garrett National "Special" IRA account will be compounded daily and credited to the account quarterly. This feature allows you to earn a higher yield than an "interest at maturity" certificate of deposit, at the same annual percentage rate.

5. YOUR FUNDS INSURED. As with all deposits at Garrett National, your IRA account is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, up to $100,000.00.

*This account has a maturity of 18 months and requires a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.
Substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.

CHARLIE BROWN'S CHRISTMAS seems under control, as members of the Northern Middle School eighth grade class perform for the student body. Above, Lucy, portrayed by LuAnn Hartley, gives advice to Charlie Brown, played by Mark Robeson. Her fee is still a nickel, but she gives more advice than Charlie wants to hear most of the time. Below, in a more serious moment, Lucy discusses the problems of holidays with Schroeder, played by Mike Bowyer. The class presented three plays to the students and PTA members. The final performance will be held this afternoon.

Northern Middle Students Present Christmas Plays

Raffle Drawing Date Rescheduled

It has been announced by the Southern Rescue Squad that the raffle drawings originally scheduled for December 19 have been postponed until March 6. The decision was made in order to have more time to publicize the raffles, which are for the purpose of raising money for a new ambulance, according to Brad Stewart, project chairman. A pancake supper will be held March 6 at the squad hall at which time the drawing will be conducted.

Persons desiring tickets should contact Brad Stewart or any other member of the squad.

Frostburg State Commencement Ceremonies Set

Frostburg State College will award 293 degrees Thursday, December 17, at Commencement ceremonies scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Lane Center.

The degree recipients include persons who completed degree requirements during the summer or in December. The college will confer 178 bachelor of science degrees, 16 bachelor of arts, 46 master of education, 45 master of science in management, six master of science in wildlife management, and one each master of science in counseling psychology and master of arts in humanities.

Dr. Donald L. Alexander, president of Allegany Community College, will deliver the address.

Americans change their addresses more often during a typical lifetime than probably any other people in the world.

For every ten gallons of fuel oil you burn, you may waste four.

At more than a buck a gallon, who can afford that?

(DEALER INQUIRIES INVITED)

Your old, inefficient oil burner may turn as little as 60% of your expensive fuel oil into useful heat.

But a new INTERburner™ replacement oil burner is highly efficient, because its exclusive, patented Turbo-Reversed Air System burns hotter, cleaner. And puts nearly every drop of oil to work where it can do the most good - heating your home.

Some INTERburner owners report cuts of up to 40% in oil consumption (without "dialing down"). That means, if you used 1000 gallons of fuel oil this heating season, INTERburner could save you up to 400 gallons next season.

An INTERburner runs whisper quiet. It even saves on electrical bills, because its Interrupted Ignition uses only a fraction of the power other burners need.

Since it's an energy-saving product, an INTERburner qualifies for Federal Energy Tax Credits on your income tax.

And every INTERburner is UL-listed and factory-fired for your peace of mind. It's made in U.S.A. and parts are readily available.

You've wasted enough expensive fuel oil. It's time to talk to your local Qualified INTERburner Installer. He's a pro. A graduate of the intensive INTERburner training program.

He'll give you a free energy audit of your present oil heating system. And tell you how much you can save with INTERburner.

Undeserved Criticism . . .

About one month ago this newspaper printed a story which aroused a tremendous amount of emotion within the county. The story concerned the suicide of one Theodore Uphold after he was arrested at Browning's Oakland Supermarket for shoplifting. The original story was based upon information received from members of the Uphold family, who maintained that Mr. Uphold was innocent of the charges. Because Browning's declined to comment on the incident, basically only one side of the story could be presented by us. Browning's Inc. responded the following week, but the emotions, most of which being in the form of anger, were already aroused and aimed directly towards Browning's. The damage, so to speak, was already done.

We prepared and presented the original story in what we believe was a professional manner. We fabricated none of the information and we utilized all of the information made available to us at the time. We feel we owe no apologies.

However, after discussing the situation at length with the owners of Browning's, Inc., and looking at all of the information surrounding the incident, we are of the opinion that much of the criticism being received by Browning's is undeserved. From all we can gather, the procedure used in the Uphold case was no different than the procedure used by thousands of other retail stores in the nation.

Shoplifting is a major problem, amounting to an estimated $8 billion dollars in pilfered goods nationwide just during this Christmas season. The deterrent found most effective is to prosecute all cases. Sadly, most shoplifting is done by senior citizens and juveniles.

We, like Browning's, cannot determine the innocence or guilt of Mr. Uphold or any person arrested for shoplifting. Browning's simply filed the charges when they saw Mr. Uphold leaving the store with unpaid-for items in his possession. It is then up to the courts to determine guilt or innocence. Unfortunately, Mr. Uphold decided to take his life before his day in court. Theoretically, a similar decision could be made by all persons arrested for shoplifting.

Browning's stated that they did not respond to the newspaper concerning this case originally because it had not yet gone to trial and because of the extremely sensitive nature of the case.

The management and employees of Browning's Oakland market, which employs 80 persons, has been hurt significantly by this incident, both financially and emotionally. There has been hate mail and an apparent boycotting of the store. We would hate to see this business destroyed because of the misunderstanding associated with the matter. Their contributions to the community have been numerous, not only from a service and employment standpoint, but through financial support to local organizations. Records show that Browning's Inc., just during the first ten months of this year, donated a total of $6,996 to 96 different organizations, most of which went unpublished. The owners have also said that they recognize the possibility of some older persons accidentally leaving the store with unpaid-for items and have decided to post reminder signs at the checkout counters and exit at the Oakland store.

"No compassion for senior citizens" has been one of the charges leveled against Browning's. Yet they are the only local food store which, for the past five years, has sponsored a Senior Citizens' Day every Monday, when all senior citizens receive a 5% discount. This charge, and many others concerning this tragedy, just don't seem justifiable.

Only The Serious Need Apply . . .

by Carol Kapel

Ten days ago, I was honored to lecture a group of college journalism students on the pros and cons of my profession. They requested some general information on the subject of journalism and reporting the news.

Some came to my office with stars in their eyes, ready to hear all the glamourous facts so often believed connected with newspaper reporting. I feel sure they left a little older and a great deal wiser.

At the risk of sounding harsh, I said what I feel compelled to say to all those who express even the slightest interest in my craft.

The field calls to the ones willing to give all to answer. The key word here is all.

I believe the door to journalism should be firmly closed to those who cannot or will not perform with their whole mind and complete integrity. Human emotion, absolute equality, and stalwart conviction must not waiver when one accepts the responsibility a journalist's pen confers.

The intensity of my love and respect for this craft—this art of mind-molding—begins in my heart and ends in my conscience.

In testing their seriousness, I attempted to impress upon them the scope of overwhelming power and sometimes suffocating responsibility assumed with a career in journalism.

I don't encourage those who are not deadly serious about this business. There is no room for them here. Half-truths, partial facts, hollow assumptions, and luke-warm possibilities are far too often passed off as good or sufficient reporting today. The door marked 'easy way out' is all too often chosen, and the relentless quest for the whole truth, from both views, is too often ignored.

Someone once said it's a deadly business, this mighty pen. An accurate statement, to be sure. The community, its events, and its people are the clay. I am one of many potters. Somewhere, there is a perfect vessel, for which I will always strive, and encourage others to do the same.

Thanks, students, for the opportunity to share. I saw several potential news people among you. Your eyes told me where your hearts were.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

As a former resident of Garrett County and a reader of "The Republican," I would like to express my concern about the recent articles in your newspaper regarding shoplifting at Brownings Super Market. It appears that the manager, Jerry Thrasher, has been getting the "raps" for simply performing his duties. It's unfortunate when an innocent person gets hurt or loses his life unnecessarily and I do want to express my sympathy to the family and friends of the deceased. However, let's not forget that the manager of any business has as one of his duties the responsibility of suppressing shoplifting.

I believe that the deceased was innocent. No doubt we're all guilty of similar incidents. I also believe that this gentleman must have had feelings of despondency unrelated to this event to cause him to take his own life. Why should we lay a "guilt trip" on an honest man who would be putting his job in jeopardy if he let such cases go without notice. Let's not upset an innocent man's life for something beyond his control.

Very truly yours,
Naomi L. Barr
Rawlings

Dear Editor,

I am very displeased at the way the Town of Oakland's Christmas decorations are displayed to the public.

Half of the lights on these decorations are burned out and have not been replaced for years.

Snowmen, I thought, were supposed to be white, but I guess not. The snowmen decorations have blue, red, green, and yellow lights on their white bodies.

The Snowmen, the Santa Claus, and the Candy Cane decorations are not white, they're dingy gray. They look like they have been stored in a coal mine.

The wreaths that have Merry Christmas and Season's Greetings written on them look as if somebody has jumped up and down on them.

The exorbitant cost of replacements, along with high operating costs leads me to believe that these decorations should be stored properly so that they will last a long time.

Christmas decorations should be presented properly for public viewing.

Sincerely,
Mary D. Bolden
Oakland

Letters To The Editor:

I've been devastated ever since a friend of mine passed away. This friend was the greatest influence on my life. I grew up with him. I've never known what it was to cry until now. He was not only a friend but a teacher. He taught me through his experiences, consequently, he knew exactly what he was talking about. Some concepts were unclear but the foundation was solid.

He taught me that because there's life, there's hope, and it's OK to be afraid. We're all human. He taught me that we all have needs and weaknesses. He taught me that the only religion is people. He taught me that I could only take what I gave. He made sense of this seemingly senseless existence. He could see through the day's facade and he told the truth about "the game." His honest voice taught me more than I could learn from any book. His sometimes aggressive approach only strengthened the grip of his philosophy. He taught me that love is real.

If any of this makes any sense to anyone, you probably knew him too; he opened his heart to everyone. If not, I sympathize that you didn't. He believed in me. He believed in us all. Too much I suppose. But more importantly, he had faith in himself. They'll probably be others like him, but not in my lifetime. Although I never conversed with him, he was my best friend. Thanks John. Imagine.

Un Croyant,
Jeff Colaw

Jury Deadlocked In Arson Case

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury was unable to reach a verdict in the arson trial of Lee Thomas Barnes, 33, New Windsor, which was brought last week to Garrett County on a change of venue from Carroll County.

Barnes pleaded innocent to charges that he set a fire which destroyed the Church World Service Center warehouse in New Windsor. The building contained 1.5 million tons of clothing earmarked for distribution to needy people overseas, as well as hygienic supplies, blankets, and linens.

The three-alarm blaze brought response from 14 fire companies and lasted a total of 15 hours. Damage estimates neared 1.6 million dollars.

Barnes, who described himself as "a partying person," claimed he was at home with friends when the fire broke out. "I don't remember much about the night of the fire. I was partying, and it's just not clear." Further into his testimony, Barnes stated, "When the fire siren went off, I was at home drinking beer and eating crabs. I went over after the fire engines came. I'd never been to that building before."

When questioned by the state about reports that he told friends he had set the fire, he claimed "I've got a joking nature." One of the witnesses against Barnes was labeled as "a drunk that no one would believe" by the defendant.

Because of a 7-5 deadlock in the jury room, a mistrial was declared by Associate Judge Fred A. Thayer. According to a court spokesman, a new trial will be held at a later date. Barnes is one of three men charged with arson in the case.

Colaw noted that some students stay enrolled in school in order to participate in certain activities and although they may have an overall average of 60 percent, they may not be making passing grades in some major subjects.

Norma Hesen, also representing the SGAA, asked the Board to consider placing a student on a probationary period if he is failing a major subject, rather than remove him from an activity immediately.

Ryscavage, in response to a question, said that the state does not set a requirement or standard on academic achievement for participation in extra-curricular activities.

He noted that comments made by the representatives would be given further consideration by the Board, before an activities policy was adopted.

In other business, the Board approved a 26-week youth employability project for the period of January 1-June 30. The project, designed to prevent students from dropping out of school, will help students find employment in the community while simultaneously remaining in school. Students would be offered tutorial services and would receive a school credit for involvement in the program.

The Board accepted the FY1981 Audit and Financial Report presented by an auditor from McLaughlin, Reineke and Associates. The auditor stated the Board was on sound financial footing.

He said the financial situation for the food service department was improving, but noted there was still too much money spent on salaries and wages.

The auditor reported that a copy of the statement had been published in the December 2 and 9 issues of The Republican newspaper.

The Board authorized James Lupis, assistant superintendent of administrative services, to notify the Town of Accident that the Board will pay for the extension of town water and sewer lines to the school property out of this year's budget rather than pay for it with a bank loan.

Lupis informed the Board that a grant approved for replacing oil-fired burners at Northern High School had to be resubmitted, because of new plans to convert the boilers to coal. He said he thought the grant would be approved, but if not, the Board would have to decide whether to proceed with original plans to replace the boilers or to find other money for conversion.

Al Coviello, supervisor of pupil services, told the Board his department was revising a guidance counselor evaluation form to more closely reflect the Board's perception of a counselor's responsibilities. The Board had adopted a guidance plan in October which described a guidance counselor's role in the school system.

Mishaps

Rescue Squad from Accident to the scene, about one-half mile south of the Laurel Run Church.

Another mishap occurred Thursday at 9:10 p.m., on Route 560, south of the White Church Road.

Calvin C. Layman, 36, of Bayard, W.Va., was reportedly southbound on Route 560 when his vehicle traveled out of control and slid off the roadway.

Garrett Central Alarm handled communications as Gorman Fire Department, Maryland State Police from McHenry, and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and equipment truck responded. Police report Layman and his wife, Helen, 38, were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, after they were transported there by members of the rescue squad.

Two moving vehicles and a disabled vehicle were involved in a pile-up collision early yesterday morning, at 12:53 a.m., on Route 560 about one mile from Loch Lynn.

State Police at McHenry said a disabled vehicle owned by a Mt. Storm man was cross-ways in the roadway when it was struck by a southbound vehicle driven by Edward R. Sisler, 40, of Gormania, W.Va. A vehicle operated by James W. Fries, 20, Oakland, then struck the Sisler vehicle.

A passenger in the Sisler vehicle, Richard R. Friend, 25, of Gormania, W.Va., was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where he was treated and released. Garrett Central Alarm also dispatched the Oakland Fire Department to the scene.

Second Impression

"But I'm well liked!"

by Harry Fox

Twice in the past few weeks, President Reagan's candid expression of personal opinion (to which he is entitled!) has come dangerously close to interfering with the first amendment rights and responsibilities of a truly free press. He suggested that "patriotism" should be considered in handling sensitive political and international stories.

Most readers of this column may wonder why so many journalists spend so much time talking about the issues of press freedom and responsibility. Isn't it all "shop talk" that should and could be reserved to professional reading and periodicals? Isn't it so much "hot air," this public beating of the breast whenever questions about 1st Amendment issues are raised?

Not really. President Reagan's remarks are a good example of what I mean. If he is asking for careful and thorough work before a story is published, that's good advice. Too much hurried and half-hearted writing can lead to mistakes and outright inaccuracies.

But I take the President's remarks another way. I hear a not-too-subtle appeal to mask the facts and "package" sensitive stories so that no one, or no programs, get exposed to the light of truth.

There is a constant desire by the subjects of news stories to beautify the news, to change the complexion of a story that would speak unfavorably of the subject. Why does every government figure or agency of importance, and every business or institution of any size, have a press secretary or public relations office? The motive is clear—a need to influence or quash the work of an inquisitive and tough reporter. This is true whether we speak of national issues or local concerns.

Reporting the good and the bad isn't always easy. It certainly isn't pleasant. There are times when the temptation to "play" a story for an ulterior motive is almost impossible to resist.

But the good reporter says "no" to such motives and emotions. When reporting is accurate and results in uncomfortable publicity, let's correct the problem, not get out the makeup and apply a gloss to hide the blemishes. That is the only way to solve problems, and if there is a "motive" for a truly free press, please let it be this.

The frequent pleas to tamper with the facts of a story remind me of Willie Loman, the character in Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman." As his economic and personal world crumbled around him, all Willie could do was to plead "But I'm well liked!"

Perhaps, but such an attitude ultimately loses one the friends who seem at the time to mean so much.

Think about it, Mr. President.

minded the commissioners of a salary increase for the board members which became effective June 1, 1981, as a result of state legislation introduced by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden during the 1981 General Assembly Session.

The raise amounts to $200 a year for the two members of the board and $500 for the board president.

Charlotte Griffith, county chairperson for the International Year of Disabled Persons, presented the commissioners with a community partner award to recognize the support in the county for activities throughout the year for handicapped persons. She said 1,800 communities in the nation received the award.

The commissioners appointed the housing rehabilitation advisory commitee for the Crellin-Hutton Project, a project to rehabilitate 20 homes in the Crellin-Hutton area by bringing them up to federal housing standards.

Appointed to the committee were Rodney Glotfelty, county health department; Marilyn Metheny, Commission On Aging; Joe Hughes, Department of Social Services; Diana Wawzinski, county housing coordinator; and project residents, Bernadine Friend, George Zimmerman, and James E. Matthews.

The commissioners adopted three amendments to the housing rehabilitation manual which were: 1) a conflict of interest clause; 2) an acceptance of work clause; and 3) a rights of homeowner clause.

business leaders who work to provide and promote employment and training for the unemployed who are interested in job training in Western Maryland. Last year, the Council was instrumental in providing employment opportunities for over 100 workers in the area.

Among current programs which the Private Industry Council is supporting are: intensive job search workshops, referral service for handicapped workers, college courses in business and clerical fields, and many on-the-job training programs sponsored and designed by employers throughout Western Maryland.

The Private Industry Council is working to help various types of businesses, small and large, find the workers they need and save money at the same time. The Council can provide employers with qualified job applicants, tax credit information and cash reimbursements just for hiring and training eligible employees.

Employers interested in learning how the Private Industry Council can be of assistance may call the Council's representative, Beverley K. Swaim, at 724-7835.

ing interviewing skills. In 1980, with her assistance, all female veterinary technology graduates found related employment.

Jones received her bachelors degree in Psychology from the University of Houston and her masters degree in Special Education from Virginia Commonwealth University. Her previous experience includes teaching mentally handicapped adolescents.

She is a volunteer for the free 4-H riding program, has previously volunteered in other capacities for 4-H and taught Physical and Occupational Education for the Handicapped this year. She coordinated a Special Olympics team in Virginia for four years.

Jones is a member of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women, the Garrett Choral Society, and the Deep Creek Pacers Club.

The runner-up in the program is Carolyn Dooley, a third and fourth grade teacher at Yoder School.

Ms. Dooley holds a bachelors degree from Frostburg and a masters in Education from the University of Maryland.

She participates in numerous community and church activities in her community of Springs, Pa. She represents the Yoder School in the Garrett County Teachers Association.

Jones will represent the Garrett County BPW Club at the Maryland State Convention in May where she will participate in a program for Young Careerist across the state. One Maryland candidate will be chosen to attend the National BPW Convention in August.

Judges for the program were Polly Hanst, Oakland; Ken Bittinger, Thayerville; and Dana Thoman, McHenry.

building. Among the departments to receive major renovation will be obstetrics and nursery.

Kenneth A. Richmond, administrator, stated that persons or organizations wishing to tour the new construction after 4 p.m. on weekdays or on weekends may make arrangements to do so by phoning the hospital and asking for the administrator's office. An open house for all interested persons will be held for two or three days just prior to the opening of the facility, probably in late March if construction remains on schedule.

Ms. Milko stated that persons who plan to make a donation to Project G may wish to do so before the end of 1981 in order to claim the tax deduction at the higher 1981 tax rate. She stated, however, that the pledges may be spread over a five-year period and may be donated annually, semi-annually, monthly or on whatever schedule that is convenient for the contributor.

Dr. Jarod Zelman, representing the medical staff, said that the fundraising drive "is providing the non-medical community with a tremendous opportunity to continue to participate in providing modern health care services to the surrounding communities in the tri-state area."

Cheryl Sines, president of the employee committee, stated that all donations, no matter how small, are "greatly appreciated" and that the new facility will "help the employees continue to provide 365 days of service a year to make health care in the community better and better."

Persons wishing to make donations or desiring more information may contact Ms. Milko at 334-2019 or 334-2155.

GIFT-GIVING

The custom of giving gifts is not a commercial creation, for it began with the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem. This we should remember as packages begin to pile up beneath and beside the holiday tree.

The only real value in any gift is the thought behind it, for a gift means, "I think of you; I care about you." This is a sentiment on which we cannot attach a price tag.

County Releases Two Prisoners For Christmas

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners have authorized Sheriff John Evans to release two prisoners from the county jail for Christmas.

The two prisoners chosen for the Christmas release were Roger Foglepole and Jay Bittinger, both serving sentences on misdemeanor assault charges.

Evans noted that the release is an annual practice, unless no prisoners in the county jail meet the requirements for release which are that they have less than 90 days to serve on their sentence and that they be serving sentences for misdemeanor charges.

Foglepole and Bittinger will be released on Christmas Eve.

Trooper Invents Crime Prevention Memory Game

Tfc. Richard E. Alderton, Maryland State Police, has invented a game to test the crime prevention skills he teaches in classes and seminars around the tri-county area.

The game, according the Alderton, is similar to Bingo, utilizing numbers and squares that correspond with phrases explaining an action which could result in a crime.

The players are called on to search their memories for answers learned in the eight-week crime prevention course offered to groups and associations.

Alderton feels the game, in addition to being fun for the players, serves a useful purpose in testing learned skills and information.

The Cumberland American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) was the first group to try out the first game of its kind. The members had recently completed the home and personal security course offered by Alderton.

Groups interested in a crime prevention lecture using the game are asked to contact Tfc. Alderton at 729-2101.

Garrett National Dividends Noted

At the November 12 meeting of the Board of Directors of the Garrett National Bank, a $1.10 cash semi-annual dividend was declared for the second half of this year payable December 31, 1981, to shareholders of record on December 1, 1981.

This represents a total dividend for this year of $1.80 per share or $305,240.40, as compared to $296,761.50 for the year of 1980.

FNB Declares Stock Dividend

The Board of Directors of The First National Bank of Oakland, at its regular meeting held December 9, declared a regular dividend of $ .95 per share to its stockholders of record December 10, 1981.

In addition to its regular dividend, a special dividend of $ .25 per share was also declared. Both dividends were declared payable January 2, 1982.

In June, the bank board had declared a mid-year dividend of $ .92 per share, which makes the total regular dividend paid from 1981 earnings $1.87 per share. That compares with $1.70 paid in regular dividends from 1980 earnings, or an increase of $ .17 per share. A special dividend of $ .25 per share was also paid January 2, 1981.

First National has 201,100 shares of common stock issued and outstanding, which makes the total dollar amount of this declaration $241,320, and $426,332 for the year.

Bayard VFD Elects Officers

Area Lutheran Churches Note Holiday Services

Area Lutheran churches have announced their schedule of Christmas Eve services.

Holy Communion services will be held Thursday, December 23, at 7 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aurora, W. Va., and at 9 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church in Red House, according to the Rev. Bernard Carl, pastor.

Also that evening a service of Holy Communion will be held at 7 p.m. at Christ Lutheran Church in Grantsville, according to the Rev. David Fetter, pastor.

At 7 p.m. on Christmas Eve the youth choir will present special music at Zion Lutheran Church in Accident. The worship service will follow at 7:30 p.m., according to the Rev. Fred Illick, pastor.

Christmas Eve services at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will be at 7:30 p.m., with Holy Communion, and at 11 p.m., with special music beginning at 10:30 p.m., according to the Rev. Richard Seaks, pastor.

At St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Accident there will be a Parish Family Service at 8 p.m. on Christmas Eve, according to the Rev. William Carlson, pastor.

At 11 p.m. on Christmas Eve there will be worship with Holy Communion at St. John's Lutheran Church, M.S., in the Cove, according the the Rev. William Willson, pastor.

Christmas Eve services for congregations of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish will be as follows: 7 p.m. at Zion Lutheran in Jennings; 8:30 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran in Meadow Mountain, and 10 p.m. at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger with Holy Communion, according to the Rev. David Rockwood.

St. Matthew's Slates Holiday Season Events

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland will begin its transition into the Christmas season on Sunday, December 20, at 5:30 p.m., with a pot-luck, covered-dish dinner in the parish hall. Following the dinner those present will decorate the church for Christmas while the choir and young people rehearse for a Christmas program. The evening's events will come to a close with the singing of Christmas carols and the Compline. Everyone is welcome.

The church will sponsor its annual "Trip Around the Town" Christmas caroling on Wednesday, December 23, beginning at 5:30 p.m. with hoagies, pizza and beverages in the parish hall. There will be a fee for the dinner, after which the group will leave the church for Christmas caroling.

St. Matthew's Family Christmas Service, "A Blessing Came Down," will begin Thursday at 6 p.m. During the service the young people of the congregation will present a special program under the direction of Mamie Reckart, Shirley Skillman, Barry Garris, Linda Welch, Mary Lou Stemple and Kathie Smith. The Christmas House of Hope tree will be decorated and food items will be placed underneath it. Following the service a Birthday Party for Jesus will be held in the parish hall. At 10:30 p.m. Thursday the church will celebrate its traditional Christmas Eucharist by candlelight. The public is welcome to attend all services.

Christmas Day will bring the Holy Eucharist Celebration at 10:30 a.m., and Sunday, December 27, services will begin at 8 and 10:30 a.m. The latter service will center on Baptism, Lessons and Carols and there will be no church school that day, however, a nursery will be provided.

The Holy Eucharist on New Year's Day, Friday, January 1, will begin at 10:30 a.m. The second Sunday after Christmas, January 3, services will begin at 8 and 10:30 a.m. Church school will be held that day, along with the combined class for all age groups.

Holiday Cantata To Be Presented At Local Church

The Christmas cantata "Carol of Christmas" will be presented this Sunday, December 20, at 7 p.m. at the Pleasant View Baptist Church, located four miles south of Oakland on Route 219.

Don Nine will direct the cantata, which will be accompanied by Mrs. Vicki Nesbitt. Narration will be provided by Bruce Nesbitt.

St. Paul's Plans Holiday Services

The thirty-eighth annual Candlelight Services at St. Paul's United Methodist Church will be presented this Sunday, December 20, at 5 and 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to participate.

The identical all-musical programs will include selections by the choir under the direction of Dorothy Leighton and by the children of the choir under the direction of Patricia Peck. The organist, Dr. David Sheets, will play several selections before each service. The Rev. Allen Ridenour will conduct the candlelighting ceremony.

Those performing solos or duets include Anne Bell, Pam Groves, Joan Lambert, Dr. Herbert Leighton, Richard Morris, Carol Slagle and John Smith. Narrative passages will be performed by Tracy, Ann and Susan Umstot. Pianists will be Margaret Feather and Marianne Flinn. Flutists will be Mary Mateer and Kathi Zimmerman. Tim DeWitt will play the trumpet.

The special decorative panel has been prepared by art students at Southern High School under the direction of Sonia Pratt. The church is also decorated with numerous poinsettia plants placed as memorials by members of the congregation.

On Christmas eve, December 24, at 7:30 p.m. a service of worship, which will include the celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, will be held at St. Paul's. The service will also include the singing of Christmas carols and the reading of the traditional Christmas story.

The children will be told of "A Heavenly Messenger." The pastor, Rev. Allen Ridenour, will preach on "Being Freed From Fear Into Joy."

New Members Received Into Lutheran Church

In recent weeks St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland has received into congregational membership the following persons: Mrs. Barbara Ross and son, David Harris; Harry and Karen Carpenter; Milford and Louise Beckman and son, Jason; Mrs. Linda Holbert and daughter, Delane; Carl Everly; Joshua Ross Wilhelm, son of Dennis and Winnie Wilhelm, and Kristin Joelle Seaks, daughter of Richard and Susan Seaks.

PETER'S CHURCH

St. Peter's, in Rome, is the largest church in Christendom and is built over the tomb of the Apostle Peter. The announcement that Peter's tomb had been uncovered by excavators was made by Pope Pius XII, in 1950. The simple grave was buried beneath the debris of altars and other shrines placed over it since his martyrdom about A.D. 67.

children's letters to Santa . . .

by Carol Kapel

The songwriter says it. The shopkeeper depends on it. The whole world knows it. Christmas is for children, and there's nothing like a child to show adults the real, true meaning of this wonderful time of the year.

In the beginning, the most recognizable jolly old fellow to little ones everywhere comes 'round just about this time each year. He lives at the North Pole, so they're told, and he rides in a sleigh with eight tiny reindeer. He lands on rooftops, with his bag of toys, and visits each home with those most wanted items just before sleepy little heads hurry out to the tree on Christmas morning to find what he's left.

Before all this can happen, however, this plump, bearded fellow must know in advance what each boy and girl would like to have. For this reason, letters to Santa are prepared and delivered by who-knows-what means to the workshop, to be read and enjoyed by the elves and the red-suited man himself.

This year, one of Santa's helpers confiscated a bundle of mail from five-year-olds throughout the county, and offered to help read, make lists, and share some of the delightful desires of some local wee ones. With permission from the "top," some of Santa's favorite letters this year are shared with all who need a boost of Christmas spirit.

As far as favorite items this year, the Dukes of Hazards wrist racer and race track take a commanding lead in the list of requests. Occasionally, the letter writer doesn't quite know how to express his or her desire. For instance, Marlin writes. . .

Dear Santa Claus,

I want a Dukes of Hazard jump thing and the General Lee. Also, a pretend gun that makes a sound, but doesn't really shoot.

Jason has not only his list ready, but specific directions as to where Santa may make the purchases. . .

Dear Santa,

I have been a good boy. I would like to have a key car, a Mickey Mouse watch, and a pair of boots from the H-P store.

Denny reminds Santa to remember not only his new toys, but gifts for his dog, Snoopy. . .

Dear Santa,

Please don't forget my dog, Snoopy. Bring her some toys and something good to eat.

Love,
your little friend

P.S. Please bring my Granny something to make her well and feel better.

Little brothers and sisters are not forgotten by the little letter writers. Jason writes. . .

Dear Santa,

Please bring something for my little brother, Aaron, and my little cousins, Ranae and Leslie. Also, please remember the little children who are sick and sad and hungry.

David reminds Santa of his brother, too, but in a little different way. . .

Dear Santa,

My name is David, and this is the first year I've wrote you. I also have a little brother named Howard. I have been pretty good, so I'd like you to bring me a racetrack, a fire truck, some clothes, and tennis shoes. Please bring Howard a truck and a trailer and anything else you can think of that he's worth. He has been mean, you know. Say hi to Mrs. Santa for me.

Behavior is definitely on the minds of the little ones, who probably fear their name being placed in the book of who's good and who's bad, so apologies and promises for next year are in order in nearly every letter.

Jason Allen says. . .

Dear Santa,

I would like a Rubic's cube, some race cars, some paints and some play dough. I tried hard to be real good. If I was bad, I am sorry and didn't mean to be.

Love
your little friend.

John isn't sure what he should do to explain his behavior, so he tries this. . .

Dear Santa,

I want a Star Wars walker and this truck with two horses and four cows. I've been good and bad, but I still want some toys and presents.

Love,

To cover all the possibilities, Shannon asked Santa to overlook all things for many people.

Dear Santa,

I've been half bad and half good. Please bring all the kids in my school some things, even if they aren't all good. Also, don't forget all the kids in the world that is poor. Please bring them something special.

Last year's gifts have not been forgotten. Craig not only thanked Santa for what he brought, but wished him a safe journey this year, too. Tara asked for special gifts for Mommy and Daddy, and cautioned Santa not to tell them the secret. Jason asks that all boys and girls all around the world be remembered on Christmas morning, and Heather reminds Santa to remember all her teachers while making his rounds. Shelly asked for a bear, but warned that a real one would not do.

The letters came in various forms, and were often printed by mommy or an older brother or sister. Each writer felt an explanation was in order, as Gretchen tells Santa. . .

Dear Santa,

I am five years old and I go to kindergarten. My sister is writing this letter, because I can't spell. I can't write, either. I'd like a pretty curls doll, hungry hungry hippo, pajamas, and a purse. Thank you very, very, very much.

Love always,

Santa gets unusual questions each year, but Bryon really thought of some new ones. . .

Dear Santa,

I have tried to be a good boy this year, and I promise to do better next year. Santa, please tell me how you get into my house when the doors and windows are locked and we don't have a chimney. Do you walk through walls? Why do you deliver presents on Jesus' birthday? If you brought mine on my birthday, it would be much warmer. I will leave you some kind of healthy snack on the table by the tree. Junk food is not good for you to eat. I will leave some tummy medicine in case you eat too much and get sick. God bless you, Santa.

Love,

Sometimes the news in Santa's letters doesn't seem to have much to do with Christmas requests, but he appreciates it all the same. . .

Dear Santa,

I want a shortcake doll, Strawberry, a stuffed bunny rabbit and Christmas stickers. I've been good in school. Mommy loves me. She hugs me and kisses me. My sister is short.

That's it.
Love Sally

Some letters are brief, and to the point.

Dear Santa,

I was good, and I want a barn buster. I love you. That's all.

Love Bryan

Dear Santa Claus,

I want a tractor, a trailer, and a gun. I will leave you milk and cookies. I have been a little bit behaved.

Love, Dean

Dear Santa Claus,

All the kids in my class is good. I would like to have a baby doll.

Love, Melissa

Requests for farm animals are up this year. . .

Dear Santa,

I want a barn with cows in and a horse, a pig, and a dog. Also, a silo beside the barn. I have been behaved, sometimes.

Love, Chris

Innocent honesty is the best policy, according to this dear little letter writer. . .

Dear Santa,

I was not very good this year, so I only want a little bit of stuff.

Love, Todd

The true meaning of Christmas is never lost in the world of children, regardless of the tinsel, the lights, and all the commercial fuss. . .

Dear Santa,

I want you to make everyone happy. Please try to bring me some books to read and to color in. Thank you.

Harvey

Dear Santa,

My name is Heather. I would like to wish Jesus a very happy birthday. If you want to bring me a gift, please make it a pretty cut and grow baby doll. Also, please bring my brother, Petey, a drum set. I love you, Santa.

Dear Santa,

I have been a happy girl and a good girl. I know Christmas is Jesus' birthday. Please bring presents for everybody.

Love, Keela

Dear Santa,

Please don't forget all the children around the world who are homeless and hungry. They can have some of my presents, too.

Love, Bryon

Food seems uppermost in the minds of the little ones as far as what to do for Santa and the reindeer. He won't believe some of the treats in store for him this Christmas Eve. . .

Dear Santa,

I will leave cookies and milk for you and sugar cubes for the raindear.

Love, Marlin

Dear Santa,

I will leave cake and milk for you on the kitchen table.

Love, David

Lakers Drop Fourth Straight; Stopped By Trojans, Red Devils

After a pair of opening wins, the Garrett Community College Lakers have dropped four straight, losing last Wednesday evening on the road to arch-rival Allegany Community College, Cumberland, 97-71, and being edged by the Community College of Baltimore Saturday in McHenry, 62-59.

The Lakers never led in the contest with the powerful ACC Trojans, who won their 22nd consecutive game on their floor and ran their season record to 9-1.

The Trojans set the tone for the game early, jumping out to an 8-0 lead and expanding that margin to 47-27 at the half.

Pacing ACCs scoring was Jeff Churchwell who finished with 25 points, Dave Smith who netted 20, Mark Trenter with 12 and Brian Waller, 11. Churchwell also pulled down 12 rebounds.

Bill Bender led four Lakers in double figures with 16 points. Jeff Burton added 14, Kevin Phillips, 13, and Bob Smith, 10.

Garrett was outgunned from the floor by a 33-22 margin and connected on 27 of 44 free throws, compared to a 31-for-35 effort by Allegany.

The Lakers won the field goal competition against the Red Devils of Baltimore Saturday evening by a 28-23 margin, but the visitors converted 16 of 29 foul shots, while the Lakers managed to hit three of only five attempts. Baltimore held a similar lead at the half, 32-29.

Early in the second half the Red Devils surged to a 41-32 lead. However, the Lakers rallied and knotted the score at 51 apiece with 5:31 remaining. The tie was short-lived, though, as Baltimore scored a pair of goals and a foul shot to regain the lead at 60-55.

With just 12 seconds remaining Garrett closed the gap to 60-59, but the Red Devils iced the win with a final goal.

Baltimore's Mike Sharp led all scorers with 20 points, while teammates Pate and Basterfield contributed 12 and ten points, respectively.

Kevin Phillips led the Lakers' offensive effort, finishing with 14 points. Jeff Burton and Tom Johnson each recorded 12 points.

In a preliminary contest, the GCC even-year graduates topped the odd-year grads, 86-83.

The Lakers will attempt to return to the win column this weekend by hosting the Rotary Christmas Tournament. Garrett will meet Penn State/New Kensington campus in the second of Friday evening's games. The first game of the tourney will begin at 6:30 p.m. and feature Beaver Community College against Penn State/Fayette of Uniontown.

At Deep Creek Lake State Park on January 30 an ice fishing demonstration will be presented. Cross-country skiers can participate the same day at Herrington Manor State Park at the Kick and Glide Race. This race, with an adult and child class, is sponsored by the Park Service and the Herrington Manor ski race committee. Pre-registration can be made by contacting the park office at (301) 334-9180.

February's activities begin February 6 with a cross-country ski time trials at Herrington Manor during the day and by reservation a moonlight cross-country ski tour that evening.

Another three-day ski tour is scheduled at New Germany for February 20, 21 and 22. Reservations are being accepted now. Time trials will also be held on February 20 at Herrington Manor.

The last planned event to date is an ice fishing demonstration on February 28 at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

As snow develops persons may check the Forest and Park Services recording for up-to-the-minute snow reports and conditions at (301) 768-0895.

Cross-country ski rentals and food concessions will be available at both New Germany and Herrington Manor State Parks weekends through March 15. All skiers must be off the trails by 4 p.m.

Forest And Park Services States Winter Activities

The Maryland Forest and Park Services has announced a schedule of winter activities in state forests and state parks in Garrett County this winter snow cooperating.

Saturday, January 2, 1982 will find cross-country ski time trials being conducted at New Germany State Park near Grantsville. The Potomac Appalachian Trail Club will be assisting the Maryland Park Service with this activity. In Swallow Falls State Park, a daylight ski tour will be led by a forest or park ranger. Reservations can be made for the ski tour by calling (301) 334-9180.

Reservations are needed for the January 9, 10 and 11 ski tour being held at New Germany State Park. The per/person tour cost includes food and lodging. Persons may call (301) 269-3761 for a trip application and more information.

Huskies' Record Drops To 1-3 With Losses To Beall, Valley

The Northern High Huskies saw their season record fall to 1-3 as they dropped a 51-45 decision to Beall Friday evening on their own floor and suffered a 47-38 setback last night against Valley, also at Northern.

After trailing by just a few points throughout most of the contest with Beall, the Huskies went on top by three points in the final stanza. However, behind the shooting of Kerry Plummer, who finished with 23 points, the Huskies could not hold on to the lead. The Mountaineers led at the quarters 20-28, 26-24 and 35-34.

Brad Yoder paced the Huskies's scoring with 18 points, while teammate Tim Yunker contributed ten. Plummer was the only Beall player to reach double figures.

The win was the third in as many starts for Beall, under new head coach Mickey Cunningham.

The Huskies were outshot from the floor by a 22-18 margin and converted nine of 12 free throws, compared to a seven-for-eight effort by the winners.

The Valley Black Knights led the Huskies 9-6 at the end of the first quarter, 25-12 at the half and 33-27 heading into the final period. The Huskies rallied to come within four points in the final stanza, but then missed three consecutive one-and-one situations at the foul line and Valley picked up five unanswered points to seal the win, the Black Knights' fourth of the season.

Steve Winner led the visitors in scoring with 24 points, while Lonnie Gardner provided 12. High point producer for Northern was Brad Yoder, who finished with 14, while Lowell Yoder netted ten.

Valley outgunned Northern in field goals by a 19-15 margin and hit on nine of 16 free throws, compared to an eight-for-16 effort by the Huskies.

Coach Harv Speicher's Huskies will return to action this Friday evening at Mt. Savage.

Local Gridders Honored During Annual Dinner

The 16th annual Highland Football Conference awards dinner was held Saturday night at Beall High School in Frostburg, at which eight Garrett County high school players were among those honored for being named to the 1981 HFC all-star team.

The speaker for the event was Angelo Luvera, head football coach at Potomac State College, who emphasized the virtues of football, the advantages to a student who participates in a high school football program and how this participation requires "dedication, sacrifice and a willingness to get the job done, not only by the player himself, but also by his family."

The five Southern High players honored were Ron Bosley, Andrew Orr, Dave Scott, Paul Harvey and Matt Scheffel. Northern all-stars included Rob Carr, Mike Robinson and Stan Eggleston. Also in attendance were Tom Woods, Southern head coach, and Jack Settle, head coach at Northern and president of the conference, who made brief remarks.

Beall coach Jerry Calhoun, whose team won the HFC title and the Region I Class C title, received a plaque for being named HFC Coach of the Year.

Approximately 175 persons attended.

Rams Suffer Disappointing Week With Two Losses On The Road

Coach Tom Bosley's Southern Rams experienced a disappointing week on the road the past week as they lost to Allegany on Friday evening, 58-44, in Cumberland and then fell to the Bruce High Bulldogs last night in Westernport, 56-48.

The Campers of Allegany surged to an 11-0 lead in the opening minutes of Friday's contest and were never really threatened by the Rams, who were behind 18-9, 25-18 and 43-27 at the quarters. The closest the Rams could get was five points, that being in the first half.

Leading the Campers' offensive attack was Tim Snyder, who finished with 16 points. Allegany's Junior Meade and Todd Rowley chipped in 12 and ten points, respectively.

Southern's Kevin Winters led all scorers with 18 points on eight buckets and two-for-two at the foul line. Rick Selders netted 13 points and Dave Harsh, ten.

Most of Allegany's point margin came about at the foul line, where the Campers netted 14 of 19 free throws while the Rams hit only four of six attempts. Allegany held a 22-20 edge in field goals.

In the preliminary contest, the Southern jayvee team was blasted 60-31 by their Allegany counterparts, who picked up their 16th straight win.

The greatest obstacle for the Rams last night at Bruce was Dave Morris, who ripped the nets for 25 points, which is also his per game average so far this season. Southern led throughout most of the contest, but that advantage faded away in the second half of action behind the Bulldog's effective use of the full-court press and the outstanding defensive play of Brian Cueva. The Rams led at the quarters 15-11, 26-19 and 36-34.

Kevin Winters paced the Rams' scoring with 15 points while Dave Harsh added 12 and Rick Selder, 11. Morris was the only Bulldog finishing in double figures.

The teams both connected for 19 field goals, but Bruce hit 18 of 23 free throws compared to a ten-for-16 effort by the Rams.

GIVE A BOOK

Give a book for Christmas—lots of people do. It's an easy way to select a gift to match a person's interests, whether it be history, health, natural foods or wine. With the interest in good cooking steadily increasing, a cookbook will please many this Christmas.

Winter Hours At Area Parks Noted

The Maryland Park Service has announced new operational hours for area parks. Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls State Parks are now open daily between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Campers should note that the Swallow Falls campground is closed until May 1. Persons desiring to camp will be directed to the Big Run State Park camp area near New Germany State Park.

Day-use visitors to Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls should note that certain areas of the park have limited vehicle access. At Herrington Manor the picnic area will be closed to vehicles. Visitors can park at the office parking lot next to the ball field. At Swallow Falls, snow will be cleared only from the main road to the parking lot.

Ski trails are open daily between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Ski equipment and food are available from the park concessionaire.

Snowmobiles are prohibited on all state park trails and roads. They are permitted on officially designated trails belonging to the Maryland Forest Service. The ORV registration stickers required for snowmobilers using state forest trails are available at state park offices.

For detailed information persons may call Herrington Manor State Park at 334-9180, Deep Creek Lake State Park at 387-5563 and New Germany State Park at 895-5453.

CRANBERRY SPOTS

Cranberries are fairly traditional, yet extremely difficult to remove from tablecloths and rugs unless prompt attention is given to any spills or spots. Remove excess immediately, then rub the spot with an ice cube. Wash the tablecloth or clean the rug at once—and the spot should be only a memory.

Md. State Police Investigate Two Theft Complaints

Maryland State Police are investigating several breaking and entering and theft complaints lodged by victims in the Deep Creek Lake area.

Richard Reikenis, Phoenix, Md., reported the theft of several articles Saturday from his car which was parked at the Alpine Village resort.

The stolen merchandise included a pair of skis, a CB radio, and a 35mm camera. Value of the merchandise is estimated at $857.

Tfc. Dale Miller is conducting the investigation.

A car belonging to Thomas Steger, Hagerstown, was broken into sometime Saturday, and various articles were removed. The items included a pair of binoculars, an assortment of tools, and several cassette tapes. No estimate of value was given. The auto was parked in front of Das Gast Haus, Glendale Road.

Tfc. Gary Berkebile is conducting the investigation.

A criminal summons was served on Claudia Jean Morrow, Grantsville, on charges of issuing a worthless check to Fratz Red and White Super Market, Accident.

Tfc. Dale Williams investigated the incident.

New Recruits Join Company C Unit

Three persons recently enlisted with Company C of the 121st Engineering Battalion of the Maryland Army National Guard, according to a release from SFC Thomas E. Bittinger, Unit Publications NCO. The new enlistees are Samuel E. Esser, Kenneth E. Fike and Ronald L. Tasker.

All three recruits will leave in February for basic and combat engineering training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. There they will have three months of extensive training in basic weaponry, first aid, map reading, demolitions, use of engineer tools, rigging with rope, landmine warfare, camouflage, bridge building and communications.

Three other men with prior military service recently enlisted with the local unit. They are Sgt. James T. Evans, Sgt. Roger L. Shuttleworth and SP/4 Jerry W. Swiger.

Breaking And Entering Cases Head Complaints

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department has been investigating a breaking and entering and an attempted breaking and entering reported to the department last week.

The caretaker of a summer cottage owned by Holly James Child, Pittsburgh, Pa., and located in the Penn Point area of Deep Creek Lake, reported that dwelling was entered sometime Thursday or Friday. Police said entry was made by breaking out a 2x3-foot plexiglass window. Nothing was noticed missing, however the door glass was valued at $25.

In a separate case, burglars were surprised Saturday night by the son of Yvonne E. Nicholas, Deer Park, owner of the home where an entry attempt was made. Ms. Nicholas told police that she and other family members left the residence about 6 p.m., but her son remained in the home. Police said he heard a noise at the basement window as if someone was trying to push the window open, and he also heard voices. Nicholas investigated and observed a subject run through the yard to where another was waiting at the road. The incident is still under investigation.

Anyone having any information or leads pertaining to these or other reported crimes should contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Department at 334-2141, or Garrett County Crime Solvers at 334-3111. Information supplied is confidential upon request.

In other business, the department arrested two persons last week.

John Harold Snyder, 39, Corinth, W. Va., was arrested December 8 and charged with disorderly intoxication. He was released the next day on $150 unsecured bond.

Rex Allen Guthrie, 21, Friendsville, was incarcerated December 9 on a charge of third degree sexual offense. He was released the same day when he posted $100 bond.

Men Charged After String Of Complaints

Two Oakland area men were arrested about midnight Monday following a string of complaints dealing with fights, drunk and disorderly, and destruction of property, according to police. Harry Shahan, 21, Mt. Lake Park, and David William Cosner, 20, Oakland, both charged with public intoxication and destruction of property, were released yesterday on $500 unsecured bond each.

Chief Hobart Shillingburg of the Oakland City Police said his department had received a few calls regarding the subjects, who are charged in connection with an incident of destruction of property at the Oakland Stationery Store, Alder Street, which occurred about 6:40 p.m. Police said a plate glass window was kicked out at that establishment, amounting to an estimated loss of $500.

Oakland residents say the subjects were apparently involved in a scuffle near Englander's between 4 and 5 p.m. that day. Police said the suspects were not located until late in the evening, when they were arrested at Mid-Towns Plaza. The Garrett County Sheriff's Department assisted in the arrests.

QUICK FROZEN BEEF — We have all heard of buying beef on the hoof but frozen beef on the hoof is a little ridiculous. This steer does not seem to like the idea either. Just one of the inconveniences of leading a life in the great outdoors during a Garrett County snowstorm, we guess.

Official Deer Harvest Tallied, Statistics Noted

by Al Bourgeois
District Wildlife Manager

Final statistics on the recently completed 1981 deer firearms season showed a harvest of 1,041 bucks in Garrett County. This figure is only eight deer below last year's record harvest of 1,049. Comparatively, Allegany County harvested 1,326 bucks, Washington County 743, and Frederick County 613. Again this year as last year over half the deer kill was taken on opening day with 533 bucks reported.

Several nice bucks were checked this year. The largest rack was a 16-point, 129-pound buck shot on Negro Mountain. The next three largest deer were all 13-point bucks, weighing 147, 107 and 103 pounds and shot on Meadow Mountain, Dry Run and Savage River State Forest, respectively. Additionally, there were seven 12-point, eight 11-point, 31 10-point, 37 nine-point, and 145 eight-point bucks reported.

The biggest deer checked in by weight was a 177-pound, 10-point buck from the Bear Hill area, followed by a 175-pound, eight-point shot on Snaggy Mountain, a 173-pound, 10-point off Negro Mountain, and a 170-pound, nine-point from the Swanton area. Eight other deer weighed over 160 pounds, with 17 weighing over 150 pounds and 44 deer over 140 pounds.

Comparatively, there were more deer in the eight-point and above category and over 140 pounds this year, possibly reflecting last year's mild winter and good summer feeding conditions.

The antlerless deer season closed Saturday, Dec. 13 at sunset and an unofficial total of 81 deer were checked in. This is an increase over last year's total of 65, despite deep snow conditions.

This year's muzzleloader season began Monday, Dec. 14 and closes at sunset on Monday, Dec. 21. Hunters are reminded that only bucks are legal unless they possess an antlerless permit which was not filled during the antlerless season. In addition, if a buck was taken during the regular firearms season, a hunter can not hunt deer with a muzzleloader.

Drunk Driver Arrests Noted

Maryland State Police arrested three persons on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs during the week of December 8. Oakland City Police Officer Ron Beeghley arrested one man.

Those charged included Berlin Wade Friend, 27, Oakland; Roger Lee Alexander, 38, Oakland; Troy Lynn Moore, 21, no address given; and Frank Lee Watson, Jr., 33, Cumberland.

Maryland State Police making the arrests were Tfc. J. W. Michael, Tfc. David Riggleman, and Tfc. Larry Smith.

letters to Santa . . .

I'll leave cookies and milk for you and carrots for all the reindeer. I love you.
Your friend, Heather

Dear Santa,
We will leave cookies and milk for you. Please don't forget to eat them like last year.
Love,
Heidi and Heather

Dear Santa,
I'll leave you some pizza, a napkin to wipe off your beard, and some Pepsi Cola. I love you, and promise to be better next year.
Love, Shannon

Santa received three letters from groups of five-year-old kindergarten students in the county who combined their efforts to make a simple, easy to follow list for the elves to follow. The biggest letter Santa ever saw came from one class that measured more than two feet wide and three feet long! It's a good thing Santa's helper is hand delivering this mail. It would cost a fortune to mail that one!

Sometimes it's hard to find the Christmas spirit when you're all grown up, and have worldly problems to worry about. A sure cure for that, however, is to become a Santa helper who collects his mail, and sneaks a peek at each and every "right from the heart" letter. Merry Christmas, everyone.

BFI Challenge Is Upheld

Court Overturns Local Ordinance To Stop Hazardous Waste Dump

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Attempts by Anne Arundel County to use a local ordinance to prohibit the transportation and disposal of hazardous wastes generated outside the county were ruled unconstitutional Tuesday by Maryland's highest court.

The seven-member Court of Appeals unanimously concluded the ordinances violated the interstate commerce provisions of the U.S. Constitution.

"They necessarily impede the free flow of articles in interstate commerce through the county by imposing broad licensing and inspection requirements on the transporters," said the opinion written by Judge John C. Eldridge.

"The county may not attempt to avoid what amounts to a problem of state and national scope by cutting itself off from the rest of the country," the opinion said. "That is clearly prohibited by the Commerce Clause."

The ordinances were enacted by the county council in 1979 in a last-ditch effort to stop the transfer of drums of toxic wastes found at an abandoned Eastern Shore tank farm to Curtis Bay, a federal installation in the northern part of the county.

They were immediately challenged in court by Browning-Ferris, Inc., owner and operator of an Anne Arundel County landfill and hauler of hazardous waste materials.

County Circuit Judge Martin A. Wolff declared part of the ordinances unconstitutional, said other sections were preempted by federal law, and issued a permanent injunction prohibiting the county from implementing them. Both Browning-Ferris and the county appealed.

The Court of Appeals said its decision was based in large part on a Supreme Court case in which Philadelphia successfully challenged the constitutionality of a New Jersey law that would have prohibited the importation of wastes into that state.

"It is obvious that (the Anne Arundel County ordinance) does exactly what is forbidden by 'Philadelphia vs. New Jersey,'" "The ordinance, while permitting transportation and disposal of hazardous waste under certain conditions if the waste originates within the county, nonetheless closes down the county's borders to all of those who would either transport or dispose of wastes originating from outside the county."

"Thus, the ordinance overtly discriminates against articles in interstate commerce," the opinion said.

The Court of Appeals agreed with Wolff to uphold one portion of the county ordinance that requires a license to dispose hazardous wastes within the county and also requires a cargo manifest to be retained at the dumpsite.

The high court said it would not rule on Browning-Ferris' challenge regarding the ordinance's attempt to regulate the transportation and disposal of radioactive waste in the county because the company neither transports nor disposes of such wastes there.

Governor Calls For Pay Raises For State Employees

TOWSON, MD. (UPI) — Gov. Harry Hughes proposed a 9 percent one-year pay raise for state employees Tuesday, a day after a General Assembly commission recommended a raise over four years for state legislators.

Hughes announced his proposal, which will be submitted to the General Assembly in January as part of the fiscal 1983 budget during a luncheon to retired state employees. It was the first time Hughes had given a firm figure for the proposed increase, although he had narrowed it down to about 8 or 9 percent.

The governor also reiterated his intention to propose further pay increases for state police, other law enforcement personnel and other unspecified special categories of state employees.

Hughes said the increases, combined with automatic raises for length of service, promotions and reclassifications, "will go far toward proving that this administration is committed to designing a structure which is fair both to state employees and to the taxpayers they serve."

He called on the state employee unions, the Maryland Classified Employees Association and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, to support his proposal.

The proposal comes after a year when no increase was approved, but also after a 6 percent increase in 1979 and a 7 percent raise in 1980. Hughes said the cumulative, 22 percent raise over the four-year period would be "the highest in a decade-and-a-half."

He stressed state efforts in finding other jobs for state employees forced out of work by budget reductions. Of 998 employees whose jobs have been threatened, only 83 have actually been laid off, he said.

Hughes implored union leaderships to "take into consideration" those statistics and "the great importance this administration has placed upon their job security" before criticizing the size of the proposed raise.

A day earlier, the General Assembly Compensation Commission proposed raising legislative salaries by $2,500 for the four-year term that begins in 1983. That would mean lawmakers would make $21,000 instead of the current $18,500.

"At first blush, I would say it is certainly a reasonable figure," said Delegate Robert Neall, R-Anne Arundel. "It is neither parsimonious nor extravagant."

Commission members noted the increase would not change once it is set, meaning the annual increase for lawmakers would amount to about 5 percent.

The pay raise proposal for legislators will also be included as part of Hughes' 1982-83 budget. While legislators may vote to reduce its recommendations, they cannot increase the proposed salary levels or other benefits.

If they do not act, the increases will go into effect automatically.

In addition to raising salaries, the General Assembly Compensation Commission also recommended increasing legislative expense allowances and pension benefits.

The per diem rate for in-state travel would gradually increase from $50 to $75 in 1986; meal allowances would increase in steps from $20 to $30; and out-of-state travel would go up in phases from $75 a day to $100 a day in 1986.

The commission also recommended an annual cost-of-living adjustment for persons receiving legislative pensions, similar to the one provided in the new state employee pension plan, would be limited to no more than a 3 percent increase per year.

Beck, Mason Try To Shift Mass Transit Funding To Cities From Rural Areas

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UPI) — Lawmakers from two rural Maryland counties Tuesday criticized a proposed 4 percent increase in the gas tax, endorsing instead a plan to shift the burden of paying transportation costs to the Baltimore area and the Washington suburbs.

The two bills and a resolution that will be introduced by House Minority Leader Raymond Beck, R-Carroll, and Senate Minority Leader Edward Mason, R-Allegany, would require local subdivisions serviced by the Baltimore and Washington Metro rail systems to pay 25 percent of their shares of the operating deficits.

Beck said the 4 percent solution, proposed by Gov. Harry Hughes, "just won't do much of anything but buy us a little time and pick the pockets of Maryland drivers."

The second bill in the Beck-Mason package would allow five local jurisdictions, Montgomery, Prince George's, Anne Arundel and Baltimore counties and Baltimore, to levy a retail sales tax to finance the mass transit system.

The resolution calls for another long-range study of the situation by a 12-member committee.

Beck said the state faces a $2 billion deficit in road funding over the next decade, primarily because of state funding for the partially completed Washington rapid rail system and the Baltimore Metro, due to open its first 8-mile leg next year.

"We are the only state to attempt to support two rapid rail systems and it's gobbling up transportation funds at a rapid rate," Beck said.

Hughes' proposal, combined with an increase in the tax paid by heavy trucks, would provide the state with a new source of revenue for the dwindling Transportation Trust Fund, which supports operating and construction of the state's transportation system.

Illegal Practices Charged By Maryland Consumer Agency

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI) — One of Maryland's largest appliance dealerships has regularly employed illegal sales practices and failed to honor repair contracts, a state of Maryland suit filed Tuesday maintains.

The suit against Luskin's Inc., a dealership with 12 stores in the Baltimore-Washington area, alleges that from 1974 to the present, the company regularly attracted customers to its stores by advertising "name-brand" appliances and then tried to get the customers to buy other non-advertised appliances. The reason for the "bait-and-switch," the suit claims, was to obtain a more advantageous profit margin.

The suit also contends the company failed to keep sufficient supplies of advertised products on hand to satisfy "reasonably expected public demand" and in some cases failed to advertise that only a limited quantity of an advertised good would be in stock.

In a prepared statement, Cary Luskin, who is the firm's executive vice president, said of the suit: "The attorney general is wrong about Luskin's. We have not broken the law. While we fight in court to vindicate our good name, we will keep on giving our customers the same great prices and great service we have been giving them for 33 years."

The other major part of the suit contends the company failed to repair appliances, including those covered by warranties. Many consumers had to wait many months before their appliances were returned to them and others had to take an appliance to a repair facility several times before repairs were made, the suit charges.

Luskin's has been in business since 1948 and has stores in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Howard, Montgomery and Prince George's counties, along with Baltimore and the District of Columbia.It is based in Dorsey.

$10,000 Reward Offered For Information In Abduction

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The FBI Monday offered a $10,000 reward for informaton leading to the indictment of a man who allegedly abducted and assaulted the wife of a U.S. District Judge in retaliation for actions taken by her husband.

A composite sketch of the alleged assailant of Jo Anne Miller, the wife of Judge James R. Miller Jr., was aired during the afternoon over Baltimore's four television stations, along with the FBI's plea for information.

"We have nothing in this investigation, and that's why we're going to the media," Raymond Sprague, supervisor of the Baltimore area office of the FBI, said following the media blitz.

Sprague refused to supply details about the abduction, other than to say it occurred the mid-morning of Oct. 10 at the Roland Park home of the Millers. He refused to say whether Mrs. Miller had been sexually assaulted, how long she was denied her liberty or whether further threats have since been made.

Sprague also refused to say why the FBI suspected the abduction was related to a recent action taken by judge Miller.

The $10,000 reward is for information leading to the identity and indictment of Mrs. Miller's assailant.

Sprague said the FBI only rarely offers a reward in a case but felt it must because in the Miller case because of an absence of leads.

Neither Judge Miller nor his wife were available for comment.

U. Of M. To Control Cancer Center

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The National Cancer Institute is transferring control of its clinical research center to the University of Maryland hospital because of federal funding cuts, NCI officials said Tuesday.

The research unit's name will be changed from the Baltimore Cancer Center to the University of Maryland Cancer Center.

Dr. Bruce Chabner, director of the NCI's cancer treatment division, said the transfer will provide NCI with some financial relief. The federal agency's 1982 budget was trimmed 9 percent from fiscal 1981. A hiring freeze is also hampering NCI's operations, Chabner said.

NCI gave the University of Maryland hospital a two-year, $3.8 million grant to smooth the transition. Hospital officials say they expect the cancer center, which treated patients free of charge when it was federally run, will now be supported through patient payments.

Robbery Suspects Also Sought In Stabbing Of Couple

BALTIMORE (UPI) — An 82-year-old retired dentist and his wife were stabbed by two youths, one of whom said he had seen the suspects in another robbery at the dentist's home, police said Tuesday.

Charles Watts told police he invited the two teenagers into his home Monday afternoon to discuss the details of a Dec. 9 robbery. One of the teenagers told the dentist he spotted the suspects in the robbery at the dentist's west Baltimore home.

Watts told police the teens grabbed him and slashed his throat with a knife. He also said the pair stabbed his wife, Eula Watts, 70, who was confined to her bed in another room. The suspects fled with a small amount of money, police said.

Police arrested William Smith, 18, and charged him with two counts of assault with intent to murder, two counts of armed robbery and two counts of possession of a deadly weapon.

The man and his wife were listed in fair condition at Lutheran Hospital Tuesday.

"Creationism" Trial

Witness Admits Bible Is Basis For Creationism As A Science

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A zoologist testifying in support of Arkansas' creation-science law admitted some of his ideas about the beginning of life are based on biblical scripture.

Harold Coffin of Loma Linda University, a Seventh-day Adventist school in California, said Tuesday the Earth was only about 5,000 years old — contrary to most scientists' opinions — and that life was once wiped out by a massive flood.

His belief, he testified was based "mostly on scripture."

In a case simular to the Scopes "monkey trial," the American Civil Liberties Union has challenged the Arkansas law that requires balanced treatment of creation-science whenever evolution is mentioned in public school. The ACLU says the creation-science theory requires biblical support in violation of the constitutional separation of church and state.

Coffin, one of four witnesses testifing in favor of the state law, said scientists' failure to create life in the laboratory and the sudden appearance of animals in the Cambrian period are "positive" evidence to support creation-science.

"Man has not been able to create life," he said. "The more he studies it, the more windows open on its complexity."

He said the fossils found from the Cambrian period are "fully formed, complex creatures" much like animals that exist today. Most geologists say the Cambrian period, when the first organisms appeared, was about 500 million years ago. But Coffin said it was 5,000 to 7,000 years ago — not long before a worldwide flood wiped out most animals and left their fossils.

"My data for that is religious and not really scientific," Coffin said.

He said the genealogical record in Genesis is one basis for his belief in a young Earth. "Based on the scientific evidence alone," Coffin said, he could not argue with evolutionists.

"Ding-A-Ling"

Salvation Army Bells Traded For Signs At Mall

HALFWAY, Md. (UPI) — Salvation Army volunteers soliciting Christmas donations Tuesday traded in their bells for signs that read "DING" and "A-LING" because merchants complained the constant bell ringing got on their nerves.

The Salvation Army began using the signs last week because of regulations at Valley Mall that prevented bell-ringing inside the shopping center. The signs resemble ping-pong paddles with words printed on them.

"The majority of people wanted the bells," said Debbie Thrun, a Salvation Army volunteer. "It's part of Christmas. I had a lot of people say it's a shame I can't ring a real bell."

But William Bulla, the mall manager, said the constant ringing had prompted complaints from merchants within earshot of the red-kettle collection posts.

Ms. Thrun conceded it "probably would drive you crazy" to listen the bells for hours on end.

Capt. Oliver Michels, head of the local Salvation Army post, said it was difficult to determine whether the "DING" and "A-LING" signs boosted collections, but that $100 was collected the first day they were used.

That figure was slightly more than the daily average garnered at other collection posts — ones using bells — located outside of the mall entrances.

Record Year

Luxury Car Dealers Have Boom As Average Model Sales Slump

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (UPI) — Most automobile dealers in Maryland reported slow business in 1981, but one salesman Tuesday reported a 114 percent jump in sales — for cars costing more than $100,000 each.

Eric Nelson, sales manager at Gladding Rolls Royce, said the economy "doesn't really bother" his customers. "We just sold a Rolls convertible for $160,000. The customer paid cash, no lien," he said.

Nelson said he sold 30 cars this year, compared to 14 last year.

Although Nelson noted most of his sales have been to out-of-state buyers, he said Baltimore is "coming up" in the luxury car department. In 1981, nine of the posh vehicles were sold to Baltimore area residents.

Expensive homes are also moving well in Maryland's otherwise depressed housing market.

Cable Co. Signs Letter Of Intent

DETROIT (UPI) — United Cable Television Corp. and Tribune Co. Cable Inc. have signed a letter of intent to pursue the franchising of more than 600,000 homes in Michigan, California and Maryland, it was announced Tuesday.

Officials of the two companies said it is believed to be the cable television industry's largest nationwide joint franchising venture.

The proposed venture involves more than 100,000 households in Oakland County, Mich.; more than 300,000 in Sacramento County, Calif.; and more than 200,000 in Montgomery County, Md.

United Cable Television currently serves 450,000 subscribers in 16 states. Tribune Co. Cable, a subsidiary of Tribune Co., now serves about 100,000 subscribers nationwide.

Suspended Sentence, Restitution Is Court Verdict

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A former Maryland bank executive received a five-year suspended sentence and was ordered to pay restitution of $27,000 for an embezzlement scheme, the FBI said Tuesday.

Charles Rutter of Dunkirk, previously a vice president of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland in Upper Marlboro, was given the penalty Monday by U.S. District Judge Joseph Howard.

The FBI said Rutter, 40, embezzled the funds during a period from November 1976 to June 1981.

He pleaded guilty last month to the bank embezzlement charges.

In addition to the other penalties, the judge placed Rutter on three years prbation and ordered him to perform 200 hours of community service.

Respite Care Offers Relief To Handicapped Persons And Families

by Kathy Railey

All families occasionally find themselves in need of child care in times of emergency, to attend a social event or a meeting, or to take some time off from the demands of caring for a family. Families with a disabled family member have the same needs but require a special type of sitter care which is sometimes difficult to find.

The Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Western Maryland region, and Garrett Crossroads, Inc., a local residential care program for mentally handicapped adults, have been working together recently to establish provisions for temporary respite care for handicapped individuals in Garrett County. Home Care Services for the Handicapped, active locally under MSCCA, describes this service by stating "Respite means relief and 'respite care' is only a new term for an old problem—competent and sympathetic care for disabled family members while families are away."

The annual meeting of the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, held December 5, in Hagerstown, and attended by two local representatives, presented a panel of professionals who spoke about respite care. Dr. David Sommers, licensed psychologist, identified the need for respite care through a discussion of stress, particularly in the family with a handicapped member where much care is needed and emotional attachment sometimes leads to a feeling of hopelessness. He noted there is no relief for that family except respite care (temporary withdrawal), and he said that withdrawal is the most effective form of stress reduction.

"The family has the right to remove themselves from the pain and attempt to enjoy life, and in doing so communication channels may reopen," Dr. Sommers stated. He added that respite care provides the family with an opportunity to vent emotions, to reorganize thinking, and to rest and relax. It also provides the handicapped member with an opportunity to be around different people and to test his/her level of acceptance. All family members could regain physical and emotional strength simply by being apart for a little while, he added.

Home Care Services, under the direction of Patricia M. Wade, Coordinator of Special Programs with the MSCCA in Hagerstown, is the primary respite caregiver in Garrett County, locally employing eight persons. This agency offers a temporary companion/sitter service in the home. Services can be provided up to six weeks, during which time the family is asked to come up with alternative methods of dealing with a problem, if a problem exists. The service can be provided on a 24-hour basis for weekend trips or lengthier vacations, and fees, paid directly to the caregiver, are on a sliding scale basis.

Home Care Services caregivers must provide references and complete one full day of training. Wade said that all caregivers are encouraged to take on additional training, such as Red Cross first aid, CPR, sign language and other communication courses.

Wade, who personally interviews and trains the program's caregivers, stated that she seeks caring adults who are interested in serving handicapped people. In addition to rest for the family and the client's opportunity to learn and to meet others, Wade noted that respite care prevents costly institutionalization. The aspect of providing a companion/sitter service in the home allows the client to remain in a familiar environment, and prevents him/her from having to adjust to new facilities.

Dan Elmlinger, director of Garrett Crossroads, states that his office, located on Third Street in Oakland, will act as a local contact and provide applications for Home Care Services. All applicants will then be referred to Home Care Services, Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Professional Arts Building, Fifth Floor, 5 Public Square, Hagerstown, 21740. That agency will also accept collect calls for service at 797-4500.

Once application is made, which includes a brief medical history, skills and daily routines of the client, an appropriate caregiver is selected from the agency's Caregivers Registry, and a pre-visit to the home is arranged. Home Care Services then acts as coordinator to set up a personal agreement between the family and the caregiver.

In cases of emergency when application has not been made with Home Care Services, Garrett Crossroads will provide interim emergency coverage in either its Group Home or Apartment Living complex. Elmlinger said that Crossroads has one bed which can be used for respite care, and has access to a second bed in a crisis situation or if it is impossible for care to be given in the home. In emergencies, families needing respite care may contact Garrett Crossroads at 334-8449, or Dan Elmlinger at his home at 334-3137.

Fees for respite care through Garrett Crossroads depend on the functioning level of the client and whether an additional person is required (besides the regular Group Home staff) to care for him/her. Elmlinger stated that Crossroads is willing to serve all age groups for emergency respite care, but is not equipped to serve multiple handicapped persons for long-term care. He stressed that, "Garrett Countians should be made more aware of and use Home Care Services (the primary caregiver). Families can apply for the services even if they aren't needed at present." Once application is on file, arrangements for respite care can be made through Home Care Services in cases of emergencies. He added that persons who plan to use Garrett Crossroads for respite care should come out to the home or apartment complex for a few hours to get to know the staff and residents prior to use.

Elmlinger said Garrett Crossroads is hoping to establish a volunteer program for people to come in and provide respite care coverage on a one-to-one basis. Garrett Crossroads has acquired the Caregivers Training Manual from the MSCCA, and is in the process of revamping its overall training program. First aid, treatment and care for handicapped individuals are explained in the manual, and Elmlinger said he anticipates about 20 to 24 hours of actual caregiver training time, not counting on-the-job experience. Caregivers will also work on development of communication skills and observation skills.

Elmlinger said the philosophy of Garrett Crossroads is that the care given (which is an opportunity to do something for another individual) is, in itself, the reward. "We are here to serve the handicapped population. Volunteers will bring people out who are genuinely interested . . . people who care," he added.

If intensive care away from home is required by a family, the local committee recommends contact with the Brandonburg Center, a state resource center which is connected with Western Maryland II in Cumberland and located near the Finan Center. The state generally serves clients 28 days at one time, according to Linda Stronza, Western Maryland director with the Mental Retardation/Developmental Disabilities Administration. Fees are on a sliding scale, and the maximum fee per month is $96.

Stronza noted that, "Respite care could benefit the total quality of family life and the client's physical and mental well-being." It could prevent some families from giving up, keeping with the state's primary goal, preventing or delaying institutionalization.

Special sitter care is available to families in Garrett County with handicapped members for whatever reason, be it an opportunity to attend a social event, illness in the family, breakdown in the family unit, inability of the family or community to provide services needed, an opportunity to take a vacation, or temporary placement while a more appropriate living situation is sought. However, as Bob DeHaven, executive director of the Washington County Association for Retarded Citizens, noted at the December 5 meeting, "Don't wait until the last minute to use the services. If you're planning a vacation, use the service a few days first. Know your alternatives and schedule as far in advance as possible to avoid the vacation crush." Applications for respite care locally are available now.

CHECK-UP TIME

Periodically my company requires me to have a "physical." My health is too important to them — and to ME — to neglect it.

Nobody requires me to have a "spiritual." The world figures rightly that a person's religious vitality is his own business.

Unfortunately, check-up time for our spiritual health is often some unexpected crisis. We learn the hard way that the soul as well as the body must be strong.

Each week brings opportunity for worshipping God, for deepening our religious insights, for cultivating spiritual strength. What our churches and synagogues provide is vital.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE MANGER SIGN
December 20, 1981

Background Scripture:
Luke 2: 1-20.

Devotional Reading:
Philippians 1: 3-11.

If the cross is the symbol of Christ's passion and resurrection, the manger is surely the symbol of his birth. According to Luke's Gospel, the symbolism has a divine origin, for the angel that appeared to the shepherds in the fields outside Bethlehem said very specifically: "And this will be a sign for you: you will find a babe wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger" (2: 12). It was God himself who placed his manger sign upon the earth.

Saviour, Christ, Lord!

What is the meaning of that sign for us?

For one answer to that question, imagine in your mind's eye an old-fashioned balance scale. On the right-hand side of the scale, imagine in large, bold letters these three words: SAVIOUR, CHRIST, LORD. Then on the left-hand side imagine the manger sign. Most of us will imagine that the scale is greatly out of balance, the right side with Jesus' three lofty titles—SAVIOUR, CHRIST, LORD—being so much weightier than the left side with its simple manger.

In other words, there is a tremendous paradoxical irony in Luke's story of Jesus' birth. On the one hand the shepherds in the field are told that God has finally answered Israel's prayers and given them one who is SAVIOUR, CHRIST and LORD, all in one! What a powerful, earth-shaking announcement it was.

Yet, at the same time, the God-given sign of this great event was almost unbelievable: A manger, not a crib for a newborn child—let alone this newborn child—but a feed-trough for common animals! What could be more inappropriate, even incongruous? The one who is God's SAVIOUR, CHRIST and LORD born in a feed-trough!

Yet more than just the crude manger itself is what it symbolizes. For the manger stands for the most humble of circumstances: humble parents from the other side of the tracks (Nazareth), a lowly stable, an event totally unrecognized by the authorities of the community. But even more the manger symbolizes God's incarnation and appearance on the earth, not in the form of a great king, priest or prophet, but a tiny baby from a humble family. The titles, SAVIOUR, CHRIST and LORD shout power and authority at us. But the little babe in a manger whispers to us of meekness, humility and vulnerability.

Glory In The Highest

What is God saying to us in this paradox? Obviously he is telling us that our human perceptions and values are not his. Human power is not divine power. God sees the world and judges it differently than we do.

Furthermore, he is telling us that his way of working in the world is not so much fireworks in the sky as loving works done through human beings on earth. Jesus would first have to be a helpless child—just as all of us born, grow and mature. Thus, with the manger sign from God we are reminded to mingle with our joy of celebration the humility and meekness of adoration before the manger.

EYE SYMPTOMS MAY BE WARNINGS OF DANGER

They may indicate the eyes themselves need help or that conditions in the body are causing eye problems which are doing them serious harm. Eyesight is too important to neglect any signs of abnormal vision.

A sudden, severe pain in the eyes spreading over the head may be a sign of glaucoma, which can destroy vision in hours. Watch out for recurring dimming of vision, halos around lights, distortions of objects, double vision, excessive tears and blinking, red eyelids and unequal pupils. All these are symptoms which almost demand the immediate attention of a physician or ophthalmologist. When medication is needed, we can fill any prescription.

Organization Of County Democrats Formed Recently

An organizational meeting for the "Garrett County Democrats for Change" was held Monday, November 23, in the First National Bank Community Room, Oakland.

Clinton Englander, chairman of the Garrett County Democratic State Central Committee, opened the meeting by explaining the need of an organization to make plans for a constructive program for the up-coming 1982 elections. a specimen ballot from the 1978 State and County Primary Election was displayed, and a list of all state and county offices and election districts included in each county commissioner district was distributed to each person in attendance.

Following a discussion to appoint a district chairman from each election district it was decided to divide into three groups representing each commissioner district according to residence. The groups appointed chairpersons and discussed needs for a program for the 1982 elections.

Commissioner district #1 chairman is Frank Finch, district #2 chairperson is Rita Zeitak, and district #3 chairman is Bill Goldsborough. Margaret DeWitt was appointed coordinator for the three county commissioner districts.

Englander asked for nominations from the floor for chairperson, vice-chairperson and secretary/treasurer for the newly-formed organization. Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner was elected chairperson, Leo O'Neill, vice-chairperson, and Mrs. Aloise O'Neill, secretary/treasurer.

Tom Dabney was instructed to draw up by-laws for presentation at the next meeting, and action on dues, membership and membership cards was tabled for further discussion.

The group agreed to invite Senator Paul S. Sarbanes to speak at a dinner to be held in April, sponsored by Garrett County Democrats for Change.

Mrs. Baumgartner announced that a Winter Dinner will be held in Baltimore on February 7, and interested persons may contact her for further information.

Each commissioner district chairperson received a current voters list of all Democrats in each election district comprising the commissioner district they represent.

The group will meet again on Monday, January 11, in the First National Bank Community Room at 7:30 p.m. All county Democrats are welcome.

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, December 16, the 350th day of 1981 with 15 to follow.

The moon is moving toward its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

English actor, playwright and composer Noel Coward was born December 16th, 1899.

On this date in history:

In 1773, protesting the British tax on tea, some 50 American patroits disguised as Indians dumped 342 chests of tea into Boston harbor in what history records as "The Boston Tea Party."

In 1835, one of history's worst fires swept over whole city blocks in New York City, razing 600 buildings and causing damage estimated at more than $20 million dollars.

In 1944, the Germans launched a great counter-offensive in the Ardennes Forest of Belgium, in what was called "The Battle of the Bulge."

In 1960, 131 people were killed when two airplanes collided over foggy New York harbor and crashed.

A thought for the day: American World War Two correspondent Ernie Pyle said: "War makes strange giant creatures out of us little routine men who inhabit the earth."

Baptist Church Slates Annual Holiday Program

The Deep Creek Baptist Church, located eight miles north of Oakland on U.S. Rt. 219, will present its annual Christmas Program titled: Joy To The World, on Wednesday, Dec. 23, at 7:30 p.m. The program will include an instrumental ensemble, the reading of the Christmas Story from the Old and New Testaments, and Church's choir singing many special Christmas songs. The congregation will also join in the singing of the carols of Christmas.

The public is invited to join in the celebration of the birth of Jesus, according to David C. Long, pastor. A free-will offering for home missions will be taken during the program.

Treasurer Reports November Totals

The Garrett County treasurer's office received a total of $1,270,008.34 during November, county treasurer Arzella Parsons reported last week.

Parsons said the county received $150,778.33 in 1981 taxes, and $47,141.75 in prior years taxes. State taxes collected amounted to $17,323.70 while ad valorem taxes totaled $1,572.32.

The county received $2,233.25 for the trailer park tax, $744 for the transfer, $38,192.24 for the coal tonnage tax and $426,327.30 for income tax.

Other sources of revenue accumulated to $591,195.19.

The total discounts and credits allowed were $5,499.74.

NOTICE

Dr. B. L. Grant will not have office hours Thursday, Dec. 24, Friday, Dec. 25, Thursday, Dec. 31, and Friday, January 1.

ENERGY TIP: Radiator covers significantly restrict the flow of heat. If you prefer to use them anyway, be sure that at least 75 percent of the cover's surface has grille openings to allow for more efficient heat flow. Keep covers clean, inside and out. Dust wastes heat.

MONEY STRETCHING TIPS FROM RESTAURANTS

Shoppers are in a dilemma these days. While nearly everything costs more, pay checks stay the same or even shrink; so now is the time to pull out all of the stops on managing the food dollar. Restaurants also have to cope with rising costs and therefore employ a variety of ways to control those costs. Perhaps some of the following suggestions, taken from restaurants, could help you make your food dollar go further.

*Serve fish (such as bluefish) and quiche, which when properly prepared and served can be very tasty and attractive at a relatively low cost.

*Some other relatively inexpensive foods to serve are: potato soup, split pea soup, chicken and biscuits, pancakes and sausage, bread pudding, and rice pudding.

*Limit the serving size of the meat item in breakfast, lunch, or dinner to help out food costs.

*To lessen the effect of smaller servings of meat, serve something with the meat item. Some examples: an egg with sausage links, deviled egg halves with cold cuts, or stuffing with pork chops.

*Try serving a sandwich with a pickle spear and a few potato chips to make it look more like a meal.

*Avoid using special ingredients which are either very perishable or expensive to stock. Sometimes such ingredients can be omitted with no drastic change in the final product. Other items they cannot—save those recipes for special occasions.

*Consider buying in bulk for the foods which you use in large amounts.

Ideal storage conditions should be provided for these foods.

FOOD NOTES

Eggnog is nice to serve guests during the holiday. Make your own by using the following recipe:

HOLIDAY EGGNOG

6 eggs, separated
⅔ cup maple flavored table syrup
5 cups milk
½ cup light rum
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Nutmeg

Beat egg whites in large bowl of electric mixer until soft peaks form. Add egg yolks and syrup; beat well. Stir in milk, rum and vanilla; chill. Just before serving, fold in whipped cream. Pour into 3-qt. punch bowl. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 2 qts. eggnog.

Variation: Substitute 1 teaspoon rum extract for rum.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

"Establishing Credit" is the subject of a Homemakers Training meeting which will be held December 17th at 10 a.m. at the Grantsville Liberty Trust Bank and again at 1 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland. The public is invited to attend.

"Make a Merrier Christmas" is the title of a demonstration to be presented December 18th at 10:30 a.m. at the Extension Office. Christmas food, gifts, and decoration ideas will be shown. All interested persons are welcome.

Career Counselor To Visit Grantsville

Barbara Carl, administrative assistant of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College, has announced plans to be at the Grantsville Library branch on Monday, December 21, to meet with anyone interested in learning more about the free services available through the program. Mrs. Carl will be available from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. to talk about career decisions and to answer questions regarding the opportunities available through this displaced homemaker project.

Services offered through the program are designed to assist people who find themselves in a transition period of their lives due to separation, divorce, widowhood, or the economic crunch. These individuals may need to go to work, but lack the skills or self-confidence necessary to reach their employment goals.

Persons interested in learning more about the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program or participating in its free career counseling services should arrange to be at the Grantsville Library on December 21 or call 334-9184 for further information.

Casselman Choral Group To Present Messiah Sing-In

The Casselman Valley Choral Society will present a Messiah Sing-In on Wednesday, December 30, at 7:30 p.m. at the Amity United Church of Christ in Meyersdale. The Sing-In will provide an opportunity for interested persons to sing choruses from Handel's "Messiah."

Not intended to be a performance, the Sing-In will include 11 Messiah choruses, as well as solos by soprano, Paula Kretchman; alto, Cynthia Bonde Coleman; tenor, Frank Ream; and bass, John Yoder. Organ accompaniment will be provided by Richard Strattan and Anna Ruth Thomas.

Conducted by John Yoder, Sing-In participants will briefly rehearse Messiah choruses with Choral Society members. Following an intermission, solos and choruses will be sung in sequence.

Persons wishing to participate in the Sing-In will not be auditioned, but should bring with them a copy of Handel's "Messiah." A limited number of copies will be available for purchase at cost at the door.

Bradley Manor

Barbara Joseph's father and brother are visiting with her for the holidays.

Gayle Prentice had her cast removed last Wednesday.

Due to the weather, the spraying of hot tar on apartment roofs has been postponed.

Tenants are writing letters to President Ronald Reagan and elected officials in support of continued funding for legal aid. Persons wishing to write letters should contact Sharon Elsey at 334-2740.

East Preston Will Present Holiday Concert

Singers of East Preston Senior High and the Terra Alta Community Chorus in W. Va. will present a concert of Christmas music on December 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the East Preston auditorium.

High School groups appearing include the MadriGALS, the Fa-Las, and the fifty-member high school chorus. The Community Chorus will sing several numbers separately and then join the high school chorus for the final selections.

Music for the evening will include Christmas carols, contemporary, popular, and familiar sacred chorals.

The performing groups are under the direction of Mrs. Vivian McConnell. There is no admission charge.

Allen/ Minnelli duo; Garvey is N.Y. model

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Peter Allen and the ex-missus, Liza Minnelli, are teaming for a Carnegie Hall concert on the 27th... Cyndy Garvey, who was a model and TV personality in California, put her kids into a New York private school and came here looking for work. She signed with the Ford agency... Michelle Marx, Groucho's granddaughter, dislocated her knee and was treated at Roosevelt Hospital by Baryshnikov's doctor... The late Jack Albertson ("Chico and the Man") was the one who discovered Tony Geary, in the student drama class of Brigham Young University in Utah.

Tony Geary

Mama Jolie, about her daughter Zsa Zsa: "The reason she has had seven husbands is because Zsa Zsa ia a good old-fashioned girl. She is moral and she marries. She does not have affairs"... James Coco: "My father always wanted me to be a shoemaker like he was"... Shirley MacLaine: "Doesn't matter if a guy's younger than you are. Younger guys bring less pressure on an older woman. It's hard for men in their 40s to be free about relationships because they have age breathing down their necks."

Shirley MacLaine

Hugh O'Brian stars in "Bush Doctor," an original one-hour project which will be aired in 100 syndicated TV markets Jan. 2... Former Miss America, Mary Ann Mobley, made the University of Mississippi Hall of Fame... John Cheever's "The Shady Hill Kidnapping," starring Celeste Holm, George Grizzard and Paul Dooley, debuts the new weekly dramatic series on Public Broadcasting, "Playhouse."

TV PEOPLE

Mickey Rooney: Stay involved with life

On the Broadway stage, Mickey Rooney has been starring in "Sugar Babies," playing himself. On TV this week, the veteran performer will portray a mentally retarded adult in the dramatic special "Bill," a "G.E. Theater" presentation to air on CBS, Tuesday, Dec. 22.

The drama, based on a true story by Barry Morrow, focuses on Bill Sackter, who, although mentally retarded, tackles life in the world beyond the confines of the institution in which he has spent 44 years.

Did Rooney find it difficult to make the daily transition from Bill to "Sugar Babies" in less than two hours, a schedule he had to maintain while filming the TV special?

"I don't find anything difficult," said Rooney. "I knew before I began what the schedule would be like. It's all under the, conduit of show business."

Although the role of Bill might prove emotionally draining to some, Rooney considered it "fun."

"It's not fun the way 'Sugar Babies' is fun," he said. "It's your approach and your attitude toward what you do that determines whether or not it's fun. To me, it's fun to fulfill yourself playing a role with an emotional impact such as this."

Although Rooney has tackled just about every facet of show business since becoming a motion picture star as a youth — as Andy Hardy in "A Family Affair" in 1937 — and has amassed a number of dramatic acting credits ranging from "The Bold and the Brave," "Boys Town" and "Ah, Wilderness!" to "The Black Stallion," he had never before portrayed a retarded person.

"I didn't do anything to prepare for the role," he said. "I'm an actor. I just go out there and act it the way I feel it. I play Bill the way Mickey Rooney wants to play him, not according to the way someone else thinks I should play him. I haven't met Bill Sackter. I didn't want to meet him before I played the part. I don't draw on anything, any person, to create a characterization."

Rooney was very impressed with the story of Bill Sackter and feels "very honored to be playing him on screen.

"Bill signed a wonderful photograph of himself and sent it to me, and I consider it priceless," said Rooney.

Rooney says that working on behalf of the mentally retarded is a "main cause" in his life.

"I do a lot of work for them (the mentally retarded) and have had dealings with them," he said, adding some details of his hopes to be instrumental in the building of villas for the retarded of all ages.

Rooney noted that he has learned many lessons in life, "some of them the hard way," since his early "fun-filled" days on the Hollywood back lots. He considers the most important lesson of all to be: "Stay involved with life."

That does not seem difficult for him. But then, he noted, "nothing is."

Field and Hurt star in NBC's live theater

"All the Way Home," Tad Mosel's Pulitzer Prize-winning play about a Tennessee family's struggle to cope with the accidental death of a beloved father, will be broadcast live, Monday, Dec. 21 on NBC Live Theater.

Academy-award winner Delbert Mann ("Marty") will direct the drama which Mosel based on James Agee's 1958 Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "A Death in the Family."

The Dec. 21 broadcast will mark the second time NBC has presented "All the Way Home." It was originally telecast as a Hallmark Hall of Fame pre-recorded presentation starring Joanne Woodward and Richard Kiley on Dec. 1, 1971.

Sally Field and William Hurt will star in this production of "All the Way Home."

Hurt will portray Jay Follet and Field will play his pregnant wife, Mary, who must struggle to keep the family together after Jay's tragic death in an automobile accident.

Field, who now can be seen in the film "Absence of Malice" with Paul Newman, won an Oscar in 1979 for her performance in the title role of "Norma Rae." She won an Emmy in 1977 for her portrayal of a mentally disturbed woman in "Sybil" on NBC. Other film credits include "Back Roads," "Heroes," "Stay Hungry" and "Smokey and the Bandit."

Hurt, recently acclaimed for his performance in "Body Heat," also played the young scientist in "Altered States" and the lead in "Eyewitness." A veteran of the New York stage, Hurt won a 1977 Obie award for "My Life" at the Circle Repertory Company, and was honored with the 1977-78 Theater World award.

Ned Beatty and Polly Holliday will co-star in "All the Way Home."

Beatty will play Ralph Follet, the loudmouth brother of Jay Follet, and Miss Holliday plays the compassionate Aunt Hannah, who consoles Jay's widow, Mary, in her grief.

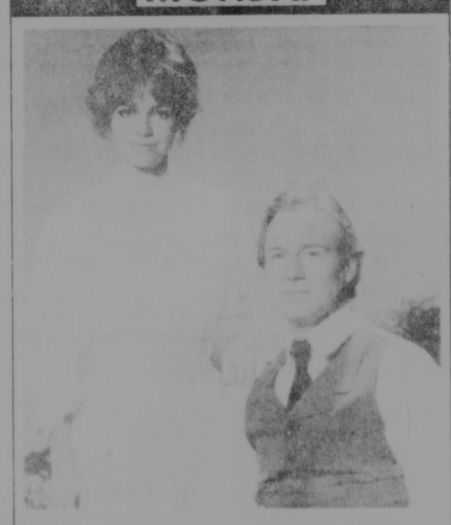
Beatty was most recently seen in NBC's "Splendor in the Grass." He also starred opposite Carol Burnett in "Friendly Fire." His many film credits include "Deliverance," "Network" and "Nashville."

Miss Holliday, best known as Flo, the brassy waitress from "Alice" and the spin-off series, is a veteran of the New York stage who made her Broadway debut in 1974 in Murray Schisgal's "All Over Town," which was directed by Dustin Hoffman. Her film credits include "All the President's Men," "The One and Only" and "W.W. and the Dixie Dance Kings."

Emmy-winning writer/producer David W. Rintels is the executive producer of the project, which will be broadcast live from the Bing Theater on the campus of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. Charles Raymond is the producer.

Sally Field

MONDAY



Sally Field and William Hurt star as Mary Follet and her husband, Jay, in the live production of "All the Way Home," to air Monday, Dec. 21 on NBC.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

SUNDAY

Keith McConnell (r.) as Sherlock Holmes and Laurie Main as Dr. Watson narrate "The Treasure of Alpheus T. Winterborn," to be rebroadcast Sunday, Dec. 20 on CBS.

STARVIEW

Moving filmmaking from L.A. to N.Y.

By Ruth Thompson

In the early days of movie-making, New York City and its environs were where it was at. Things moved westward to Hollywood because cameras were primitive, as was artificial lighting, so year-round sunshine in a warm climate meant few if any work interruptions. Movies stayed there even after giant steps in technology shifted the action to indoor sets — and the moguls settled and built Beverly Hills' palaces.

New York, with its rich supply of stage actors, blossomed again in the 1950s during the golden age of live television — only to see television production follow the movie-makers' pattern and head West.

Why? Producers insisted New York was an "impossible" place to work: They got "no cooperation" for location work, everything cost more to do. And New York being a vertical city meant smaller spaces spread out over multiple floors that needed elevators. In Hollywood, the great horizontal sound stages were hungry for new tenants.

But now, suddenly, at least some of the production is taking root again in New York.

George Schlatter, executive producer of NBC's "Real People," has gathered his stars (Sarah Purcell, Bill Rafferty, John Barbour) together in Manhattan for a recent special. He was so enthusiastic about the change (which he credits to the pro-productions policy of Mayor Ed Koch) that he's eager to do another show here. His is only one voice in a new chorus of fresh praise, however.

Now with the strong blessing, and prodding, of Mayor Koch, a $50-million production center is due to be operational in New York's Astoria section in a year-and-a-half. Reportedly, it is being helped along by the investments of the production companies headed by entertainers Johnny Carson and Alan King.

In the meantime, producer Robert Halmi has found all the horizontal space he needs for CBS' "Nurse," his co-production with Viacom.

The ebullient Halmi, who says that "Nurse" "is my favorite project, my baby," says that CBS first thought it would have to be done in a Hollywood studio.

"But I insisted on New York. Michael Learned, who didn't even want to do another series after 'The Waltons,' lives in New York. I think doing the series here helped persuade her — and Robert Reed, too" (who was doing a Broadway show nightly when the first filming was done).

Halmi says he has a better studio here than anything in Hollywood. It's the entire floor of a section of Metropolitan Hospital which was deactivated in a city budget cutback.

"Not only do I have real hospital rooms and a nurses' station for scenes, I also have all the other space I need," he says, including production offices, commissary, dressing rooms and surplus space to set up as Michael's New York "apartment."

Michael Learned and Robert Reed of "Nurse"

BAIO'S CREDITS — I have heard that Scott Baio has been in movies other than "The Boy Who Drank Too Much" and "Happy Days." What are they? — Caroline Ruhlmann, Hamilton Square, N.J.

Scott had the title role in the movie "Bugsy Malone." He was in two "After School Specials": "Stoned" and "Run, Don't Walk." He has also been in a feature film called "Whiz Kid" and a new movie for TV called "Senior Trip."

Scott Baio

TEAM PLAYS — Sometimes I see shows produced by Spelling-Goldberg, then other times I see Spelling-Kramer, then suddenly Goldberg is back. Can you explain? — G. Thompson, Gary, Ind.

Sure. Aaron Spelling has producing partnerships with both Leonard Goldberg and Doug Kramer and both partnerships have series on the air.

HISTORY — Who played Manolito in the old series "The High Chaparral," and where can I write him? — Roxanne, Great Falls, Mont.

Henry Darrow played the role. He is now active with a Los Angeles stage group called "Actors Group." Write him in care of them at Theatre of Arts, 4128 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90009.

Michael Landon

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY — I would like to know where "Little House on the Prairie" is filmed. The scenery is so beautiful and peaceful. — J.H., Anchorage, Alaska

Occasionally, the cast of the show — Michael Landon plays the lead role — goes on a location trip away from Los Angeles but, generally, the exteriors are filmed just a few miles north of Los Angeles in the Simi Valley area. Interiors are filmed at MGM studios.

JOHN DENVER shares a kiss with America's favorite superstar, Miss Piggy, in the hour-long, music-filled Christmas special, "John Denver and the Muppets — A Christmas Together," to air Tuesday, Dec. 22 on ABC.

TV TATTLE

Rosemary Clooney, Carl Reiner and Shelley Duvall have joined the cast of "Steve Martin's Twilight Theatre," the 90-minute comedy development project to be presented in a late-night time period on NBC early in 1982. Steve Martin stars.

They join previously announced guest stars Michael York, Martin Mull, Pam Dawber and Roddy McDowall in offbeat vignettes and sketches. Cast regulars are Paul Reubens, Benny Luke, Harry Anderson, John London and Ron Engelman.

Kennedy Center honors

Five distinguished American artists — Count Basie, Cary Grant, Helen Hayes, Jerome Robbins and Rudolf Serkin — have been chosen by the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., as recipients of the prestigious Kennedy Center Honors.

They will be saluted at "The Kennedy Center Honors: A National Celebration of the Performing Arts," the fourth annual entertainment gala honoring the lifetime achievement of performing artists. The event will be broadcast on CBS, Saturday, Dec. 26.

The honorees have been chosen by the Kennedy Center trustees as "individuals who throughout their lifetimes have contributed greatly to American culture through the performing arts."

Seven Astaires

Fred Astaire portrays seven different characters in "The Man in the Santa Claus Suit," a holiday special about a mysterious costume shop proprietor who affects the lives of a number of people.

The two-hour fantasy, to be rebroadcast on NBC Thursday, Dec. 24, also stars Gary Burghoff, John Byner and Bert Convy. Harold Gould is special guest star and Nanette Fabray makes a special appearance.

Astaire's characterizations include a costume shop proprietor, chauffeur, policeman, jeweler, floor walker, cab driver and Santa Claus. He also makes a silent cameo appearance as a choral director.

Luciano Pavarotti

Pavarotti Christmas

"A Christmas Special with Luciano Pavarotti," the musical program which premiered over PBS last year, will have an another encore performance in December. The hour-long show, which aired early in the month as part of the national pledge week programming, will air again on Wednesday, Dec. 23. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Recorded in Montreal's Notre Dame Cathedral, the program features the tenor Pavarotti as soloist with Les Petits Chanteurs du Mont-Royal, Canadian Boys' choir, and Les Disciples de Massenet, adult chorus. Franz-Paul Decker, former conductor of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, leads the orchestra in this medley of the world's most beloved Christmas songs, including "O, Holy Night," "Silent Night" and "Adeste Fideles."

Pavarotti also sings such favorites as Schubert's "Ave Maria," Bizet's "Agnus Dei" and Franck's "Panis Angelicus."

WEDNESDAY

Jonathan Prince (l.) and Clark Brandon have a disagreement over women on "Mr. Merlin," to air Wednesday, Dec. 23 on CBS.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Inflation: Cause, Effects, Cure, Prevention

—by D. Noel Obenshain—

Here is what INFLATION is, and its effects:

INFLATION is a continuing increase in consumer commodity prices.

INFLATION is now our Nation's most critical economic problem.

INFLATION increases government expenses.

INFLATION increases taxes.

INFLATION increases interest rates.

INFLATION lowers our "standard of living."

INFLATION leads to production curtailments.

INFLATION causes unemployment.

INFLATION contributes to criminal activities.

INFLATION adversely affects international balances of trade.

INFLATION leads to economic RECESSIONS.

INFLATION if not controlled, can lead to a major DEPRESSION, then to possible CIVIL DISORDER and ANARCHY, and even to a COMMUNIST take-over.

What causes INFLATION? It is anything that increases the cost of producing a commodity that results in an increase in the consumer price. A commodity is anything that can be bought, sold or traded, and includes services of all kinds. Price fluctuations up and down, due to variations in supply and demand, do not cause INFLATION.

The major cost of any commodity is direct and indirect labor, ranging from 25 to 95% of the total cost.

All commodities are produced from one or more of the following basic natural resources: land, air, water, sunlight, minerals including coal, gas and oil; vegetation and animal life. In their native states, all are very cheap. Only when labor has been applied, do they become valuable.

Capital is also involved in the cost of producing commodities, but captial is only an accumulation from past labor applied to these same basic natural resources.

Taxes are also involved in the cost of producing commodities. But, here again, the major part of taxes is for labor to conduct our necessary government functions.

Thus, labor, past and present, direct and indirect is the major cost of any commodity.

Obviously then, when labor rates are increased, the price of the commodity so produced must be increased proportionately, unless there has been a proportional increase in productivity. Productivity is the output of commodity per manhour of labor.

The great increases in productivity in past years, due to technological advances and improved skills, have made possible the higher and higher "standards of living" enjoyed by most Americans. However, in recent years, productivity, in spite of new technological developments, has slowed down and is actually decreasing. At the same time, labor rates have been increasing rapidly, way beyond any possible productivity increases. The result is INFLATION. It is that simple! In other words, the UNION demanded excessive wage increases are the major causes of our present INFLATION. Such demands date clear back to the beginning of this century, and have accelerated drastically in recent years.

There are four and only four ways to minimize INFLATION, (1) find new cheaper natural resources, (2) limit excessive wage increases, (3) increase productivity, (4) reduce taxes, or a combination of all four.

LABOR UNIONS initially served a very useful service in promoting fair wages for the increased productivity of improved machines, facilities and technology. The UNIONS also promoted job training, job classifications, fair promotions, safety, medical benefits, retirement plans, etc. for the benefit of both the workers and their employers.

LABOR UNIONS then became highly organized, combined into huge agglomerates (AFL-CIO etc.), developed absolute monopoly powers in their fields of labor, and installed highly paid, and sometimes questionable, top UNION officials. Under threats of nation-wide strikes, the UNIONS then demanded and obtained pay increases and "benefits" way beyond any possible productivity increases. To justify the high UNION dues, pay raises had to be included in every new contract, including indexing intermediate pay raises according to increases in the CPI. (Consumer Price Index).

Then when the resulting increased commodity prices showed up about a year later in the marketplace, the UNIONS demanded more pay raises to cover the higher commodity prices, which their own actions in the previous year had caused. Thus started, many years ago, the INFLATION SPIRAL. Like a whirlwind, the longer it goes, the faster it spins. From 1967 to 1981 it increased the CPI from 100 to 277, as reported by President Reagan in his TV economic address on February 18, 1981. At that time it took $2.77 to purchase what $1.00 bought in 1967, a 277% consumer price increase.

This INFLATION SPIRAL is still spinning at an increasing rate. Only very quick and drastic action by our government can stop the SPIRAL, before an economic collapse (DEPRESSION) occurs.

Since Congress cannot react quickly, it is suggested that the President declare a "state of national emergency", and with the extraordinary authority so obtained, declare a 2-year moratorium on pay raises, strikes and lock-outs, and on fuel, utility and rental increases.

If the Chrysler workers can endure a 2-year wage and strike freeze without undue hardship, other workers should be able to get along with the 2-year moratoriums, particularly since such moratoriums will result in curtailed INFLATION.

These moratoriums should halt the INFLATION SPIRAL and give the economy time to become stabilized. Business confidence should then return. Within 6 months consumer prices should level out, and fluctuate only according to the natural laws of supply and demand.

Without the threat of INFLATION interest rates should drop dramatically. This would greatly aid the home and other building industries, and would revive automobile and other major appliacnes sales. With the attendant rise in employment, income tax revenues should increase and thus reduce the need for additional government deficit spending.

Tabulation made Dec. 2, 1981
By: D. Noel Obenshain

Without strikes and work stoppages, productivity should improve. This could possibly lead to actual reductions in some consumer prices. Less idleness would reduce the tendencies toward criminal activities.

Commodity price controls are not suggested. Even back as far as ancient Roman times they were tried, and never worked. Black markets developed and hurt most the very people the controls were supposed to help. Strict enforcement of the anti-trust laws should keep prices in line, fluctuating only as dictated by supply and demand.

After termination of the 2-year moratoriums, what then? Obviously, the monopolistic powers exercised by the BIG LABOR UNIONS were the major causes of the INFLATION SPIRAL, in the first place. During this 2-year period, Congress should carefully study and enact an Anti-Trust Act for labor organizations, similar in purpose to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act of 1890 for control of monopolies in business and industry. If they are fair for business and industry, they should be fair for LABOR. Never again should a UNION have a monopoly in any labor field. It might even be desirable to limit unions to a single company or corporation, or to limited geographical areas, such as states, or groups of states.

The UNIONS would not be destroyed as the BIG UNION leaders would loudly proclaim. Some of the high paid leaders would likely loose their jobs. UNIONS could then get back to their original purpose of helping their members, their employers, and the communities in which they work and live.

We could then have a truly free competitive economy, with both business and labor competing on an equal basis for the consumer market. The natural laws of supply and demand could then function effectively and keep INFLATION at a minimum.

This article has so far dealt with the theoretical aspects of infaltion as determined by logic and reasoning. The attached, "Tabulation of Major U.S. Economic Factors, 1967-1981," was recently prepared. It gives historical economic data for the past 14 years. The data fully confirms the theory.

The tabulation covers a period from 1967-1981, with projections to 1984. Columns 2, 3, 4 and 5 are based on relative values of 100 for the year 1967. This is the only form in which some of the data were available. Furthermore, it permits easy correlation between the several factors involved.

Columns 3 and 4 compare AVERAGE WORKER WAGES (AWW) and CONSUMER PRICES (CPI). It is interesting to note that for any given year, the AWW and CPI are very nearly the same, up to 1979. The (AWW) includes pay raises obtained in each year. The effect of the raises do not show up in that year, since it takes about a year for the cost increases to reach the marketplace. But the increased CPI does show up in the following year, as the tabulation shows.

This can be followed right on down, year after year, as indicated by the shading. After 1975, the CPI appears to be gaining. This is believed due to the OPEC oil price escallations and the massive increases in the federal deficit. While it is not obvious to most persons, the federal government was actually borrowing money at high interest rates, and allowing the tax payers more money to spend, which also tended to add to INFLATION. Indexing wages and social security increases to the CPI, further increased acceleration of the INFLATION SPIRAL. We are now in a very difficult economic situation.

The projections for 1982-1984 are purely speculative. They are based on an early 1982 application for the 2-year moratoriums, and the assumption of full cooperation by a majority of American citizens. It may already be too late for such actions to be effective.

One thing is sure, a major DEPRESSION would certainly halt the INFLATION SPIRAL, but at a terrible cost in misery and suffering, and with the possible downfall of our present form of government. The Kremlin is no doubt watching with keen anticipation our present economic dilemma.

Space for this statement on inflation is being paid for by Mr. Obenshain. Since the article does point the blame for the present runaway inflation to actions by the big labor organizations, this article will probably infuriate union leaders.

Mr. Obenshain is a longtime resident of Garrett County and a 10 year retiree from Westvaco Corporation, where he worked in Engineering and Research for 46 years. He is presently carrying on a wide range of personal research projects, in addition to research consulting work for Westvaco and others.

Mr. Obenshain is not an economist by profession or formal training, but has been actively interested in the economic relations between employers and employees. In 1948, he prepared a comprehensive wage and salary advancement scheme, which, had it been adopted, might have avoided much of the current labor unrest, and labor problems between management and labor, and might have avoided the excessive inflation now threatening our economy.

His philosophy was basic and simple. A worker should be paid according to the job skills required, and be given annual pay raises proportional to his performance. A worker with poor performance should be released or transferred. Workers with good, excellent and exceptional performance, should be given annual, pre-agreed upon, percent raises according to their performances.

This is quite different from the present union philosophy, which demands that equal percent pay raises be given to all workers regardless of their performance, poor, good, excellent, or exceptional. This in part accounts for the decline in productivity of the American workers. Why work hard, when you will get no more pay than the poorest or laziest worker on the job? Union leaders have actually reprimanded workers for good or excellent performance. Exceptional performance is unthinkable. One result is that we are buying foreign built cars, rather than selling American produced cars to foreign markets.

Mr. Obenshain relates that he was not too concerned about inflation until around 1974 when inflation soared to 11%. A study indicated that if this rate continued, our economy might be in serious trouble. He then wrote to Gerald Ford, who became President after President Nixon resigned, and suggested that he temporarily halt the inflation spiral by declaring a 2 year moratorium on pay raises, strike and lock-outs, and follow up with legislation putting labor organizations under the Anit Trust laws, similar to those applied to business and industry. This should to some extent limit the monopoly powers which the big labor unions had acquired.

President Ford, with an eye toward the coming 1976 election, and fearing the loss of union assistance in the election, did nothing. The inflation spiral continued and he lost the election.

Eight letters were sent to President Carter during his term. He did nothing to control inflation either, and lost re-election.

So far, 6 letters have been sent to President Reagan, who is not fearful of the union organizations. Actually only 20% of American workers are union members. Mr. Obenshain is hopeful that President Reagan might consider his proposals and halt the inflation sprial before it is too late. He is quite apprehensive that it might even now be to late. He hopes that the facts presented in his article might stir public reactions, which in turn, might encourage President Reagan to take the bold actions neccessary.

Police Increase Surveillance Of Truckers Hauling Hazardous Materials

HAZARDOUS MATERIALS MONITOR — Maryland State Trooper Joe Davis shows Governor Harry Hughes a portable radiation meter that is being used as part of a statewide monitoring and enforcement effort aimed at trucks transporting hazardous materials. (State Police photo by Bill Clark)

A special Maryland State Police enforcement program began on December 9 on major highways to crackdown on the unsafe transportation of hazardous materials by trucks.

Troopers will be closely monitoring truck traffic and will be enforcing State and Federal hazardous material regulations. In the first two months of this special effort warnings will be issued except where noted cases of serious hazardous moving, equipment, plackarding and fire extinguisher violations are detected. Copies of a special report of these violations will be sent to the owner of the truck as well as the Federal Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety.

This enforcement effort is part of a major hazardous material project headed by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and is funded by the United States Department of Transportation Research and Special Programs Administration.

Members of the State Police Truck Enforcement Division and the Bus and Truck Patrol recently completed a two-week hazardous materials course presented by the United States Department of Transportation Traffic Safety Institute which provided troopers with intensive training in the application of State and Federal regulations as well as detection techniques of hazardous material violations.

According to Colonel Thomas S. Smith, Superintendent of the State Police, "The importance of this project is that we are trying to bring Maryland regulations dealing with the transportation of hazardous materials in line with the more stringent Federal regulations." Smith added, "We intend to increase our enforcement efforts to see that these regulations are carried out."

Federal overtime dollars will allow troopers to work additional hours during this three-year project to supplement normal State Police enforcement activities directed previously towards handlers of hazardous materials. Radiation detection equipment has been installed in some State Police cars to assist monitoring teams.

Predetermined sites have been selected for this enforcement effort which include routes to and from significant industrial centers.

According to Lt. Col. Johnny G. Lough, Chief of the State Police Field Operations Bureau, "There are more than 50,000 different kinds of hazardous materials in daily transit in the United States. This project will allow us to insure that these materials are safely moved through our State."

It is expected that this project will enhance public safety by minimizing the risk associated with the transportation of hazardous materials and reduce highway accidents.

Grantsville Pupils Complete Unit On First Thanksgiving

The Gifted and Talented students at Grantsville Elementary School recently joined members of the Special Education group to study a unit on the First Thanksgiving of the Pilgrims and the Indians.

The students learned together many of the ways of the early celebrators, including their methods of preparing and preserving food, their language, and the way of making soap, candles, pottery, and clothing.

The G and T students did research on the subject and presented it to the Special Ed students through poems, stories, and prose. The two groups also learned to communicate in sign language.

The menu for the feast, which was held by both classes, was prepared by the Special Ed group. The items included Indian wild rice, dried corn, vegetable casserole, corn bread, sassafras tea, and pumpkin pie squares.

Matthew Stieringer, principal; Mrs. Cherie Rettel, G and T instructor; Mrs. Bernadine Friend, Special Ed instructor; and Mrs. Debbie Bittinger, instructional aide, assisted the students with the complete unit.

Portions of the materials used will be on display at the Board of Education building from December 14 through January 14.

The students are now studying international Christmas customs. Ms. Rita Dubansky will assist with learning about Hanukkah, the eight-day Jewish festival.

CRELLIN

A Christmas play, "The Spirit of Christmas" will be presented on Sunday evening, December 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the United Brethren in Christ Church. The public is invited to attend. The children of the church will present a Christmas program during the Sunday School on Sunday morning at 9:45.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Friend were last Tuesday visitors of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Friend, at Sand Spring near Friendsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Migliacco of Ridgeley, W. Va., spent last Thursday night with the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinebaugh.

Mrs. Bonnie Winters, Mrs. Shirley Bowman and Mrs. Julia Shaffer spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Fulk of near Underwood.

Mrs. Darla Panther and daughter, Jennifer, and Mrs. Tammy Skiles and son, Jeremy and daughter, Melinda of Mt. Lake Park, spent last Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Carskadon.

Mrs. Ada Shaffer returned to her home on Sunday from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was a patient for two weeks.

Donald Stiles of Kitzmiller was a Sunday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stiles. Wilbur Gibbs of Knep visited the Stiles last Tuesday.

Viola Stiles, who was a patient for five days in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, returned home last Monday.

Mrs. Don Shaffer and children of near Loch Lynn were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Shaffer's mother, Mrs. Pauline Henline.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Fike spent last weekend with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Burh, at Gasport, N.Y.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions & Answers

Q. My daughter says that I should apply for SSI. Will I have to sell my house in order to quality?

A. No, regardless of value, the home you live in and the land adjacent to it are not counted in determining whether you qualify for SSI.

Q. Last month my wife and I were visiting relatives out of State and she needed to see a doctor there. We paid the bill and received an itemized statement of the charges. Since she has medical insurance under Medicare, how do we find out the correct address to send in the claim for reimbursement?

A. You can call your local Social Security office and tell them the county and State that you received the treatment in and they can tell you where to send the claim. If you need assistance in completing the claims forms they will be glad to help you.

Q. I work for a large corporation that has its own pension plan. When I retire will my Social Security check be reduced due to the corporate pension I'll receive?

A. No. Social Security payments are meant to provide a basic economic floor to build on with other sources of retirement income. Your pension will not affect the amount of your Social Security check.

Q. I have a mentally retarded son. Both he and I receive Social Security benefits on the record of his deceased father. My son will be 16 soon. Will our Social Security checks stop then?

A. Not necessarily. Since your son is mentally retarded you can file a Social Security Claim for him as a "disabled adult child," that is, a child who became disabled before age 22. If it is determined that he cannot work, then we can pay him as a disabled adult child. We may also be able to continue your checks if you provide him with special care and services. Check with your local Social Security office for further details.

Q. I currently receive Social Security disability benefits, but I would like to try working again even though my medical condition has not improved. Do my disability checks automatically stop when I go to work?

A. Assuming there has been no improvement in your medical condition, you may be entitled to a trial work period of up to 9 months to test your ability to work. If, after 9 months, it is decided that you are able to do substantial gainful work, your payments will continue for 3 additional months and then stop. If within a year you subsequently stop work because of your condition, your disabiliuty benefits can be reinstated without your having to file a new application. In any event, if you decide to try working, notify your Social Security office immediately.

Revised Revenue Estimates Issued By Revenue Board

The Maryland Board of Revenue Estimates, consisting of State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein (chairman), State Treasurer William S. James and State Budget Secretary Louis Stettler, met Friday with Governor Harry Hughes and issued revised revenue estimates for the State's Fiscal Year 1982, which began July 1, 1981 and for Fiscal Year 1983, which will begin July 1, 1982.

Citing continued high interest rates, lower employment levels, higher unemployment rates and lower corporate profit projections, the Board increased its previous Fiscal Year 1982 revenue estimate by only $3.6 million. It revised the Fiscal Year 1983 estimate upward by only $2.56 million, anticipating that those revenues will be about 5.7% higher than the current year levels.

The Board last gave estimates to the governor on September 10, 1981.

In its current report, the Board noted Maryland's economy has slowed in response to the sluggishness of the national economy and that employment is actually lower than it was during 1980 in Maryland. Cuts in Federal employment and in the Federal budget are also impacting the Maryland economy.

In the private sector, the continued slump in the homebuilding industry and in automobile production and sales are trends which affect Maryland's economic prospects and employment.

Looking to the future, the Board states, "A consensus of national economic forecasts predicts that recovery should accelerate in the third quarter of 1982 as business regains bouyancy and as the second stage of the Reagan tax cuts become effective."

However, the Board cautioned that, "The outlook for early 1982 is contingent upon the behavior of interest rates and inflation.

Comptroller Goldstein notes that one important factor in general fund revenue growth is the large impact of tax relief programs and transfers of some general fund revenues to the Transportation Trust Fund.

He states that, for the current year, the general fund is also being affected by the Federal tax cuts. "It is anticipated that the State will not receive approximately $50 million in already appropriated Federal funds during Fiscal Year 1982. In addition, about $3.9 million in corporate income tax revenues will be lost to the general fund because of changes in the Federal corporation income tax law. These same changes will also result in a $4.4 million loss to the State's Transportation Trust Fund, which receives part of the corporation income tax."

The Board projects a general fund balance of $155,825,000 at the close of Fiscal Year 1982 (June 30, 1981).

'Crismon' Tree Tells A Story

Christmas trees embody different kinds of traditions. Many families traditionallly observe each Christmas by adding one new decoration to the family tree.

Churches also decorate Christmas trees and many have adopted ornaments that tell a story. These are called "Chrismon" trees from a combination of the words "Christ" and "monogram." Chrismon thus means, "monogram of Christ."

Decorations include the traditional Nativity figures, animals, Biblical items such as chariots and crosses, as well as the white rose which symbolizes the infant.

SENSIBLE GIFTS

Gift lists, like Topsy, can grow and grow, and grow—and so can gift spending. A planned approach is the best way to assure that the money doesn't get too short while the gift list is still long. Make a complete gift list before buying the first present. Decide, roughly, how much you can spend for each gift. Small gifts for children can be made more appealing by decorating the outside of the package with candies and sweets. Adults appreciate packages wrapped with special care. And, in the final analysis, being remembered, more than the cost of the gift, is important to everyone.

SHA Head Cautions Motorists During Holiday Season

With the holiday season in full swing, State Highway Administrator M. Slade Caltrider is reminding Maryland motorists to slow down, obey all traffic laws, be alert and drive soberly on state highways.

Last year during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day, 25 people lost their lives on Maryland highways. Alcohol was directly responsible for 11 of these deaths, while excessive speed and driver error contributed to the other fatalities.

"This is a busy time of year for most people," Caltrider said. "Sometimes seemingly routine things, like driving, can get lost in the holiday shuffle. We need to take a few minutes to consider our responsibilities when behind the steering wheel of a motor vehicle.

"We all have responsibility to ourselves and our loved ones to come home after taking to the road. We all have the responsibility for bringing our passengers home safe and sound. And we all have the responsibility to watch out for the other person, who might not be as prudent in his or her driving habits."

Caltrider also said to be alert, patient and careful. "If you drink, don't drive. Don't let a friend drive drunk either. That could be the greatest gift you give this holiday."

Carbon Monoxide Warning Issued

In extreme cold weather, employers and employees should be aware of the increased danger of carbon monoxide poisoning in the workplace, according to Harvey A. Epstein, Commissioner of Labor and Industry.

Carbon monoxide (CO) is the most widespread gas hazard in industry today. In warehouses, garages, and factories, the risk of CO poisoning is greatest in winter months because of closed doors and windows. It can be generated by many operations, processes or equipment including auto repair, lift trucks, warehousing operations, foundries, furnaces, and ovens.

CO is an odorless, colorless, and tasteless gas which gives no warning to its victim. Headaches, nausea, and dizziness are symptoms of exposure to the gas, with continued exposure causing muscle weakness, unconsciousness and death. In past years, several workers have died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

"On-Site Consultation Service is available, free-of-charge, to help employers in determining whether their place of employment has a CO problem," stresses Commissioner Epstein. "On a broader scope, the service can aid an employer in identifying and correcting other safety or health hazards or potential hazards before a worker is injured or becomes ill."

Commissioner Epstein urges employers throughout Maryland to utilize the On-Site Consultation Service which is provided free-of-charge through federal and state funding. A consultation survey will not trigger an inspection and is confidential.

For more information, persons may contact Mrs. O'Brien, On-Site Consultation Service, Maryland Occupational Safety and Health Program, 203 East Baltimore Street, Baltimore, 21202; telephone (301) 659-4192.

Christmas Drummer Old German Custom

In old Germany, children looked forward to the arrival of the Christmas drummer. According to custom, once the Christmas dinner was completed, an elderly man, with a drum attached around his neck and resting on his stomach, would lead a procession through each room in the house, beating the drum to frighten away witches and evil spirits. When he reached the children's room, the door was opened with great ceremony to reveal a large Christmas tree, illuminated with candles and laden with gifts for boys and girls. A huge Janus head—or Jack-o-lantern—was placed in the center of the tree and lighted with candles so that flame and smoke issued from the nose, mouth and ears. This was the signal for the children to surround the tree and strip it of the gifts, while the older members of the family exchanged presents and joined in the spirit of the occasion.

Judge Jones Hears Variety of Charges

Assualt and battery cases head the district court docket this week as Judge Lewis R. Jones heard cases ranging from fistfighting to assault on a school bus.

David William Cosner, 20, Oakland, was found guilty on charges of disturbing the peace, battery, resisting arrest, and public intoxication stemming from an incident in the park and playground area of Mt. Lake Park, which occurred in October.

According to a complaint filed by Deputy Don Tucker, the defendant and Robert Paul Shreve, 18, Mt. Lake Park, were involved in an altercation with Deputy Tucker. Cosner was accused of swearing, making a loud disturbance, and physically resisting Tucker's attempts to subdue him. According to the report, the deputy was kicked by Cosner during the melee.

Shreve was found guilty of destruction of property when he slammed his fist down on the police cruiser, making a dent.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for both men.

Richard Lee Sharpless, 24, Deer Park, was found guilty of intoxication as a result of engaging in a public fistfight in the Deer Park area last month. He was arrested by Deputy Kutchman.

Judge Jones levied a $50 fine plus court costs.

A Grantsville woman, Lola Frickey, was found guilty of battery following an incident involving the 13-year-old son of Betty Beitzel, also of Grantsville, the complainant in the case.

According to the report, Frickey stopped a school bus driven by Harold Wiley at Bruner's store in Grantsville, and inquired as to whether the young boy was on the bus. When the driver assured her he was, she boarded the bus, went to the child's seat, and, according to the report, began to scream at him, pull his hair, shook his head, and struck him with a belt she had brought on the bus with her.

Judge Jones ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Ms. Frickey.

Browning's Super Market, Oakland, brought charges of theft against Harold Knotts, 68, Rowlesburg, W. Va.

According to the report, Knotts was observed putting packs of cigarettes in his coat pocket which he did not pay for when leaving the store.

Judge Jones found Knotts guilty and levied a $50 fine.

Browning's also brought bad check charges against Richard Lee Sharpless, 24, Deer Park.

According to the complainant, a check in the amount of $14.90 was issued on September 30, 1980, which was returned by the bank marked insufficient funds.

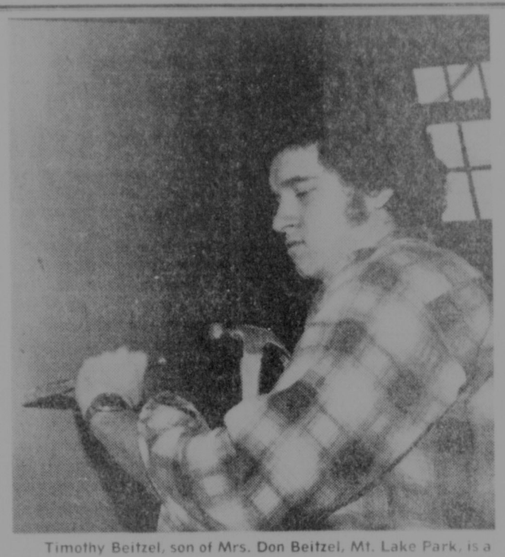
Judge Jones fined Sharpless $50 plus court costs.

An Oakland man, Earl Thayer, operator of Thayer's Oakland Electric, was placed on probation before judgment stemming from a charge of offering goods and wares for sale without a proper license to do so. The charges were filed by Charles Floto, revenue specialist from Baltimore.

Joseph E. Gilpin was sentenced to three years and three months in jail, to be served in addition to a sentence currently being served as a result of charges of assault, malicious destruction of property, intoxication, and public use of alcoholic beverages brought against him by Perry Edminston, park manager of the New Germany State Park, Grantsville.

According to the complainant, Gilpin had run his vehicle into the Savage River reservoir last August, and had stopped a park employee to pull him out with a tractor. Gilpin then got into the park's vehicle, became abusive and violent, and began beating on the vehicle with a flashlight. According to the employee, he then twisted off the mirror and broke glass in the tractor. Damages to the park equipment was estimated at $90.

Gary A. Beitzel, Grantsville, was found not guilty on charges of disorderly conduct brought against him by Quentin R. Frickey, Grantsville.



Timothy Beitzel, son of Mrs. Don Beitzel, Mt. Lake Park, is a worker on the student renovation crew which is remodeling James Dormitory on the Berea College campus, Berea, Kentucky. The James Dormitory project is the third major building renovated involving student labor at Berea since 1979. The project, which is expected to take two years for completion, uses student labor and supervision to give students the opportunity to develop a working skill while attending school. Tasks to be completed include painting, plaster repairs, carpeting and general improvements in lighting. Beitzel is a junior at Berea, majoring in business. He is a graduate of Southern High School.

SEASON'S SPIRIT

For years, the small town of Hartford, Ky., was known to truck drivers, tourists and travelers because of a large sign on the outskirts of town, which read: "Welcome to Hartford, Ky., Home of 2000 happy people and a Few Soreheads." Visitors during the Christmas season were even more impressed by an additon to the sign which said, "Even the Soreheads Wish You a Merry Christmas."

CRIME SOLVERS

Call 334-3111

Reward $100-$1000

This week, the Maryland State Police and Crime Solvers are investigating the destruction of the truck speed warning signs on Rt. 135 along Backbone Mountain. Between July 24 and September 6, 1981, the truck warning signs were damaged on several occasions. The incidents caused considerable expense to taxpayers and present a hazard to all users of Backbone Mountain.

All leads in this investigation have been exhausted and Crime Solvers is seeking the help of the public.

Anyone having information on this crime or any unsolved crime is asked to call Crime Solvers at 334-3111. The caller does not have to give a name or appear in court. If the tip leads to the arrest and indictment of the individuals involved, the caller will be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1000.

Crime Solvers also pays cash rewards for information leading to the capture of wanted persons in other unsolved crimes. All information will be kept confidential, and the caller may always remain anonymous.

Any questions about the Crime Solvers program, or arrangements for a guest speaker from the organization to attend club meetings may also be directed to 334-3111.

It's YOUR Money

By Randle A. Rodeheaver

WHAT DOES A CREDIT MANAGER LOOK FOR?

How much do you earn and own?

Generally, the more the better. Will you be able to carry comfortably the debt you're now taking on, plus what you already owe?

How long have you had your present job or business?

A record of few or no changes in recent years will boost your credit rating.

What's your residential situation?

Do you live in an average-or-better neighborhood? Do you board, rent an apartment, own your own home? Boarders do not rate very high. Apartment dwellers are a notch below homeowners, but the size of the homeowner's mortgage can be a factor. And the longer you've lived at your present address, the better.

What's your marital status?

In ascending order, here's how you rate: single male, single female, divorced or separated, widowed, married.

How old are you?

If you're under 21, you're not considered a good risk, mainly for legal reasons. From 21 to 25, you stand a somewhat better chance. At 26-35, your rating moves up considerably, and from 36 to 65, it's at the top. After that, it declines unless you're well fixed or have had an excellent rating right along.

How's your credit record?

Can you offer several references to show that you pay your bills promptly? If you've had any credit problems, be frank about them. Any good credit man will listen to you sympathetically. Remember that, while he has to be careful, he wants you as a customer.

Linda Schrock, James Beitzel Exchange Vows On November 27

Linda Schrock, Grantsville, and James Beitzel, Salisbury, Pa., were united in marriage on Friday evening, November 27, in the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Homer Schrock, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Beitzel.

The bride's father performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Oren Bender.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white knit gown. The neckline was accented with Venise lace, and the full bishop sleeves featured deep cuffs. The full skirt, sweeping to a chapel train, was also accented with lace. A fingertip veil completed the outfit, and was edged with Venise lace. She carried a bouquet of silk autumn flowers and wheat.

O'pha Millslagle, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Julia Tice and Mary Beitzel served as bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was Teresa Schrock. Flower girl was Sandra Beitzel. The bridesmaids wore floor-length peach-colored gowns with a small flower print. Each carried sheaves of wheat and rose buds tied with satin ribbons. The junior bridesmaid and flower girl wore floor-length gowns similar to the bridesmaid dresses featuring eyelet lace pinafores. Each carried a small basket filled with a variety of silk autumn flowers.

Mother of the bride and mother of the groom each wore a pastel autumn print street-length dress.

The groom wore a three-piece tan suit accented by a ruffled shirt. The groomsmen wore three-piece brown suits and ruffled shirts.

Best man was Jeffrey Millslagle, brother-in-law of the bride. Darrell Schrock and Leroy Beitzel were groomsmen; Douglas Beitzel was a junior usher, and Jeffrey Beitzel escorted the flower girl. Ushers were Melvin Beitzel, Wayne Schrock, Laban Tice, and Clifford Schrock.

Wedding music was provided by Lowell and Verna Bender, who sang "Make Us One, Father, God" and "Two Candles." William Jackson sang "The Lord's Prayer." Various recorded selections were also played.

Janice Witmer and Brenda Pope attended the guest register. Rachel Miller, Ruth Yoder, Noami Yoder, and Judy Schrock served as gift receivers.

A reception followed in the church fellowship hall for approximately 400 guests. The hall was decorated with candles, following an autumn theme.

For her traveling attire, the bride chose an autumn print dress with a vest of peach eyelet lace.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and until recently, was employed at the Goodwill Mennonite Home.

The groom was graduated from Meyersdale (Pa.) Area High School, and the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. He is currently attending the Temple Medical School in Philadelphia.

The bride was honored with several bridal showers given by family and friends.

Out-of-town guests came from Pennsylvania, Oregon, New York, Virginia, and West Virginia. Following a wedding trip to Lancaster, the couple now makes their home in Philadelphia.

Mickey Ray Warnick, 24, Swanton, and Kandy Louise Evans, 18, Kitzmiller.

Lewis Ray Wolfe, 48, Shinnston, W. Va., and Geraldine Elizabeth Sigley, 58, Rivesville, W. Va.

Caeser C. Vasquez, 74, and Juanita Geraldine Herrick, 48, both of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Harman, Joslin Exchange Vows

Joyce Margaret Harman and Cornith James Joslin were united in marriage October 24 at 7 p.m. in Zion Lutheran Church, Accident.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Harman, Accident. Pastor Fred Illick officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar accented with baby's breath.

Marilyn Illick, organist, presented a program of pre-nuptial music. The soloist, Glenda Miller, sang "Just the Way You Are" prior to the ceremony, and "Always and Forever" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the service. "One Hand, One Heart" was sung by Miss Miller during the lighting of the unity candle. "Trumpet Voluntary in D Major" was used for the processional and "Ode to Joy" was played for the recessional.

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore an empire gown of alabaster crepe topped by a bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace that scalloped the portrait decolletage and cuffed the long, slim sleeves. Spreading to a gently flaring silhouette, her skirt sloped to join the full back in a graceful chapel train. Complementing this was her demi bonnet of matching lace from which her long veil of lace edged illusion flowed beyond the tip of the train and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, coral silk daisies, baby's breath and ivy with white and coral streamers.

Betty Harman, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Attendants were Susi Joslin, sister-in-law of the groom, and Lynn Wiley, friend of the bride. Each wore empire frocks of coral jersey yoked in matching lace with high mandarin collar and long sleeves. Sashed in satin, the skirt was gathered. They wore clusters of silk flowers in their hair. They carried baskets of coral and white silk flowers accented with baby's breath and coral ribbon.

Flowergirl Amie Joslin, neice of the groom, wore a floor length dress of coral jersey, accented with ecru lace, and a matching ribbon bow in her hair. She carried a basket of petals trimmed with coral ribbons.

Dan Joslin served as best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Marion Joslin, brother of the groom, and Dick Carrico, friend of the groom. Ringbearer was David Joslin, and acolyte was Bryan Joslin, both sons of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a floor length mint green gown of polyester crepe, and a corsage of white silk camellias.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the Embers Room of the Village Inn at the Wisp, McHenry. Assisting were Mary Harman, Eva Lou Harman, Cheryl Harman and Betty Jo Wagoner, graced with vases of white mums and coral carnations. Holly Harmen kept the guest book and Melissa Joslin attended the gift table. Paul Harman and Carl Harman, brothers of the bride, distributed programs and hosted guests.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom on the eve of the wedding in the Garden Room, near Accident, at which time the couple presented gifts to their attendants. Pre-nuptial events included a surprise shower given by the Berkeley County 4-H Leaders Association and a shower given by the bride's sorority sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Virgina, the couple established residence residing in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Mrs. Joslin is a graduate of Shepherd College and West Virginia University and is employed by the West Virginia Cooperative Extension Service as an Extension Agent, 4-H, in Berkeley County. The groom, a native of Dayton, Ohio, is an Air Traffic Controller with the United States Air Force at the Eastern West Virginia Regional Airport, Martinsburg.

Guests in attendane were from Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Texas.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Christmas Eve services will be held in all three churches of the Lutheran Parish. Services will be held at 7 p.m. at Zion, second one at St. John's at 8:30, and the final one at Emmanuel at 10 p.m. Each family is to bring a Christian symbol or ornament for the tree at Emmanuel.

Congregational meetings were held in all three churches on Sunday. A budget for the Parish and each individual church was drawn up and approved. Council members were elected. At St. John's, Mrs. Carole Peck and Opel Fazenbaker were elected; at Emmanuel, Audrey Brenneman, Robert Legeer and Fenton Lowery were elected; and at Zion, Michael Broadwater and Edgar Resh were elected.

Glade Mennonite Church will present the Christmas story in song next Sunday evening, December 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the Glade Church will go caroling in the community on Tuesday evening, December 22. They will leave from the church at 6:30 p.m. Anyone wishing to join the group may do so.

Cherry Glade Mennonite Church will have a Christmas Eve service at 7:30, with special presentations by the children and the youth chorus.

On Saturday, December 19, the young persons from Cherry Glade Mennonite Church will distribute boxes of food for the needy and shut-ins in their community.

Emmanuel's LCW will meet at the home of Phyllis Buckel on Friday, December 18. Phyllis and Donna Buckel will lead the topic "Songs and Signs of Hope." Gifts will be exchanged.

The Bittinger Parish was chosen as one in 300 parishes to study and make recommendations concerning a preliminary text of a statement on ecumenism that the Division for World Mission and Ecumenism intends to present to the Eleventh Biennial Convention of the Lutheran Church in America, to be held in Louisville, Ky., September 3-10, 1982. Its purpose is to inform and provide guidance to congregations, synods and the national structure of this church on their ecumenical responsibility in the coming years. A meeting of representatives from all three churches was held last Monday evening with Pastor David Rockwood. Attending were Miss Leota Baker, Mrs. Ellen Friend, William Colby, Phyllis Buckel, Martha Glotfelty, and Pastor Rockwood. The group read over and studied the 19-page document.

Bittinger Fire Co. Elects Officers

The election of officers for 1982 was among the items on the Bittinger Fire Company's agenda at its December meeting. Those elected to office were Roy Beitzel, president; Bill Emory, vice president; Ken Buckel, treasurer; Ed Geis, secretary; chief, "Tip" Ira Yaste; first assistant chief, Pete Buckel; second assistant chief, Bob Yaste; chief engineer, Paul Yoder; board of directors, Bob Brenneman and George Bowser; chaplain, David Rockwood. At this meeting Pastor David Rockwood was voted into the company's membership.

Firemen Hold Christmas Party

A Christmas party, sponsored by the Firemen of Bittinger and the Auxiliary was held in the fire hall on Sunday evening for the entire community.

A Christmas meal of finger foods, punch and coffee was held at 6:30 p.m. Pastor Rockwood was introduced by Roy Beitzel and gave the invocation.

Introductions of those present was held by Tip Yaste, who gave a history and progress of the fire department during the past year. He acknowledged the many efforts put forth by members of the community to help in this progress. The gifts from the W.O.W. were enumerated, namely, playground equipment for the children of the community and a newly installed public address system.

Two plaques were presented to Roy Beitzel, one saying "An award of gratitude, in appreciation of dedicated service to the Bittinger Fire Department." The second plaque was inscribed "Company Fireman of the Year, Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department, 1981 - Roy W. Beitzel." A plaque was awarded to George Bowser inscribed "An award of gratitude, in appreciation of dedicated service to the Bittinger Fire Department." Chief Yaste pointed out that volunteer firemen receive no pay and sometimes have long and uncertain hours. Their reward, he pointed out, is the feeling of good will found in being helpful in a time of need for their fellowman.

A decorated Christmas tree in the hall was done by the local 4-H Club.

Gifts for the children were placed under the tree and adults each brought a gift to be exchanged.

Games led by Joyce Brenneman and Linda Buckel were enjoyed by both children and adults. Afterward, there was singing of Christmas carols by the group, and Santa in his red suit and white beard made his appearance. He distributed the gifts under the tree to the children.

There were 130 present.

Personal Items

Pastor Rockwood's mother, Ruth O'Neill, grandmother, Marie Culbertson, his sister, Jay Rockwood and his Aunt Genevieve Hill from Delran, N.J., were visiting the pastor and his family from last Friday until Sunday.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Ida Reckner were Mr. and Mrs. John Reckner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Tom Glotfelty, Linda and Sheli Bittinger, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Carey and sons, Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty, Lisa Glotfelty, and Lloyd Brenneman.

Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Maust entertained 50 guests on Sunday before the wedding of Christine Diller and Duane Maust. There were persons from Ohio, Indiana, Arkansas, New York, and many local guests.

Lois Brenneman, Traverse City, Mich., is spending some time with her mother, Amelia, and sister, Miriam. On Sunday, many family members were visiting.

Kathy, Duane and Mark Glotfelty, Pittsburgh, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Yaste. They visited Martha Glotfelty on Friday evening. Dr. Donald Glotfelty was a recent caller in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beitzel entertained their family with a Christmas dinner on Sunday.

Bruce Brenneman remains a patient in Memorial Hosptial, Cumberland.

Lana DeWitt Weds Gary Tuck

Wedding vows were exchanged August 15 by Lana Gae DeWitt, Deer Park, and Gary Roger Tuck, Golden Gate, Florida. The double-ring ceremony took place at the Sand Flat Assembly of God Church, with the Rev. Gregory Grant officiating. Mrs. Ruth Warnick was organist and Evan DeWitt, cousin of the bride, accompanied himself on guitar, singing "There Is Love," "I Pledge My Love," and "Longer Than." Following the lighting of the candle of unity, the bride presented both mothers with a single rose.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. DeWitt, Deer Park. The groom is the son of Victoria Stillwell, of Bonita Springs, Florida.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a white gown of sheer organza. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline accented with re-embroidered lace. The sheer bishop sleeves were accented with lace and deep cuffs. Lace encircled the waistline, which held a full skirt sweeping to a chapel train beneath a sheer overlay accented with re-embroidered lace. A half cap of matching re-embroidered lace held a finger-tip-length veil of lace-edged bridal illusion. The bride also wore a pearl teardrop necklace, a gift from the groom.

The bride's bouquet contained white silk roses, carnations and ivy, accented with white satin streamers and lily of the valley tied in love knots. All of the bouquets and flower arrangements were made by Karen Reckner.

Debra Barnard, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandra DeWitt, sister-in-law of the bride, and Brenda Glass, friend of the bride, both of Swanton, and Cheryl Hall, of Florida, friend of the bride. Jennifer Barnard, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

Acting as best man was Kevin Brown, of Florida. Richard, William and Kenneth DeWitt, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Deer Park Fire Hall. Diane DeWitt, sister-in-law of the bride, registered guests, and Diane Legge, cousin of the bride, distributed scrolls. Mildred Tichnell and Hazel DeWitt, aunts of the bride, served cake, and Linnie Krisman, aunt of the bride, served punch. Assisting with the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lake and daughter, Barbara, of Berwyn Heights.

The mother of the groom hosted a rehearsal dinner for the bridal party at Red Run Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High School and is employed as an EEG technician at Naples Community Hospital.

The groom attended Cypress High School in Fort Meyers, Florida, and is employed with Coastal Engineering Consultants, Inc., in Naples, Florida.

The bride was guest of honor at two surprise showers, one given by her co-workers at Naples Hospital and one given by her sister and sister-in-law at Swanton.

The couple honeymooned at Little Switzerland in North Carolina, and currently resides in Golden Gate, Florida.

Amboy Couple To Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Knapp will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary at a reception given by their children on Sunday, December 20, in the Amboy United Methodist Church. Guests will be welcome from 2 to 4 p.m.

The couple was married in 1931 in Terra Alta, W.Va., by Rev. F. O. Reeble. The parents of three children, they reside on a farm near Amboy. The children include Donald, Oakland; John, Keyser, W.Va.; and Alice Bolyard, Amboy. There are 11 living grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, and three step-grandchildren.

The reception is open to all friends and relatives.

Renner, Jenkins Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Renner, Jr., Grantsville, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Cathy Anne, to Thomas Dale Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins, Grantsville.

Ms. Renner is a graduate of Northern High School and is employed by Dornburg, Schmunk, and Reeder, D.D.S. Mr. Jenkins, a graduate of Northern High School, in employed by Broadwater Trucking.

Vows will be exchanged on December 26 at St. John's United Church of Christ, Grantsville.

Mrs. Zora Shipe Celebrates 90th

Mrs. Zora Shipe will celebrate her 90th birthday on December 24, 1981. She was born to David and Celinda Heckert and lived all her life in Preston County, until three years ago when it became necessary for her to move from her home in Eglon to live with one of her daughters in Baltimore.

She is the mother of six children, grandmother of 17, great-grandmother of 21, and great-great-grandmother of three.

Mrs. Shipe attends church regularly and enjoys visiting with her friends and relatives. Her needlepoint is also a big part of her life. She enjoys making quilts and has made one for all her children, grandchildren, and several great-grandchildren. When not quilting she creates hooked rugs, which can be found throughout the homes of her children and friends.

Mrs. Shipe's present address is 5221 E. Ashland Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21205.

MISTLETOE

That friendly, kiss-producing Christmas decoration, mistletoe, is really a parasite which lives and feeds on the branches of other trees. The dwarf mistletoe, cousin to the Christmas variety we so often use, is a particular pest in the West, where it attaches itself to the trunks of firs, larches, hemlocks and spruces and retards growth by robbing the trees of nutrients.

Miss Gnegy Weds Mr. Highfill

Wedding vows were exchanged by Suzann G. Gnegy and David D. Highfill on September 5 at 1 p.m. at the Evangelistic Center Church Kansas City, Missouri. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Standlee Crane.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Gnegy, Kansas City, Missouri. She is also a great granddaughter of Mrs. Emma Gnegy, Eglon, W. Va. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Highfill also of Kansas City, Missouri.

Suzette Huskey, friend of the bride, was maid of honor and Peggy Martin, friend of the bride was bridesmaid. Debbie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Smith of Oak Grove, Mo. was flower girl and Nathien Lyons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Lyons, was ring bearer. Jack Thompson, a friend of the groom, was best man and Daniel Highfill, twin brother of the groom, was groomsman. The ushers wee Kirby Smith and Chuck Jones, friends of the groom, and Roger Highfill, brother of the groom.

After a honeymoon in Bella Vista, Arkansas, the couple established residence at 8894 Kaill Apt. C, Liberty, Missouri.

The bride is employed at Burns McDonald Architect and Engineering. The groom is employed at Mid-West Type-Set.

First Aid Course Will Be Offered In County Schools

Safety and first aid training for sophomores will be introduced in Garrett County high schools beginning in February, Robert Rodeheaver, instructional supervisor for the county Board of Education, has announced.

The 22-day training course, approved by the Board of Education at its meeting Thursday, will be the first of its kind in the county school system. Rodeheaver noted other school systems in Maryland have offered similar courses for as long as six years.

The training will include safety awareness, basic first aid, and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.

At the Board's meeting Thursday, Rodeheaver and Dave Ramsey, Emergency Medical Services Coordinator of Allegany and Garrett counties, explained the importance of safety and first aid training for citizens in a community.

Ramsey, who worked with Rodeheaver to develop the course, noted that in an emergency the first person to reach a victim is generally not an emergency medical technician nor physician but is a "non-medical person." Ramsey noted the first person to reach a victim in an emergency, particularly in a heart attack case, can often save the victim's life. He referred to a recent news story in which a 14-year-old who had received CPR training saved a man's life.

The training course will be offered at the tenth grade level, explained Rodeheaver, because there are fewer schedule conflicts.

He noted that sophomores spend a portion of the tenth grade year in driver education and the remaining portion in either physical education or study hall. During the time they are not in driver education, they will receive the training.

Not all sophomores will receive safety and first aid training this year, Rodeheaver said, because many will begin their driver education during the second half of this school year. Those who do not receive the training this year will receive it next year.

Rodeheaver added that juniors and seniors in physical education this year will also receive the training.

Instructors for the course will be certified by the American Heart Association or Red Cross. Local physicians and emergency medical personnel will also be asked to help with the course, noted Rodeheaver.

Rodeheaver said that the six physical education teachers at the two high schools will be certified to instruct the course. Some have been certified as instructors, but need to be recertified. To become certified, these teachers will spend several days this month in training.

The 22-day course, which will be offered throughout the school year, will be divided into four units. Three days will be used to discuss safety, nine days will be spent on first aid, four days will be devoted to CPR training, three days to practical application, and three days to evaluation.

Gift Certificate Winners Named

Winners of Saturday's drawing for $100 gift certificates, sponsored by the Oakland Downtown Merchants' and Businessmen's Association, are Robert H. Johnson of Oakland, who won a certificate from the Garrett National Bank; Reba Simpson of Mt. Lake Park, Thayer's Oakland Electric; Shelbadean Bolyard of Oakland, Helbig's Jewelers; Shirley Craver of Swanton, Englander's Pharmacy, and Larry Kisner of Friendsville, H-P Store.

Names will be drawn again this Saturday at 2 p.m. and winners will be announced live on WMSG Radio. Customers may sign up to win a gift certificate at participating stores. All slips from the start of the Christmas Promotion will be saved for the grand prize drawing to be held Thursday, December 24. Grand prize is a 19-inch color television set.

Hydroelectric Power Plant Proposed Locally

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has issued a Preliminary Permit to the City of Westernport for a proposed hydroelectric project at the recently completed Bloomington Dam in Garrett County and Mineral County, West Virginia. The permit, which was issued November 17, allows the city to undertake engineering and environmental studies to determine the feasibility of developing a hydroelectric power plant below the existing dam. The permit period is valid for 24 months.

The Bloomington Dam, rising nearly 300 feet above the stream bed when completed, will provide water storage in excess of 125,000 acre-feet. It is located on the North Branch Potomac about eight miles upstream of its confluence with the Savage River. The project, authorized by the Flood Control Act of October 23, 1962, was designed for flood control, water supply and recreation. According to Westernport Mayor James H. Wills, the addition of hydroelectric facilities will have a negligible impact on these primary uses. Besides contributing to the nation's energy independence, hydropower is currently the cleanest of all major energy sources, Wills added.

Westernport has contracted with Mitchell Energy Company, Inc., of Boston, to determine the technical and economic feasibility of the project. A reconnaissance study has indicated that the project would have an installed capacity of 11,364 kilowatts and would produce in excess of 53,073,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity each year. The Bloomington project would displace the equivalent of over 18,000 barrels of oil annually. Available power would be sold to the Potomac Edison Company or wheeled to such oil-dependent utilities as Potomac Electric, Baltimore Gas and Electric or the Conowingo Power Company.

If proven feasible, it is anticipated that a license application would be submitted to the FERC by the end of February. The license, if approved, would allow Westernport to begin construction. The current development schedule shows the project commencing operation in early 1982. Income from the project will allow Westernport to offset increases in the costs of basic service or to provide incentive for local economic development, Wills noted.

Wills stated that the sale of power will provide the city with needed revenues, and the actual construction will provide employment opportunities for local residents. If all goes as planned, the project may be generating electricity as early as the end of 1984, he said.

Broad Ford School Phys. Ed. Program To Be Evaluated

Broad Ford Elementary School has been selected to have an on-site evaluation of its physical education program, according to Betty Reid, Physical Education Specialist, and Ann H. Craft, Project Manager.

The purpose of the evaluation, which will be conducted by other physical education personnel from outside the county, will be to determine if Broad Ford's physical education program will qualify to be a state-wide demonstration school. The on-site evaluation will be conducted on January 11, 1982, by Chuck Hircock, Frostburg State College; Bob Pence, Allegany County Board of Education; and Ms. Judith Snyder, Allegany County physical education teacher.

During the visit, the committee will tour the facility, observe classes, interview students, faculty, and administrators, review the self-rated assessment instrument and application letter with the administrator and department staff, and conduct other necessary functions that will be helpful to the completion of the evalution of the school's physical education program.

The evaluation will be one of the final steps in the selection of the ten demonstation schools from the state of Maryland. These ten schools will include elementary, middle, and high schools.

Wayne Johnson is principal.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Community Sing & Christmas Treat

Town and Community Mothers will present a Christmas Sing-along and Santa Treat for children of the Friendsville area on Sunday, December 20 at 2:30 p.m. on the Elementary School grounds. Local talent will present musical selections. Carols will be sung by all.

To Go Christmas Caroling

The UMYF will leave Friendsville United Methodist Church on Friday, December 18 at 5:30 p.m. to go Christmas Caroling and to distribute fruit baskets to the elderly. A party will be held at the home of counselor Mrs. Carol Frazee.

Homemakers Rescheduled

Due to weather and road conditions, the Homemakers annual covered-dish dinner and Christmas party was cancelled for Thursday, December 10. It will now be held Thursday, December 17 at 12 noon at Old Mill Grill. Each member is to bring a $5.00 gift.

First Christian Church

First Christian Church Christmas program will be held Sunday, December 20 at 7:30 p.m. with Elizabeth Ann Fife, missionary to Brazil as the guest speaker. Special music will be produced by Chico and Jeff Fife. Sunday school will be at 10 a.m. Worship service at 11 a.m.

Lutheran

Sunday school will be at 10 a.m. and the worship service at 11:30 a.m. A Christmas program and play "Even the Littlest Angel" will be given by the Sunday School and Church Choir at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Kathy Harding will portray the Littlest Angel; Denise Stanton, Mary; and Billy Sines, Joseph. Glenda Lininger will be playing solos on her clarinet. A program will be presented during Sunday school, too. Fellowship will be in the social room after the evening program.

Asher Glade Church of Brethren Program

A Christmas program will be presented at Asher Glade Church of the Brethren on Wednesday, December 23, at 7:30 p.m. It is open to the public.

Friendsville UMW Christmas Party

The annual Christmas program and party of Friendsville UMW was held Sunday evening at the church. Participating in the program were Janice Fisher, Kathy Williams, Lou Ann Sines; special musical numbers by Amy Fisher, Bobbi Gribble, Autumn and Kendra Frazee all accompanied by pianist Mrs. Lucille Sines. Carols were sung by all. Each one lit a candle on the Halo around the Baby in a manger. Approximately 25 members and guests went to the social room for a fellowship, gift exchange, to reveal secret sisters and new names drawn.

United Methodist Christmas Program

The Senior Choir of Friendsville United Methodist Church will present the cantata "First Christmas" on Sunday, December 20, at 11 a.m. Solists will be Jim and Fred Fox, Michelle Ahlford and Lucille Sines. Readers will be Mary Friend and Catherine Williams.

The Youth Choir will present the musical play "Wow—It's Christmas" on Sunday, December 20 at 7:30 p.m. Soloists will be Amy Fisher, Laura Sines, Bobbi Gribble, Kendra Frazee, Cindy Sines and Fred Fox. The programs are open to the public.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Knapp will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon, December 20, with an open house in the Amboy United Methodist Church and hosted by their children. Everyone is invited.

Christmas programs will be held throughout the communities. The Aurora United Methodist Charge will have programs as follows: Stemple Ridge, December 19 at 7 p.m.; Aurora December 20 at 7:30 p.m.; Erwin, December 21 at 7 p.m.; Bethel (Texas) December 22 at 7:30 p.m.; Amboy, December 23 at 7:30 p.m.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, will have the children's program at the morning worship hour, 9:30 a.m., December 20. A Christmas Eve Communion and candlelight service on December 24 at 7 p.m. will also include a number of special selections by the choir. The public is invited.

At Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, December 20, at 7:30 p.m. is the date of a program and candlelighting service to which everyone is also invited.

Maple Grove Assembly of God will combine Sunday School and morning worship on December 20 with an hour of service at 9:30 a.m. and the pastor presenting his Christmas message. Dismissal is planned for 11:00 a.m. At 7 p.m., the Sunday School will present its program and the choir will present the cantata, "Christmas Is." Everyone is invited.

On Saturday, December 19, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Schmidt at Horse Shoe Run will have their annual open house for the public to view the miniature train display from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Mrs. Emma Gnegy of Eglon became ill last week and on Saturday was taken by ambulance to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she died Monday.

Ezra Slaubaugh remains ill and is staying with his daughter, Mrs. Zelda Slaubaugh, near Red House.

Horst Greaser was able to return Saturday to his home at Eglon from Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Herbert Winters of Vienna, W. Va., is now home, but remains ill.

On Saturday, December 5, the Aurora MYF held a bake sale at Heck's and sold approximately $43.00 in baked goods. They still have Christmas cards with pictures of the stone-covered church available. Persons may call any MYF member or call 735-6662.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Teets and Tommy of Eglon were dinner guests Sunday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hauser, at Amboy where her mother prepared a birthday dinner for her daughter, LaDeana.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Teets on Stemple Ridge were Rev. and Mrs. J. Rogers Fike, Lisa and Matthew.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Teets of Eglon attended an On Earth Peace Seminar convened by Mr. R. Ziegler of the Church of the Brethren and held at the Church World Service Center, New Windsor, Md. This session, held by and for farmers, met Friday and Saturday, December 5 and 6. There were guest speakers both from within the Church of the Brethren and from outside with one being a former East German, farm reared, and now a newsman from Pennsylvania. These meetings were begun in December 1974 by Mr. Ziegler (who in November celebrated his 90th birthday) in hopes that "as each Christian becomes an enabler as an instrument of peace, the ideal of peace on earth might be achieved."

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets have returned to their home at Eglon after being absent for the past month with their son and his wife, Bruce and Mary Teets, at Dotsonville, Ohio.

Roadways Claim 18 More Lives

Eighteen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways for the week ending December 13, 1981, according to information supplied by investigating police departments. Of these fatals 10 were drivers, five were passsengers and three were pedestrians. One was a motorcyclist. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in 10 and driver error in 15.

Persons killed through December 13 total 756, compared to 743 for the same period last year.

FRUIT CAKES

Fruit cakes can be kept almost indefinitely if they're properly wrapped and stored. Simply sprinkle orange juice over the cake periodically, to keep it from drying out and to add a touch of flavor as well.

GCTA Teacher Talk

by Nancy Meyers

Garrett County teachers are currently in the third year of a three-year contract. Therefore, negotiations for a new contract have begun. Negotiators for the Garrett County Teachers Association are: Cheryl Henderson, chairman; Lowell Leitzel Terry Wolfe, Les McDaniel, Bill Freyman, Buzz Updyke, and Tom Shaffer, MSTA/NEA UNISERVE representative. The contract package will be presented to the Board of Education Tuesday, December 21.

Stop the Bite on Education! Call or write Senator Paul Sarbanes (202-224-4524) and Senator Mac Mathias (202-224-4654) to encourage the restoration of educational funding.

MSTA sponsored workshops are as follows: Income Tax on February 8, 1982; Stress on January 21, 1982; and Discipline on March 18, 1982.

Teachers Do It With Class

Southern Middle School students under the direction of Gary Thompson, Patti McLaughlin, and Marge Clever will be presenting Anne C. Marten's The Three Faces of Christmas. The Southern Middle School band will also be performing various Christmas songs throughout the production under the direction of Marge Clever. The production will take place in the Southern Middle School cafeteria on December 21 and 22 during the school day. Parents are welcome to attend.

The most popular breed of dog in the United States today is the poodle.

VFW To Hold Christmas Party

The Garrett County Memorial VFW Post #10077 will hold its annual Christmas Party on Sunday, December 20, at 2 p.m. in the post home. A buffet dinner will be served from 2 to 6 p.m., and entertainment, from 6 to 8 p.m., will be provided by the Ridge Runners.

Members and auxiliary members will be admitted with paid-up 1982 membership cards, and each member may bring one guest. State and district officers are also invited.

Crossroads Seeks Volunteers For Home Programs

Garrett Crossroads, Inc., which sponsors a group home and apartment living complex in Oakland for mentally handicapped adults, is seeking volunteers in various aspects of that program. Garrett Crossroads, a non-profit organization, is funded primarily by the Mental Retardation/Developmental Disabilities Administration.

The agency is wanting to establish a volunteer program for people to come into the group home or apartment complex and provide respite care coverage on a one-to-one basis, in addition to people needed to visit with residents at the homes. Temporary respite care is provided to handicapped family members by the agency in cases of family crisis or when care can not be administered in the home.

According to Dan Elmlinger, director, a respite care client at a high functioning level can be served by the regular group home staff, but another individual must be brought in to serve a more severe handicapped person. Garrett Crossroads has obtained a Caregivers Training Manual from the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and Elmlinger said the agency is in the process of revamping its training program.

Volunteers in this aspect of Crossroads would be required to complete about 20 to 24 hours of actual training time, including training in first aid, treatment and care for handicapped individuals, and development of communication and observation skills.

Elmlinger said the philosophy of Crossroads is that the care given, which is an opportunity to do something for another individual, is, in itself, the reward. "We are here to serve the handicapped population. Volunteers will bring people out who are genuinely interested . . people who care," he said. The agency hopes to have a solid volunteer program established within the next four to six months.

The eight adults in the group home range from profound to mentally retarded, or borderline intellectual functioning, according to Elmlinger. The group home living allows these people, some who were taken from institutions, to achieve a level of independence through helping with household chores and developing their daily living skills. Residents at the apartment complex are high functioning and working people.

Elmlinger said that volunteers are needed "to take an interest in the residents, and visit as one person to another." The director said he hopes relationships with advocates or sponsors will develop naturally through community involvement in the program, and the clients' involvements in the community.

Volunteers have done a lot already, he noted, in the way of transportation, shopping trips, inviting residents to share in holiday activities, and one volunteer provides a physical education program for the residents twice weekly.

Elmlinger said persons with skills or hobbies are being sought to teach either a group or individuals at the homes. Musicians occasionally visit the homes, along with beauticians for personal care, and persons who assist the residents with gardening and horticulture.

Some people donate money, Elmlinger noted, and any donations are used for programming. The group home is wanting to enclose half of its porch with passive solar features to create a greenhouse, and equipment needs to be purchased for gardening and maintenance of the grounds, he said.

Elmlinger stressed that, "We are primarily interested in people coming in to visit. . . the residents love visitors." He said tours of the homes for individuals or groups can be arranged, and Crossroads directors are available for speaking at meetings. Anyone interested in visitng the homes or volunteering in any aspect of Garrett Crossroads may contact Elmlinger at 334-8449.

Broad Ford School Christmas Bazaar Will Open Today

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Brian K. Fitzwater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Fitzwater Jr. of Route 2, Swanton, has received a four-year U.S. Air Force ROTC scholarship.

The cadet was selected for the scholarship on the basis of comprehensive tests, high school scholastic achievement and extracurricular activities.

The scholarship covers full tuition, textbooks, laboratory fees and pays a monthly subsistence allowance.

Upon graduation and completion of the ROTC program, the cadet will be commissioned an Air Force second lieutenant.

Fitzwater, a 1981 graduate of Southern High School, is now attending the University of Maryland at College Park.

November Driest Since 1965

For many areas across Maryland, November was a record dry month, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service. The driest area was in a corridor from Washington Northeast through Baltimore. For many other long-term stations in other parts of Maryland it was a near record dry month.

According to reports from the Office of the State Climatologist, monthly precipitation totals were mostly less than one inch. Some totals just under an inch were found in Western Maryland. The lowest monthly total of 0.19 inches was recorded at Glenn L. Martin Airport and the greatest monthly total was .22 in Oakland and Smithsburg.

Measurable monthly snowfall occurred in Western Maryland, totaling about 1-3 inches except for over 10 inches in Garrett County.

Monthly temperatures averaged near normal. Highest temperatures ranged mostly from the 60's to mid-70's, occurring early in the month. Lowest temperatures ranged from the teens to mid-20's, late in the month. Monthly average temperatures were 2-4 degrees below normal. No severe storms were reported for the month but beach erosion was noted on the Atlantic Coastal area of Maryland and Delaware.

The National Weather Service outlook for average winter temperatures (December 1981 to February 1982) is below normal temperatures, with a 65 percent chance of occurrence. The outlook for winter precipitation is indeterminate for the mid-Atlantic States.

The December 1981 National Weather Service outlook for Maryland is near normal temperatures and light precipitation.

Farming in Maryland

Deficiency Pavments Provided To Wheat, Barley Producers

Eligible wheat farmers soon will receive an estimated $420 million in deficiency payments on their 1981 crop, while barley farmers will get about $50 million, according to William B. Crum chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Deficieny payments are required under the 1981 Wheat and Barley programs because the national average market prices received by farmers during the first five months (June through October) of the marketing year were below established target price levels of $3.81 for wheat and $2.60 for barley.

The National weighted average market prices were $3.66 per bushel for wheat and $2.49 per bushel for barley. Thus, elibible producers will be paid 15 cents per bushel for their 1981 crop wheat and 11 cents per bushel for the year's barley.

The 1981 Maryland wheat crop totaled about 5.48 million bushels, while the 1981 Maryland barley crop was about 4.125 million bushels.

Deficiency payments will be made to wheat and barley farmers who reported their 1981-crop acreage and filed application for payment with their county ASCS office. Producers in Maryland will be eligible for wheat deficiency payments on 2,996 farms and will be eligible for barley deficiency payments on 1,311 farms.

Crum said the payment checks will be issued through the county office as soon as possible after December 10, 1981.

November Milk Production Higher

Maryland's dairy farms continued to produce more milk than a year ago. Output during November totaled 12.6 million pounds, one percent above November 1980 production, says the Maryland Crop Reporting Service.

The difference between the current levels and a year earlier continued to lessen, however, as November's output declined two percent from October. Milk production per cow followed its seasonal decline, falling to 1025 pounds per cow in November, 15 pounds above November 1980, but 35 pounds below the previous month. The number of milk cows on farms increased 1,000 head above October's number to 123,000 on November 1.

The November milk-feed price ratio declined to 1.60, compared to 1.61 in the previous month and 1.45 in November last year. The price of fluid milk was unchanged at $14.20 per cwt., but 30 cents below last year's average. Feed prices showed mixed changes in November with soybean meal and 18% and 32% dairy feeds decreasing in price while 16% and 20% feeds increased slightly.

Bran and middlings prices were also up slightly but the price of cottonseed meal was unchanged.

Talk Of The Towns

What's Going On In . . .

by Wendell Keaton,
Municipal Administrator

Friendsville - Dec. 7

The major business activity conducted during the Mayor and Town Council meeting was an interview with a consulting firm for the preparation of an economc development study. Community Progrms, Inc. of Allentown, Pa. met with Council for a question and answer period concerning the requirements of a market study/project feasibility report for the Friendsville Elementary School. A second interview with a separte firm was rescheduled for Thursday, Dec. 17. Both firms will be requested to submit a scope of services, including fees, to the Mayor and Council. A decision as to the selection of the consultant is expected by Dec. 31.

The study is a prerequisite of the Maryland Industrial and Commercial Redevelopment Fund (MICRF) program, which can provide grant and loan assistance to the town for renovation of the building, suitable for commercial or light industrial use. The study is expected to be completed within three months from the date of the contract award.

Additional grant funding for the study has been requested from the Economic Development Administration. The town has been notified informally that the grant has been approved and formal notice of the award is expected before the end of the year.

Mayor Charles Ross announced that the final payment for roof repair to the old school building had been received from the funding agency, the Small Town Emphasis Program (STEP). As soon as the contractor is paid, an audit will be performed for the project.

The town's traffic control project has been completed, as reported by the contractor. This project included installation of approximately 42 signs and posts throughout the town, such as "Stop," "Yield," "One Way," etc.

Accident - Dec. 7

In addition to regular business items the Accident Mayor and Town Council discussed the water and sewer extension project to the new Accident Elementary School. The town has previously requested rate information from area banks for financing the project, which would be paid back by the Garrett County Board of Education. When the Board was informed of the amount of payback required for a ten-year loan of $22,000, alternative funding sources were to be researched. Because of this rather minor delay, Council decided not to award the construction contract until the Board determines the method of payment to be used for financing the project.

The council also discussed a recreational project for the town. Accident has previously acquired a tract of land through Program Open Space (POS) and is now considering the development of the property. Because of the steep terrain, the property is not ideally suited for basketball, softball or other intensive use development. Council discussed the possibility of developing the land adjacent to the present elementary school (which will be abadnoned upon completion of the new school). A letter of inquiry was submitted to the Garrett County Commissioners, stating that the town is interested in receiving the old school property once the new building is complete.

Mt. Lake Park - Dec. 10

In addition to regular business matters, the Mayor and Town Council addressed the following items at its Dec. 10 meeting.

1. Council agreed to bag the town's Christmas treats on Dec. 18 at 6 p.m. The treats will be distributed on Dec. 21 at the Town Hall between 5 and 7 p.m.

2. It was noted that the purchase of cinders from Robert R. Ridder Contractors, Oakland, has saved the town a total of $189.

3. A motion was passed by Council to investigate the safety of the old footbridge across the Little Youghiogheny River, located below the Town Hall. Council agreed that this will be done in the spring as soon as weather permits.

4. Morgan France of Franklin Associates, the town's engineer, was instructed to look into the purchase of a used or reconditioned motor to have as a stand-by for the Dennett Road Nursing Home sewerage pumping station.

5. Four change orders were approved by Council for the town's Sewer System Evaluation Survey Grant Amendment Project being conducted by Franklin Associates.

The change orders dealt with a determination by Edgar H. Harman, director of Environmental Health, that overflows from the D Street sewer line during heavy rainfalls presented a health hazard. His department had received and observed complaints about raw sewage on lawns and in gardens in that area.

Since the Cedar Street line was shown to have structural defects, Harman recommended replacement of that line. Franklin Associates has replaced approximately 350 feet of that eight-inch line and repaired two others at a cost of about $8,968. The engineers also installed an additional manhole at about $110, and additional pipe at about $50.

6. A motion was passed that the town will not approve cost overruns on the SSES Grant Amendment Project unless prior approval on the change order is offered by the state.

7. A motion was passed that all change orders for manhole installation for the SSES Grant Amendment Project be approved by the Mayor and Town Council before they are acted upon.

8. A motion was passed that separate appraisals be made on the Project Open Space (POS) property proposed acquisitions for David Glaze, Mary J. Strawser, Harland Kelley, Robert Speicher and Delbert Bittinger. The propety, located in the area of K and L Streets and Philadelphia Avenue, is sought by the town for an additional playground area. It was noted that the town can be reimbursed through POS for the expense of the appraisals.

Oakland - Dec. 7

by Kathy Railey

In addition to regular business matters, the following items were addressed by the Mayor and Town Council:

1. Allen W. Fritz, Corporate Development, and Lester L. Errett, Southeastern Regional Engineer, both representing Cablentertainment, were present to provide council members with results of a survey conducted by that cable company for area residents to pledge support or opposition in bringing Baltimore television stations to the Oakland area. In order for Cablentertainment to provide this programming (which would be two new stations) Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, Deer Park and Oakland must all approve a $1.25 per month per customer rate increase.

Fritz informed the council that about six percent of Oakland's cable subscribers responded to the survey, the majority voting against Baltimore programming. Cablentertainment will continue the survey through January 4 for more Oakland customers to be given an opportunity to respond. James Stanton, president, noted that sentiment at the town's public hearing regarding this issue "was not overwhelming in support" of Baltimore stations.

2. A letter from Thomas Janes, town attorney, was read informing the council that a suit has been filed by him on behalf of the town against J & M Market, Oakland, forcing the store to comply with a recent order by the Oakland Zoning Board of Appeals. The establishment opened a tavern in the store in defiance of an October 7 decision by the board prohibiting operation of the tavern. Janes informed the council that the store's owner, Cindy Sharpless, has until December 22 to respond to the suit.

3. Morgan France of Franklin Associates, the town's engineer, presented an update on the Sewer System Evaluation Survey. Interim internal inspection is expected to start this week and will enable the engineer to determine exact locations and the nature of leaks in the town's sewer lines. This step was approved by the State Department of Health and Mental Hygien and will be performed by Tr State Grouting Company, New ark, Delaware, at an estimated cost of $7,144. France explained that the process involves a television camera passed through the sewer lines on a sled which also computes the exact location of the camera at all times.

France said the next step will be an evaluation of the cost of repairs, and that cost-effective analysis will determine whether certain lines should be replaced or repaired.

A discussion followed regarding plans for sewage treatment. Gilman H. Sylvester, owner of Sterling Processing Corp., was also present. (The Sterling Processing treatment plant is under consideration by the council as a possible potential facility for treatment of the town's sewerage).

France informed Council that discharge parameters for the Youghiogheny River have not yet been established by the State Health Department, and plans for sewage treatment will be halted until those standards are determined. The discharge parameters will determine what type of treatment is needed and what options the town will be able to explore. France added that he will perform a cost-effective analysis on the option of the town's constructing the system independent of the state.

4. Council opened three bids for a 1982 pick-up truck for the town's water department. Bids ranged from $9,228 to $9,989, and the apparent low bidder is Sharps Chevolet. The bids will be turned over to Willard Ringer, water superintendent, and Council will await his recommendations.

THREE KINGS'S DAY

Driekonigendag, or Three Kings' Day, is a festive occasion in Belgium. It is a special day for children who dress in costumes and go from farm to farm, singing nonsense verses about the Kings and are given gifts, coins and cakes.

The cake of the Kings is shared at a party. The youngster who receives the piece of cake containing a dried bean is proclaimed King and chooses a Queen to help him rule over the party. The royal pair receive gold paper crowns and robes that are often pieced together from purple, orange or scarlet scraps.

FINANCING "HANDYMAN SPECIAL"

You have your eye on the purchase of a "handyman special." You can arrange the financing for the $40,000 price tag, but it will need about $8,000 in repairs. Where do you go from there?

A construction commitment loan is one way to finance immediate improvement on a home you are about to buy. Basically, you will ask for a loan on the future value of the home - after improvements and repairs. In other words, a loan based on the future $48,000 value instead of the present $40,000 price tag. If the bank agrees to loan 75% loan, they will give you $30,000 (75% of the $40,000 sale price) for payment to the seller at the closing. It will hold the remaining $6,000 of your loan (75% of the $8,000 improvements) until the remodeling is done. Then it will be released to you for payment to your contractor. Thus the improvements on the house cost you only $2,000 out-of-pocket. You pay the remaining $6,000 worth of improvements over the life of the mortgage - and at the same interest rate.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

HARRY HUGHES
Governor

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARINGS

SUBJECT: Legislative Districting for the General Assembly of Maryland

TIME: 2:00 p.m., Monday, December 21, 1981 and 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, December 23, 1981

PLACE: Joint Hearing Room, Legislative Services Building, 90 State Circle, Annapolis, Maryland 21401

Article III, Section 5 of the Constitution of Maryland requires that following each decennial census of the United States and after public hearings, the Governor shall prepare a plan setting forth the boundaries of the legislative districts for electing the members of the Senate and the House of Delegates.

Section 5 of the Constitution further requires that the Governor present the plan to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Delegates for introduction as a joint resolution not later than the first day of the regular session of the General Assembly in the second year following the 1980 census (January 13, 1982).

In accordance with the provisions of Article III, Section 5 of the Constitution, notice is hereby given that the Honorable Harry Hughes, Governor, will hold public hearings on Monday, December 21, 1981, beginning at 2:00 p.m., and on Wednesday, December 23, 1981, beginning at 7:30 p.m., both hearings to take place in the Joint Hearing Room, Legislative Services Building, 90 State Circle, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, to receive testimony from the general public relating to the boundaries of the legislative districts for the entire State.

Any interested person desiring to participate in these hearings is requested to give written notice of intention to appear indicating the particular portion of the State or general subject as to which he or she intends to present testimony not later than 5:00 p.m., Friday, December 18, 1981, to: John F. X. O'Brien, Governor's Office, State House, Annapolis, Maryland 21404 (call 301-269-2606). Please indicate whether you intend to appear at the December 21, 1981, or December 23, 1981, hearing. Depending upon the time available and the number of persons wishing to testify, it may be necessary to establish time limitations for presentations. Those who provide notice in advance of their intention to appear will receive priority with respect to presentation of testimony at the hearings.

It is requested that any interested person desiring to submit written statements in addition to or in lieu of oral testimony at said hearings shall file the same on or before the commencement of the hearing with: John F. X. O'Brien, Governor's Office, State House, Annapolis, Maryland 21404 (301-269-2606). In any event, no written statements will be accepted after 5:00 p.m., Monday, December 28, 1981.

The Governor's Advisory Committee on Reapportionment and Redistricting, appointed to assist the Governor in developing a reapportionment plan, has, after extensive public comment, recommended to the Governor such a plan. To the extent that the Governor identifies portions of the Committee's recommendations with which he has concern, he will attempt to indicate those concerns at the commencement of the hearings.

Copies of the maps comprising the plan recommended to the Governor by the Advisory Committee are available to

Teachers Legislative Goals Presented At Annual Dinner

MSTA PRESIDENT VISITS COUNTY — Les McDaniel, left, president of the Garrett County Teachers' Association, and Bob Yunker, right, past GCTA president, meet with Janice Piccinini, Maryland State Teachers' Association president, during her recent visit to the county. While in the county, Piccinini visited teachers in county schools and attended the annual legislative dinner held by GCTA at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

The Maryland State Teachers Association will pursue four goals during the 1982 General Assembly session announced Tom Gray, MSTA assistant executive director for legislation, during the annual Garrett County Teachers Association legislative dinner held recently at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

Gray told elected officials and others attending the dinner, sponsored by the MSTA to introduce MSTA-endorsed legislation goals to state legislators, that the four main goal areas to be presented to the 1982 General Assembly will include taxation and funding of public education, retirement, negotiations, and the teachers as citizen and professional.

Those attending the local dinner, in addition to Gray, included State Senator Ed Mason, Delegate DeCorsey Boldon, county commissioner Lester Hunter, county Board of Education member Mary Earley, county superintendent of schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, MSTA president Janice Piccinini, MSTA political action coordinator Ellen Moyer, GPAC chairperson Henrietta Lease, and Garrett County Teachers Association Executive Board members Les McDaniel, Lowell Leitzel, Jim Zimmerman, Barbara Conway, Terry Wolfe, Betty White, Jean Grose, and Marilyn Illick.

Gray said the MSTA theme for this legislative year was "Advocacy in the Face of Adversity" and explained that with the unprecedented challenges to public education and educators, MSTA deems the welfare of children too important to remain silent without attempting to correct problems or to make improvements.

The goals set by MSTA, which represents over 30,000 Maryland teachers, have received the consensus of the majority of state teachers, Gray said.

Further detailing the taxation and funding and negotiations goals, Gray noted that MSTA believes in equal educational opportunities for all citizens of Maryland regardless of the geographic location of their residence and in legislation requiring all state mandated programs to include adequate funding for implementation and maintainence.

MSTA will also pursue legislation which will provide that collective bargaining agreements include provisions for binding arbitration of grievances, permit locals to negotiate agency shop, and eliminate the mandatory nature of strike penalties.

After Gray's talk, Ellen Moyer spoke on the goal of teachers as citizens and professionals. Emphasizing the current six-eight percent statewide truancy rate and the high dropout rate of gifted and talented students, Moyer stated MSTA will endorse legislation which would provide and improve educational opportunities for gifted and talented students as well as legislation that could serve to prevent truancy and address the problems of discipline in the schools.

In addition to Gray and Moyer, newly installed president of the state teachers organization Janice Piccinini, spoke about the need for legislation which would reduce the fee schedule for teacher certification services. Because of a $220,000 cut to the Maryland State Department of Education Division of Accreditation and Certification, the Department established a certification fee requiring teachers to pay $20 for initial certification as well as $20 for renewal each five, five and ten-year periods, course updates, and credential evaluations.

These fees exceed any licensing fee charged to any profession in any states adjacent to Maryland, Piccinini said. The Prince Georges County Board of Education, in addition to others, has publicly voiced opposition to the fee schedule. Piccinini encouraged the Garrett County Board of Education to express a similar position.

Piccinini stated that MSTA will endorse legislation to amend the Maryland Public Information Act so that a person of interest can have access to personnel references in his/her personnel file. Currently, public employees have no right to personnel files to see, review, or challenge references, sometimes resulting in denial of promotions.

According to Piccinini, educators live with accountability every day of their lives. Denying teachers access to personnel files does not make teacher evaluators accountable, but allows them to hide behind a cloak of anonymity, she said.

HELP — WE NEED LISTINGS!

Beginning January 1, 1982 . . .
Save with an
IRA
And pay less on income taxes. The IRS approves.

As a wage earner you can greatly reduce your yearly income taxes by starting an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). And the IRS approves!

The new tax law which becomes effective January 1, 1982, offers several advantages for you.

Here are a few:

• You can have an IRA, even though you may already be covered under a company pension or profit sharing plan. Before, if you were a participant in such a plan, you were not allowed to have an IRA of your own. But, beginning January 1, 1982, you can set up your own IRA and make deposits to it totaling up to $2,000 per year.

• The annual IRA contribution has been raised to $2,000, up from $1,500. To a person in a 30% tax bracket, a $2,000 deposit into an IRA would save $600 in taxes. The chart below shows the annual tax savings possible for four different tax brackets:

Tax Bracket	Your Annual Contribution	Your Annual Real Cost	Your Annual Tax Savings
20%	$2,000	$1,600	$ 400
30%	2,000	1,400	600
40%	2,000	1,200	800
50%	2,000	1,000	1,000

If a husband and wife both work and each deposited $2,000, the joint savings would be doubled.

• The compounding of interest, tax sheltered in the IRA can really add up. Let's assume you would make the maximum deposit of $2,000 per year, and that you would receive an average rate of interest of 12% annually on your funds. Here's how your IRA would grow over the years:

After	Your Contributions	Total Value of your IRA
5 years	$10,000	$ 14,226
10 years	20,000	39,298
15 years	30,000	83,490
20 years	40,000	161,376
25 years	50,000	298,640
30 years	60,000	540,548
35 years	70,000	966,926

Again, if a husband and wife both work and each deposited $2,000, the total value of your IRA would be doubled.

• IRA funds are insured at First National. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures all deposits, including IRAs, at The First National Bank of Oakland.

• Two easy steps to getting your IRA started at First National. Because we realize that most people can't afford to deposit large sums all at one time, First National has made it easier for you to get your retirement plan started.

Contact any First National office for the current rates, and more specific information about IRA Certificates of Deposit.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Season's Greetings from the staff of The Republican

On a starry night almost two thousand years ago, the first Christmas started with a child. Since that time, Christmas has had a special meaning for young and old alike, all over the world. For Christmas is a time of great love, great happiness and great hope.

As we celebrate again that magical moment, let us pray that the true spirit of Christmas be reflected in the hearts of all men. And may the special promise of the first Christmas child bring us all to a new and glorious morn.

Theft Cases Among County Police Reports

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department received reports of a bomb scare, two thefts and a destruction of property last week.

Jack Rickman, Southern Middle School principal, reported a bomb threat on Dec. 16 at 11:15 a.m. He stated that a man, apparently in his 30s, called and said a bomb would go off at noon.

Students were evacuated to Broad Ford Elementary School, while Southern Middle was searched. No signs of a bomb were found. The case is under investigation.

The department received a report at 10:15 p.m. on Dec. 18 from Dennis Allen Meyers, Oakland, of a destruction of property and theft.

Police report that sometime between 5:45 a.m. and 6:14 p.m. on Friday someone broke into Meyer's 1976 Sierre Grande GMC pickup truck and took several items while the truck was parked at Heck's Inc., parking lot Oakland.

Missing items were a Stevens single shot 410 shotgun, a 10-inch crescent wrench, two screwdrivers and other small tools. Total value of the loss was approximately $65.

Police said entry was gained into the truck when suspects broke a vent window and used an unknown device to unlock the door. Suspects apparently tampered with a citizens band radio in the truck, but did not remove it.

Roger Keith Welch, Kitzmiller, reported on Dec. 20 a theft of two sleds from his residence. Police said the theft

WHAT WAS A WINTER WONDERLAND on the mountaintop has yielded to a sloppy, slushy mess the past two days as warmer temperatures and rain moved into the area on Monday evening. The turnabout was abrupt, as the mercury fell to a minus 12 degrees Monday morning. Have no fear skiers, snowmobilers, general snow lovers and Santa Claus, for falling temperatures and rain changing to snow is forecast for the next few days.

DONATION PRESENTED — Marlin Lawson, left, president of Hardwood Inc., Friendsville, presents $400 to C. F. Fike, captain of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, as a Christmas donation to the squad. Half of the money was raised by the company's 26 employees this month while the other half was contributed by Lawson.

Liquor Dealer Found Guilty Of Selling To Minors

A McHenry man, George Holbrook Collins, was found guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week of selling alcoholic beverages to minors.

Collins, owner and operator of the Beverage Shoppe, Deep Creek Drive, was fined $250 plus court costs on two counts. One count was declared nolle prosequi by the state's attorney.

According to the file information, two minors made purchases of beer, whiskey, and wine in May of this year. The juveniles claimed they received no requests to produce proof of age.

Maryland State Police Tfc. Gary Berkebile conducted the investigation and made the arrest.

Works Of Two Local Writers Featured In Regional Magazines

Two staff members of The Republican newspaper, who are also freelance writers, have recently had articles concerning Garrett County and its people published in two separate regional publications.

Beverly J. Sincell, Mt. Lake Park, recently penned an article dealing with the winter weather conditions, as well as winter expectations and developments in the westernmost county of the state which appeared in the winter issue of Maryland Magazine. Photography for her article was supplied by Richard Springer, a local photographer.

Board Installs New Phone Line For Northerners

As a result of the installation of an additional phone line, many residents in the northern end of Garrett County will now be able to dial locally (toll free) the Board of Education Office in Oakland. The number to be used for this purpose is 850-3351, allowing access to the Board of Education Office for those residents having a Grantsville (895) or Frostburg (689) phone number.

Garrett County residents living in the Bloomington area with a 359 telephone number are reminded that they can reach the Board of Education Office on a local basis by using 359-9209. All other residents of the county may use the 334-0121 number.

The Board of Education Office is open 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday during the school year.

Carol Kapel, also of Mt. Lake Park, is featured in the January issue of Country Magazine, labeled by its producers as a regional guide covering the area from the Appalachians to the Atlantic. The article, also featuring John Wolfe, an Oakland author, highlighted the people of the county, their rich heritage, and present lifestyle. Photos were taken for the article by Jim Crabtree, an Oakland photographer and businessman.

Both magazines ran special editions of Garrett County scenery and information, and may be found at Englander's Pharmacy, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, and the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland.

Considerable cloudiness and windy today with a chance of showers. Highs in the upper 50s to lower 60s. Mix morning but turning colder in the afternoon. Colder with a chance of flurries tonight. Lows in the 20s. Variable cloudiness and colder Thursday. Highs in the 40s. The chance of precipitation is 30 percent today, 40 percent tonight and 20 percent Thursday. Winds becoming northeast 10 to 20 mph today and variable 5 to 10 mph later tonight. Outlook for Christmas Day: variable cloudiness and cold. Highs in the 30s.

Friday through Sunday a chance of precipitation near the Atlantic Coast. Christmas Day: Otherwise variable cloudiness. Highs averaging in the 30s in the mountains and in the 40s elsewhere. Lows averaging in the 20s in the mountains and in the 30s elsewhere.

1200 Treated

Approximately 1,200 area children braved the cold weather and snowy conditions Saturday to participate in the Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce annual Christmas Treat on Second Street in Oakland.

Oranges, popcorn balls and candy, compliments of area merchants and businessmen, were distributed by members of the National Guard and Oakland Boy Scout Troop 51.

Santa Claus was also present to discuss with the children their desires concerning the reception of gifts from Mr. Claus on Christmas morning.

PAC GIFT PROJECT — In an attempt to make Christmas a little brighter for some of the needy children of Broad Ford Elementary School, the Title I Parent Advisory Council of the school has been busy collecting clothing, toys and food to give as gifts to these children. Participating in the project which was under the direction of Carolyn Simmons, Title I resource teacher, and Linda Mallery, Title I home school aide, were members of the faculty of the school, parents and friends. Pictured with some of the gifts collected are, left to right: Kathy Savage, Eva Clary and Jody Miller, PAC members.

Friendsville Youth Injured In Mishap

A Friendsville youth, Jeffrey Scott Glover, 16, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and later transferred to West Virginia Medical Center following a collision last Thursday with a Garrett County Roads Department snow plow equipped truck.

According to Tfc. W. W. Rice, the victim was travelling west on the Deerr Road, traveling at an apparent high rate of speed when he slammed headon into a snow plow being operated by Troy Wakefield, Friendsville.

Northern Rescue Squad transported Glover to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and later to the Medical Center. He was released the next day.

Also responding was the Deep Creek Lake Fire Department and the Grantsville equipment truck.

Charges are pending in the incident.

A vehicle driven by Kenneth Metheny, interim county roads supervisor, was struck by an auto driven by Larry Allen Martin, Cumberland.

According to police, the Metheny vehicle was stopped at the intersection of Mosser Road and Rt. 219 when the Martin auto attempted to make a left turn into the intersection and slid into the Metheny car. Passengers included Leo Miller and Paul Shockey. No injuries were reported.

An accident on Rt. 219, near the Mayhew Run Road, occurred last Sunday when an auto driven by Donald Junior Friend was struck from behind by one operated by David Newell Hebele, 21, Oakland.

Police say the Friend auto was travelling south on Rt. 219 and was attempting to make a left turn into a private driveway when it was overtaken by the Hebele car. Property damage only was reported.

Police charged Hebele with using speed greater than prudent.

Board Approves Pre-Application For Housing Development Project

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners approved Tuesday a pre-application for federal money to finance the first phase of a home ownership development project.

County housing coordinator Diana Wawrzinek, and Community Action Committee representatives Duane Yoder and Mac Ellis presented the request for approval Tuesday explaining the money, amounting to $174,000, would be used for division of water, sewer and road installation and construction, overall design of a housing development, and acquisition of a 16-acre tract of land in Mountain Lake Park.

Their plans involved construction of 37 single-family dwellings on approximately 9,000 square feet lots in a cluster-type development. They estimate the total number of people to be benefited will be 50.

They plan to use primarily federal funds for the project which has a total estimated cost of $1.5 million. They also stated they will establish a non-profit housing development corporation.

In other business, the commissioners approved a request by Alice Hevner, acting county extension officer, to use unexpended funds from fiscal year 1981 to purchase office equipment.

Ken Metheny, interim county roads administrator, presented a snow removal routing schedule for each driver listing approximate times each driver would service a particular area of the county. Metheny stated he believed the new schedule would improve service as well as save time and expense.

The commissioners approved a resolution for a bond anticipation note of $135,000 for the Garrett County Sanitary District to be used for the Kitzmiller Water System project.

Garrett County Coal Production Drops Slightly In Third Quarter

Coal production for the third fiscal quarter in Garrett County was slightly less than for the second quarter according to the Maryland Bureau of Mines quarterly statistical report.

Coal output in Garrett County totaled 740,942 tons for the period July 1, 1981 to September 1, 1981, which was below the previous quarter figure of 854,920.

The total coal production in the county so far this year is 2,543,843.15. In neighboring Allegany County, total coal production for the first three quarters of this year is 967,999.56.

Reports on Appalachian coal and on exportation of coal have been recently released and predict an increase in world demand of coal.

A study released Sunday by the Greater Baltimore Committee and reported by United Press International indicates by the late 1980s, 40 million tons of coal will be shipped from the Baltimore port annually.

Some coal industry officials said in a published report in Baltimore's News American that the projection is too optimistic because the foreign demand for U.S. coal has been overstated.

Officials estimate 14 million tons will be exported this year through the port, the nation's second largest coal shipping port. Last year, 12.5 million tons were shipped through the port, compared to 9.1 million tons in 1979 and 7 million in 1978.

Officials at Booz, Allen & Hamilton, Inc., the consulting firm that compiled the report, said they based their projection on the port's current annual capacity of 18 million tons and completion of two coal terminals under construction.

Studies conducted during the past three years by the Appalachian Regional Commission also estimate an increase in world coal demand.

An International Steam Coal Trade Analysis conducted by ICF, Inc., projects that the U.S. share of the world steam coal market will increase from 30 percent in 1980 to 35 percent by 1985. ICF predicts world coal demand will double by 1990 and more than triple by 1995.

ICF and Joe Price of Rotan, Mosle are preparing a Market Guide for Coal Exports, identifying key concerns and uncertainties in the export market.

Another analysis, Baseline Energy Forecast and Capital Requirements and Availability for Rail Transportation in Appalachia by Booz, Allen and Hamilton, focuses on regional markets for Appalachian coal. One implication for Appalachia developed in this study is that major disruptions in rail trans-

JAMES C. SWEENEY

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated for James C. Sweeney, 58, of Parkville, at 9 a.m. last Wednesday, who died Saturday following a lingering illness.

Mr. Sweeney, a certified public accountant, was a founder and served as vice president of the Old Havenwood Training Center, and also served as treasurer of the Baltimore Association of Retarded Children in 1971 and 1972.

A graduate of Loyola High School and Loyola College, he worked for Wooden and Benson, a firm of certified public accountants with offices in Towson prior to his illness. He was previously employed by another accounting firm, then known as Langrall, Muir, and Noppinger.

Mr. Sweeney interupted his college studies to serve as an infantry lieutenant in the Army during World War II. He returned to Loyola when the war ended and received his bachelor's degree in 1947.

Mr. Sweeney was president of the Thornewood Park Improvement Association in 1968 and again in 1972. He was active at the St. Elizabeth's School for Special Education on Argonne Drive and had taught classes at St. Ursula's Church.

He was a member of the board and former officer of the Greater Parkville Community Council, and in 1976, became a member of the Baltimore county board that had responsibility for helping to introduce cable television in the county.

He was married to the former E. Jeanne New, who preceded him in death in 1978.

Mr. Sweeney is survived by one son, Robert William Sweeney, Baltimore; two daughters, Margaret Sweeney Lyon, Philadelphia, and Kathleen Sweeney, Geneva, Switzerland; a brother, William Patrick Sweeney, and a sister, Anne Schuman, both of Baltimore. He was a son of the late James A. and Alice Hart Sweeney, formerly of Oakland. He was a cousin of Mrs. E.I. Baumgartner.

Interment followed in New Cathedral Cemetery.

The family suggests that memorial gifts be made to the Baltimore Association for Retarded Citizens, 4800 York Road, Baltimore.

LEWIS E. WOOLF

Lewis E. "Tom" Woolf, 67, died Sunday evening in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Baltimore, he was a son of the late Lewis E. Woolf and Hattie Mills Woolf.

He attended Mercy Chapel of Mill Run and was a member of the Mount Moriah Masonic Lodge No. 116, Towson. He was a retired manager of Michael Plumbing and Heating Company.

Surviving are his wife, Edna Pruitt Woolf; two sons, Lewis E. Woolf, III, and James L. Woolf, and a daughter, Mrs. Jenny Frederick, all of Baltimore; a brother, Lockwood Woolf, and two sisters, Miss Katherine Woolf and Miss Jane Woolf, all of Baltimore, and two grandsons.

A service was conducted Tuesday morning in the Newman Funeral Home, Friendsville, with Rev. Robert Clinton officiating.

The body was then transported to the Ruck-Towson Funeral Home, York Road, Towson, where friends will be received today from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. The Mount Moriah Masonic Lodge No. 116 will conduct a memorial service at 8 p.m., this evening.

A service will be held Thursday morning at 11 a.m., in the funeral home with Rev. Ed VanMetre officiating. Interment will follow in the Dulaney Valley Memorial Gardens. Cockeysville.

MRS. I. M. FRIDINGER

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Fridinger, 92, Oakland, formerly of Westminster, died Sunday in the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born in Linesboro, she was a daughter of the late William L. Kopp and Elizabeth Stough Kopp. She was a retired seamstress and employee of Western Maryland College. Preceding her in death was her husband, the Rev. I. M. Fridinger.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Harley Dawson, Swanton; one sister, Mrs. Clarence Brilhart, Westminister; four grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

Friends will be received in the Eckhardt Funeral Home, Manchester, today from noon until 1 p.m., when a service will be conducted by Rev. John A. Grant. Interment will follow in Manchester Cemetery.

EARL C. TWIGG

Earl C. Twigg, 74, Potomac Park, died Saturday in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Born in Twiggtown, he was a son of the late Arthur C. and Emmaline Steckman Twigg. He was a member of the United Methodist Church and a retired plasterer.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Bagley Twigg; a son, James A. Twigg, Winchester Road, Cumberland; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Josephine Haines, Romney, W. Va.; two stepsons, Earl C. Wininger, Baltimore and Robert L. Wininger, West Alexander, Ohio; three sisters, Miss Martha Twigg, Mrs. Hazel Pearl Trenary, both of Cumberland; and Mrs. Olive G. Lawrence, Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland, and seven grandchildren.

Friends were received in the George Funeral Home. A service was held there Tuesday morning with Rev. Harold McClay, Jr., officiating. Interment followed in Rest Lawn Memorial Gardens.

MRS. LEOTA S. MURPHY

Mrs. Leota Susan Murphy, 81, Mt. Lake Park, died yesterday in the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

A native of Cross, W. Va., she was a daughter of the late Charles and Sarah Kight.

Surviving are two sons, Howard A. Murphy, Lorain, Ohio, and Glen H. Murphy, Oakland; a stepson, Ernest Murphy, Vienna, Va.; a stepdaughter, Mildred Anderson of Virginia; a brother, Walter Kight, Hollywood, Calif.; two sisters, Augusta Kight, Piedmont, W. Va., and Ella Anderson, Carlisle, Pa.; six grandchildren, and two step-grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Durst Funeral Home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

A funeral service will be conducted at the funeral home tomorrow at 10 a.m. with the Rev. James F. Remley officiating. Interment will be in the Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

HUBERT M. HALE

Hubert J. Hale, formerly of Hagerstown, died Saturday in the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Mr. Hale was a retired chef and the last surviving member of his family.

The body is at the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland. A graveside service will be conducted at the Oakland Cemetery on Thursday afternoon at 1 p.m., with Rev. Manning Smith officiating. Interment will follow.

blessed events

Garrett County Memorial Hospital reports a total of three births during the week of December 16.

Twin girls were born to Roland L. and Bessie Ann Ervin Bonner, Mt. Lake Park, on December 16.

A son was born to Jeffrey Allen and Terri Ann Wiler Roberson, Rowlesburg, W.Va., on December 18.

A girl was born to John Lawrence and Chandra Roxanne Sheppard Delaney, Gormania, W.Va., on December 22.

A total of 50 persons were admitted to the hospital this week, with 57 discharges recorded. This morning's tally shows 53 patients.

MANGER SCENE

Christmas in England boasts all the joys and traditions of a Christmas in America—but the English celebration continues through the next day. Boxing Day, the day after Christmas, is observed on an almost equal scale. Traditionally, on Boxing Day, the village priest opened the poor box and distributed its contents to the needy families in the parish. Today, bosses present gifts to their employees and most everyone in some way recognizes newsboys and others who provide regular services throughout the year.

Catholics Announce Holiday Schedules

The Christmas schedules of two Garrett County Catholic churches were announced this week and are as follows:

St. Peter's, Oakland — Dec. 23, confessions, 7-8 p.m.; Dec. 24, confessions, 11:30-12 noon, carol singing, 4:45, 6:30 and 11:30 p.m. and masses, 5:15, 7 and 12 midnight; Dec. 25, masses, 8 and 10 a.m.

Immaculate Conception, Kitzmiller — Dec. 24, carols, 8:30 p.m. and mass, 9 p.m.

Police Enlist Motorist's Help

PIKESVILLE, Md. (UPI) Maryland state police are enlisting the aid of motorists in their drive to crack down on drunk drivers, a spokesman said Tuesday.

Police are passing out black and white bumper stickers that read, "I report drunk drivers to the Maryland state police," said spokesman Dan McCarthy. The stickers do not have pictures or a logo, but the word "drunk" is printed in wavy letters.

"Our basic reason for doing this is there are so many drunk drivers on the road," he said. "Many times a person who spots a drunk can report him to the police and possibly save someone's life.

"This augments our trooper force. The police can't be everywhere at once and the bumper stickers encourage people to contact police," McCarthy added.

He said he hoped the stickers will also act as a deterrent.

"If someone who has been drinking sees the sticker on someone else's car, maybe he'll think twice about getting behind the wheel," McCarthy pointed out.

He defended the purpose of the stickers.

"We think this is very positive. It's not a matter of vigilantism," McCarthy explained. "It's a matter of having 20,000 cars on the road where people can spot a drunk and if the police are nearby, they can prevent the driver from going any further."

The police launched a crackdown in 1981 to remove tipsy drivers from the road. More than 11,000 intoxicated drivers were arrested through November compared to 6,202 for all of 1980.

State police have received "a lot" of telephone calls and citizen band radio reports from other motorists alerting them to intoxicated drivers, McCarthy pointed out. He linked the increase to the publicity surrounding the enforcement effort, but could not directly attribute the rising number to the bumper stickers.

The free bumper stickers became available at barracks across the state a few months ago. McCarthy said the initia printing of 10,000 cost the th state between $120,000 an $150,000.

Police might request second printing if the progran proves successful and money i available, he said.

This Christmas . . .

Wanted: A Job

by Carol Kapel

"I'm a human being, too. Why won't anybody treat me like one?" With tears in her eyes, Habiba Shahid began her story.

Christmas won't be very bright this year for a Garrett County woman and her two children, who seem to have fallen victim to a cycle of irreversible events in their lives.

A thin, willowy, graceful woman, with ebony hair and almond-colored skin, this Pakistani immigrant was brought to America 13 years ago by her former husband, to whom she had been married by proxy, as is the custom of her land. She knew not who he was, nor what her life was to become in this foreign land, away from her family and friends.

Highly educated, the daughter of a respected businessman and teacher, she came to this country and settled in a large metropolitan area, where she worked as an instructor in her field of study, economics. The transfer of her husband, who is an employee of the U.S. Agriculture Department, brought the family to Garrett County four years ago.

In the course of those four years, several tragic events took place, including Habiba's abandonment by her husband, who left her and the two children without explanation, as is also the custom of her land. She cannot question his decision. It is forbidden for a woman to ask or disagree. Her income was suddenly gone, as was her self-respect, for a divorced woman is a disgrace to her family in Habiba's land, and she can never return to her father's home.

When she realized the children and their welfare were now her total responsibility, as all ties were broken by her former spouse, Habiba knew she had to seek some sort of employment here, because she had no family to turn to, and no money. She could not go back to the city, for she knew no one that well. The children were small, and the barriers of being a single parent, and a woman alone were suddenly overwhelming.

Her greatest fear was the inability to communicate as well as others around her, who befriended this woman and her babies. She spoke and understood English, but sometimes found herself hopelessly lost in the casual phrasing and accepted slang. She wanted so to become self-sufficient and earn her own way here, so a job seemed the only answer. There was just one problem. Application after application was submitted, but each one was ignored. She was told that her field of economics was just not quite sufficient for an office job that required filing and business machine operation. She enrolled at Garrett Community College, and took all the courses available in filing and business machines. She continued her search for employment. She was told her background in economics just made her too qualified for a job that required typing. She went back to the college and took a typing course. She was told her background in economics just didn't suit in a job that required data processing skills. She went back to the college, and took a course in data processing. Still nothing.

Several deep personal friendships developed in the course of her searching, and those friends sustained this woman, helping her through the depressions, opening doors to potential employers, cutting through miles of red tape, and pursuing her former husband for the much needed child support she was entitled to. Those friends, Louise Harvey, Sister Catherine, Sister Susan, Liz Hart, Eileen Johnson, Gladys Anderson — they've all tried. They've begged, pleaded, become angry, and practically threatened everyone from private industry to government officials, but still nothing.

The governor of the state, as well as several top-ranking political officials, have been notified of Habiba's plight, but still, she waits. Welfare was ruled out. She's a proud woman who wants to make it on her own. She holds a master's degree, and years of teaching experience in her background, but she can't find anything in this county but closed doors, cold facts, and indifference.

By sheer willpower on the part of one woman who's practically become a part of the Shahid family, she was railroaded into an 18-month position with the CETA program, during which time she was assigned to shelve books and act as a kitchen worker in a child-care program. She understood that she was hired as a teacher's aid, but was assigned to cook instead. She was told there was an opening at a local financial institution for a position as a teller. She applied, but someone else was hired. She went to a local department store to submit a general application, and was told that she wasn't needed. She applied for a position as an instructor, and heard nothing. On and on it went.

The thought of discrimination because she was a woman and because she was dark-skinned, and because she was quite obviously from another country began to creep into the minds of those friends who so faithfully tried to help this woman find some sort of dignified position worthy of her ability. It was pushed aside, and an extra amount of effort was launched. Contacts were made, the story of her four-year search was repeated over and over again, countless telephone calls were made, letters were written, tests were taken, but still she waits. No one wants to think that's really the problem.

The world had closed in on this woman a dozen times, and each time, Louise Harvey and the others have pulled her out. Again and again, when she's given up and fallen prey to deep depression, her friends came through. But still, she has no job. There is no money, except for a child support payment promise forced by the courts and the aid of Eileen Johnson, which has not yet arrived. Who knows how reliable it will be? Habiba doesn't.

She wants to give of herself to her children. She's proud and fiercely independent. She lost so much in the last four years, including her mother and sister, who both died in Pakistan. She couldn't go then, and she can't go now. Prayers have helped, but they don't physically pay the bills. Friends help, but they can't instill the pride a job can. Support payments and alimony help, but they don't make her the whole woman and mother she wants to be.

Her latest effort is with the Garrett County Roads Department. She applied for a position there several weeks ago with 23 other applicants. If she's hired, she will no doubt give it her all. She doesn't know anything else. If she's not, she'll keep trying. How long must it go on?

Help is out there somewhere. The holiday season may be a perfect time for soul-searching and deep concentration on the true meaning of Christmas.

If everyone lit just one little candle, what a bright world this would be.

Residents Button Up As Temperatures Plunge

A frigid -12 below zero greeted Garrett Countians Monday morning as the coldest recorded temperature of the week.

High and low temperatures and precipitation levels for the week were, Wednesday, high 29 degrees, low 18 degrees, .18 precipitation, two inches of snow; Thursday, 35, 9, .16 prec. Friday, 36, 15, .08; Saturday, 17, 10, .10, two inches of snow; Sunday, 15, 9, .05, one inch of snow; Monday, 35, -12, trace of precipitation. Tuesday's temperatures and the overnight low were unavailable.

Freezing rain yesterday morning caused a two-hour delay in the opening of Garrett County schools.

AMERICAN CHRISTMAS

The first American Christmas was celebrated shortly after Columbus discovered America. The Santa Maria beached on Christmas Eve and all Christmas day Columbus and his men worked fruitlessly to free her. When the task seemed hopeless, she was stripped of much of her gear, which was taken to the Nina. The extra load on the Nina forced Columbus to leave some of his men behind in a newly-established fort named, in honor of the holiday, Le Navidad, the Nativity.

CHRISTMAS HOLDS TRUE MEANING

Some say we have lost the true meaning of Christmas, that the holiday has become too commercial. Nothing can be farther from the truth. Jesus himself said it . . .

"For the Son of man is come to seek and save that which was lost."

We have not lost the meaning of Christmas; it remains, it flourishes. We see it all around us. We need only look through the open door of a church, search the eyes of a child, reach out in some way to touch the heart of a friend or relative.

The spirit of Christmas lives within all mankind. We may disguise it, fail to recognize it openly, but within the heart there lies a knowledge that Christmas marks more than the birth of a child; it pronounces a fulfillment of the promise of God.

Nothing can be more certain; nothing has so well stood the test of centuries to remain forever the same.

Take stock in America.

THE VINYL PATH

HOLIDAY SPECIALS
Be sure to include our Route 560 Carpet Shoppe if you are in need of new floor covering. We have 20 swatches (in earth colors) on sale now thru December 31. Be sure to see these swatches and compare.

A path of vinyl is one look many care-minded housewives are having installed in their homes. This path begins at the front door with the foyer and wanders down the hall and into the kitchen (depending on the house plan).

It's quite effective for at least a couple of reasons. One, you have an easily-cleaned good-wearing surface in major traffic lanes. Two, it allows greater flexibility in choosing different colors of carpet for different bedrooms (for example, if you have a teenage daughter who just has to have a purple bedroom and no one else in the family could live in a purple room). Also, a lesser costing carpet could be used in the bedrooms than would be necessary if you did a hallway in the matching carpet which would have to be heavier and therefore more expensive to stand up to the traffic that a hall gets.

Vinyl is a welcome addition to foyers because of the natural materials look at a fraction of the cost of real wood, slate or stone. And it's easy to mop up when guests arrive with dripping umbrellas on a rainy night.

About the first five feet away from the entrance always takes the worst wear, and with vinyl at a door, it saves wear and frequent shampooing of carpet, helping it to retain its appealing appearance. A path of vinyl can lead to happy floors. Let us show you . . . today!

Each week we will tell you more about carpeting for your home. Watch for these columns.

The Santa Threat . . .

Every Christmas season we hear in the department store, on the sidewalk and in homes parents warning their children that unless they are "good" or unless they "behave" Santa Claus will most certainly not bring them any presents for Christmas. The alleged experts claim that this is not a wise thing to do with children, and we tend to agree.

First of all, the threat is usually an idle one anyway. It is merely a device used to stop a child's misbehaving at the moment. Almost no parent really carries out the threat.

Secondly, all children misbehave. The degree of which varies, of course, from child to child, depending somewhat on the personality of a child, but more so on the actions of the parents in rearing the child. Children are human and cannot by nature be "good" all the time and it's unfair to throw the Santa threat at them every time they misbehave, which brings us to the third point.

The whole idea of gift giving goes way back, back to that first Christmas when each one of us was given the finest of gifts in the form of the Christ child. Not once had God used the threat (you won't find it in the Bible) that unless his people were "good," he wouldn't send a savior to the world. If he had used such a threat, and then carried it out, then surely we would all be doomed. For there has never been and never will be a single human being (with the exception of one man) who is "good" enough to be deserving of such a wonderful gift from God.

How can we as parents justify setting such impossible standards for our children? And, by the way, just how "good" have we been lately? Parents and other adults usually do more pouting and misbehaving than any child, and we should know better.

So parents, let's all ease up on the kids and do away with the Santa threat. The jolly old gent himself, wherever he is, probably doesn't like it either.

Merry Christmas to all!

The Truest Meaning . . .

by Carol Kapel

Everyone talks of the real joy of Christmas, the true meaning of the holiday and on and on, but I sometimes wonder if one can ever capture the genuine feeling of the season without at least one personal experience of love.

I've always dreamed that the spirit of Christmas could go on throughout the year, and not be reserved just for December. I search each day for something good, and often don't find it on my own, but for some reason, a child or a co-worker or a friend points the way, and if I look, there it is. A sign of tomorrows to come.

A few months ago, my family became acquainted with several strangers through a community effort, and new friendships developed. One of those was a young schoolmate of my daughter who became a close friend. She sent the family a Christmas card, and included in it a message to the family about her feelings on the newly developed ties between us. The honesty and warmth of the card was a highlight of this season.

Another incident that remains with me this month is the beauty of a loyalty to someone less fortunate than I by a county woman who took it upon herself to launch a campaign of compassion for a woman and her small children. I was fortunate enough to meet and work with this lovely human being, and it helped increase my faith in mankind.

For all these reasons, and many more I wish for all a blessed Christmas, filled with the truest meaning of the birth of our Lord.

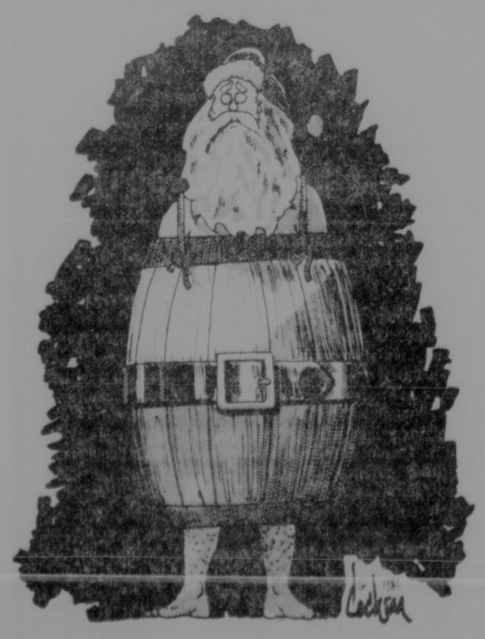
ONE SOLITARY LIFE

(Author Unknown)

Here is a man who was born of Jewish parents in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another obscure village. He worked in a carpenter shop until He was thirty, and then for three years, He was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never had a family. He never went to college. He never put his foot inside a big city. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

He had nothing to do with this world except the naked power of His divine manhood. While still a young man, the tide of popular opinion turned against Him. His friends ran away. One of them denied Him. He was turned over to His enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. His executioners gambled for the only piece of property He had on earth while He was dying—and that was His coat. When He was dead He was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone and today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress. I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever were built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together have not affected the life of man upon this earth as powerfully as has that One Solitary Life.



THE GRINCH

Correction Noted . . .

In the editorial appearing in last week's edition of The Republican, we erroneously stated that Browning's Supermarket was the only area food store which gives a discount to senior citizens. It was pointed out to us that other area food stores offer similar programs.

Ralph's Richfood, for example, gives a 5% discount to senior citizens two days a week and Fratz Mart makes contact with and deliveries to the residents of Town View Village in Accident on a regular basis to assist in seeing that the food needs of these elderly citizens are met. We apologize to these other businesses for that piece of misinformation.

We also wish to state that we believe all area food stores are assets to the county, not only because of the service and employment that each provides, but also because of the numerous and varied forms of donations they make to charities and nonprofit service organizations.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I find it very disgusting and appalling the information that is obtained and revealed by office managers, secretaries and personnel.

I worked in offices for 25 years and know that business conducted there on most occasions is confidential, not to be discussed among family and friends.

I have been in restaurants and different places where confidential matters about a person or persons were discussed and one could not help but hear it. By the time the talk has passed from one person to another, it has sky-rocketed to the point that it is humiliating to the persons involved and often has an impact on their reputation when part of the talk is untrue. Gossip sometimes gets back to the person being talked about.

Not long ago, a personal letter that should have been read only by the owners and manager of a corporation was passed around to certain people and discussed openly at a reputable bar.

It is not uncommon to walk into an office and hear secretaries or management gossiping about people who do business with them.

Since it is close to New Year's, maybe some should consider a New Year's resolution that confidential matters in office and business is a must.

I realize some of this is done unintentionally without thinking it harmful but thought it should be brought to their attention.

Yours truly,
Concerned Citizen

To the editor:

Let us urge the Board of Garrett County Supervisors to reject the adoption of a County building code.

What will the code do? First it will saddle every builder and craftsman with increased costs. It is the delay, the intrusion, the imposition of rules made primarily for urban areas, and the entire bureaucratic clap-trap.

Second, it fosters a phoney protectionism for classes of trade. Big unions love this. You will not be able to put a washer in your sink at home without securing the services of a "registered" plumber.

For the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development to suggest all construction work could be supervised by a "part time inspector" is ridiculous on its face: Plumbing inspectors, electrical inspectors, masonry inspectors, grading inspectors! This so-called "part time inspector" could be at Kitzmiller and a builder has workmen waiting in Grantsville! I predict a minimum of six bureaucrats in three years.

There are no advantages. Building construction in Garrett County is extraordinarily good. The representative pointed to Bradley Manor. Bradley Manor was a federally financed and federally controlled undertaking. If those tax dollars had been left in Garrett County, that outrageous imposition would never have occurred.

A building code drawn up in Baltimore will control our lives.

Finally the commissioners will find that adoption of the code will actually subordinate rather than enhance their position in representing the people of the county. It will be the code which rules.

The bureaucratic power is suffocating. Reject it! Reject it! We built the United States of America without these people. We can keep it going, too.

Very truly yours,
Franklin W. Peters

Dear Sir:

I feel it is time for those of us who believe in the management of the Browning's Market to stand up and be heard. I am speaking of the shoplifting case. I see where these people had no choice. How many times in the past several weeks has it been announced over one of the Cumberland radio stations that it cost every woman, man and child in the U.S. approximately $230 per year for shoplifting?

If it is all right to shoplift, then it is all right to rob a bank. What is happening to our society when so many people see no harm in such actions?

I am very sympathetic to the family of the deceased and perhaps this man was unaware of his actions; but if we are driving down the highway absent mindedly and are breaking the speed limit and we get caught, we have to pay the consequences. Therefore, I see no difference in a shoplifting case than a speeding case. Both are breaking the law. In this case, the Browning management was policing the market such as the State Police patrol the highway.

Very truly yours
Bea Haywood

To The Editor:

I'm writing concerning about the so called Bomb threat to Bradley Manor involving a couple of tenants. It was not meant to be a Bomb or anything close. But still two families are being evicted because of this.

Some gun powder was lit out of a 22 shell. No one was around except three adults. Why should the whole family have to suffer? One has a crippled child and the other is expecting a child.

I can see the husbands having to pay for their mistake, but why such drastic step for the wives and children of these families, especially since there were no steps taken to find out what really happened?

There was no damage, not even to the spot where it was lit. There's probably more damage done around trick-or-treat night. I'm aware of the fact that if there was a lot of powder, someone could have gotten hurt.

Sure people should have to pay for their mistakes. But why be so cold-hearted about the matter? Why couldn't it be taken to court and just the husbands pay their dues, not the whole families.

A Concerned Friend

To The Editor:

There has been a lot in the paper lately about Bradley Manor. Here is a new development.

What do you think of people who send an eviction notice to two families? One family has a handicapped son who is confined to a wheelchair most of the time, the other family has a 1½ year-old son and is expecting another one in a few months. They are being evicted because of an incident that happened on November 17, 1981. The husbands might have been in the wrong, but why should the rest of the families suffer?

There are a lot of other things that go on in the Bradley Manor but are not reported or are just ignored. What kind of government is there these days? Please pray for these families and write letters concerning this matter.

TREAT THE BIRDS

The Christmas season can be a difficult time for our feathered friends, the birds, particularly if there is a snow cover. You can trim an outdoor tree and decorate it with meat, vegetables and seeds to share your holiday blessings with cardinals, juncos, sparrows, finches and other birds. Those named above like vegetable seeds, but you can use such things as pine cones dipped in suet, bits of apples or carrots, even pie crusts to attract hungry blue jays, woodpeckers, nutcrackers, chickadees, warblers and brown creepers.

Second Impression

Ho, Ho, Ho

by Harry Fox

Once it was the downtown shopping centers of our cities that beckoned to the multitudes at Christmas time. Now it's the shopping mall—a tinsel and toytown wonderland for the whole family. They come in droves, packing their cars onto the mammoth lots. Acres of asphalt invite the driver to park free and come inside . . .

Nature's bounty and man's folly combine to produce glazed sheets of ice over all that asphalt. Where's the water to go? Nowhere in Genesis does it mention shopping malls as a part of creation.

The result is extraordinary. See the adult male head of household moving to and fro across the parking lot. Try to carry four pairs of shoes, two shopping bags and an electric train set while remaining upright. Long lines of humanity, linked together in a crazed lockstep, gingerly cross the lot, seeking sanctuary in the depths of the mall.

Inside chaos—if that is adequate to convey what happens—overwhelms what some laughingly call the "shoppers." It is a true testament to the durability of humanity, presided over by wax-faced security officers and college girls who wait behind cosmetic counters for shy men to approach.

It is, after all, typical of our species. Neither bad nor good in itself, we tend to complicate and burden the simplest pleasures. Rather than enjoy the scent of the tree and bundle into the car for Christmas Eve church, we insist on creating such monstrosities as the "Live Pig Shoot" sponsored by a local sportsmans association. Not content to let this stand on its own, as the Cumberland News story about the event explains, the annual Christmas party will be held in conjunction with the shoot.

One tries to picture the scene as it unfolds. Listen for the voices of little children blending with the fevered squealing of the pigs. Dwell on such a thought for a little while, and I have no need of Dante's Inferno.

The fantasy, the folly, the fevered squealing of the pigs being gunned down in the name of sport. It is all part of the picture of a world so much in need of the Christ Child.

The angelic messenger called him "Emmanuel," God-with-his-people. That is so. This baby is part of our world, part of us. It is so at the birth of each child, in a marvelous way. A time to heal, to begin again.

Christmas blessings to babe and beast alike!

Find the Christmas Spirit . . .

We hear so much that Christmas is too commercial and that the spirit is gone from this ancient holiday observance. Nothing can be more distant from the truth.

Let us begin the search for the Christmas spirit by looking into the eyes of a child. Let us listen for the sounds of laughter and joyous greetings. Let us consult with the less fortunate, with the sick, the shut-ins, the lonely and the poor to determine if the spirit of Christmas has not brought some ray of sunshine, some glimmer of hope into their lives.

Then, let us turn our thoughts and our steps to the church by the side of the road. Here, in solitude, or in the echo of familiar hymns and traditional services we must find the unescapable truth. The spirit of Christmas continues on as another Yuletide season marks the birth of Jesus and signals again a message of hope and peace for all the world.

Christmas Carol Not Dickens' Favorite

Some of our oldest and most popular Christmas songs and stories were not well regarded by their authors or enthusiastically received when they were introduced.

An excellent example is that of Charles Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol." Dickens considered it a far lesser work than "A Cricket on the Hearth" and "The Chimes." Dickens personally preferred "The Chimes," although "The Cricket" was the most popular seller during his lifetime.

"Christmas Carol" seemed to uphold Dickens' beliefs, attaining small popularity for many years. We know, however, long after Dickens' death, that the story of Tiny Tim and his friends became immortal and, some historians say, was the most effective single force behind England's return to the observance of Christmas.

It's YOUR Money

By Randle A. Rodeheaver

KEEPING TAX RECORDS

Because it is always possible that your tax returns may be examined and audited, it is vitally important to keep records of income and deductible expenses. What do you need to keep?

EVERYONE needs to keep income information: W-2 forms from your employers; form 1099 from dividend- and interest-payers; and precise earning statements from others who contribute to your income. It's also a good idea to keep copies of your previous tax returns.

If you use your car for business, and intend to deduct that expense, you've got another set of records to keep—the original cost of the car, annual total and business mileage, gas and oil, repair costs, garage rent, license and registration fees, tolls, chauffeur's salary. More business expenses? Keep a diary of hotel bills and meals, transportation costs, taxis, and phone charges—and keep the receipts and paid bills that validate those charges.

For personal deductions, save records of charitable contributions (checks or receipts for cash gifts, receipts for gifts of property) and medical expenses (in case your annual total is high enough to deduct).

It's a good idea to keep all records five years or more. The IRS' statute of limitations is usually three years after the return was due or actually filed, whichever is later. However, where there is a question of fraud or a substantial omission of income, the limits are longer.

Long-term record-keeping includes information about securities—purchase price plus commission on each, as well as data regarding splits and swaps. You will need this when you sell. Also, if you buy a home, keep full records of the purchase price and all other costs, as well as complete bills for major improvements and additions. Again, you'll need this to prove the amount of capital gain when you sell.

CRTs COMPLETE TRAINING — Local cardiac rescue technicians (paramedics) recently completed 20 hours of continued education consisting of new Maryland medical protocols involving advanced procedures for pre-hospital treatment of cardiac patients, trauma victims, diabetics, pediatric emergencies and others. The continued education is just one of the standards the state of Maryland requires for CRTs to maintain certification. Dave Evans, CRT instructor for Garrett County, instructed the classes. Pictured above, left to right, front row, are Mike Walls, ALS coordinator; Francis Mowbray, Jr., and Marilyn Rounds, both of Tri-Towns Rescue; Delores Thomas, Nancy Trimble, Steve Hamilton and Cheryl Rexrode, all Northern Rescue Squad. In the second row, same order, are Steven Householder, Tri-Towns; George Brady, Brad Stewart, and Dave Evans, all Southern Rescue Squad; and Carolyn Deniker, Northern Rescue. In the third row, same order, are Fran Pope, Southern Rescue; and Raymond Yoder, Northern Rescue. Not pictured are Candice Sweene, Paul Harman and Jeff Fratz, all Northern Rescue. Correction Noted Information released to the media last week concerning the Christmas release of two prisoners from the county jail apparently was inaccurate.

The report last week was that the commissioners had authorized the county sheriff to release two prisoners who met certain criteria from the county jail for the Christmas holidays.

A representative for the Garrett County Sheriff's Office reported that the commissioners were informed last Tuesday that two prisoners' names would be submitted to the office of Governor Harry Hughes for his consideration for Christmas commutations.

The commissioners, who have no authority to release prisoners, sent the recommendation via telegram to Commander Jon P. Galley of the Division of Correction, Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services.

Several days later, the State's Attorney's office notified both the commissioners and the sheriff's office that neither of the two prisoners actually met the criteria for a Christmas release.

The commissioners and the sheriff both point out that the final decision rests with the Governor.

Garrett County Recognized By U.S. Council For The IYDP

Garrett County was recognized this month as a "Community Partner" by the U.S. Council for the International Year of Disabled Persons, 1981.

"Garrett County's energetic response to the U.N. challenge is gratifying," said Alan A. Reich, president of the U.S. Council for IYDP. Charlotte Griffith, liaison to the International Year of Disabled Persons, accepted a certificate of recognition for special contribution to IYDP during the past year. She presented the commendation to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday, December 15.

Garrett County is one of 1,850 communities, 330 national organizations, and 270 corporations who have joined with the U.S. Council as partners. The proclamation by the United Nations in 1981 has led to the formation of national committees in 125 countries. Reich further stated that, "At this time of reductions in government services and general economic uncertainty, your private sector initiatives take on added importance — for disabled persons and for all Americans."

The Garrett Organizations for the Handicapped had pledged to promote IYDP themes in 1981 and to continue in its effort to sponsor community services, activities and advocacy issues, Griffith noted.

Activities during the past year supported and sponsored by that group, relating to IYDP, include:

*a public meeting regarding the Special Education Program and services in Garrett County, and legal services available from the Maryland Advocacy Unit for the Developmentally Disabled (MAUDD);

*The commissioners' signing of an IYPD proclamation for Garrett County;

*The opening of Garrett County's first group home for mentally handicapped persons through Garrett Crossroads, Inc. funded through the Mental Retardation/Developmental Disabilities Administration — also a co-resident apartment and the development of a respite care policy in conjunction with services offered through the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults;

*the Garrett County Promotion Council's updating information on tourist facilities and state park areas which are accessible to handicapped persons — also information distributed to the business community regarding available accessibility survey teams in this county;

*the development of auditory aids for visually impaired and non-visually impaired visitors at Swallow Falls State Park through a local Eagle Scout Badge project;

*the initiation of a GOH speaker's bureau

*dedication of the Garrett County Special Olympics to IYDP;

*participation of physically handicapped youth in GOH's fifth annual Hike & Bike;

*a GOH-sponsored team in the Mt. Top Women's Volleyball League highlighting IYDP;

*the establishment of a 4-H horseback riding program for the handicapped;

Many other local organizations, including the Oakland Lions Club and Knights of Columbus, in addition to private individuals and businesses, contributed to the year's events, designated to unite to develop full participation of disabled citizens in American society, according to Griffith. Direct services have been provided by the Appalachian Center in Oakland, the Garrett County Health Department, Social Services, Garrett Crossroads, Inc., and the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

The U.S. Council, a nonprofit organization based in Washington, D.C., was organized through private sector initiative to promote the International Year in America, where 35 million citizens are affected by mental or physical disabilities. Long term goals such as greater educational and employment opportunities, expanded cultural and recreational opportunities, improved rehabilitation services, and accident and disease prevention are among the goals promoted by the U.S. Council.

The United States Congress recently issued a resolution stating that, "Further action is required to increase public understanding of the unfulfilled needs and potential contributions of disabled persons." The United Nations is building upon the IYDP momentum and considering long-term initiatives to improve the lives of disabled persons, in designating 1982 as the National Year of Disabled Persons.

Goals of that national proclamation, according to the resolution, include promoting expanded educational opportunity; improved access to housing, buildings and transportation; expanded employment opportunity; expanded participation in recreational, social and cultural activities; expanded and strengthened rehabilitation programs and facilities; purposeful application of biomedical research aimed at conquering major disabling conditions; reduction in the incidence of disability by expanded accident and disease prevention; expanded application of technology to minimize the effects of disability; and expanded international exchange of information and experience to benefit all disabled persons. The new National Office on Disability is being established and will open in January, 1982, according to Reich.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

A Christmas program and candle light service will be held on Christmas Eve, at the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren. Everyone is welcome. The Rev. Steve Wingate is the pastor.

Dr. Alvin Friend will be the speaker at the 11 a.m. worship service on December 27 at the Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren, located one mile north on Route 219, Grantsville. Dr. Friend has a dental practice near Oakland. He and his wife, Ann, have done medical missionary work in Haiti, West Indies. The Rev. Ross Glotfelty is the pastor.

Rev. Glotfelty, along with his mother, will be moving in the newly built parsonage as of December 21, for the Cherry Grove Church.

Walter Younkin has returned to his home again from Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

The Woodmen of the World Alcamp No. 41 met on Monday evening for their annual venison dinner at the Woodmen Hall. Harold Butler, president, gave the Invocation and then presided over the regular meeting. Mr. and Mrs. George Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Savage were guests.

George Parker installed the following officers for the coming year: Harold Butler, past-president; Alice Younkin, president; Lillian Guthrie, vice president; Tom Bender, secretary, and Charles C. Bender, treasurer, Walter Younkin will be the escort; trustees are Phyllis Bender, Ruth Yommer and James Guthrie; Melda Butler is watchman; Everett Duckworth, sentry, and Pam Butler, musician.

Camp honors were given to the officers. George Parker presented Melda Butler with the Woman of Woodcraft award. Harold Butler also received a gift. The door prize was won by Lillian Guthrie.

Maryland SHA Receives Award For Litter Control

The Maryland State Highway Administration received a Federal Highway Administration/Keep America Beautiful, Inc. National Award at the 1981 Keep America Beautiful National Awards Luncheon in Washington, D.C. on December 10.

Accepting the Distinguished Service Citation on behalf of Maryland Highway Administrator M. Slade Caltrider was Charles Anderson, Chief of SHA's Bureau of Landscapte Architecture.

The Maryland State Highway Administration was cited for its use of press releases and promotional and educational material concerning the proper disposal of trash along the Free State's roadways. Antilitter information is distributed through schools, youth groups and various civic organizations.

The State Highway also works in cooperation with the Keep Maryland Beautiful Committee by giving out auto litter bags to motorists. Last year over 20,000 of these bags were distributed. In addition, SHA crews post signs advising motorists of the $250.00 fine for littering along state roads.

According to Pierce Cody, Chief of SHA's Bureau of Highway Maintenance, $750,000 a year is spent by the state to pick up the assorted bottles, cans, cardboard cartons, paper, discarded tires and other junk deposited on Maryland's roadways.

WHEAT AND STRAW

In some parts of the world, sheaves of wheat and straw figures are used as Christmas decorations, while straw is placed under the tree in remembrance of the straw manger in which the Christ Child lay in Bethlehem.

In early Slavic days, the storytellers say, children were put to sleep on a bed of straw on Christmas Eve in recognition of the humble birth of the Lord.

HSA Continues Support Of Local Health Planning

Continued support of local health planning is being actively pursued by the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland, according to a release from that orginization.

Executive Director James Stanton reported at the December Governing Body meeting on current efforts of a local task force on health planning. The task force, composed of representatives from Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties, has developed a list of "Basic Philosophical Principles" which support Agency efforts to insure local comment in regional health care planning. Members of this task force recently accompanied Stanton to Annapolis for a meeting with the House Committee on Environmental Matters and Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Deputy Secretary John Green.

Green's testimony did not include certificate of need decisions as part of an HSA's responsibilities, which, according to the Agency, is in direct contrast to the HSAWM position that certificate of need recommendations originate at the local level.

Green is developing a review committee on health planning within the Department. Representing HSAs will be Ms. Sara Harris of the Montgomery County HSA. Recommendations were made that Task Force members meet with Ms. Harris to express Western Maryland's position about the future of health planning.

Meetings have also been requested with DHMH Secretary Charles Buck and Deputy Secretary Green. During the latter part of January, the Task Force, chaired by Sister Cecilia Rose of Sacred Heart Hospital, will travel to Annapolis for a meeting with all Western Maryland legislative delegation.

Major certificate of need action occurred at the recent Governing Body meeting which was chaired by Edgar Harman, Garrett County. Frederick Memorial Hospital's bid to add a computerized axial tomography (CAT) scanner was approved for recommendation to the Maryland Health Planning and Development Agency.

The Governing Body also accepted the request from the Mennonite Home Mission Board to reclassify 17 of the home's comprehensive care beds to domiciliary care beds. The facililty, located in Maugansville (Washington County) would maintain current levels of care in a home-like environment for individuals with only slight impairment.

Four State Clearinghouse (A-95) projects were reviewed and approved: (1) a state immunization and surveillance program; (2) funding for Maryland Renal Disease Network; (3) veneral control project; and (4) the primary care project at the Little Antietam Medical Center, southeastern Washington County.

Revisions to the areawide Health Systems Plan for alcoholism and mental retardation were approved.

Long-range plans for Brook Lane Psychiatric Center and Cumberland Memorial Hospital were accepted. These plans related development of anticipated services and proposed capital expenditure projects for the next five years. Garrett County Memorial Hospital will present its long-range plan at the January 20 Governing Body meeting in Hagerstown.

Baptist Church To Hold Holiday Program Tonight

The Deep Creek Baptist Church will be presenting a Christmas Program titled "Joy to the World," this evening at 7:30 p.m. The church is located along U.S. Rt. 219 eight miles north of Oakland.

Nancy Bernard will open the program with a piano prelude. Recitations will be given by Jason Friend and Tammy Lucke from Nina Miller's kindergarten class and Ruth Fike's primary class, consisting of Carin Collingwood, Sonya Crogan and Michelle Reams.

An instrumental ensemble, under the direction of Pastor David Long, will present "Star of the East." Other members of the ensemble include Rita Harvey, Cheryl and Lynn Crogan, Doug Smith and Gus Johnson. During the ensemble presentation, a free-will offering will be taken by ushers Jeff and Jim Bernard and Terry and Rusty Otto. The offering will be given to home missionaries, Rev. and Mrs. David Perkins of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mary Friend and Leonard Webster will alternate reading the prophecy of the Old Testament and fulfillment in New Testament of the Christmas story while the adult choir sings songs to coincide with the Scriptures. Members of the choir are Mrs. Virginia Long, Natalie Yarnell, Ruth Fike, Cheryl Crogan, Gus Johnson, Craig Momose, Pastor David Long with Karen Crogan, director and Karen Otto, pianist.

The public is invited to the program and partake of the refreshments and fellowship which will follow.

Library Holiday Hours Are Noted

Holiday hours for the main branch of Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, will be as follows:

Dec. 24, 9:30 to 3; Dec. 25, closed; and Dec. 26, 9 to 4.

All branch libraries will be closed Thursday through Saturday.

Pre-school story hour will not be presented Thursday, December 24th. A puppet show "Raggedy Ann and Andy's Quiet Christmas" will be presented Thursday, December 31, at 10:30 a.m. and again at 11 a.m. at the Oakland branch.

The Saturday film program for children will be shown December 26 at 1 p.m. Films will be "Run, Appaloosa, Run" and "The Blue Bike."

MAKE IT PERSONAL

A homemade card speaks of special thoughtfulness. Anyone with a little time and talent can devise a Christmas message that will be especially appreciated. It is becoming increasingly popular to poetize the family gossip of the year in the form of a holiday greeting message to friends and neighbors.

CRIME SOLVERS

Call 334-3111
Reward $100-$1000

This week, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department is seeking information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for a breaking and entering.

Investigating officer M. Van Evans says: "This week, information is needed concerning the breaking and entering and theft which occurred at the Buffalo Coal Company garage located on the Potomac State Forest Road. Sometime during the evening of December 7, 1981 and the early morning hours of December 8, 1981, unknown persons entered the garage and removed a large amount of tools and equipment. Estimates of loss are noted at approximately $5000.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers is seeking the help of the public.

A reward of up to $1000 is being offered for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the criminals in this case. Crime Solvers also pays cash rewards for information leading to the capture of wanted persons in other unsolved homicides, rapes, burglaries, and aggravated assaults.

All information will be kept confidential, and the caller may remain anonymous. Information can be given by calling the Crime Solvers Hotline at 334-3111.

Swanton To Host Christmas Fest

The Swanton Christmas Festival will be held December 26 and 27 at the Swanton Community Center from 6 to 9 p.m. The theme will be "Whose Birthday Is It Anyway?

The festival, organized to collect items to stock the House of Hope food pantry, will feature a live nativity, cookie decorating for children and hot chocolate for all.

The festival is open to the public.

Organizers of the festival request that persons planning to attend bring commercially-canned foods for the House of Hope.

There is a standing law in Baltimore, Maryland, which makes it illegal to mistreat an oyster.

Here's to a holiday trimmed with gaiety and good cheer. Thanks to you all.

Beginning January 1, 1982 . . .

Save with an IRA

And pay less on income taxes. The IRS approves.

First National Bank of Oakland offers you

Two Steps

to a comfortable retirement.

Variable Rate Certificate IRA "Growth"

Step 1:

Our IRA "Growth" Certificate* is the ideal way to get your retirement plan started. It offers you a high rate of return on a minimum deposit of only $10.00, and a maturity of 18 months. This certificate is perfect for those who wish to make regular payroll deductions because you may make deposits in any amount you wish, whenever you wish, throughout the term of the certificate.

The rate of interest we'll pay you on your IRA "Growth" Certificate is subject to change every six months, as it is tied to 6-month Money Market rates.

When your IRA "Growth" Certificate matures, and you have accumulated $500, you have the option of renewing it for the entire amount, or you can withdraw $500 or more and buy one of the high-yielding, fixed-rate certificates described in Step 2.

"Locked-In" Rate IRA Certificates Step 2:

If you prefer to make your IRA deposits in lump sums, or once you've accumulated $500 in your "Growth" Certificate, you may have your choice of the following high-yielding certificates:

(a) The 24-month IRA Certificate. This is a fixed-rate certificate which is tied to 2-year Treasury Notes. The rate at the time you purchase the certificate is guaranteed for the full 24-month period. A $500 minimum deposit is required.

(b) The 30-month IRA Certificate. This IRA Certificate provides our longest maturity and allows you to obtain high, fixed rates for a longer term. This certificate is tied to 2½-year Treasury Securities. A $500 minimum deposit is required.

When, at some point in the future, your IRA plan grows to $10,000 or more, you may take advantage of our IRA Money Market Certificates. This 6-month certificate has a fixed rate which is tied to 6-month Money Market rates, and it allows you to reinvest every six months. A $10,000 minimum deposit is required.

The compounding of interest, tax sheltered in an IRA can really add up.

— EXAMPLE —
Let's assume you would make the maximum allowable deposit of $2,000 per year, and that you would earn an average rate of interest of 10% annually on your funds. Here's how your IRA would grow over the years:

After	Your Contribution	Total Value of Your IRA
5 years	$10,000	$ 13,431
10 years	20,000	35,062
15 years	30,000	69,899
20 years	40,000	126,005
30 years	60,000	361,886

Snowmobile Club Observes Holiday

The Deep Creek Lake Snowdrifters Snowmobile Club held its Christmas party and meeting December 17 at the Fantasy Valley Resort, McHenry.

Thirty-three members attended the party which included an exchange of gag gifts and awarding of door prizes.

Future events for the club were announced which include a trail ride and cookout on January 9 at 4:30 p.m. at the Double G Ranch and a meeting on January 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Fantasy Valley Resort.

The club also planned a trip to Quebec, Canada, on February 20-21 for the Sno Pro Race, professional snowmobile races. Reservations for the trip can be made by club members and interested members of the public no later than February 1.

The club also planned to sell chances for a Ski-doo 3500 snowmobile as a fund raiser to help purchase a trail groomer. The drawing will be held February 18. Tickets may be purchased from club members or at some county businesses.

Persons desiring more information about the trip to Canada or the drawing may call Don Bowman at 387-4600, Buz Bartram at 826-8721, or Richard Snyder at 387-4141.

SNOWDRIFTERS HOLD TRAIL RIDE — The Deep Creek Lake Snowdrifters Snowmobile Club held its first trail ride and cookout Sunday, December 13, at the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort. One hundred and two sleds were counted at the trail ride boarded by club members and their families and friends.

SHS Freshman Begin Season With Three Wins

The Southern High freshman basketball team upped its record to 3-0 Monday evening with a 66-26 thrashing of Northern on the freshman Huskies' court. Southern opened with a 66-25 win over Oldtown at home on December 5 and then whipped visiting Elk Garden, 40-24, Friday evening.

J.R. Gibson netted 18 points against Northern while Steve Bennett added 16. Steve Zumpano finished with nine for the losers.

Gibson also paced the ninth grade Rams' scoring against Oldtown with 19 points and Bennett netted 12.

Against the freshman Stags of Elk Garden, Dave McLaughlin led the Rams with 16 points and Bennett contributed 12.

Coach Jim Bosley stated that this team is "probably the best freshman team ever" at Southern. "They have a lot of talent and they are extremely physical," Bosley said.

Eight of the 12 members of the team don't know yet what it is like to lose, as they were all members of the Southern freshman football team which went 6-0 this fall. "We have a long way to go this season, of course," Bosley said, "but from September through December, these kids have won it all."

The freshman team will return to action on January 4 by hosting Allegany.

Lakers Must Settle For Consolation Title In Annual Rotary Tournament

The Garrett Community College Lakers saw their chances for the 1981 Rotary Tournament go down the drain Friday evening as they were edged by Penn State-New Kensington, 79-77, in the second game of the GCC hosted event. The Lakers regrouped Saturday, however, and stopped Beaver Community College in the consolation round, 87-76, which also ended a five game losing streak for Garrett.

Beaver wound up in the consolation contest after being defeated in the opening game of the tournament Friday, 84-69, in triple overtime by Penn State-Fayette. Fayette then won the tournament Saturday with a 75-55 win over New Kensington.

The Garrett-New Kensington matchup remained close all the way, with the Lakers leading 41-40 at the half. New Kensington pulled ahead early in the second half and Garrett just missed pulling the game out in the final minutes.

New Kensington's James Suboi led all scorers with 31 points on 12 baskets and seven of 12 at the line, while Ken Roth added 22 for the winners.

Kevin Phillips led Garrett's offensive effort with 23 points. Jeff Burton was close behind with 20 and Bill Bender finished with 15.

The Lakers outshot New Kensington from the floor, 24-22, but the visitors sunk 15 of 23 free throws, compared to a nine-for-18 effort by Garrett.

The Lakers led Beaver at the half on Saturday by three points, but found themselves down by four early in the second half, 49-45. The Pennsylvanians' lead was shortlived, however, as Garrett rallied and went back on top by a narrow margin.

At the seven-minute mark, the Lakers began to assume control of the contest and widened their advantage to 82-70 with just 1:16 remaining.

Jeff Burton and Clarence led six Lakers in double figures as each finished with 17 points. Kevin Phillips contributed 15 points, Bob Smith, 12, Bill Bender, 11, and Shawn Finney, ten. Phillips was named to the all-tourney team.

Five Beaver cagers also finished in double figures as Tom Edwards and Tony Carter each hit 18. Frank Salopek netted 15, while Shepherd and Lackovich each had ten points.

The Lakers are now 3-5 on the season and 0-2 in the JUCO American Conference. They will attempt to improve that mark on January 5 when they travel to Boyce campus of Allegheny Community College, Pittsburgh. Their next home contest will be January 9 against Catonsville CC.

County To Host Snowmobile Races Early Next Year

With lots of snow in the forecast for Garrett County things couldn't look any better for snowmobile enthusiasts.

Two major snowmobile events will be featured this season, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. The Maryland State Championship Snowmobile Race is scheduled for January 17 and the Governor's Cup Snowmobile Race will take place February 7.

Both races, which will begin at 1 p.m., will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. General registration will be from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m. at the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department, the sponsors of the races.

There will be different categories for all age groups.

For more information persons may contact the Fire Department at 387-5252 or the Promotion Council at 334-3888.

For every ten gallons of fuel oil you burn, you may waste four.

At more than a buck a gallon, who can afford that?

(DEALER INQUIRIES INVITED)

Your old, inefficient oil burner may turn as little as 60% of your expensive fuel oil into useful heat.

But a new INTERburner™ replacement oil burner is highly efficient, because its exclusive, patented Turbo-Reversed Air System burns hotter, cleaner. And puts nearly every drop of oil to work where it can do the most good - heating your home.

Some INTERburner owners report cuts of up to 40% in oil consumption (without "dialing down"). That means, if you used 1000 gallons of fuel oil this heating season. INTERburner could save you up to 400 gallons next season.

An INTERburner runs whisper quiet. It even saves on electrical bills, because its Interrupted Ignition uses only a fraction of the power other burners need.

Since it's an energy-saving product, an INTERburner qualifies for Federal Energy Tax Credits on your income tax.

And every INTERburner is UL-listed and factory-fired for your peace of mind. It's made in U.S.A. and parts are readily available.

You've wasted enough expensive fuel oil. It's time to talk to your local Qualified INTERburner Installer. He's a pro. A graduate of the intensive INTERburner training program.

He'll give you a free energy audit of your present oil heating system. And tell you how much you can save with INTERburner.

Rams Stop Stags, Upset Valley

After a disappointing 1-3 start this season by Southern, the varsity Rams turned things around Friday evening at home and defeated the Elk Garden Stags, 61-49. They used that victory as a springboard last night to mash previously undefeated Valley, 54-41, on the Rams' floor.

Nearly half of the Rams' scoring against Elk Garden was accomplished by Rick Selders, who netted 30 points with a sizzling 13-for-17 average from the field and a perfect four of four performance at the foul line.

The Rams held an 11-8 lead at the end of the first period and expanded the advantage to 26-17 at the half. The second half was all Southern's, who led 48-29 at the end of the third stanza.

Mike McLaughlin contributed 17 points to the Rams' total, most of them from the free throw line. He hit a pair of goals and 13 of 17 foul shots.

Carter Moreland paced the Stags' with 17 markers, while Rick Roy added 12 in what was the opening contest for Elk Garden.

Valley came to town last night with a 5-0 record, but the Rams took the lead early and never gave it up, leading the Black Knights 8-4 at the end of the first quarter and 21-18 at intermission. Southern put the game out of reach in the third period, however, outscoring the Knights 22-11.

The score was tied at 2-2 and 6-6 in the early going.

Producing the most points for Coach Tom Bosley's squad was Gary Heginbotham, who hit six buckets and two of seven from the line for 14 points. Rick Selders added 12 points, Dave Harsh 11 and Kevin Winters, ten.

Harsh also turned in an outstanding defensive performance, controlling the boards against Valley center Lonnie Gardner.

Gardner was the only Black Knight to reach double figures, finishing with ten. Valley's top shooter, Ted Winner, was held to just eight points, all of them coming in the first half. Winner was guarded by Ron Bosley.

The Rams outshot Valley from the floor by a 21-15 margin and sunk 12 of 24 free throws, compared to an 11-for-20 effort by the Black Knights.

Southern will see action again on Tuesday evening when they host the annual Snowball Classic. The Rams will meet Bedford in the second game that evening, following a contest between St. Maria Goretti and St. Francis of Morgantown.

Huskies Rip Mt. Savage, Oldtown

The Northern High Huskies returned to winning form this past week, whipping Mt. Savage Friday evening, 57-44, on the Indians' floor and then breezing past Oldtown last night, 52-32, at Northern. The pair of victories improved the Huskies' record to 3-3.

The Huskies started sluggishly against Mt. Savage and were down 7-6 at the conclusion of the first period. They caught fire in the second stanza, however, and surged to a 27-17 lead at the half, an advantage that was never again threatened. Northern was on top 46-31 heading into the final quarter.

Brad Yoder hit 21 points on ten buckets and one of four from the foul line to lead the Huskies' offensive effort. Lowell Yoder added 11 points.

Pacing the Indians' scoring were Mike Matthews, who finished with 17, and Mark Williams, who netted 11.

The Huskies outshot Mt. Savage from the floor by a 26-20 margin and connected on five of 12 free throws, compared to a four-for-nine effort by the Indians. It was Mt. Savage's second loss of the season against two wins.

The momentum remained in Northern's court last night against Oldtown as the Huskies stretched a 13-11 lead at the end of the first quarter to 29-19 at intermission. The lead was expanded to 47-28 by the end of the third stanza.

Brad Yoder was again the big gun for Northern as he hit nine of 12 shots from the floor. He also sparkled on defense, recording 11 rebounds. Stan Eggleston and Lowell Yoder also reached double figures for the Huskies, netting 11 and 10, respectively.

Oldtown's scoring was led by Jake Dolly who sunk 13 points.

Northern finished with a 23-13 advantage in field goals and hit six of 11 free tosses, compared to a six-for-ten effort by Oldtown.

The loss was the fifth in as many starts for the Tribe.

The Northern freshmen rebounded from a Monday evening loss to Southern to score a 33-22 win over their Oldtown counterparts in the preliminary contest.

The Huskies will not play again until after the Christmas break.

Northern High Girls Lose Three, Southern Splits

The Northern High girls' basketball team opened its 1981-82 campaign in a rather disappointing fashion this past week, dropping its first three contests. One of the losses came at the hands of cross-county rival, Southern, and the other two were to Bruce and Allegany. Southern also tasted defeat, falling to Valley 61-21.

Deena Morris led the Bruce girls against Northern last Wednesday evening, netting 25 points, while Loretta Avers added ten. The homestanding Westernport girls won the game, 47-38.

Donna Ringer led Northern's offensive effort with 17 points and Linda Yunker finished with ten.

Allegany breezed past the Northern girls on Friday evening, 67-32, on Northern's floor. Sherry Stakem scored 20 points and Tammy Long 11 to pace the winners. Donna Ringer was again the top point-producer for Northern with 19 markers.

Northern fell to visiting Southern on Monday evening, 43-22, as Sue Snyder and Jan Bell bucketed 13 and 11 points, respectively, for Southern. Christie Fratz led Northern's scoring with seven points.

Southern's loss to Valley occurred Friday evening at Lonaconing. It was Valley's fourth consecutive win.

Valerie Broadwater scored 23 points for the winners, while teammates Kass Lashbaugh and Amy Richmond netted 12 and ten points, respectively. Jenny Hillen was high scorer for the Lady Rams with seven points.

Neither county team will see further action until after the Christmas break.

Snowmobiling On State Forests Among County Winter Activities

Snowmobiling can be an enjoyable way for people to experience the beauty of the outdoors during the winter season. The Maryland Forest and Park Services encourage responsible snowmobile enthusiasts to come out and enjoy the snowmobile trails which are available on the state forests in Garrett County.

There are four major snowmobile trails available for use by snowmobilers on the three state forests in Garrett County. On Potomac State Forest, snowmobiles can be operated on the Laurel Run and North Branch Trail and on the Backbone Mountain Trail. These trails total approximately 12 miles in length. On Garrett State Forest, the Herrington Manor Trail offers about nine miles of snowmobile trail. Finally, on Savage River State Forest, the Meadow Mountain Trail has been extended to provide over 12 miles of useable trail for snowmobiles. Efforts are still being made by the Maryland Forest and Park Services to further expand these trails to offer snowmobilers the opportunity to travel longer distances.

Snowmobilers are required to register their sleds with the Department of Natural Resources if they plan to run their machines on state land. These registration tags can be obtained at a cost of $5.00 from the Maryland Park Service office at New Germany, Herrington Manor or Deep Creek Lake, or at the Department of Natural Resources Regional Service Center at Naves Crossroads in Cumberland. A snowmobile operator on state land is also required to have in his possession a valid driver's license, or possess a learner's permit and be accompanied by a person possessing a driver's license, or be accompanied by his parent or legal guardian. Persons under 12 years of age are not permitted to operate snowmobiles on state land.

Personnel from the Maryland Forest and Park Services will be patrolling the trails on the state forests throughout the winter months to insure the safety of trail users. Snowmobile operators are reminded that they should travel only on those trails that have been designated for snowmobile use. Trespassing onto private land and other trails can cause problems with private landowners and other forest users.

Snowmobilers are also encouraged to exercise caution while running their machines on state forest trails. Careful driving habits, travelling at a moderate rate of speed and concern about potential hazards can lead to a positive impression of snowmobile enthusiasts and the promotion of the sport, according to the Forest and Park Services.

Advice Offered To Persons Planning Retirement In '82

People planning to retire in early 1982 should start making serious plans right now if they have not yet done so and a part of this planning should be applying for Social Security retirement benefits, Valerie J. Loughran, District Manager in Cumberland, said recently.

Applying for benefits at the proper time is very important, she said, because benefit payments are geared to the month of application.

For example, a person applying after reaching 65 generally can receive benefits for up to 6 months before the month of application, but not before the month he or she reaches 65. A person applying between 62 and 65 cannot generally get any benefits for months before the month of application.

In addition, a person can receive benefits only for months he or she meets eligibility requirements for the entire month. Generally, this means that a person cannot get a benefit for the month of his or her 62nd birthday. The first benefit payable is for the following month.

Before applying, a person should gather together the required evidence, Loughran said. This includes his or her Social Security card or a record of the number, birth or baptismal certificate, and Forms W-2 or self-employment tax returns for the past two years. If this evidence is not available, the people at the Social Security office may be able to suggest substitutes.

An application can be made either in person or by telephone. The application process can be started by phone and completed by mail.

More information about Social Security benefits can be obtained at a Social Security office. There is also a free pamphlet, "Thinking about Retirement" available. The Cumberland Social Security office is open Monday through Friday, 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., except national holidays, and the telepone number is 724-0970.

The Christmas Program at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will be presented on Wednesday, December 23, at 8 p.m. Rev. William Willson will be conducting a candlelight service with Communion at Trinity Lutheran Church, Glen Savage, Pa., on Christmas Eve at 7 p.m. An open house for St. John's congregation will begin at the parsonage at 9 p.m. which includes a fellowship with Rev. and Mrs. Willson and family. At 11 p.m. there will be a worship service at the church, with a Communion service. A congregational covered-dish dinner will be held on Tuesday, December 29, at 6:30 p.m. in the church basement. A worship service will be held on New Year's day at 8 p.m.

A Christmas party for the congregation of the State Line Methodist Church was held there on Sunday. A dinner was taken to a number of elderly and shut-in folks in the area by those attending.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church met on Thursday evening. Following a short devotional period and the business meeting, there was an exchange of gifts, secret sisters were revealed, and new names were drawn for the coming year. A number of cheer baskets were packed for some residents in the area.

The Cove Homemakers dinner at Maplehurst Country Club was cancelled due to inclement weather during the first week of December so a get-together Christmas party was held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, on Tuesday evening. Gifts were exchanged, games were played and a number of prizes were awarded.

Franklin Schwing, Savannah, Ga., and David Schwing, Pittsburgh, are spending the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schwing.

Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Bender were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Beitzel and family, Salisbury, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller, Grantsville; and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bender.

Mrs. Ernest Smearman, Uniontown, Pa., was released from the Uniontown Hospital for awhile, but was recently readmitted to the hospital where she remains a patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lapp and family were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Butler, Grantsville.

Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and son, Todd, Bittinger, Greg Diehl, Grantsville and Art Butler.

Miss Lois Maust, Phoenix, Arizona, is spending the holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Markel Maust.

Tuesday luncheon guests of Misses Alma, Esther and Claudine Opel were Miss Elizabeth Hanft, Baltimore, and Mrs. Walter Hanft. Other visitors Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowry and son, from San Jose, California, and Mrs. Junior Wiley.

Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Selby were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Glass, Accident, and Mr. and Mrs. Art Butler.

Raymond Bender and Gordon Bender were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beitzel, Accident.

Mrs. Loring Green was a Monday afternoon visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Love, Friendsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Georg, Accident.

Friday callers of Mrs. Hazel Oester were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Margroff.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman were Tuesday and Sunday visitors of Mrs. Dollie Hunter at Spear's Nursing Home, Markleysburg, Pa. They also visited with Edward Hachman at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, Oakland.

Walter Hanft and daughter, Melrose, were Friday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Friend. Mrs. Hanft was a Thursday forenoon visitor there. Mrs. Hanft and Melrose were visitors of Mrs. Mildren Beeman. Monday afternoon visitors of the Hanfts were Juanita and Elizabeth Hanft, Baltimore. Elizabeth remained to spend a few days with her parents. Juanita and Elizabeth were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer, Reisterstown, where a number of the Needer relatives were guests that evening. Mr. and Mrs. William Needer, Baltimore, announces the birth of their first child and son, Miles Moscareillo Needer, on Sunday, December 20. The maternal grandmother is the former Miss Alice Cover, a former resident of Friendsville.

SEASON'S GREETINGS are conveyed to the teachers and student body by members of the Dennett Road Elementary School. Kindergarten, first and second grades presented the performance last Tuesday, under the direction of Harold Hudnall and the homeroom teachers.

TREE AT CHRISTMAS

Tradition says that Martin Luther set up the first Christmas tree for his children, although it was half a century after Luther's death that the first reference to a Christmas tree appears.

A manuscript traced to the year 1601 reads as follows: "At Christmas they set up fir trees in the parlors at Strasbourg and hung thereon roses cut out of many-colored paper, apple wafers, gold-foil, sweets, etc."

For a long time, August Imgard of Wooster, Ohio received credit for having set up the first Christmas tree in America, in 1848. Later research indicated that Charles Holle, Harvard's first German professor, set up a tree for his son, Charles, in 1832. This was documented by Harriet Martineau, an English novelist, who described in her book "Retrospect of Western Travel" how an evening was spent in the Holle home decorating the tree.

REAL ESTATE SEASONAL

There is more activity in real estate in the summer than the winter and a seasonal downtrend begins with the start of the school year in every region of the country.

A recent study shows that, nationally, sales typically jump nearly 30 percent in March over the January and February levels. Activity then continues to expand, although at a more modest pace, throughout the spring, reaching a peak in June and July.

Sales then continue slightly below that peak until the beginning of the school year when they decline, typically 15 percent in September. This starts a seasonal downtrend which continues until a low is reached in December. The decline from the summer peak to the December low averages 43%. Each section of the country generally reflects the pattern of the whole U.S. but some regions differ in timing and magnitude of the seasonal moves. For example, the winter sales slump is more severe in the Northeast which is made up for by a higher summer peak.

Roots Co-op Seeks Volunteer Workers

Roots Food Co-op is seeking members who will volunteer to pick up food orders in Morgantown, W. Va., throughout the year.

At a meeting on Monday, December 15, at the St. Peter's School, Oakland, Co-op members were assigned to pick up the food for the next seven months, one pickup a month. The Co-op members noted that they need a total of 12 members for each pick-up in the year.

Those attending the meeting agreed that volunteers will be given $20 for mileage expenses. Scott Hollingsworth was assigned to be the person to distribute the money.

The group also decided that volunteers picking up food in Morgantown would be allowed to buy food in the Co-op store at a twenty percent discount at the time they make the pickup. They stipulated that none of the food picked up in Morgantown would be sold until it has been unpacked, repackaged, and priced.

In other business, the group reassigned jobs in the Co-op. Persons serving in the various assignments will receive a ten percent discount on food purchases during their service.

Those assignments were: cleaning crew - Fred Jacoby, Steve Shaffer, and Bonnie Swyter; calendar for store managers - Jenny Mandrovsky; packaging honey and raisins - Fran Otero; bookkeeping - Scott Hollingsworth; pricing new food - Roger Strauss; sign-making - Jeanne Gilbert; ordering food - Linda Whitaker and Jeanne Gilbert; and unpacking food - Carol Cunningham.

The group also reaffirmed its policy that all bulk orders must be paid in advance.

Jenny Mandrovsky proposed to the group a new method for scheduling store managers. She said she would set up the store manager calendar three months in advance. All store managers will earn twenty percent discount on food purchases the evenings they work.

She noted that she would not be involved in finding replacements for store managers, but she would have a list of names and phone numbers for persons trying to find a subsitute.

Mandrovsky added that she will schedule any persons interested in working at the Co-op store.

The store manager calendar for the next three months was read. Those assigned were: January 1 - Fran Otero, Jan. 8 - Jeanne Gilbert, Jan. 15 - Carol Cunningham, Jan. 22 - Maggie Mullich, and Jan. 29 - Stephanie Reinhardt; February 5 - Fran Otero, Feb. 12 Jeanne Gilbert, Feb. 19 - Kim Gordon, Feb. 20 - Carol Cunningham, and Feb. 26 - Fred Jacoby; and March 5 - Kim Gordon, March 12 - Maggie Mullich, March 19 - Bonnie Swyter, March 20 - Kay Carlson, and March 26 - Stephanie Reinhardt.

The group also reaffirmed that it accepts new members anytime throughout the year. It also noted that the store, in the basement of St. Peter's School, Oakland, will continue to operate each Friday from 4-6 p.m. and the third Saturday of each month from 10:30-12:30 p.m.

Dates, Locations For Receiving Applications Announced By CAC

Representatives from Garrett County Community Action Committee will visit the following locations to receive applications for home heating assistance under fiscal 1982 Maryland Energy Assistance Program, according to David E. Maust, coordinator:

December 28, Accident Hamburger House, 2-4 p.m.;

January 4, Bloomington Fire Hall, 2-4 p.m.;

January 5, Finzel Fire Hall, 12-2 p.m.;

January 6, Kitzmiller Center, 12-2 p.m.;

January 7, Oakland Center, 1-3 p.m.;

January 8, Deep Creek Lodge, 2-4 p.m.;

January 11, Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 1:30-3:30 p.m.;

January 12, St. John's United Church of Christ, Grantsville, 12:30-2:30 p.m.;

January 13, Jennings Center, 12-2 p.m.;

January 18, Swanton Center, 12-2 p.m.;

January 19, Crellin Center, 12-2 p.m.; and

January 25, Deer Park Center, 12-2 p.m.

In addition, Maust said appointments can be scheduled at the main office at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland, by calling 334-2151.

Friday callers of Mrs. Hazel Oester were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Margroff.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman were Tuesday and Sunday visitors of Mrs. Dollie Hunter at Spear's Nursing Home, Markleysburg, Pa. They also visited with Edward Hachman at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, Oakland.

Walter Hanft and daughter, Melrose, were Friday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Friend. Mrs. Hanft was a Thursday forenoon visitor there. Mrs. Hanft and Melrose were visitors of Mrs. Mildren Beeman. Monday afternoon visitors of the Hanfts were Juanita and Elizabeth Hanft, Baltimore. Elizabeth remained to spend a few days with her parents. Juanita and Elizabeth were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer, Reisterstown, where a number of the Needer relatives were guests that evening. Mr. and Mrs. William Needer, Baltimore, announces the birth of their first child and son, Miles Moscareillo Needer, on Sunday, December 20. The maternal grandmother is the former Miss Alice Cover, a former resident of Friendsville.

SEASON'S GREETINGS are conveyed to the teachers and student body by members of the Dennett Road Elementary School. Kindergarten, first and second grades presented the performance last Tuesday, under the direction of Harold Hudnall and the homeroom teachers.

TREE AT CHRISTMAS

Tradition says that Martin Luther set up the first Christmas tree for his children, although it was half a century after Luther's death that the first reference to a Christmas tree appears.

A manuscript traced to the year 1601 reads as follows: "At Christmas they set up fir trees in the parlors at Strasbourg and hung thereon roses cut out of many-colored paper, apple wafers, gold-foil, sweets, etc."

For a long time, August Imgard of Wooster, Ohio received credit for having set up the first Christmas tree in America, in 1848. Later research indicated that Charles Holle, Harvard's first German professor, set up a tree for his son, Charles, in 1832. This was documented by Harriet Martineau, an English novelist, who described in her book "Retrospect of Western Travel" how an evening was spent in the Holle home decorating the tree.

REAL ESTATE SEASONAL

There is more activity in real estate in the summer than the winter and a seasonal downtrend begins with the start of the school year in every region of the country.

A recent study shows that, nationally, sales typically jump nearly 30 percent in March over the January and February levels. Activity then continues to expand, although at a more modest pace, throughout the spring, reaching a peak in June and July.

Sales then continue slightly below that peak until the beginning of the school year when they decline, typically 15 percent in September. This starts a seasonal downtrend which continues until a low is reached in December. The decline from the summer peak to the December low averages 43%. Each section of the country generally reflects the pattern of the whole U.S. but some regions differ in timing and magnitude of the seasonal moves. For example, the winter sales slump is more severe in the Northeast which is made up for by a higher summer peak.

Roots Co-op Seeks Volunteer Workers

Roots Food Co-op is seeking members who will volunteer to pick up food orders in Morgantown, W. Va., throughout the year.

At a meeting on Monday, December 15, at the St. Peter's School, Oakland, Co-op members were assigned to pick up the food for the next seven months, one pickup a month. The Co-op members noted that they need a total of 12 members for each pick-up in the year.

Those attending the meeting agreed that volunteers will be given $20 for mileage expenses. Scott Hollingsworth was assigned to be the person to distribute the money.

The group also decided that volunteers picking up food in Morgantown would be allowed to buy food in the Co-op store at a twenty percent discount at the time they make the pickup. They stipulated that none of the food picked up in Morgantown would be sold until it has been unpacked, repackaged, and priced.

In other business, the group reassigned jobs in the Co-op. Persons serving in the various assignments will receive a ten percent discount on food purchases during their service.

Those assignments were: cleaning crew - Fred Jacoby, Steve Shaffer, and Bonnie Swyter; calendar for store managers - Jenny Mandrovsky; packaging honey and raisins - Fran Otero; bookkeeping - Scott Hollingsworth; pricing new food - Roger Strauss; sign-making - Jeanne Gilbert; ordering food - Linda Whitaker and Jeanne Gilbert; and unpacking food - Carol Cunningham.

The group also reaffirmed its policy that all bulk orders must be paid in advance.

Jenny Mandrovsky proposed to the group a new method for scheduling store managers. She said she would set up the store manager calendar three months in advance. All store managers will earn twenty percent discount on food purchases the evenings they work.

She noted that she would not be involved in finding replacements for store managers, but she would have a list of names and phone numbers for persons trying to find a subsitute.

Mandrovsky added that she will schedule any persons interested in working at the Co-op store.

The store manager calendar for the next three months was read. Those assigned were: January 1 - Fran Otero, Jan. 8 - Jeanne Gilbert, Jan. 15 - Carol Cunningham, Jan. 22 - Maggie Mullich, and Jan. 29 - Stephanie Reinhardt; February 5 - Fran Otero, Feb. 12 Jeanne Gilbert, Feb. 19 - Kim Gordon, Feb. 20 - Carol Cunningham, and Feb. 26 - Fred Jacoby; and March 5 - Kim Gordon, March 12 - Maggie Mullich, March 19 - Bonnie Swyter, March 20 - Kay Carlson, and March 26 - Stephanie Reinhardt.

The group also reaffirmed that it accepts new members anytime throughout the year. It also noted that the store, in the basement of St. Peter's School, Oakland, will continue to operate each Friday from 4-6 p.m. and the third Saturday of each month from 10:30-12:30 p.m.

Dates, Locations For Receiving Applications Announced By CAC

Representatives from Garrett County Community Action Committee will visit the following locations to receive applications for home heating assistance under fiscal 1982 Maryland Energy Assistance Program, according to David E. Maust, coordinator:

January 4, Bloomington Fire Hall, 2-4 p.m.;

January 5, Finzel Fire Hall, 12-2 p.m.;

January 6, Kitzmiller Center, 12-2 p.m.;

January 7, Oakland Center, 1-3 p.m.;

January 8, Deep Creek Lodge, 2-4 p.m.;

January 11, Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 1:30-3:30 p.m.;

January 12, St. John's United Church of Christ, Grantsville, 12:30-2:30 p.m.;

January 13, Jennings Center, 12-2 p.m.;

January 18, Swanton Center, 12-2 p.m.;

January 19, Crellin Center, 12-2 p.m.; and

January 25, Deer Park Center, 12-2 p.m.

In addition, Maust said appointments can be scheduled at the main office at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland, by calling 334-2151.

Governor Proposes Pay Increase; Clamps Down On Criminal Activity

Governor Harry Hughes has proposed a series of Christmas gifts for certain government employees in the form of pay increases and a comprehensive package designed to deal with the problem of crime in the state of Maryland at every level. The proposed package includes action on crime prevention, prosecution, adequate prison space, meaningful prisoner programs, and effective measures to reduce recidivism.

The Governor said, "I am determined to use every resource of my office to help make certain that the law-abiding citizens of Maryland are safe in their homes and in our public places."

The Governor pledged to commit the financial resources of the state "more heavily than any other time in our history" to deal with this problem.

"All in all, $35.5 million, fully one-third of my proposed capital budget — an unprecedented portion — will be committed to expenditures for public safety and corrections," said Hughes.

"Another $10 million will be committed as the state's share of 50-50 funding to add about 700 beds to local jail capacity."

The Governor noted that the state is proceeding with legislation, planning and construction to add more than 1400 prison beds at the complexes in Hagerstown and Baltimore. In addition, the staff at the Maryland Training School for Boys will be increased to strengthen security there and an additional cottage will be opened to help relieve overcrowding.

To help maintain a high standard of morale and efficiency among law enforcement personnel, Governor Hughes proposed a special salary adjustment for state police, correctional officers and natural resources police.

State Police will receive an additional 8 percent increase, above the 9 percent recommended across the board for state employees. Other law enforcement personnel will receive an increase of one-grade.

"In addition, I am including funds in my budget proposal for Fiscal 1983 for 130 new positions within the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, including 92 correctional officers and additional staff to enhance medical treatment of prisoners," the Governor said.

The program also includes these items:

•A Governor's Commission on Crime Prevention to coordinate the activities of citizens coalitions, neighborhood associations and similar groups.

•A Governor's Advisory Board on Rape and other sexual offenses to emphasize preventive measures and to assist victims in coping with the traumatic effects of these crimes.

•Introduction as an administration measure the Pilot Program for Victim Restitution as proposed by Attorney General Sachs. This will be combined with increased efforts to enhance restitution orders imposed by the courts as a condition of probation.

•A vigorous crack-down on drug pushers and proposed legislation for mandatory sentencing of second offense drug distributors and for a State Racketeer Influenced and Corruption Organization Act.

•Legislation imposing a mandatory one-year sentence for those who carry handguns illegally.

•Legislation to provide a "more effective method" of determining whether young repeat offenders should be waived out of juvenile jurisdiction and into the adult court system.

Governor Hughes thanked Ben Cardin, President James Clark, Chairmen Joseph Curran and Joseph Owens and Delegates Frank Robey and Paula Hollinger for their support and assistance in formulating this package.

"On the whole, I believe this to be one of the most comprehensive criminal justice packages in the nation," said the Governor.

WINTER FESTIVALS

Christmas has not always been celebrated on December 25, but in ancient times this date marked the Mithraic rite of the birth of the sun, a festival to honor Mithras, the Persian god of light. Winter festivals were popular in early days. The Teutonic tribes of Northern Europe celebrated the winter solstice to mark the rebirth of the sun. The Roman festival, saturnalia, held about the same time, was a season of rejoicing and feasting.

CHRISTMAS SAFETY TIPS

Christmas is a joyous time of year and with extra care taken it can also be a safe time. Here are some tips that will help you keep the holiday safe:

*Never use lighted candles on a tree or near other evergreens.
*Display candles where they cannot be knocked down or blown over.
*Place trash in a metal container. Don't burn wrappings in the fireplace; they can ignite suddenly and cause a flash fire.
*Keep matches, lighters, and candles out of reach of children.
*Avoid smoking near flammable decorations.
*Make an emergency plan to use if a fire breaks out anywhere in your home. See that each family member and your babysitter know at least two escape routes.
*Avoid wearing loose flowing clothes—especially long, open sleeves—near the open flames of a fireplace, stove, or candle-lit table.
*Burning evergreens in the fireplace can be dangerous. When dry, greens burn like tinder. Their flames can flare out of control, sending sparks flying around the room.
*Plan for safety. Remember, there is no substitute for common sense. Look for and eliminate potential danger spots near candles, fireplaces, trees, and electrical connections.

Have a safe and happy holiday!

FOOD NOTES

Get out the recipes for peanut brittle, peanut butter fudge and all the other peanutty foods you couldn't afford to make last year. The U.S. peanut crop this year is a big one—68 percent larger than a year ago. Try this:

PEANUT BUTTER MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup peanut butter
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk*
2 tablespoons melted fat or oil

Sift dry ingredients together. Work in peanut butter. Combine eggs and milk and fat and pour into dry ingredients. Stir just enough to moisten dry ingredients. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake at 400°F. (hot oven) 25 minutes. Makes 12 large (2-⅓ inch) muffins.

*Nonfat dry milk may be used: ¼ cup dry milk + 1 cup water = 1 cup skim milk.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

New Year's Party

The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department is having a New Year's Eve party and dinner on Thursday, December 31, starting at 9 p.m., for the public. There will be cheese platters, mixers, and a buffet throughout the evening. There will also be a band. A pork and sauerkraut dinner will be served at midnight. Tickets may be purchased from any fireman. For more information, persons may call 746-5576.

Firemen Elect Officers

At the regular firemen's monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the fire hall an election of officers was held with the following elected to serve in 1982: president, Rodney Bowser; vice president, Ed Sines; secretary, Jack Teats; treasurer, Carl Lefferts; chief, James E. Lininger; and assistant chief, Kenny Harding. The firemen meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the fire hall at 7 p.m. The firemen are accepting applications for anyone who wishes to join the organization. Persons should call any fireman or attend any meeting.

Youth Group

The First Christian Church Youth Group will have Chico and Jeff Fife as guests for a musical program for a meeting on Wednesday, December 30, at 3 p.m., at the church. The boys' parents are missionaries to Brazil. They sing in Portugese and English and accompany themselves with a guitar. The boys are students at Northern High School. All youth of the area are invited to the meeting. Mrs. Fife and family are living in Grantsville now.

Christmas Eve Program

A Christmas program will be presented at the Selbysport church on Christmas Eve, December 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Asher Glade Service

The Church of the Brethren, Asher Glade, will have a Christmas program on Wednesday, December 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Treat On Sunday

The Town and Community Mothers Christmas songfest and treat was held Sunday afternoon at the elementary school grounds. Edgar Bartholomew donated the Christmas tree. The students at the school made the decorations. Bernadine Friend made booklets of Christmas poems and carols for those attending to use while singing. Mr. and Mrs. Getty Keefer sang carols. Mrs. Keefer accompanied them with an accordian. Jim and Fred Fox played several numbers on musical instruments. All children who attended were given a treat by Santa Claus.

Fruit Baskets Given

Over 30 fruit baskets were given to the elderly of the area for Christmas by the Ladies' Auxiliary to VFW Post 8769.

Guest Speaker

Steve Sisler, a student at Baptist College in Lynchburg, Va., will be the guest speaker at the Church of God, Sand Spring, on Sunday, December 27, at 10:45 a.m. Sunday School will be at 9:45 a.m.

W.C.S.C. Party

Twenty-four ladies, three husbands and four children attended the Sand Spring Church of God W.C.S.C. Christmas meeting and party on Friday, December 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hinebaugh. Secret sisters were revealed during a gift exchange. A buffet lunch was served. The January 7 meeting will be at the Community Building at Sand Spring at 1 p.m., if weather permits.

Group Caroling

Twenty members of U.M.Y.F. and counselors went Christmas caroling on Friday evening in the area, and distributed 26 Christmas fruit baskets to the elderly of the area. They all then went to the home of Mrs. Carole Frazee for a party. The next meeting will be Sunday, January 10, at 6:30 p.m., at the Blooming Rose United Methodist Church.

Selbysport U.M.W. Meets

Mrs. Dean Vitez and Connie entertained nine members of the Selbysport U.M.W. at their home on Friday evening for the annual Christmas party. Secret sisters were revealed during a gift exchange. New names were drawn. Ivan Humberson was a guest of the group and of George Vitez. There will be no meetings until March, 1982.

Movies & Party At Library

Thirty-five children and parents attended movies and a party at the library on Friday evening.

Rotary News

Richard Kolb had the program for the Rotary meeting on Monday, December 14, and had as his guest speaker, Robert Wilson, principal of Accident Elementary School. His topic was "Special Education" as it is scheduled in Northern Garrett County. He also talked about the plans for the new school now under construction. There will not be a Rotary meeting on Monday, December 28. Edgar Bartholomew will have the program on Monday, January 4, at 6:30 p.m., at the Hamburger House, Rt. 219.

Honored On 50th Anniversary

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Perry VanSickle honored their parents with a surprise dinner on Sunday, December 13, at Glisan's Restaurant, Rt. 40, for their 50th wedding anniversary. Their seven children and their families attended which totaled 32. They were married December 23, 1931, in Oakland by Rev. J. W. Dawson at the United Methodist Church. Mrs. VanSickle was formerly Loretta VanSickle, daughter of the late Lott and Mary VanSickle, here.

Homemakers

The Homemakers' Christmas covered dish dinner and party was held Thursday at the Old Mill Grill with 14 members and four guests attending. Gifts were exchanged and the group played bingo. The January 21 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ellen Humberson for lunch at 12:30 p.m., and a meeting to follow.

Mr. and Mrs. James Skidmore, Bowie, spent Wednesday and Thursday with his mother, Mrs. Julia Skidmore. She accompanied them home on Thursday and visited for the holidays with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hoff and family, Pt. Marion, Pa., were Sunday dinner and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Friend.

Mrs. Martha Goehringer is vacationing for the holidays with her sister, Catherine Seaman, Laurel, and with her daughter, Kim, at Calleo, Virginia.

Arthur H. Schmidt, Jr., Silver Spring, escorted his mother, Mrs. Kitty Schmidt of Friendsville, to a Christmas party at Will O' the Wisp in his father's absence. Arthur H. Schmidt, Jr., was the weekend guest for a pre-Christmas celebration at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmidt, Sr., Friendsville.

Roxanne Thomas, Washington, D.C., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Thomas. All three and Shawn Sessa visited Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Margaret Rush, Accident. The Thomases expect their son, Randy, to arrive at their home Thursday evening for a holiday visit.

Dinner guests of Mrs. Thelda Frazee and family during the week were Rev. Oscar Sines, Oakland; Ralph Livengood, Lenox, W.Va.; Dewey Livengood and son, Myron, Hazelton, W.Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Reckart. Mr. and Mrs. Terry Reckart, Leslie and Jody, Painesville, Ohio, visited over the weekend with the former's mother, Mrs. Frazee. Visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Livengood, Bruceton, W.Va.

Mrs. Sherry Couch and daughters, Rt. 40, were Tuesday evening dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones and sons, Oakland; and Mrs. Julia Skidmore, here, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Joyce Skidmore and son, McHenry.

Ray Wilson and son, Jim, Baltimore, visited from Thursday until Sunday with Mrs. Bessie Frantz.

Mrs. Reuben Friend was a Tuesday caller in Uniontown, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hinebaugh and family, of Eustis, Florida, recently visited for eight days with Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Frazee. They also visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hinebaugh.

On Sunday, November 29, there was a dinner given in honor of Gary Hinebaugh for his birthday by his mother, Doris Hinebaugh Frazee. There were 40 present. The birthday cake was baked by Glenna Ringer.

Dog Patrols To Be Used In Prisons To Locate Contraband Drugs

TOWSON, Md. (UPI) — Special dog patrols will soon be introduced in Maryland prisons in an effort to sniff out drugs and other contraband, the state's prison commissioner said Tuesday.

Commissioner John P. Galley said the Maryland Correctional Training Center in Hagerstown will be the first prison to get the canine teams, probably early in 1982.

"I'd like to cross-train the dogs for security purposes as well as drug sniffing," Galley said. "We're eventually going to take the dogs all over the division and use them as searchers."

Galley said the canine teams may help cut down on the special problem of prison employees smuggling contraband into inmates. The warden noted that staffers and their labor unions strongly oppose strip searches of guards, counselors and other employees who come in close contact with prisoners.

The commissioner said ordinary prison guards will use the trained dogs — primarily German shepherds and bloodhounds — to sniff out drugs in the visiting rooms and security areas of state prisoners.

Galley said after introducing dog patrols at the Maryland Correctional Training Center, he hopes to place teams at the Maryland Correctional Institution, also in Hagerstown, and at the Maryland House of Correction in Jessup.

Warden Marlin F. Bachtell of the Maryland Correctional Training Center said his facility will need at least six trained dogs in order to reduce drug smuggling by inmates, prsion staff and vistors.

At the Maryland Correctional Institution, Warden James P. Tinney III said he has already purchased four German shepherds and is seeking two more dogs for drug patrol training.

Prison officials concede that canine patrols will not completely eliminate the flow of drugs in Maryland prisons. "You can minimize drug traffic, but you're never to eliminate it," Galley said.

Drunk Drivers Targeted Under Hughes' $2.7 Million Rehabilitation Program

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Gov. Harry Hughes said Tuesday he will propose a $2.7 million alcohol rehabilitation program as a "logical next step" to tough new state laws designed to make it easier for police to apprehend drunk drivers.

The program, which will be part of Hughes' proposed fiscal 1983 budget, would require a clinical assessment of all drivers brought before state courts for driving while intoxicated or under the influence of alcohol.

Those found to have a serious problem with alcohol abuse would be referred to a new $1.5 million rehabilitation program run by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Alcoholism Control Administration.

Those who are arrested but are considered to be only "social drinkers" would have to attend a new $1.2 million alcohol education program run by the Motor Vehicle Administration.

A spokesman for the governor said the rehabilitation program, one of several recommendations from a Task Force on the Drinking Driver, was likely to be the major piece of drunk driving legislation Hughes will propose to the 1982 General Assembly.

Other more controversial suggestions, such as raising the minimum drinking age from 18 to 21, are still under consideration by the governor, but are considered less likely to receive his endorsement, an aide said.

"Rehabilitation of the drinking driver is the logical next step for the vigorous program Maryland is undertaking to reduce the tragic consequences of drunk driving," Hughes said.

The governor said the proposed program would cost nearly twice as much, $4.6 million a year, when implemented statewide.

As part of the program, Hughes said the Alcoholism Control Administration will expand its outpatient services for alcohol abuse in local health departments.

The governor also proposed a new 20-bed facility on the lower Eastern Shore that would be used for alcoholics who need medical supervision but do not need to be in a hospital, and a long-term care facility for chronic alcohol abusers from Baltimore who were formerly treated at the Spring Grove State Hospital.

The long-term facility, for patients who have not been cured in other programs, would be similar to the Raft House facility in Crownsville or the Regan Center at Springfield Hospital near Sykesville, officials said.

"Rigorous enforcement of our new, tough drunk driving laws has increased our ability t9 identify and remove the drunk driver from our roads," Hughes said. "With these additional funds, we are supporting the rehabilitation and treatment of those alcohol abusers who drink and drive."

from the Garrett County Animal Shelter

IT'S NOT TOO LATE to hurry down to the Garrett County Animal Shelter and scoff up an armload of these beautiful puppies for all the stockings on the mantel. They are mixed husky, seven weeks old, and just waiting to make some little boy or girl happy on Christmas morning. There are two male and two female pups to choose from. Won't you visit the shelter on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, or call 334-3553? Last week's pets were given new homes by Cathy Renner and Don Moreland.

Across From White House

Ruling Favors Citizens' Tent City

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge ruled Tuesday in favor of a citizens' action group seeking permission to shelter homeless people in tents across from the White House.

But the government immediately appealed U.S. District Judge Charles R. Richey's decision, forcing a stay until action can be taken by a U.S. Court of Appeals panel.

"The judge decided that the plaintiffs could sleep in tents and bring in cots and other accommodations 'for a reasonable period of time.' They just can't eat there," said a law clerk in Richey's office.

Nine tents are currently set up in LaFayette Park, although people have not been allowed to sleep in them.

The Community for Creative Non-Violence, a group known in the Washington area for dramatic protest efforts, erected a tent city in the park on Thanksgiving and dubbed it "Reaganville" to protest administration budget cuts of social services.

Nine men and women were arrested the following day on charges of unlawful entry and two federal charges of camping in an undesignated area and demonstrating without a permit. A court date is scheduled Jan. 5.

In his ruling, Richey said the National Park Service had permitted other groups in the past to use the grounds "for purposes well beyond this kind of limited demonstration" — such as Resurrection City and the farmer's protest.

CCNV member Justin Brown Tuesday said, "I think the judge has finally recognized the absolute need for homeless people to be seen not just as statistics in the federal budget but as people who live and breathe and suffer."

"Homeless people daily come in and out and are given blankets to keep warm," said Brown. "But they're not allowed to fall asleep. The irony is that they're sleeping on benches and grates all around the area."

Named in the case were Interior Secretary James Watt and National Park Service regional director Jack Fish, each in their official capacities.

A date had not been set for the appeal.

Longshoremen To Boycott Polish Flag Vessels

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The International Longshoremen's Association vowed Tuesday not to load or unload any Polish cargo for a freighter scheduled to arrive at the city's port.

The vessel's general shippers conceded they were powerless to do anything about the threat.

The container ship Kazimierz Pulaski was due to arrive Wednesday at the Dundalk Marine Terminal and the ILA said it would pore over the ship's manifest to determine the origin of any of the goods.

"You watch the events in Poland and you see union men getting shot, you have to show some support," said John Kopp, vice president of the ILA and the highest ranking official of the union in Maryland.

A spokeswoman for Gdynia American Lines in New York, general agent for the Polish flag vessel, said the firm was resigned to the union's plans.

"The rest of the cargo they will touch," she said. "But any Polish cargo will have to go back to Poland."

However, the local agent for the Kazimierz professed not to know of the ILA threat or the nature of the vessel's cargo.

"The vessel is working and will be working all cargos under normal circumstances as far as I know," said George Everett of Stockard Shipping and Terminal Corp.

He insisted he did not know "right off hand" whether the ship had any goods from Poland on board, or whether any cargo bound for Poland was due to be loaded onto it.

Kopp said the ILA would also be looking for Polish goods on ships from other nations, including the United States.

"I assume there are some goods bound for Poland sitting on the piers (in Baltimore) now," he said. "If there are, they'll stay there.

"When it comes to unloading ships, we'll unload any cargo that isn't Polish. If there's Polish cargo in the way, we'll unload it, put it on the pier, unload our cargo and then put the Polish cargo back on board," Kopp promised.

Court Of Appeals Denies Payments To Victims' Insurance Companies

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — The Maryland Court of Appeals ruled that criminals can be required to provide restitution to their victims, but they can not be forced to pay the victims' insurance companies.

In a 5-2 decision, the state's highest court Monday held that Maryland's restitution law was not intended to benefit insurance companies.

The ruling voided a 1980 decision by a Prince George's County circuit judge ordering Joseph W. Montgomery to pay $11,595 to the Maryland Casualty Insurance Company. Montgomery pleaded guilty to breaking into the Potomac Iron Works Co., a firm insured by Maryland Casualty.

Court records showed that Montgomery caused considerable damage to the building while trying to open a safe with an acetylene torch — damage that was paid for by the insurance company.

In its opinion, the Court of Appeals' stated: "We can only conclude that the term 'victim' in the statute... is limited exclusively to the owner of the property taken or damaged and does not include third-party payors, such as insurance companies."

Deaths May Be Linked To Drug Use

PASADENA, Md. (UPI) — Police said Tuesday they believed the deaths of an Anne Arundel County couple from multiple gunshot wounds may have been linked to drugs.

Investigators said 50 pounds of marijuana and an undetermined quantity of cocaine were found in the blood-spattered home of John W. Carback, 29, and his wife Donna, 31.

The bodies were found by Carback's father Monday and police believe the killings took place sometime between 11:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

Twelve semi-automatic guns were found in the split-level home, located in a wooded area of the county. The house had been decorated for Christmas, with presents under the tree untouched, police said.

"We now think this is a drug-related homicide. It might have been a grudge killing or a drug deal gone sour," said Capt. Curtis Nunn of the Anne Arundel County police.

He said the investigation had turned up no suspects and said 10 officers were working on the investigation.

Neighbors described the couple as friendly and quiet.

"They kept to themselves. I'm really surprised. Especially around here... nothing ever happens around here," said Curtis Simms, who has known the couple for the three years they lived in the neighborhood.

Police said the house had an elaborate security system and the killer or killers were apparently let into the house by the couple.

Police said the couple's speed boat was burned Halloween night, but weren't sure if the incident was connected to the killings. No one was arrested for the arson.

U. Of M. President Refuses To Sign Petition On Polish Crisis

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — University of Maryland President John S. Toll Tuesday refused to sign a petition denouncing the military crackdown in Poland, saying he thinks an internal solution must be found for the crisis.

"I don't want to make any judgments," Toll said concerning his reaction to a petition signed by 139 faculty members and administrators. "I want to keep the options as open as I can."

Toll said he has several connections with physicists in Poland who are involved in research similar to his own. He said the Polish people must work out their own solution to the crisis, adding that he does "not want to make the situation worse."

The petition reads: "Recent acts of represession and brutality by the Polish military government now confirmed by the former Polish ambassador to the United States cannot be ignored by individuals of conscience.

"Such acts of represession and brutality, openly condoned and encouraged by the Soviet Union, violate fundamental standards of human decency, as set forth in the charter of the United Nations and in the Helsinki accords."

The tale of a Christmas plant: the lovely poinsettia

Ready or not, there's no denying the arrival of the holiday season once the poinsettia plant begins to make its appearance.

Whether it appears on the cover of a greeting card, in the windows of a local department store, or in a sea of red, pink and white flowers at a roadside nursery, the poinsettia is a sure sign that Christmas is just around the corner.

Although the poinsettia plant is not indigenous to the United States, Americans have come to associate its brilliant red, delicate pink and snowy white bracts with the Christmas season.

This exotic flowering plant, used to decorate homes and churches in Mexico during the Christmas season, was introduced to the United States in 1828 by Dr. Joel Robert Poinsett, at that time the U.S. ambassador to Mexico. Upon returning from his term of service in Mexico, he brought the plants home to his native South Carolina.

Poinsett propogated these plants, which he called "Painted Leaves," in his own greenhouses, and sent cuttings to botanists throughout the country. The plant was later named "Poinsettia" in his honor.

Poinsettias grow wild in Mexico and other areas of Central America, where they are shrubs that can reach 30 feet in height. Their brilliant flowers are most profuse in mid-December.

The Spanish name for poinsettias, Flor de la Noche-buena (flower of the holy night), derives from a Mexican legend which holds that the plant originated in a miracle.

As the legend has it, a poor peasant child, ashamed at having nothing to take to a service honoring the nativity of the Christ child, sadly picked a few weeds along the road to give as an offering at the church.

As he knelt at the altar with his humble gift, the child's earnest prayer and tears of reverence transformed the weeds into the flowering plant that has become as much a part of Christmas in this country as the evergreen tree.

Today, poinsettias are still imported from Mexico, though commercial growers in Hawaii and other warm-weather states add to the supply. A careful plant-lover, however, can keep the plant from one season to the next and enjoy its brilliant flowering year after year.

The poinsettia will flourish outdoors during the summer months in most parts of the country, becoming denser with foliage as the weeks of sunshine pass. Prior to putting the plant outdoors, it should be pruned to avoid its becoming too "leggy."

In order to have the plant bloom at Christmastime, poinsettias require equal amounts of daylight and darkness from the first week of October to the second week in November.

'Tis the season for decking the halls, trimming the tree

O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum, How lovely are thy branches!

—Louis Schneider

There's hardly a Christmas tradition that's more universally popular than trimming the tree. Be it live, fresh-cut or artificial, a brightly decorated tree sets the stage for a spirited holiday celebration.

Tree-trimming is a custom that was exported from Germany to England in the late 18th century. But it was not popularized until the 1840s when Prince Albert introduced it into the royal family, thereby setting a precedent which has since been followed by royalty and the common man alike.

It is said that Martin Luther was so moved by the sight of stars twinkling in the sky above a grove of evergreen trees, that he sought to simulate their effect by setting candles on a small evergreen which he brought into his home.

In Victorian England, the Christmas tree was laden with sweets, fruits and nuts—as well as dancing candles. These edibles were not eaten until the dismantling of the tree on the Twelfth Night, adding an element of gaiety to the otherwise sobering activity of putting decorations away until the next year.

Eventually, ornaments made by glassblowers and wood carvers came to replace the edible decorations on Christmas trees. Today, tree-trimming has been elevated to a considerable art form, a medium for the trimmer's expression.

For some, a simple garland made by stringing popcorn and cranberries is an eye-pleasing decoration, while for others, elaborate links of red and green balsa wood appear more festive.

Red ribbons and candy canes may suit one trimmer's taste, while velvet-covered turtle doves and hand-painted wooden figures may suit another's.

The key to tree-trimming is to have fun at it, whether one opts for real candles or twinkling, multi-colored lights; for a strongly-scented Douglas fir or an artificial tree.

After all, the evergreen is but a symbol of the presence of life in the darkness of winter, the true meaning of the Christmas celebration.

"GATHERING EVERGREENS," an 1858 engraving by Winslow Homer, shows the old-time method of gathering Christmas greens for the home. While the men at left cut down trees—a practice still followed by economically minded Americans—the man and woman to the right weave wreaths of evergreen, possibly laurel, holly or mistletoe. Career Counselor To Visit Friendsville

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College has announced plans for Barbara Carl, administrative assistant, to be in Friendsville on Monday, Dec. 28, to meet with anyone interested in learning more about the free service available through the program. All interested persons should arrange to be at the brick building next to Yough Motors between the hours of 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. on that day.

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program has been established to serve the needs of homemakers undergoing a career transition due to loss of spouse as a result of separation, divorce, or death. Women who are underskilled or desirous of returning to work may also take advantage of the services of the program.

Gasoline Use Drops 3.8% In October

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reports that Marylanders used 3.8% less gasoline during October 1981 than during the same month of 1980, resulting in lower motor fuel tax collections for November 1981.

Gasoline consumption for October 1981 totaled 159,589,081 gallons, a 3.8% drop from the 165,861,816 gallons used during October 1980.

"Gasoline use during October 1980 was the highest of any month since August 1979," Goldstein said, noting that prices last fall were in a period of stability and gasoline use was increasing.

Motor fuel tax revenue for November 1981, based on gasoline sales during October, totaled $15,708,823, down 4% from the $16,362,819 collected during the same month a year ago.

For the first five months of Fiscal Year 1982, motor fuel tax revenues total $80,997,125, or 1.4% more than the $79,853,983 collected during the same period of Fiscal Year 1981.

Hawaiian Holiday

An American missionary to Hawaii, Reverend Hiram Bingham, translated "Joy to the World" for the Islanders in 1823. Almost 40 years later, in 1862, King Kamehameha IV proclaimed Christmas a Hawaiian holiday. By this time, many of the customs and the songs of Christmas were firmly established in Island households.

Since evergreens do not grow on the Islands, each year thousands of Christmas trees are transported by ship from the Pacific Northwest. The trees are often painted or sprayed white to simulate the snow-covered trees Hawaiian children have never seen.

Hawaiians say "Mele Kalikimaha!" for Merry Christmas, but this is only one form of holiday greetings as Hawaiian citizens are of many races and tongues. They live in harmony year-round, but it is most evident during the Nativity season.

Don't discard all of your holiday shopping bags. Keep at least two of them for Christmas morning—one to hold ribbons and bows you wish to keep, one for scraps that are to be thrown away.

Our photographer's wizardry has given us a dramatic reminder of the Star of Bethlehem.

We remember especially how the Star led the Wise Men to Christ. It stood over where the young child was!

Christ is not limited by time or space. He is everywhere. But at Christmas it seems there is a star over every steeple. This joyous season calls us to God's House.

Christmas glows from our hearts as we worship together the newborn King.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FINDING THE MESSIAH

December 27, 1981

Background Scripture:
Mark 8: 27-29; Luke 24: 25, 26; John 1: 35-42; 7: 25-31.

Devotional Reading:
Colossians 1: 3-14.

"We have found the Messiah!"

Thus said the Galilean fisherman to his brother, Simon Peter. According to John's Gospel (1: 35-42), Andrew had gone out into the wilderness to see this man they were calling John the Baptist. He had heard John say of Jesus, "Behold, the lamb of God" (1: 36). With a companion Andrew had followed Jesus for some distance before Jesus turned and asked, "What do you seek?" And Andrew and his companion replied, "Rabbi (which means Teacher), where are you staying?" What they were saying to him was that they wanted to be his followers.

Andrew Found Simon

Yet, although Andrew called Jesus "Rabbi," when he found his brother Simon Peter, he didn't call Jesus a Rabbi, but "the Christ." Andrew had already decided that Jesus was the long-awaited Messiah, an expectation that appeared repeatedly in the Old Testament.

So what was the Messiah?

As a Jew, Andrew and Simon Peter probably knew that the term "Messiah" meant different things to different people. In Hebrew the word literally meant "the anointed one." Such a person was someone specially set apart and designated by God for a particular mission or task. The anointing rite was a symbol of God's selection.

Andrew and Simon Peter probably also knew that the Messiah was often identified with a king, because it was the king who was in the position to bring help and deliverance to the nation. King David had been God's "anointed" and, according to the prophet Isaiah, so had been Cyrus, the King of Persia who freed the people of Israel from their Babylonian bondage. So the Messiah would be someone chosen and sent from God to bring deliverance to the people of Israel.

When Christ Appears

But what kind of "deliverance"? To be sure, many Jews looked for someone to deliver them from bondage to Rome. But others looked, not only for physical salvation, but for spiritual deliverance as well. Still others looked for a Messiah who would bring the apocalypse—a time when the earth would be cleared of its temporal kingdoms and in their place erected the kingdom of God.

We cannot know just what Andrew meant when he said "We have found the Messiah." Yet, it is not so important what Andrew meant as it is what we mean when we call Jesus the Christ. Our situations and needs in life are different and thus the meaning of the Christ for us will vary somewhat. Jesus is the Christ because God sent him to heal our brokenness and we are broken in mind, in body, in spirit and in relationships. We experience broken families, broken homes, broken communities and live in a broken world. The Christ is the one anointed by God to heal our brokenness wherever he finds it.

It matters little that Andrew and Simon Peter discovered in Jesus their Christ, unless we too can say with them: "I have found the Messiah!"

Assessment Answers & Tax Talk

by James Burley

THE HOMESTEAD TAX CREDIT

The mailing of the current reassessment notices has raised questions on the part of those property owners receiving them. One aspect that generates as many inquiries as any is the 15% Homestead Tax Credit.

One reader writes, typically: ". . . I have just received my new assessment on my home where I live full-time. I have no other residence. What I want explained is the method crediting the 15% maximum assessment yearly increase in the new assessment . . ."

The simple way to figure the Homestead Tax Credit, which will work for the vast majority of property owners, is to multiply the figure in Block #1 on the new assessment notice by 115%. Then compare the result with the figure in Block #11. The taxable assessment will be the lesser of these two values, and the credit will apply to the difference. For example, if the current assessment, the figure in Block #1, is $27,000, then multiplying this amount by 115% increases the value to $31,050. If the figure in Block #11 is any amount greater than this, then the credit would apply to the excess.

There are possible exceptions due primarily to the method of annually compounding the 15% in computing the taxable assessment. Thus, for precision, the taxpayer would have to refer to his 1976 adjusted assessment and work forward from that point to the present. But for all practical purposes, the method described here will suffice.

In this particular inquiry, the property owner has stated that this is his home where he lives full-time and that he has no other residence. The Homestead Tax Credit applies only to owner-occupied dwellings. It is granted automatically to any qualified homeowner on his principal residence, but the credit is not allowed if the property was sold, rezoned upward, extensively improved, or its use was substantially changed during the previous calendar year; or if the assessment for the previous taxable year was clearly erroneous.

The credit is computed by local governments at the time they issue the property tax bill.

The Homestead Tax Credit Provision has been in effect since 1977. It covers homeowners in each county, including Baltimore City, and the incorporated municipalities. However, unless extended, it expires after the forthcoming property tax year.

Straight Talk About Aging

By Matthew Tayback
State Director On Aging

YOUR HEALTH STYLE

Often we allow ourselves to get so concerned with a particular ache, pain or chronic physical problem that we lose sight of the "big picture" — that is, of the state of our health in general.

Although regular physical examinations by a physician are vitally important in helping us keep a focus on our over-all health picture, so are periodic self-evaluations.

How, though, can we make such an evalution?

Help is at hand in the form of a little brochure entitled "Health Style: a Self Test," published by and available free from the Public Health Service, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

The Health Style test is a basic procedure, with questions grouped into six categories: cigarette smoking, alcohol and drugs, eating habits, exercise and fitness, stress control and safety.

For example, the "almost always/sometimes/almost never" options in the Eating Habits section are required for such questions as: I eat a variety of foods each day, such as fruits and vegetables, whole grain breads and cereals, lean meats, dairy products; I limit the amount of fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol I eat; I limit the amount of salt I eat; I avoid eating too much sugar.

Basic? Yes, surely. Each question in each category is basic, which is precisely the point, for when the questions are considered in toto, they can cause the reflective testtaker to examine his over-all health picture and to "score" himself or herself accordingly.

For those who find themselves falling in the red or "danger" ranges, the brochure gives some advice. I'd like to pass on some of it.

In the smoking area, for instance, the Public Health Service minces no words. "Avoid cigarettes," it says matter-of-factly. With particular relevance for older adults, it adds, equally as matter-of-factly, "Persons who stop smoking reduce their risk of getting heart disease and cancer."

The PHS further advises individuals to follow sensible drinking habits — referring, of course, to the drinking of alcoholic beverages.

Use care in taking drugs, the Service also advises; exercise regularly; and eat sensibly. In that last area, the PHS again has some words which have special import for the elderly: "Overweight individuals are at greater risk for diabetes, gall bladder disease and high blood pressure. So it makes good sense to maintain proper weight . . . If you must snack, try nibbling on fresh fruits and vegetables. You'll feel better — and look better, too."

Stress, deriving possibly from losing a loved one or from living in isolation and having to make decisions alone, can be particularly troublesome for the elderly. Here the PHS advises: "Stress is a normal part of living . . . Properly handled, it need not be a problem. But unhealthy responses to stress . . . can cause a variety of physical and mental problems. Talking over a problem with someone you trust can often help you find a satisfactory solution. Learn to distinguish between things that are 'worth fighting about' and things that are less important."

In the area of safety, "safety first" or prevention pretty well sums up the PHS's recommendations.

But think about all this for yourself. Taking the Health Style test might be a good way to start.

New Uniforms Make It Easier For You To Recognize PE Meter Readers

As a protective measure for all Potomac Edison customers, meter readers have been issued new uniforms to assure you of their identification while on your property to read your electric meter.

In case you have any doubt concerning a meter reader's identity, please ask the individual for his or her Potomac Edison ID card. In addition to the uniform, all meter readers carry photo identification cards or badges. At any time you are not satisfied with the person's identification, please call your local PE office for verification. We're always glad to be of assistance.

Ag Engineer Offers Pointers On Fireplace And Wood Stove Safety

If you control three factors—wood, air and temperature—a fireplace or wood stove can operate safely, but without attention they can elevate the risk of disaster.

Depending on the condition and type of wood used and how it burns, creosote, a gummy substance which condenses from unburned gasses in wood, may be deposited on stovepipe surfaces and inside the fireplace and chimney flue. Creosote buildup can be reduced with good burning techniques and careful selection of wood.

John Gird, Extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland, says to use dry or seasoned wood that has been cured from eight to 12 months and to buy from a reputable dealer because good wood is hard to recognize. Other wood may be green and very moist.

Green wood may give off a lot of smoke and burn only partially because of its high moisture content and may not provide as much heat as desired. A high smoke density with a low flue temperature causes creosote to condense.

Creosote is not a major concern with fireplaces because they consume huge amounts of air, but creosote often becomes a problem with stove systems when they are overloaded with too much wood, says Gird. Even when two or three logs are added to a fire in a stove, the temperature may not get hot enough to burn gasses that cause creosote deposits. If the air inlets are not opened enough, the wood will just smolder and not burn efficiently.

The stove should be refueled frequently with small amounts of wood, says Gird. The temperature can be regulated by burning less wood and controlling the amount of air entering the system.

"When you reload, open the air vents for 20-25 minutes—this is usually enough time to let the gasses burn away," Gird says.

To know whether or not the wood is burning correctly, go outside and check how much smoke is coming out the chimney; if there is a lot, open the vents more.

A homeowner who is going to have a hot fire to eliminate creosote should have a thermometer to monitor the temperature, says Gird. Most wood stove dealers have literature on safe use and sell such thermometers.

Keep track of the fire temperature by buying a high temperature thermometer which attaches to the stovepipe. Smoke condenses to creosote at temperature below 250°-300°F. so try to keep the fire hotter than that.

A hot flue can melt creosote and reduce its danger of igniting and causing a chimney fire, but the temperature must be carefully controlled. Too much heat itself may crack fire brick and cause the lining of a chimney to catch on fire.

According to Gird, an expensive but convenient way to obtain heat in the fireplace is to burn artificial chemical logs. "They are very popular because very little residue or ash is left behind," says Gird, many people find them convenient for occasional fires on special holidays.

Using artificial logs can produce a quick, easy fire, but make sure you follow manufacturer's directions and labels.

Because some contain special kinds of paraffin waxes, the logs can be difficult to extinguish. They should not be poked because burning wax may drip off. The main complaint with artificial logs is that the wax sticks to the poker and is brought back, flaming, into the living room, says Gird.

Gird recommends that you not burn more than two or three of these logs at a time because of the high amount of heat they produce. Usually, directions say to burn only one at a time.

They are designed to burn separately and should not be added to an existing fire because too much heat will be created. "When the heat gets so intense, the fireplace becomes an incinerator and may cause fire brick to crack," warns Gird.

Large amounts of newspaper and wrapping paper thrown into a fire may also create intense heat that can damage a fireplace system and send burning embers up the flue and outside. Paper also adds quickly to the amount of deposit on the flue when pieces of ash stick to the walls.

To be kept safe, fireplaces that are used infrequently may be cleaned only once a year. The whole system should be cleaned professionally.

"Some people who try to clean a fireplace system themselves are not prepared or don't know what they're getting into," says Gird. "You don't just get under there and start scraping away."

The job takes preparation and should be done using the proper tools. A professional chimney sweep will be equipped with high intensity lights to inspect the flue and use an industrial vacuum for cleaning. "You can't just use a regular household vacuum cleaner because the particles will go right through the bag and clog up the motor," says Gird.

Dressed in special clothes to do the job, a professional will lay down tile cloth around the fireplace, use special wire brushes to clean the firebox, remove the damper and work upward into the flue. After the work inside the house is finished, he will go outside onto the roof and work from the top down.

The cost of having a fireplace system cleaned depends on the size of the fire box, the height of the chimney and how accessible the chimney is. Prices range from $25-$40 per flue — but remember, a chimney may have two flues in it serving two fireplaces.

The best time to have a system cleaned is in the spring — the off season for chimney sweeps. Before you call, inspect the chimney for any types of blockage — squirrel's nests, acorns, leaves or tree limbs.

A fireplace or wood stove system should be cleaned whenever more than a quarter inch of deposits accumulate — whether that happens once a week, month or year.

If there is no rain cap on the chimney, moisture can leak down into the flue and cause odor problems. Burning orange or apple peels to get rid of odors is just a myth, says Gird. "The only way to remove odors is to remove the source."

Cleaning a fireplace system is not an easy thing for just anyone to do. The average homeowner does not think about several things, like getting on top of the roof, says Gird. "Many broken bones result from people falling off roofs," he adds. "Before you go up, make sure your insurance is up to date.

"A roof can be a very tricky place to be; keeping stabilized can be difficult," he says. "For someone who is unaware and unprepared, to actually climb on a roof is quite a shock."

Whether you are having an occasional holiday fire or using flame to heat the holiday meal, be careful — read manuals and contact dealers if you have questions, and call chimney sweeps to keep the system safe.

LET US PRAY

In the true spirit of the Christmas season, let us pray that joy, beauty, hope and, above all, abiding faith be with us, one and all. May the blessings of peace surround us—the peace to build and grow, to live in harmony and sympathy with our fellow man. Let us pray that strength and abundant courage be given to all whose mission is to work for a world of reason and understanding—so that the good that lies in every man's heart may day to day be magnified.

It's Christmas! A triumphant time to celebrate all life's blessings and all our special joys. And to you, dear friends, many thanks and good wishes!

PET POINTERS

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services
Norden Laboratories

This is the season when we wear sweaters and wool slacks, and replace screens with storm windows. It's also a good time to see that your dog is prepared to meet the winter weather.

Although your dog may have been quite content to sleep under the stars all summer, it needs a wintertime shelter if it's to live outdoors. The shelter can be a simple box that your build at home, or you can buy a more elegant model, complete with nameplate and mock chimney, from a local lumberyard. The important thing to remember is that the dog's house should be snug and waterproof, to give protection against the cold winds and rain.

The size of the shelter is important. It should be just big enough for the pet to turn around inside. A dog uses its body heat to warm the doghouse in winter, and too much empty space creates a heat loss. Place the entrance to the house away from the prevailing winds or hang a piece of material in the doorway to cut the draft.

If you already have a shelter, check to see that your dog still fits comfortably inside. Clean out the dust and debris from the past season, and reline it with clean newspapers, straw or old rags. These materials will help hold the heat and insulates the dog from the damp ground.

Much of a dog's warmth comes from the quality of its coat. Thick, clean fur has the best insulating quality. You can help your pet keep warm by grooming him regularly so that body oils and dirt do not mat the hairs down. If your dog is very dirty, try to wash him once before the cold weather really sets in. Choose a warm fall day or wash him indoors. Make sure that the coat is completely dry before the chill of evening.

If it's too cold for a real bath, you can use a dry dog shampoo or massage ordinary cornstarch into the coat to absorb most of the oil and dirt. The powder is then brushed out, removing most of the dirt with it.

Some pet owners feel their dogs need more food in the wintertime. For most dogs this is not the case. The exceptions are dogs that live in the northern states, and those dogs that are used for wintertime retrieving. You can ask your veterinarian for more details about a good cold weather diet for your particular type of dog.

Cold and related stresses can make your dog more vulnerable to certain canine infections, especially respiratory diseases. It's important for all dogs, whether they live indoors or outside, to be vaccinated against the major canine diseases. Besides being protected themselves, vaccinated dogs reduce the pool of susceptible animals that can spread canine infections.

If your dog lives indoors all year, your "weatherizing" program is somewhat different. Your pet will be exposed to additional heat, not cold. Some dogs have no reaction to the dry air of central heating, others develop scaly, itchy skin because of the lower humidity and higher temperatures. Again, check your veterinarian for suggestions. He or she can probably recommend a food supplement to put additional oils in your pet's coat.

ENGLISH CHRISTMAS

Christmas in England boasts all the joys and traditions of a Christmas in America—but the English celebration continues through the next day. Boxing Day, the day after Christmas, is observed on an almost equal scale. Traditionally, on Boxing Day, the village priest opened the poor box and distributed its contents to the needy families in the parish. Today, bosses present gifts to their employees and most everyone in some way recognizes newsboys and others who provide regular services throughout the year.

ORATORIO

Johann Sebastian Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" was written to be six separate cantatas to be performed individually at six services between Christmas and Epiphany. Most of the texts were taken from Matthew and Luke. Today, of course, the "Christmas Oratorio" is performed as a single work at Christmastime.

IN BRAZIL

Christmas season in Brazil opens on Christmas Eve, or Vespera de Natal, and continues through January 6, the Feast of the Nativity. Christmas day is not the occasion for merrymaking that is custom in other countries, but nevertheless ranks high among the feast days symbolizing Christmas in Brazil.

Attorney General's Docket

by Stephen H. Sachs
Attorney General of Maryland

The ingenuity of some marketplace manipulators is astonishing. The variety of schemes conconcted to bamboozle the consumer seems infinite.

Many would-be charlatans prefer some of the time-tested methods, however. There are variations on the themes of these old stand-bys, but deep down they are just the same scams that have plaqued consumers for years. It helps to know the basics behind each of them — and then be on your guard.

Perhaps one of the oldest, but most effective bits of retail sleight-of-hand is known as bait-and-switch. It's easy to describe but sometimes hard to spot, since a skillful salespersons can pull it off very smoothly. Let's assume you see a newspaper ad or sign in a store window promoting a piece of merchandise you want, at a price you can afford. You go into the store and are told either that the advertised item is sold out or shoddy. Instead, the salesperson tries to interest you in a more expensive version of the same product, assuring you all the while that it actually is a better bargain than the advertised item because it's of much better quality. The alarm bell in your head should begin to ring when the salesperson starts pooh-poohing the quality of the item the store has spent money to advertise. That's the first hint of a bait-and-switch spiel, and it then would be wise to take your business elsewhere.

Of course, advertising itself can be deceptive. Remember what Humpty Dumpty told Alice during her visit to Wonderland: "Words mean what I choose them to mean." That, unfortunately, is the technique adopted by some advertisers. They use what one advertising critic called "weasel words," which suggest some deal is too good to pass up or a product can do great things. When you look closely at the ad, you realize the words don't mean anything at all. For example what does it really mean when an ad claims a product "acts" against germs of "works" to stop infection or "helps" you look young?

Similarly, the prices listed in some ads are completely deceptive. One ad might claim that a product was "made to sell" for a certain amount, but it doesn't say it ever was sold at that higher price; another ad might say an item is being offered at "dealers cost," which could mean what it acutally cost the dealer, plus advertising cost, plus the overhead, plus the salesperson's commission. Merchandise offered at a "greatly reduced price," could actually have been marked up originally, only to be "reduced" to make it look like a bargain.

Another resident of Alice's Wonderland was the Dodo, who supervised a circular foot race in which everybody won and all got prizes. It just doesn't work that way in the real world. Advertisements that promise you a great prize just for entering a contest or mass-mailed letters that claim you are "one of a selected few" to be offered the chance to examine a product just for the cost of postage and handling, are venerable ways of hoodwinking the public.

Most merchants are fair and honest, but you've got to watch out for those that aren't. As the saying goes, there is no free lunch, and there are few bargains.

Epidemic Eye Disease Isolated In Maryland Lab

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene recently alerted the medical community and the public, that Adenovirus 8, causing epidemic kerato-conjunctivitis (EKC) or "pink eye," has been isolated in the Maryland State Laboratory. Physicians in the metropolitan Baltimore area have reported an increase in the number of EKC cases.

Dr. Feng-Ying C. Lin, medical epidemiologist with the Division of Communicable Diseases and Epidemiology, said that EKC is a very contagious viral disease of the eye which has a sudden onset, with pain, sensitivity to light, inflammation of cornea and conjunctival membranes, swelling of the eyelids, and blurred vision that can last for two to three weeks. There is no specific treatment during the acute phase.

Dr. Lin said that the illness possesses epidemic potential in medical and some industrial settings, nursing homes, schools, plant dispensaries, and first-aid stations. The illness is transmitted by direct contact with the eye secretions of an infected person or indirectly through contaminated items.

The Division of Communicable Diseases and Epidemiology recommends that patients should use separate towels and linens during the acute stage of the disease. Infected persons should not come in close contact with others. Frequent and careful handwashing will minimize the risk of infection.

Tinsel Custom Came From Legend

The origin of Christmas customs and observances is interesting, and the use of tinsel on trees is no exception.

According to an ancient story, a kind old lady with a large family still found time each holiday to prepare a beautiful Christmas tree, using whatever decorations she could find or afford.

During the night spiders visited her tree and crawled from branch to branch, leaving their webs behind them.

Because the lady was good and kind, the legend continues, the Christ-child blessed the tree and transformed the spider webs into shining silver.

CRT Course To Begin Next Month In Cumberland

The Regional Office of the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems has announced that a Cardiac Rescue Technician (CRT) course will be offered in Allegany County starting the last week of January 1982. An informational meeting has been set for Wednesday, January 6, 1982 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will take place at the Memorial Hospital's Medical Building auditorium, Cumberland, on the ground floor. This meeting will enable prospective and eligible persons to find out more about the CRT program, training requirements and to take a screening pre-test.

Applications for the course can be handed in at the meeting. Deadline will be January 10, 1982.

This course is made possible through the combined efforts of MIEMSS, the Regional Hospitals in both Allegany and Garrett counties and EMS Council's Medical Advisory Committee.

Individuals needing additional applications or further information should contact the Advanced Life Support Coordinator in Memorial Hospital at 777-4119.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

This Christmas, for the 77th year, letters and packages will bear Christmas seals as well as stamps, the seasonal reminder of the continuing fight against tuberculosis.

The idea was conceived in 1903 by a Danish postal clerk, Einar Holboell, who suggested it to his friends. Someone presented the idea to King Christian, who set the plan in motion by authorizing the image of Queen Louise as the illustration for the first seals issued in 1904.

Some three years later, a Danish-born American, Jacob Riis presented the idea to the American public in a magazine article and an American Red Cross worker, Miss Emily Bissell, started the first American sales that year.

TEENAGE DRIVING

by David W. Hornbeck
State Superintendent of Schools
Maryland State Department of Education

When I was 14 years old and growing up in East Texas, I got my driver's license. Many of us have a tendency to think that what we did in earlier days is still good to do. But I have increasing doubts as to the wisdom of driving even at age sixteen.

Part of my concern was illustrated in a report that was released some weeks ago by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

I have not been able to get a copy of the full report but the conclusions from newspaper accounts are that nearly half of all deaths of Americans each year aged 16 to 19 are caused by motor vehicle accidents. One-half of those deaths occur after sundown. And drinking is a major cause, especially among males.

Those are devastating figures. If anything other than the automobile was claiming the lives of tens of thousands of our youth and maiming hundreds of thousands more, outrage would result. Why not here?

It strikes me there are at least two basic answers. One is that the automobile has become a symbol of young people's earlier and earlier independence. There is much we do in our society which encourages growing up fast. The freedom the car provides contributes significantly to that process. As such, young people themselves increasingly think of that moment when they may legally drive as one of if not the most important event in growing up. That, in turn, has put tremendous pressure on parents who might otherwise question the wisdom of teenage driving. That, of course, produces more drivers and the vicious cycle continues.

The other answer that seems evident rests with the parents. If we can simply give our children the keys to the car or buy them one or even allow them to buy one, we do not have to arrange our schedule to provide their transportation. I have heard more than one parent say they sure will be glad when their children can get there on their own without interfering with the parents' life.

Have I set up straw men in the way I have framed those answers? I have tried not to. And I have not even mentioned a variety of other related potential advantages of a later rather than earlier driving age. Would there not be a significant reduction in the gasoline consumed? Wouldn't parents and teenagers be together more, at home and in the car? How would the lack of a car impact on the teenage consumption of alcohol and the use of drugs? Would it allow parents to answer yes more often to the oft-repeated television question, "Do you know where your children are?" Could it have an impact on the nearly epidemic proportions of teenage pregnancy?

Of course, there are some serious questions on the other side. The most prominent in my mind is the case of the working teenager—especially those who must work in contrast to those for whom the job provides designer jeans. I wonder, however, whether those are insoluble problems or just ones with which one must wrestle hard to solve.

These are troubling questions. But for parents and young people alike they need to be examined.

Clara Shockley Named Runner-up Ms. Mountaineer

Clara Shockley, 22, of Bayard, was recently named first runner-up Ms. Mountaineer of West Virginia University. The competition was held as a part of the Mountaineer Week activities at the University. The winner of the event, named during the half-time activities of the W.V.U./Temple football game on November 7, was selected from university seniors nominated by campus organizations. The judging was based on academic achievement, extracurricular contributions to student life, community involvement and mountaineer spirit.

Miss Shockley was elected to the WVU Board of Directors for the 1978-79 term. She served on the President's Committee for Student Records in 1979 and has been on the Dean's List and the President's List for academics. She is registered in The National Dean's List publication for 1980-81. A broadcast journalism major, Miss Shockley received the Lillian Dalessio Journalism Scholarship in 1981 and is a member of the Radio Television News Directors Association.

Shockley works with Student Volunteer Program and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, both campus service organizations. She is also a volunteer for the University's Reading for the blind program. Shockley founded the WVU Squash club in 1979 and has served as its president. She was employed in her sophomore and junior years as a resident assistant at Towers Residence Hall. At present she is the resident director of Boreman Hall.

A graduate of Southern High School, she attended King Edward VI College in Numeaton, Warwickshire, England from 1977-1978 with Rotary International as an exchange student.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION
STATE OF MARYLAND

ORDER NO. 65575

IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF THE POTOMAC EDISON COMPANY FOR REVISIONS IN ITS ELECTRIC RATES.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF MARYLAND

CASE NO. 7604

On November 16, 1981, The Potomac Edison Company filed an application, together with revised rate schedules, requesting authority to increase its rates for electric service to produce additional gross annual revenues of $35,610,000, an increase of approximately 17 percent, to become effective with service rendered on or after December 16, 1981.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 70 of The Public Service Commission Law, the Commission after consideration, determines and concludes upon its own motion that the aforesaid revised rate schedules should be suspended in order to provide opportunity for the Commission to determine the justice and reasonableness thereof.

IT IS, THEREFORE, this 15th day of December, in the year Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-one, by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, ORDERED: (1) That the revised rate schedules filed with the Commission on November 16, 1981, by The Potomac Edison Company are hereby, suspended for a period of not more than 150 days from December 16, 1981.

(2) That proceedings as to the justice and reasonableness of the revised rate schedules hereinbefore suspended are hereby instituted by the Commission.

(3) That persons who can demonstrate sufficient interest and desire to produce direct evidence, may request leave to intervene in this proceeding, through their own counsel, by filing with the Executive Secretary of the Public Service Commisssion, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202, nine copies of a Petition Requesting Leave to Intervene by no later than the close of business on Wednesday, December 30, 1981.

(4) That a prehearing conference is hereby set on Thursday, December 31, 1981, at 10:00 a.m., in the offices of the Commission, American Building, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland, at which time petitions seeking intervention and other preliminary matters will be considered.

(5) That additional hearing sessions, in the service area of the Company providing opportunity for the general public to present comments to the Commission on the application and revised rate schedules of The Potomac Edison Company, will be scheduled and public notice will be given prior to such additional hearing sessions.

(6) That persons desiring to submit written comments regarding this proposal may forward such comments to the Public Service Commission, American Building, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202.

PROVIDED, The Potomac Edison Company shall cause a copy of this Order to be published in a newspaper in general circulation in each County in the State of Maryland served by the Company at least one time in each newspaper during the week beginning Monday, December 21, 1981. Certificates of publication shall be filed with the Commission thereafter as promptly as possible.

Five County Women Educators Are Initiated Into Delta Kappa Gamma

Five Garrett County women educators were recently initiated into the Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International Society.

The initiates are Mary Ann Green, Wilda Massi, Judy Pula, Vicki Novak and Sara Ramsay.

Mary Ann Green, gifted and talented resource teacher for elementary schools, has been in education for six years. Previous to teaching she worked as a teacher's aide. She received a B.S. degree in elementary education from Frostburg State College and is currently enrolled in FSC's master's program. She is a member of the Garrett County Arts Council and active in the Southern Band Boosters. She lives in Mt. Lake Park with her husband, Ed, and two children, Mike and Kelly.

Wilda Massi, assistant principal at Southern Middle School, has been in education for 19 years. She taught German for five years in Brandenburg, Kentucky; English at Southern High School for eight years, and then became guidance counselor at Southern Middle School before her appointment as assistant principal four years ago. Mrs. Massi holds a B.A. degree in English and German from Berea College in Kentucky, teacher's certificate from Western Kentucky State college, and a master's degree in guidance and counseling with certification in administration and supervision. She and her husband, Tom, live in Mt. Lake Park. They have one daughter, Maria.

FIVE LOCAL EDUCATORS were recently initiated into the Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a women's national honor society. Pictured left to right are Judy Pula, reading specialist; Vicki Novak, special education teacher at Loch Lynn Elementary School; Wilda Massi, assistant principal at Southern Middle School; Mary Ann Green, gifted and talented resource teacher for county elementary schools; and Sara Ramsey, language arts and reading teacher at Southern Middle School.

Vicki Novak, special education teacher at Loch Lynn Elementary School, has been teaching six years in Garrett County. Previously, she was a service representative for the C&P Telephone Company. She also worked as a special education aide. She received a B.S. degree in early childhood education from Frostburg State College with State certification in special education. She has attended graduate school at Frostburg State College, Loyola and West Virginia University. Mrs. Novak is married to Matthew Novak and they reside in Oakland. They have two children, Jeff and Stacey.

Judy Pula, reading specialist for the Northern Special Education Assessment Team, has worked for the Garrett County Board of Education for seven years. She was a resource room teacher at Grantsville Elementary School prior to her appointment as reading specialist. She was director of the James H. Ransom Memorial Camp for Exceptional Children in Baltimore and taught in the gifted and talented program at Frostburg in its Saturday Satellite Program. Mrs. Pula received a B.A. degree from Frostburg State College in the area of early childhood education and a M.Ed. degree in reading, also from Frostburg. She and her husband, Michael, live in Grantsville.

Sara Ramsey, a language arts and reading teacher at Southern Middle School, has been teaching for seven years in Garrett County. She has taught English at Southern High School, Adult Basic Education at the Garrett Community College, and from 1967-70 was kindergarten teacher, Peace Corps Service in Bolivia, South America. She has a B.A. degree from Maryville College in Tennessee and has done graduate work at Utah State University, Frostburg, and West Virginia University. Mrs. Ramsey resides in McHenry with her husband, David, and two children, Megan and Molly.

Membership into the Society is by invitation only. The Alpha Alpha Chapter was founded in May 1974 by division of Eta Chapter in Allegany County.

Local Students Earn Degrees At Frostburg State

Nine persons from Garrett County were among the 293 students receiving degrees during commencement ceremonies of Frostburg State College Thursday evening. Dr. Donald Alexander, president of Allegany Community College, Cumberland, delivered the address.

Local persons receiving degrees included: Susan Gale Holliday and Ruth Joanne Sheffield, Grantsville, bachelor of science; Bonnie Jean Swyter, McHenry, bachelor of science; Michael Mark Donnelly and Kenneth Ray Tressler, Mt. Lake Park, bachelor of science; Linda Carol Johnson and James Patrick Neville, Oakland, bachelor of science; Pamela Jean Spurrier, Oakland, master of education; and Judith L. Daymont, Sky Valley, master of science in management.

Local Women Inducted Into Honor Society

Two Garrett County women were among the Frostburg State College students recently inducted as charter members of the FSC chapter of Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society.

The society recognizes students who achieved 3.5 to 4.0 grade point average during their first semester of college work.

The local students inducted were Diane Marie Gnegy and Christina L. Teets.

Miss Gnegy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gnegy of Oakland. She is a 1978 graduate of Southern High School and a senior at Frostburg State, majoring in accounting. In addition to her membership in Phi Eta Sigma, she is also a member of Kappa Mu Epsilon Math Honor Society and National Business Honor Society.

Miss Teets is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Lawrence Teets, Rt. 1, Swanton. She is a 1980 graduate of Southern High School and a sophomore majoring in French. Besides being a member of Phi Eta Sigma, she is also a representative on the Student Government Association, a member of the Choir and French Club and was a participant in a recent French play.

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH

By Ted Reeder, D.D.S.

Your dentist may place a filling in your tooth and say that it is temporary. You may ask, "Why is it placed, and what are the results?"

A temporary filling is used when the decay has progressed near enough to the pulp or nerve, so that if all the decay were removed, a nerve exposure would result.

Most of the decayed tooth structure is removed and a medicated cement is placed into the cavity.

This medication stimulates the growth of dentin, which is between the enamel and the pulp, and walls of the exposed area.

When sufficient time has elapsed, your dentist may take an X-ray, and if the healing is advanced enough, the remaining decayed area is removed and a permanent filling is placed.

This procedure is used by your dentist in trying to avoid having a root canal treatment done, or possible loss of the tooth.

The best treatment, of course, is to have your decayed tooth treated before it reaches a stage that requires a temporary treatment.

Students Praise Cafeteria Worker

Not all students in Garrett County are disgruntled with the food served in their schools as fifth and sixth graders at Yoder School in Grantsville recently showed through a letter they sent to Stella Edwards, Grantsville School cafeteria manager.

Matthew Stieringer, principal of Grantsville School which supplies lunches to Yoder School students, sent a copy of the letter, written by Donna Yoder for her classmates, to The Republican with these words, "It is refreshing to hear some positive comments on the school food program."

In her letter to Ms. Edwards, Donna Yoder wrote:

"Our room would like to tell you of some of the kinds of foods we like. We like the cheezy pizza. We like the ice cream cups with chocolate and vanilla ice cream and we like the fudgsicles, the crisp french fries and the crisp celery and peanut butter sticks. We all like the chocolate and peanut cookies, and carrots, the Sloppy Joes and hoagies, and the homemade rolls and jelly.

"We all really enjoy the food and want to thank you.

"Thank You!"

Even the teacher had a few words of appreciation for the cafeteria manager: "True, many more children are packing regularly, but everyone knows this is because of the state of the economy and not because of your cooking."

There was one food item not mentioned in the notes to Ms. Edwards. No one thanked her for crisp tater tots.

Civics Seminar

A civics seminar was held Monday in the cafeteria for all ninth grade students. Trooper Richard Alderton, a representative from Maryland State Police, discussed drug awareness and police procedures. Following the general assembly, Trooper Alderton continued his presentation in each civics class where he answered student questions.

FFA Christmas Party

On Friday night, December 18, the Future Farmers of America had a Christmas party. Members, as well as family and friends, attended. Punch, provided by the FFA Club, and favorite Christmas goodies brought in by the members made up the refreshments.

Entertainment included the opening of the gym for athletic activities and dancing.

God Squad Activities

As an activity of the God Squad Club, members have decided to buy food and clothing to help a needy family as a project with the House of Hope in Oakland. The members will buy fresh and canned foods, wearing apparel, such as coats and shoes, and present it to the family.

Ping Pong/ Volleyball Championships

Ping Pong Championships, held Monday, December 14, ended with the following results: Singles champion, Brad Yoder; second place, Mike Robinson; and third place, Phil Margroff. Doubles champions were Brad Yoder and Lowell Yoder, Mike Robinson and Jeff Graham, and Keith Harman and Phil Margroff.

The volleyball championship team was comprised of Tim Sisler, Darren Kamp, Tom Fike, Tammy Swauger, John Savage, Carol Wilt, Lisa Barnard, Pam Broom, Dwylin Miller, Linda Kinzey and Ed Yoder.

Varsity Basketball Team

The boys' varsity basketball team visited the Middle School Friday, December 18. The team demonstrated proper playing techniques such as dribbling and shooting forms to the physical education classes.

The art form of the documentary

By Ruth Thompson

Gene Searchinger, television producer, director, writer and editor, explained that there are two kinds of editing.

The first kind is for feature films. It's fiction. You're telling a story and you have latitude.

The second kind, his own current enthusiasm, is the documentary form. "This is journalism, you're committed to the truth." As an ex-journalist he insists that the moving-picture camera tell more truth than just words — though he by no means has ruled "words" out of his upcoming PBS special, "Paradox on 72nd Street." (Tuesday, Jan. 5, in most cities, but check local listings).

Searchinger describes it as three years of people-watching compressed into one-hour. Oh, he did other projects in between, but he kept his camera at the ready for prowling the microcosm that is the block he sees from his Manhattan window.

As a cameraman, he gave loving attention to whatever caught his interest. "But for something like this, editing is the name of the game so I had to change hats and keep cutting."

He smiles as he gives his formula: "First you make the best 15-hour film you can. Then you cut it to the best five-hour film you can, then the best two-hour film." And then, for the final one-hour version? "You hurt."

Bill Moyers struck some similar notes in describing what's going into his new 17-part "Creativity" series due to premiere on PBS Jan. 8.

Moyers says his series is not heavy scholarship.

"It is not 'The Ascent of Man,' with a Bronowski, or a 'Civilization' with a Kenneth Clark. This is journalism, because I am a journalist."

Some of the "just creative" people who will be guests on Moyers' show are poet Maya Angelou, movie director John Houston and producer Norman Lear.

Moyers lamented, though, that members of his own "creative and talented team" seldom get their names in columns. Among those he mentioned was editor Merle Werth, who "worked until midnight last night."

"In public," Moyers says, "my face is their face."

Bill Moyers

Eileen Brennan has won praise for many roles

You would think that Eileen Brennan, a recent Emmy-award winner, an Oscar nominee, the recipient of several prestigious theater awards, and accomplished actress, would be constantly swamped with scripts and offers. Not so.

"I always wanted to be an actress," she says. "Always. That was my life path, my destiny. I'm a great believer in fate and being in the right place at the right time, but there aren't that many good roles to chose from, take my word for it."

Miss Brennan stars in "Incident at Crestridge," in which she plays a woman who is elected sheriff in a crusade against corruption in a small Western city, to air Tuesday, Dec. 29 on CBS.

She has won plaudits for both comedic and dramatic roles — though she is best known these days for her characterization of Capt. Lewis in "Private Benjamin" — but she doesn't pay much attention to whether a newly offered project is a comedy or a drama.

"I just never think about it consciously," she says. "Good material is good material, regardless. In film and television parts, the character is subordinate to the script and the director, because the director is so much in control. For a play, the character means more because the actor has more control.

"One of the reasons I took this part is that, rather than working a day here, a day there, I've been working every day. I want to do more of these television movies. I want to start a theater of of my own where I live, on an island in British Columbia; a summer theater, maybe a cinema during the winter, a cafe. A family business.

"It is important to develop one's own sensibilities, because eventually, what you put up out there in front of the people is what you are. Unless, of course, you re playing a comic character like Capt. Lewis. But for the most part, you are the summation of your whole existence.

"I think the artist — any artist, not just an actor — has a real obligation to cultivate the most spiritual way of looking at the world and his fellow creatures."

Eileen Brennan

Donny's New Year's

Host Donny Osmond will lead the celebration this New Year's Eve on "CBS' Happy New Year, America," to be broadcast live, New Year's Eve, Thursday, Dec. 31 on CBS.

For the third year, the special will pick up holiday celebrations across the nation. Osmond hosts the special from New York's Waldorf-Astoria hotel. By satellite, viewers drop in at the merrymaking at the Pavilion of the Las Vegas Hilton, where the Pointer Sisters will perform, as well as Les Brown and his Band of Renown. And through a taped segment, celebrators at home will join a foot-stomping Texas New Year's Eve celebration from Gilley's, the famed honky-tonk in Pasadena, Texas.

As the midnight hour approaches, the cameras turn to a live remote from Times Square to pick up the crowd there as the ball announcing the beginning of the new year descends.

Bach special

In his lifetime, Johann Sebastian Bach created more than 1,000 works, including concertos, suites, fugues, masses, cantatas, and music for the keyboard. Today, much of his music is performed in varied and sometimes unexpected styles, often with instruments that had not been invented when Bach created his masterpieces.

A salute to this great composer will air Wednesday, Dec. 30 on PBS when WQED-Pittsburgh presents "The Joy of Bach." (Local times may vary; check listings.)

The holiday special illustrates both the popular and serious sides of Bach's music. Producers filmed in churches, concert halls and discos of five countries.

Presidential report

"The President and the People," an NBC "White Paper" evaluating the first year of the Reagan administration, will be broadcast Wednesday, Dec. 30 on NBC.

This will be the first in a series of annual NBC News reports examining White House policies and their impact.

NBC News chief Washington correspondent Roger Mudd will anchor the broadcast and conduct an interview with President Reagan. Chief diplomatic correspondent Marvin Kalb will examine the administration's foreign policy, notably the tough posture towards the Soviet Union and the president's arms control proposals.

White House correspondent Judy Woodruff will report on the president's own role in defending his program of budget cuts and lower taxes. Correspondent John Hart will report on how reduced federal funding is affecting the states and cities.

Jimmy Stewart

Jimmy's parade

Jimmy Stewart has been selected to serve as the Grand Marshal of the 93rd Pasadena (Calif.) Tournament of Roses Parade, to be telecast live on NBC New Year's Day, Friday, Jan. 1, to be followed by the exclusive TV coverage of the Rose Bowl game. His wife, Gloria, will join him in the ride down Pasadena's famed Colorado Boulevard.

The theme of this year's parade is "Friends and Neighbors." During his nearly 50-year film career, Stewart has provided movie-goers with memorable performances in 78 westerns, dramas and comedies. He received five Academy award nominations and won an Oscar in 1940 as best actor for his performance in "The Philadelphia Story."

IN FOCUS

'Die Fledermaus' is holiday special on PBS

A production of Johann Strauss' holiday masterpiece "Die Fledermaus" premieres Monday, Dec. 28, over PBS as part of the "Great Performances" series. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Filmed in the city in which it was created and where it is presented annually as part of a New Year's tradition, the operetta is performed by members of the Vienna State Opera and directed by Otto Schenk, who also appears in the production. Of special note is one of the last appearances by the late Wagnerian heroic tenor, Wolfgang Windgassen, as Count Orlofsky.

Heading the cast is Gundula Janowitz as Rosalinde, Eberhard Wachter as Eisenstein and Renate Holm as Adele. The Vienna Philharmonic is conducted by Karl Bohm. Opera, television and film star Anna Moffo hosts the program, a presentation of WNET/THIRTEEN, New York.

Waltz rhythms, champagne melodies, tongue-in-cheek humor and comedic characterizations make up "Die Fledermaus." In spirit, the operetta is French — the libretto is based on a comic play called "Le Reveillon" — but the music is pure Viennese, considered by many to be Strauss at his best.

Sung in German, the operetta takes its title from the German word for "bat." It refers to an incident which occurs before the curtain goes up, in which Dr. Falke and his friend, Eisenstein, go to a masked ball — Falke as a bat and Eisenstein as a butterfly. After a wild night, Falke wakes up in his bat regalia on a park bench, where Eisenstein has left him as a practical joke.

Falke must walk home through the town in his ludicrous costume. Ever since, he has been seeking a way to get even with his friend. In a series of comic situations involving disguised lovers and mistaken identities, the operetta unfolds the story of Falke's revenge, for which he enlists the unwitting help of Eisenstein's wife, Rosalinde, and their maid, Adele.

Renate Holm and Eberhard Wachter star in "Die Fledermaus."

THURSDAY

Fred Astaire is shown in one of the seven roles he plays in "The Man in the Santa Claus Suit," to air Thursday, Dec. 24 on NBC.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Maryland Newsrap To Feature Role Of Media In The Crime Process

Neal Friedman leads a discussion about the role of the media in the crime process on "Maryland Newsrap — Special Edition" Saturday, January 2 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, January 3 at 11 a.m. on the Oakland station of the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting, TV 36.

Joining Friedman are "Newsrap" regulars Lee Baylin of The Evening Sun, Leon Wynter of The Washington Post and special guests Stephen Sachs, attorney general of Maryland, and William Swisher, Baltimore City state's attorney. They talk about how the media covers crime, whether the media is manipulated by the authorities involved and what impact media coverage has on society and on the outcome of cases.

"Maryland Newsrap" is underwritten by Merit Gasoline Foundation. Everett Marshburn is the executive producer, Elliott Wiley the producer and Al Spoler the director.

On Tuesday, January 5 at 9 p.m. the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting will again address the serious concern of Marylanders on "Crime in Maryland," a two-hour special report on the problem of recidivism, the habitual or chronic relapse into crime.

Happy's daughter; Hepburn's B'way show

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Happy Rockefeller went to Jolie Gabor's jewelry boutique but bought zilch from the new, blonde, 21-year-old saleswoman, Melinda Murphy. Melinda is Happy's daughter... Katharine Hepburn leaves the theater seconds after the standing ovation for "The West Side Waltz." No matter who it is, Hepburn receives nobody backstage in the dressing room... Lynn Redgrave hit New York for 12 hours, did a stint on Steve Martin's TV show and flew westward.

Lynn Redgrave

Jaclyn Smith's ex, Dennis Cole: "She wanted children and I have a grown son. I wanted to make sure this marriage would work before we had children and I didn't see it as working"... Sally Field refuses to talk publicly about Burt Reynolds. "It's exploitative to myself and Mr. Reynolds so I don't want to talk about it"... I spied Franklin Cover, who plays Tom Willis on "The Jeffersons," dining at a Manhattan restaurant. "Enjoying New York?" I asked cleverly. Cover blinked at me and intoned solemnly, "I live here."

Sidney Poitier

Sidney Poitier is building a home on St. Martin next door to Harry Belafonte... Beverly D'Angelo gained 20 pounds for "Honky Tonk Freeway" and had to shrink 20 for "Paternity"... There's a Brooke Shields doll coming on the market. Each buyer will get a star-shaped ring, strawberry lip gloss and a signed photo of Brooke along with the doll... Author Irving Wallace made a deal with 20th Century to film the recent book from that prolific Wallace family: "The Intimate Sex Lives of Famous People."

FRIDAY

Lawrence Pressman and Veronica Hamel star as brother and sister in "The Gathering, Part II," to be rebroadcast Friday, Dec. 25 on NBC.

Two Lois Kibbes on 'Edge of Night'

By Nancy M. Reichardt

NEW YORK — More observant soap watchers may have noticed that at the end of last week the name Lois Kibbee appeared three times on the "Edge of Night" credits.

The explanation: Lois Kibbee, who is well-known as Geraldine Saxon on "EON," is also listed as associate writer of "EON." And on this day, Miss Kibbee's 87-year-old mother (also Lois Kibbee) appeared on the show as an unnamed restaurant patron.

Part of an acting family that spans over 100 years in the American theater, the elder Lois Kibbee appears regularly as a singer and actress in Los Angeles, Calif., where she now resides. When asked to appear on "EON," Mrs. Kibbee was delighted.

She said: "I was thrilled to share the bill with my daughter. Lois knows how much I love to perform, and she was delighted to put me to work — she even packed a lunch for me."

Now that Ralph and Eugenia Ellis are back to writing the script for "Search for Tomorrow" there's been some changes in dialogue writers, too: Taking up their creative pens have been Courtney Sherman and Millee Taggart. Courtney once portrayed Kathy Phillips on "SFT," while Millee continues to play the role of Janet Collins on the show. Ms. Taggert has also written for other soaps under a pseudonym.

When "As the World Turns" actress Ann Sward (Lyla Montgomery) journeyed to California to marry her beau, Bob Hanson, a few months back, her devoted TV-daughter Margaret Colin (Margo) traveled the 3,000 miles to attend the ceremony.

Recent additions to the cast of "Texas" include Elizabeth Berridge as Allison Linden and Damian Sheller as Gregory. Also new to the show is Phillip English as Miles Renquist. Taking on the job of Grant Wheeler's chauffer is daytime newcomer James Rebhorn.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

The Christmas services to be held at the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church were postponed on December 20 due to icy road conditions and will be held December 27. There will be a combined Sunday school and worship hour beginning at 9:30 a.m. with the pastor bringing the Christmas message. At 7 p.m. the Sunday school will present a program and the choir will be bringing the cantata, "Christmas Is." Everyone is invited to these services.

On December 16 the Aurora School presented its combined programs to an overflow crowd in the school auditorium. The evening opened with selections by the fifth grade band and the Jr. High Band. The kindergarten through second grades then presented their portion of the program with the kindergarden singing "Jingle Bells," the first and second grades presenting "Christmas Mother Goose" and a play, "Starbright." The third grade did a play, "Christmas Tree for Kitty." The fourth through sixth grades combined to present "Christmas Acrostics," "Bethlehem Children See Christmas" and "Christmas Wreaths" and the program concluded with the singing of "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

On Sunday evening, December 20, the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren had a Christmas program beginning with a program by the children's department and concluding with a candlelighting service. They then adjourned to the fellowship hall in the basement for refreshments and a treat for the children from Santa Claus.

Word was received here that Ada Blanche Harmon, 89, of Coshocton, Ohio, died there December 19 after being ill for one week. She had resided in the Coshocton Health Center in recent years. Mrs. Harmon was born May 19, 1892 in Preston County, a daughter of the late Marcellus W. and Melinda Bucklew Hewitt, and was married to Charles Harmon who preceded her in death. They had lived for several years in Eglon.

She is survived by two sons, John and Joe, of Coshocton and two daughters, Rolla Grace Hedrick and Ruth Thompson, also of Coshocton. Two sisters, Grace VanSickle of New Mexico and Mary Margaret Cullison of Arkansas; one brother Roy Hewitt also survives.

The Aurora PTO will have its yearbook presales from January 4 through January 14. The cost is $5.00 and persons may leave orders and payments at the school office or send it there. Checks are to be made payable to the Aurora PTO.

Kelli Myers, daughter of Greg and Amanda Myers of Aurora, was a patient last week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Roberson of Rowlesburg are announcing the birth of their first child on December 18 in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The boy is named Matthew Alan and he weighed nine pounds, 14 ounces and was 21½ inches long. Mrs. Roberson was the former Terri Wiles, daughter of William and Helen Wiles of Amboy. Weldon Roberson of Aurora is the paternal grandfather. Great-grandmothers are Beulah Wiles of Lambertville, Michigan, and Daisy Roberson of Aurora.

Visiting during deer season with Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Shaffer of Brookside were her cousins, Franklin Boyce of Columbus, Ohio and Marlyn and Dianne Boyce of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, near Tulsa. While here, Marlyn shot an eight-point buck.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons and sons of Aurora and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Parsons of Eglon were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Skipper in Kingwood where Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Parsons, Jr., Janet and Rhonda and a friend, Tony Michaels of Martinsburg were also guests.

A group of neighbors and friends gathered Sunday at the Eglon Memorial Building for a venison dinner. About 35 attended the covered dish meal.

Gary Henline, principal of Aurora School, has released the honor roll for the second six-week grading period. Honor students are Seventh Grade—Christine Cummings, Jackie Lantz, Randy Moats and Elizabeth Whitehair; Eighth Grade—Greg Arnold and Benjamin Kinser.

Evans-Warnick

Kandy Louise Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Evans, and Mickie Warnick were united in Marriage at the Mt. Bethel Church on Saturday, December 12. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Their only attendants were Patricia Harvey and the brother of the groom.

A reception was held in the Sunday School room of the church. The cake was baked and served by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Alma Barnard.

Harvey-Barnhouse

Miss Patricia Ann Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Harvey, and John Barnhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnhouse were married at the Full Gospel Church by Rev. Joseph Phillips on Saturday, December 19.

Mrs. Nora Barnhouse is a patient at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Lillian Harvey and Mrs. June Spiker recently spent a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ray Poffinburger and Mr. and Mrs. Tung Ng, Hagerstown.

Tax Stats Show Pre-Holiday Sale Of Alcohol Down

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reports that alcohol and tobacco tax revenues for November 1981 total $7,908,628, 1.4% less than the same month last year and one indication that pre-holiday sales may be below last year's levels.

Wine tax collections provided the only increase, with revenues of $307,766 exceeding November 1980 collections by 12.2%. Beer tax revenues for November 1981 amount to $754,244, down 2.7% from the same month last year, while distilled spirits tax receipts total $1,360,395, or 4.3% less than November 1980.

Cigarette tax revenues amount to $5,488,233, a 1.5% decline from November 1980.

For the first five months of Fiscal Year 1982, the pattern remains the same, with wine tax revenues of $1,450,417 reflecting the only increase compared with the same period of the previous year, a gain of 9%.

Beer and distilled spirits tax collections both post declines compared with the first five months of Fiscal Year 1981. Total alcohol and tobacco tax revenues for the five month period of Fiscal Year 1982 amount to $39,910,919, down 7.5% from the $43,134,060 collected during the first five months of Fiscal Year 1981.

An inventory tax collected on implementation of the cigarette tax increase on July 1, 1980 renders a comparison of cigarette tax collections impractical, Goldstein said.

Homemakers Join Special Ed. Youth For Holiday Party

As part of their activities to observe the International Year of Disabled Persons, the Bittinger Homemakers' Club visited the Special Education Class of Northern Middle School on December 15 for a Christmas party and to make Christmas decorations.

During the party, the students broke a pinata they had made during their study of Mexico. The pinata, a paper-mache container suspended from a ceiling to be broken during festive occasions, was filled with combs and candies by the Homemakers' Club.

The students also made refreshments to serve the homemakers.

The homemakers helped the students stuff and sew Christmas decorations.

The homemakers who were present were Katheryn Bowser, president; Sylvia Beitzel, Nellie Hare, Ethel Buckel, Fern Beachy and Loretta Opel.

Students in the class are Susie Ash, Ann Hersick, Mary Bowser, Lisa Mathews, Ronnie Georg, Sarah Bell, and Patsy and David Michaels.

Another visitor during the party was Jessica Cooper, daughter of Special Ed. teacher Doris Cooper. Mary Friend is the aide in the class.

SHA Recruiting College Students For Summer Jobs

The Maryland State Highway Administration will hire about 150 college students for summer jobs in highway maintenance, construction inspection, traffic, and drafting in 1982, according to a release from the SHA.

To qualify, a student must be a Maryland resident who is returning to college in the fall. Also eligible are high school seniors who will be age 18 by May 1 and expect to be starting college, and graduate students who will be continuing their studies next fall.

Students may apply for the jobs between December 28, 1981, and January 8, 1982, at Maryland State Employment Service offices throughout the state.

They may apply for a job in their own county or in neighboring counties, but preference will be given to county residents for jobs in the county of residence.

Applicants will be notified of their job status early in May, and interviewing for the various positions will begin as soon as possible thereafter, the SHA said.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

The Parish Youth Group of Bittinger visited the Goodwill Nursing Home in Grantsville and sang carols on Sunday.

The Glade Mennonite Church will have a New Year's Eve service. The film "High Point" will be shown. The service starts at 8 p.m. and the public is invited.

Emmanuel's LCW met on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Buckel for its Christmas meeting and party. Phyllis and Donna Buckel were leaders of the topic "Songs and Signs of Hope". Special gifts of money were received by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bevans, Arlington, Va., and Phyllis Buckel. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Teets and Mrs. Susie Teets gave special gifts of money, in memory of Sam Teets. The money was designated for specific ministries.

The group had a gift exchange and refreshments were served by the hostess. There were 17 members present. The LCW is preparing gifts and food for a needy family in the community at Christmas.

A card shower is being asked for Dan Yommer on his 96th birthday which falls on December 24. His address is Dan Yommer, c/o Elaine Beachy, Accident, Md. 21520. Both Dan and his brother, John Yommer, who is 103, are being cared for by Mrs. Beachy in Accident. Both of them are members of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings.

The United Methodist Women of Hoyes held their Christmas party at the McHenry parsonage. Mrs. Mary Jane Harvey had a luncheon at noon. Each member had a song, poem, legend or interesting fact about Christmas. Secret sisters were revealed and the group sang several carols. There were 11 members present.

Subscriptions to the devotional booklet, "Word in Season" are due. They should be given to Mrs. Dorothy Teets.

Personal Items

Pastor and Mrs. Kenneth Zehr and family, will spend Christmas with Mrs. Zehr's family in Elmira, Ontario, Canada.

Mrs. James Glotfelty entertained her family on Sunday with a Christmas dinner. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Carey and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Glotfelty, Mrs. Elwood Glotfelty, Ida Reckner, Linda and Sheli Bittinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton were visiting his mother, Lucretia Stanton on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Orendorf, Cumberland, were visiting Mrs. W.E. Buckel on Sunday.

Bruce Brenneman returned home from Memorial Hoapital, Cumberland, last week.

VOLUME 104 OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1981 PER COPY 25¢

A LIVING MUSEUM, the Amish lifestyle, is so aptly depicted in this portrait of transportation against a cold, winter sky. The horse and buggy, an example of the essence of Amish life, was captured by the lens of Craig Phillips as it passed along Rt. 219 last Wednesday morning. The driver, on the way to his appointed rounds, seems oblivious to the cold, the wind, or the camera. This scene lends a unique quality to Garrett County not found in every rural setting.

One Killed In Car-Truck Mishap Last Wednesday

Services were held Saturday for a 31-year-old Oakland man who was killed in a car-truck mishap on U.S. Rt. 219 about one mile south of Oakland last Wednesday shortly after noon.

According to Tfc. L. R. Rosage of the McHenry detachment of the Maryland State Police, Roger Earnest Morris, Sr., 31, was killed instantly when the car he was driving collided head-on with a truck loaded with cement blocks. The 1974 model auto was demolished, as was the cab of the truck.

Rosage said that Leroy Robertson, 49, of RD 1, Oldtown, was driving the truck, owned by Super Concrete Company, LaVale, south on Route 219. He was followed by a heating oil truck, owned by Oakland Oil Company and driven by Kenneth DeWitt, 29, of Oakland.

The trucks were in the vicinity of the intersection of Rt. 219 and the Monte Vista Road when Morris, traveling northbound on Rt. 219, apparently crossed the center

Hughes Earmarks Funds To Establish Local Medevac Unit

Governor Harry Hughes announced Monday that he has included a $162,000 line item in the 1982-83 budget for a Comberland-based emergency medical evacuation (Medevac) helicopter, an issue on the lips of area legislators and concerned citizens for more than two years.

Although the funding must first pass the scrutiny of state law makers, the governor's press secretary and State Senator Edward Mason (R., Allegany-Garrett) believe the item will be accepted with little resistance. If included in the budget, the Western Maryland Medevac unit would be available July 1.

The emergency aircraft, most likely a Bell Jet Ranger II, will be piloted by ex-

Weather

Partly cloudy today. Highs in the low 30s. Increasing cloudiness tonight. Lows 10 to 15. Cloudy and warmer with a chance of rain by afternoon Thursday. Highs near 40. The chance of precipitation is 10 percent today, near zero tonight, and 30 percent Thursday. Winds variable at 10 mph or less through tonight.

A chance of rain New Year's Day, then clearing Saturday and fair Sunday. Lows in the 20s to low 30s. Highs mainly in the 40s.

Bolden Opposes Redistricting Plan

Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett, Allegany) testified against the new redistricting plan proposed by the Hughes administration during a hearing held Dec. 21 in Annapolis by Governor Harry Hughes.

Bolden's major criticism is against the recommendation by the Governor's reapportionment commission to include Lonaconing as part of District 1A in Garrett County, as it has been during the past 10 years.

He told the governor he believed the name of the person who proposed the plan was "gerrymandering," a term defined by the League of Women Voters as "The manipulation of the lines of a legislative district to benefit or to discriminate against a particular person, party or group."

Bolden and Senator Ed Mason had proposed to the commission to include Lonaconing in the Allegany County district and include Westernport and Luke in Garrett County.

Bolden explained that Luke and Westernport are more contiguous to Garrett County and more accessible because Route 135 passes through both towns. But, he noted, citizens of Westernport and Luke opposed their idea.

Bolden's attempt to include Lonaconing into the Allegany County district is a promise he made to the citizens of that area. "In 1978, I promised the people of Lonaconing I would do everything I could to put them back in their own county," he said. He added that putting Lonaconing in with Garrett County, "was wrong in 1970 and is still wrong."

Because of the opposition to including Lake and Westernport in the Garrett County district, Bolden recommended to Hughes that District 1A should end at the Garrett County boundary.

A section of Allegany County has been included with Garrett County to meet population

Thieves Walk Off With Front Porch

Maryland State Police are investigating several destruction of property and theft complaints, including a most unusual loss reported by a citizen who owns a home on the corner of Deep Creek Drive and Sang Run Road.

According to police, unknown culprits stole the front porch of the residence, and sections of carpet from the interior of the home.

The loss was discovered on December 27, and the owner, J.E. Keeton, was told by the caretaker that the loss apparently occurred sometime over the last two months.

Maryland Special Olympics Skiing Events To Be Held At Wisp

For the first time ever, Maryland Special Olympics will hold winter sports training and competition for mentally retarded athletes at the Wisp Ski Resort January 10-13.

Ninty-two Special Olympians from across the state will train and compete in downhill and cross-country skiing. As with all Special Olympics events, athletes will be grouped by ability levels so that each athlete has a sporting chance to win. But also as with all Special Olympics events, the emphasis is not on winning but on participating, according to Jack Kammer, director.

After opening ceremonies on the evening of Sunday, January 10, training will be held on Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday the athletes will compete.

Opening ceremonies will include downhill torch light parade by members of the National Ski Patrol, presentation of the flag by American Legion Color Guards from various posts around the state, lighting of the Special Olympics torch, and the traditional recital of the Special Olympics Oath, "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

The Baltimore Ski Club, Inc. was selected by Maryland Special Olympics to provide the coaching staff for the Winter Games.

To cover expenses in sending its 42 volunteer coaches to the Games, the Baltimore Ski Club held a ball roast and celebrity auction and has contributed its fund raising surplus of almost $6,000 to Maryland Special Olympics to help defray other costs of the event. In addition, the club has arranged for specially monogrammed ski hats and fur-lined gloves for each of the Special Olympians.

Baltimore Ski Club president, Don Chiarello, remarked, "This is an outstanding opportunity for those of us who have become advanced skiers and have received so much pleasure from the sport to make a truly meaningful contribution. We were delighted to be selected to work for this very fine cause."

Ted Davis, one of the Club's directors, said, "With a membership of over 1,200 skiers, we had some difficulty deciding which of the many volunteers would be selected to serve on the coaching staff.

Dozens of businesses have donated goods and services to make the Winter Games possible, Kammer said.

Holiday Season Marred By Fires; Two Homes Burn Christmas Day

As is so often characteristic of the Christmas season, fires during the past week have resulted in considerable property damage on the mountaintop, including the destruction of one home on Christmas day and near destruction of another.

Friendsville and Deep Creek firefighters were called to the Richard Meyers residence on Squire Elke Road and Glade Road at 11:32 a.m., Friday. However, the one-story structure was fully involved upon their arrival and burned to the ground. Damage was estimated at about $30,000.

The blaze was reported to Garrett Central Alarm by Millie Durst, a sister-in-law of Meyers.

According to Jim Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, the fire reportedly began when items too close to a woodburning stove caught fire. The incident is still under investigation.

Meyers stated that he had insurance to cover the loss.

Also responding to the scene were the county air cascade truck which is presently being housed at the Bittinger VFD and the Northern Rescue Squad. Accident firefighters were placed on standby.

Fire personnel remained on the scene until 1:26 p.m. There were no injuries.

Oakland and Deep Creek fire departments were summoned at 4:09 p.m., that same day to the residence of Frank and Larrue Lewis on the Oakland-Sang Run Road about four miles north of Oakland. Upon their arrival smoke was seen coming from the attic vents and the eaves of the single-story wood and stone structure. After entering the house firefighters confined most of the fire to the

Dumpster Sites Once Again Full To Overflowing

The county's dumpster sites are once again overflowing with trash, but Browning-Ferris Industries representatives told the county commissioners Tuesday the sites would soon be under control.

Rusty Stewart, BFI district manager, and Jim Kelly, BFI regional manager, met with the commissioners to discuss measures they are taking to clean up the dumpster sites throughout the county.

They said they were bringing an additional truck into the county and were hiring additional workers until the sites were back on schedule.

BFI, the operator of the county solid waste system, had DELEGATE DeCORSEY BOLDEN, left, and Senator Ed Mason ponder legislation proposed by the Garrett County Commissioners during a legislative planning session Tuesday morning in the commissioners' office. Among legislation proposed, was enabling legislation for a general obligation bond for capital projects in the county.

County Board, Legislators Consider General Obligation Bond Issuance

The Garrett County Commissioners are considering undertaking a general obligation bond issuance for capital improvement projects and sounded out Del. DeCorsey Bolden and Senator Ed Mason on the matter during a legislative planning session yesterday in the commissioners' office.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg told the legislators that among projects which would be included on the bond issue would be the county's share in construction costs of a student learning center at Garrett Community College and renovation of the old courthouse.

Gregg estimated the cost would be $267,000 for the learning center and $1.5 million for the courthouse renovation. The renovation project would include remodeling the courtroom, wiring and plumbing work and exterior architectural work.

The commissioners could not give the legislators an exact amount of the bond, but estimated it would be around $2 million.

Neither legislator committed their support for the bond, which would require enabling legislation, but both indicated they were willing to discuss it further.

Del. DeCorsey Bolden, the least supportive of the two, told the commissioners he would need to be convinced that the county needed to undertake the bond this year. "This is a bad year," he said, noting that the bond market was not good because of economic conditions.

"I sympathize with the concern for the condition of the old courthouse," Bolden said, "but I think the work should be paid out of the general expense account." He recommended that the commissioners defer the idea of a bond to a later date when they could supply more exact figures.

Mason, on the other hand, was more concerned about whether the county could afford a $2 million bond. He told the commissioners he wanted a debt affordability statement before he would propose any legislation.

Mason added that he did not believe he had the authority to tell the commissioners they could not seek a bond, because the commissioners had the fiscal responsibility for the county.

Judge Fred A. Thayer, who was also present during the discussion, to explain the reminding of the courtroom asked what would happen if he ordered the renovation work. Bolden responded that the judge would then be giving the commissioners authority for the bond.

The commissioners said they would provide both legislators with a debt affordability

FATAL CRASH SCENE — A 31-year-old Oakland man was killed instantly last Wednesday shortly after 12 noon when his vehicle collided head-on with a cement block truck on U.S. Rt. 219, just south of Oakland. Roger Earnest Morris, a Vietnam veteran and father of three children, was pronounced dead at the scene by Deputy Medical Examiner James H. Foaster, Jr. The incident also involved a fuel truck, however the drivers of both trucks were uninjured. The block truck, pictured above, was being driven by Leroy Robertson, 49, of Oldtown. See story.

Garrett County Artist Dies On Christmas Day

Garrett County artist Aza C. Stanton, Jr., 56, of RD 4, Deer Park, died of a heart attack Christmas Day, December 25, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

He was born September 15, 1925 in Cumberland to the late Aza C. Stanton, Sr. and Vadne Parmer Stanton.

Stanton spent the first 16 years of his life in Grantsville where he graduated from high school in 1940. Following high school, he attended Frostburg State College where he studied art until he volunteered for the U.S. Navy in 1945. He served with the Navy Seabees where he became a sign painter.

Upon leaving the Navy in 1946, Stanton enrolled at the Maryland Institute of Art in Baltimore as an Advertising Design student and acquired a part-time job as an advertising layout artist for the Cannon Shoe Company. In 1947, he transferred to the Fine Arts division at the Institute from which he graduated in 1950.

In October, 1951, Stanton was employed by The H-P Stores, Inc., as assistant advertising manager and later became advertising manager for the company's chain of thirty department stores.

After his retirement, he devoted his time to his art work and recently won first prize at the Art for Giving arts and crafts show at Country Club Mall in LaVale. He was a member of the Allegany Area Art Alliance and the Garrett County Art Guild.

Stanton attended the Deep Creek Baptist Church and was a former member of the Oakland Rotary Club. He was also a member of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association for which he served as secretary.

Surviving are his wife, Louise B. Moomaw Curry Stanton, one aunt and one uncle.

A funeral service was conducted at the Stewart Funeral Home Monday by the Rev. David C. Long. Interment was in the Grantsville Cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were Bayard Keller, Harry Patton, Charles Fixx, Dean Hilegas, Carl Loughry, and Don Davis.

Active pallbearers were Paul Denker, Charles Springman, Courtney Tasing, Gordon Douglass, Ted Lascaris, Lou Lutz, Willard Hawkins and Web Hall.

Thefts Reported To State Police

Several thefts were reported during the Christmas holiday week, including a breaking and entering and theft at the Four Seasons Camp Ground gameroom, Accident-Bittinger Road.

Unknown persons entered the establishment and broke open five machines, removing coins from the boxes.

Tfc. Ron George is conducting the investigation.

A pair of skis, owned by Mark Ruhl, Oakland, were removed from an auto while it was parked in a disabled condition on the Bumble Bee Road, near Garrett Community College, on December 22.

Tfc. David Riggleman is investigating.

An unidentified driver pulled into the Green Lantern Service Center on December 22, filled his tank with $24 worth of gasoline, and fled the scene without paying for the purchase.

The auto, believed to be red in color, was a 1976 Oldsmobile.

The Friendsville Amoco station was reportedly broken into during the night of December 23. Cash and merchandise of undetermined value were removed. Tfc. Gary Berkebile is conducting the investigation.

St. Nick Visits In Grantsville

Santa Claus made his first "official" visit to the children of Grantsville Christmas Eve, arriving by horse and buggy because the lack of snow prevented use of his traditional sleigh.

Grantsville Chief of Police Frank Wilkins, who arranged Santa's visit, was informed by newly appointed fire chief Herman Yoder that Larry Miller, owner and operator of Springs Equipment, would meet Santa at Southern States in Grantsville and escort him through town. Santa was also escorted through town by State Police Trooper Carl Skidmore.

Santa travelled down Main Street where he was greeted by youngsters and their parents.

Durst Variety Store, H&H Hardware and Beachy's Pharmacy provided the candy which Santa dispersed. Santa spent several hours with the children, listening to last-minute requests and posing for pictures.

Santa's last duty was to direct traffic when the Northern Rescue Squad and Grantsville Fire Department responded to a call shortly before 5 p.m.

Chief Wilkins said that although he could not be found in town during the event, he was never too far from Santa at any time.

Warm Temperatures Favor Thermometers

Unseasonably warm weather prevailed over much of the mountaintop during the last week, as the mercury climbed to a high of 53 degrees just two days before Christmas.

High and low temperatures and precipitation levels for the week were, Wednesday, High 53 degrees, low 34 degrees, .18 precipitation level; Thursday, 36, 29, trace of prec.; Friday, 37, 26, tr.; Saturday, 34, 16, tr.; Sunday, 42, 23, 0 prec.; Monday, 45, 24, tr.; Tuesday, 40, 24, .05 prec., one inch of snow.

The overnight low was 14 degrees.

Vehicle Placed On Railroad Tracks, Destroyed By Fire

Local police and James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, are currently investigating an incident which took place Wednesday evening on the railroad tracks just west of Oakland.

At 9:56 p.m. the Chessie System Altamont Tower reported that the engineer of a train had seen a burning vehicle on the tracks near the 88 Bridge. Garrett Central Alarm dispatched the Oakland Fire Department to the scene to extinguish the blaze which destroyed the 1979 Plymouth Trailduster. The Oakland Police and Sheriff's department were also called to the scene.

No one was found near the vehicle upon the arrival of police and fire personnel, but footprints were observed heading north on the dirt road toward Herrington Manor Road.

Police later located the owner of the vehicle, Stephen Eugene Beckman, Mt. Lake Park, who told them that the vehicle had been stolen earlier that evening. He said he had parked the vehicle behind the residence of Mike McRobie at 621 Oak Street, Oakland and had left his key in the ignition.

Martin responded to the scene and determined that the blaze was deliberately set.

The investigation is continuing.

JWCC Holds Party, Adds New Members

The Junior Woman's Civic Club of Oakland met December 3 for a festive dinner meeting at the Will O' the Wisp. Miss Lana Brenneman led the club in traditional Christmas carols and a game of Christmas bingo.

Initiated into the club at this meeting were Miss Teresa Field and Mrs. James Ashby.

Women between the ages of 18 and 40 who are interested in learning more about this civic organization may call Linda Sanders at 334-2792.

Rates Go Up For Medicare

The Medicare hospital insurance deductible, the amount a Medicare patient is responsible for when he or she first receives hospital inpatient services in a benefit period, will increase to $260 in 1982, Miss Valerie J. Loughran, District Manager of Social Security Administration in Cumberland, said this week. The 1981 deductible was $204.

Also scheduled to increase are the per-day amounts patients are responsible for after specified lengths of stay in a hospital or skilled nursing facility, Miss Loughran said.

After 60 days of inpatient hospital care in a benefit period in 1982, Medicare will pay for all covered costs except $65 a day. The 1981 figure was $51.

For each reserve day of inpatient care, Medicare will pay for all covered costs except $130 a day. The 1981 figure was $102.

After 20 days of care in a skilled nursing facility, Medicare will pay all covered costs except $32.50. The 1981 figure was $25.50.

The Medicare medical insurance annual deductible is also scheduled to increase in 1982, the first increase since 1973. The 1982 annual medical insurance deductible will be $75, up from $60. Medical insurance generally pays 80 percent of the approved costs or charges for covered services and supplies after a person incurs covered charges equaling the annual deductible.

More information about Medicare or about Social Security can be obtained at the Social Security office. A free pamphlet, "Recent Changes in Medicare" is also available. The Cumberland office is located at 316 Paca Street and the telephone number is 724-0970. The office is open Monday through Friday, except national holidays, 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

FOR THE BENEFIT of our many readers who reside far from Garrett County, but are familiar with the landscape and weather, the newsstaff of The Republican decided to include in today's issue several scenic winter shots taken by Craig Phillips, staff photographer. These are just two examples of what you're missing, folks. Should you decide to come back for a visit, be sure to pack your skis, snowshoes and snowmobile.

McHenry Driver Injured In Single-Car Mishap

A McHenry man, Charles Higgins, was treated and released at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, following a single-vehicle mishap on Rt. 28, approximately one mile from Ridgeley, W. Va., on Sunday evening.

According to police, a Hurst extricating tool was used to free the 29-year-old driver from the wreckage.

The accident was investigated by West Virginia State Police. The Wiley Ford, W. Va., and Ridgeley Volunteer Fire companies were sent to the scene by Allegany County Civil Defense dispatcher, who also summoned the Ridgeley Ambulance and the Cumberland Fire Department, who supplied the Hurst tool.

Offices To Close

All state and county offices will be closed January 1 in observance of the New Year's holiday, announced Robert Fousek, county clerk. The offices will open for business as usual on January 4.

EMT Refresher Course Slated

A refresher course for emergency medical technicians (ambulance) whose cards are about to expire will begin on January 8 at the Southern Rescue Squad building on Oak Street, Oakland. The classes will begin at 7 p.m., according to Ron Bowser, instructor.

Nineteen Die On State Roads

Nineteen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways this past week according to information supplied by investigating police departments. Of these fatalities, nine were drivers, six were passengers and four were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in ten of the deaths, speed in ten and driver error in 16. In one accident alone five persons lost their lives.

The total number of persons killed through December 27 is 784, compared to 776 for the same period last year.

Clarification Noted

In last week's edition of The Republican, a story concerning the conviction of a local beverage store owner on charges of selling alcohol to minors ran on page one.

The use of the word "arrest" by The Republican was questioned by George Collins, the proprietor of The Beverage Shop, located in McHenry, who was convicted in Garrett County District Court on three counts, two of which were later upheld on appeal in Circuit Court. The third count resulted in a hung jury. Collins claimed he was not arrested, but rather, charged on a summons.

To clarify the terms used by Maryland State Police, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and the Oakland City Police concerning charges and arrests, several expert sources were contacted, and the following information was verified.

To be arrested is to be taken into custody by law enforcement personnel. Photographs are taken, fingerprints are taken, and the individual is generally incarcerated.

To be served with a criminal summons and charged with a criminal violation involves the same procedure as an arrest, with the exception of the photographs, fingerprints, and incarceration (as a general rule).

A charge on a criminal summons occurs when (1) a judge issues a warrant alleging a crime; (2) a suspect is booked at a police station; (3) a grand jury issues an indictment; (4) or a prosecutor files an information against a suspect.

This verification was obtained from the investigating officer, Tfc. Gary Berkebile, Maryland State Police; Lt. Paul Sanders, MSP, the former McHenry detachment commander; and from William Metz, an expert in the field of criminal and fire reporting for news writers.

Because the explanation distinguishes a fine line between the two terms, The Republican agrees that "charged on a criminal summons" should have been used in this particular case.

Really Important Things

Tomorrow night 1981 will become history. To many of us it seems impossible that another year has come and gone. It seems it was only yesterday we stumbled through a chorus or two of Auld Lang Syne with our friends.

Time is one dimension of life that man has never been able to control, even a little bit. Despite all the incredible wonders of technology, we are really no closer to being capable of regulating time today than was prehistoric man. Its passage is relentless.

After accepting this fact that we can neither hasten nor delay the march of time, we should attempt to do the next best thing—make better use of our time. Usage is one aspect of time over which we do have some control.

Persons who participate in making New Year's resolutions may want to include one about making better use of their time. If we aren't careful, the march of time and poor scheduling will steal from us the opportunities to do so many of the really important things. A parent will say to a child, for example, "I don't have time to take a walk with you." What he really means is "I don't want to make time right now to take a walk with you." Suddenly the child is no longer a child and the parent regrets for the rest of his days not having taken the time for more of these priceless parent-child interactions. Neglecting to take time to visit an elderly shut-in is so often followed by the regretful experience of reading that person's obituary. Not taking time to listen when a friend or family member is seeking help is another familiar pitfall.

Many such opportunities might come by only once and life is too short for regretfulness. The first days of the new year seem like an excellent time for all of us to look over our schedules and make time for the really important things.

It Happens Every Time

by Carol Kapel

Each year, just about this time, one begins to reflect on the past while anticipating the brand new year just around the corner.

Delusions of grandeur rush into the mind, with mighty plans for this clean, unblemished slate we are all handed on January 1.

I did it last year, like so many others. I resolved this and promised that, and was determined to change my lifestyle to a point more acceptable to my sense of worth.

I opened a new Christmas Club account, and vowed never to miss a payment. It was a $5 per week club. My check came back in November for $15.

I set myself a goal of reading one book per month for the entire year of 1981. I got as far as page 34 in "Memories, Dreams, Reflections," a glimpse of Carl Jung's life.

I drew up a laundry schedule fit for the wardrobe mistress and MGM studios. I just yesterday discovered a basket of clothing I don't even remember buying with a note marked "iron today," dated February 3, 1981.

I promised to never miss a birthday card, to call my elderly grandmother at least once a week, and visit my best friend in West Virginia at least once a month.

I sent three cards all year, my grandmother's most recent words to me were "I remember you. You're one of my daughter's offspring," and my friend in Morgantown was last seen face to face in April.

It's really not my fault. I just have so much to do. My intentions are always good. I just don't have the old follow-through any more. But, this year, it will be different. When one is given another chance, it's always better, isn't it?

You'll pardon me now. I have to get the ironing done, locate a pen, and make my new lists for 1982. Happy New Year, everyone.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

To all those concerned friends! Would you please get your facts straight before going off half-cocked?

Fact: Date, November 17, 1981; Time, approximately 2:00 p.m.; Place, 400 block Bradley Manor.

Fact: There were six adults in the immediate area. Three participating in the act and three innocent bystanders.

Fact: A 2-liter plastic pop bottle and black powder not "some powder was lit out of A 22 shell."

Due to the fact that I have worked around explosives I know that the force of this explosion combined with the plastic bottle could have killed, crippled or seriously injured any one of the six people around.

There was one person who was slightly injured, his hearing was impaired temporarily for at least 10 hours. Due to the blast this person had a mild case of shock and frazzled nerves for 24 hours.

These so-called adults had no concern for their family, friends or innocent bystanders. If there had been a gas leak, they could have blown Bradley Manor completely off the face of this earth.

I am now afraid for my life and the lives of my family. So I have no sympathy for them and I agreed with Bradley Manor management.

Would The Republican please send a representative to talk to the resident manager of Bradley Manor?

A Concerned Tenant

To The Editor:

Last week there were two letters signed "A Concerned Friend." Both were about the bomb set off on November 17 in Bradley Manor.

If these letter writers are really "concerned friends" they should realize that anything to do with gun powder is serious business. How can they be so casual about something so deadly serious?

The gun powder was put into a 2-liter plastic pop bottle. The explosion shook windows of apartments in all corners of the complex. A lot of the people that were frightened were elderly people.

Isn't there enough violence in this country without a couple so-called "adults" acting like kids playing war.

By God's grace, no one was seriously harmed. But these families have to realize the damage and injury that they could have done. By defending the men the families are saying it's okay to make bombs and maybe hurt someone. The whole families are paying for the "men's" actions, but what other way can Bradley Manor be made safe? As for taking the matter to court, the courts seem to ignore facts presented to them as proved on October 26 in another Bradley Manor problem.

In my opinion, these "men" should have been locked up until they realized the seriousness of what they did in fun.

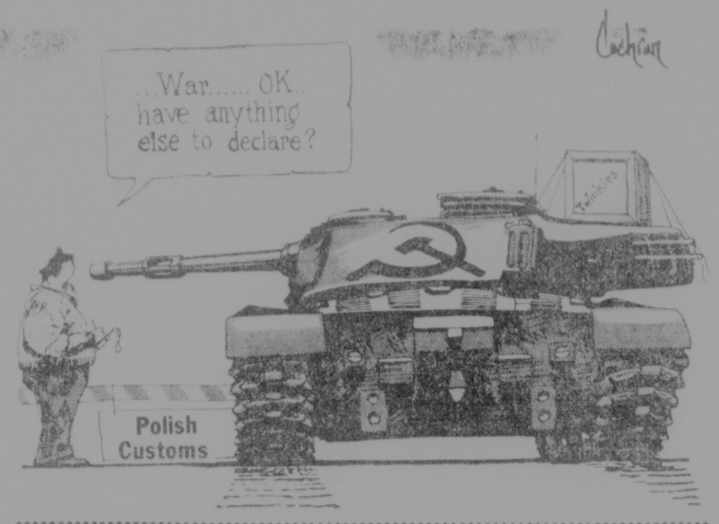
A Truly Concerned Tenant

Dear Editor:

In answer to the concerned friends letter last week involving two tenants at Bradley Manor: It was not a bomb threat. When you take gun powder, put it on a ramp, light it off, nothing happens, then put the gun powder in a plastic bottle and light it, it is a bomb.

They were very lucky this time. Whether they meant it to be a bomb or not, I don't think is the question. I have the concern of 90 families and what could have happened over this experimenting.

Most of the tenants have worked very hard these past months to get the apartments fixed up. How do you think the owner felt when he heard of this?



How concerned were they for their families and neighbors when they didn't know how much powder was in the bottle and if anyone would get hurt when it went off? Yes, my prayers are with you (not that it will happen again).

Thank You
Mabel Jones
Resident Manager
Bradley Manor

Dear Mr. Editor:

While you were bending over backwards to help the Browning's out of trouble, you didn't tell us they led the way to put God-rejected beer in the grocery stores in this area. What made that even worse is, when the church people of the area protested it they promised not to put it in if the public voted no in a ballot box. I understand by an employee the no box was noticeably heavier than the yes box. You know it had to be an overwhelming no majority. We got the beer in the store anyway. I changed our shopping place then.

I don't think anyone in this situation can expect to pull out without God's blessing. How can anyone expect to receive a blessing from God when they have insulted God like that. I am sure there will be a few alcoholics who will say they would just buy it somewhere else. Some may say it is their business. I am sure both of these are right. I am also sure the great judge on that day will say, my friend, you have been a partner with the devil.

Let us remember one little item about alcohol. More people have been killed in auto accidents than all wars. Alcohol has been the contributing factor in most of them.

Let us make all our contributions to society wholesome.

Yours truly
Homer Mellott

Dear Editor:

As a dispatcher for the Garrett County Sheriffs' Department, I have time at night for some reflective thought. I have a singular thought for 1982.

Too long we have been governed by political, religious, and social misfits and pedantic leeches. They have destroyed mankind with their blashemous philosophy. The philosophy that self-sacrifice is man's greatest value. It is ludicrous that we have believed such a lie. No value is higher than self-esteem. Self-esteem is the reliance on one's power to think. Let us all in 1982 not succumb to these leeches, but realize that truth is the recognition of reality, and our existence is our identity. We must realize that we are . . . We must work for self, that self is the most important aspect of life. It is not the good of the whole but the good of the part that we need to be conscious of.

The number one enemy to this nation, it is not the communist, but those people who want to take the wealth from those who have and to share it with those who have not. In other words thieves, that want to steal that which doesn't belong to them, and give it to those who have not earned it, parasites of life. Finally, have a Happy New Year in 1982.

Sincerely,
Jack L. Michaels, Jr.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Thanks very much for printing the article about Mr. John S. Toll, the president of the University of Maryland, refusing to sign a petition denouncing the military crackdown in Poland. I thought myself alone in believing an internal solution must be found for that crisis.

The government of Poland has been communistic for more than thirty-five years. The Poles are communists and except for the last eighteen months there has been little unrest amongst those satisfied people. This present unrest is a demand by one group of communists for more food, fuel and goods—more pay and less working hours. What is our concern?

If there are men in Poland, men who feel a need for freedom, men who desire, by their own efforts, to provide for their women and children they will find a way.

Until then, no candles in my window!

Pine Nut

To The Editor:

I would like to send my deepest appreciation to those people who attended last Tuesday's game against the Valley Black Knights and the Southern Rams.

The Southern crowd was very much a part of the win over the Valley Black Knights. With just little crys of "Go Southern" or "S-O-U-T-H-E-R-N" the crowd supported the team and cheerleaders through a game that was of great importance. It was obvious from the beginning that the Southern crowd wanted one thing and that was a victory over the undefeated Valley Black Knights. Through the giving of their support and local pride they received that victory.

I wish we could have the support we had at the Valley game at all the remaining games this year. The Rams need and deserve support from local residents in order to maintain a winning season.

I am sure I can speak for the entire Southern Varsity Cheerleading Squad in saying, "Thanks for all the support."

problems adjusting to the terrain of the county when the firm first took over the system from the county in October causing the firm to fall behind in its trash pickup schedules. Seemingly, BFI had regained control of the trash pickups when snowstorms early in December and the holidays apparently caused the company to fall behind again.

In other commissioner news, Wendell Beitzel, administrator of the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., asked the commissioners to write a letter to the Maryland Secretary of Health requesting a speedy decision on setting effluent limitations for the Big and Little Youghiogheny rivers.

Beitzel said the delay in setting the limitations was holding up Sanitary District projects as well as projects for Oakland, the 135 Industrial Site, and for Bausch & Lomb.

The commissioners agreed to mail a letter this week.

perienced state police troopers now assigned to other Medevac units in the state. Four troopers and a mechanic from the state police aviation division will operate the service.

One full-time shift and two stand-by shifts will exist at first, lasting six months to one year, until the service is, hopefully, expanded into round-the-clock coverage.

Mason said state police will begin to recruit and train pilots after the April session of the legislators ends. He feels there is little chance that the item will be trimmed from the accepted budget.

Much praise was given by Mason to local Emergency Medical Services Coordinator David Ramsay, local state police Captain William Turnbull, and Major Gary Moore; the state senators, local mayors, council members, and others who sent letters of support during the last two years, urging the establishment of a local Medevac unit.

St. Peter's Church Uses Three Girls As Altar Servers

St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, marked a first during the Christmas holidays. For the first time in its history, it used girls as altar servers.

The practice, which began in other parishes in Maryland several years ago, has been a controversial matter within the Catholic Church, but is approved with certain conditions. Female altar servers, for example, may not take wine or water to the priest at the altar.

Father Martin Feild stated that the parish council of St. Peter's first discussed use of girls as altar servers three months ago. Clearing this idea with the liturgical committee for the Archdiocese of Baltimore took several months.

But, with approval of the committee, St. Peter's used its first female altar server at its Christmas Eve service and at its midnight mass.

Bernadette Fousek, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fousek, was an altar server for the Christmas Eve service. Karen Rosenberry, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenberry, and Christine Gregory, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gregory, were altar servers for the midnight mass.

County Native Earns Promotion

Thomas W. Stanton, a native of Garrett County, has been promoted to mine engineer, U.S. Refractories Division, General Refractories Company, Pittsburgh. He will coordinate United States mining operations and engineering duties for locations in Colorado, Texas, Missouri, Georgia, Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Stanton will retain his present manager's responsibilities for the Pennsylvania Mines at Fort Hill, Pa.

Stanton began his mining career with General Refractories as a mine superintendent at the Fort Hill Clay Mines. General Refractories, with corporate headquarters in Philadelphia, is a mineral resource company engaged internationally in the manufacture and sale of refractories, building and insulating materials and filtration and filter products.

Stanton is a graduate of the University of Maryland and recently earned a master of science degree in management from Frostburg State College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stanton, Sr., Grantsville.

He resides in Cumberland with his wife, Carolee and children, Kevin and Lisa.

Bolden Opposes

standards set by the commission for redistricting, but Bolden says there is no constitution requirement for population ratios and points to court cases that uphold his view.

He recommended that if Garrett County could not stand alone as district 1A, the a second option should be to make District 1 a multi-member district in which citizens would vote on all three representatives for the district and each county would be guaranteed no less than one resident delegate.

He referred to Kent, Queen Anne and Cecil counties which are part of one multi-member district.

According to the commission's recommendation for reapportionment District 1 would retain its current boundary but the boundaries for 1A and 1B would change because of population changes in Garrett and Allegany counties. Garrett County gained 5000 people while Allegany County lost 4000.

The commission proposed taking the areas of Barton, Midland, and Bordon-Shaft out of the Garrett County district and including them in the Allegany county district to make up for the population change.

Second Impression

Tempus Fugit

by Harry Fox

Time passes. Our culture is built in so many ways on the passage of time. We plan our finances—"Your payment is now past due"—we measure our growth in years or in annual passages up the educational ladder. The mark of adulthood too often becomes an achievement of a certain age or period of years. Basic civil rights and cultural privileges are meted out upon reaching a certain age—the right to drive, to vote, to purchase beer, wine or liquors—all prerogatives of age.

Yet age has become something of a problem in a youthful culture that values many things not so easily connected with age. Not for us the custom of endowing old age with wisdom, respect and deference. "Elders" have been made over into "Senior Citizens" who must lobby vigorously against the barriers of a youth-dominated society.

My father always maintained that today's radicals become tomorrow's conservatives. I can't say he was right. Rather, it seems that our culture's values are constantly shifting so that what seems to be today's radicalism is really the youthful stirring of tomorrow's "mainstream" beliefs.

Another New Year's Day reminds folks of my generation of the relentless press of time, marching on until suddenly we will discover that the "youth" are right behind us—and just as outrageous as youth have always seemed to be to adults.

Time passes. Another December 31, another year to watch "the hopes and fears of all the years" merge with the reality of a new calendar. A year which promises to be just as simular as the last one, but also full of new opportunities.

bathroom area, however heat and smoke caused extensive damage throughout the entire house.

A spokesman for the Oakland fire department stated that the fire had apparently burned for sometime before it was discovered and, because no one was home at the time and the residence was closed up tightly, the fire consumed most of the oxygen in the structure and nearly burned itself out.

The incident was reportedly phoned into Garrett Central Alarm when passersby noticed smoke coming from the house.

Martin estimated the damage at $25,000 and determined that the cause was an improperly installed flue which caused linens inside a bathroom closet to ignite. Lewis reportedly had fire insurance on the dwelling.

Fire units remained on the scene until 6:37 p.m. Also responding were the county air cascade unit from Bittinger and the Southern Rescue Squad. Accident VFD was placed on standby. There were no injuries.

The Kitzmiller fire department was called to extinguish a dumpster fire on North Hill Road at 12:52 p.m., last Wednesday. They returned to the station at 1:33 p.m.

Oakland and Deer Park firefighters were called to the Don Nine apartments just outside of Oakland at 11:58 p.m., Wednesday, after smoke was reported in a second floor apartment coming from a first floor apartment. The smoke was a result of food having been left on a stove. Fire units returned at 12:30 a.m.

Deep Creek VFD responded to the residence of Ed Schmidt, located along U.S. Rt. 219, at 6:17 p.m., on Thursday to extinguish a flue fire. There was no damage and units returned to the station at 6:56 p.m.

On Saturday at 12:04 a.m., the Bittinger VFD was called to the residence of Donna Oester along Maynardier Ridge Road where a furnace had reportedly overheated. Firefighters remained on the scene until 12:34 a.m. There was no damage.

Oakland VFD was called to extinguish a tree fire along Sunnyside Road Saturday at 5:47 p.m. They returned at 7:03 p.m., and were called again at 11:37 p.m., to extinguish a dumpster fire along King's Run Road. Five trash containers were burning upon their arrival and they remained on the scene until 12:48 a.m.

Oakland was again summoned Monday at 4:09 p.m., to extinguish a flue fire at the residence of Dick Nace in Mitchell Manor. They returned to the station at 4:36 p.m. There was no damage.

Accident firemen responded Tuesday at 12:18 a.m., to a flue fire on Spear Road at the residence of David Schlossnagle. They returned to the station at 1:13 a.m.

Oakland VFD was called at 8:03 a.m., yesterday to extinguish a flue fire at the Richard Thorn residence on Silver Knob Road. The fire, which had originally been phoned in as a structure fire, was out upon their arrival. Deer Park VFD and air cascade were also called and then cancelled. Oakland VFD left the scene at 8:43 a.m.

One Killed

line, crossed the southbound lane and went onto the opposite shoulder. He then directed the automobile back onto the pavement directly in front of the block truck and collided with it head-on.

Rosage said that the truck lost half of the cement blocks it was carrying onto the roadway and the oil truck, in turn, ran over the blocks and veered off onto the left shoulder of the highway.

It was speculated that Morris had fallen asleep at the wheel and was then awakened when the car went off the road onto the shoulder, at which time he attempted to return to the roadway.

Neither Robertson nor DeWitt were injured.

Robertson stated that, at the last minute, he saw the Morris vehicle approaching him and he attempted to swerve to the left to miss the car, however there was not enough time to do so. Robertson said that when he knew there was no way to avoid a collision, he laid down on the seat to protect himself from the steering wheel and the possibility of the cement blocks coming in on top of him.

Garrett Central Alarm dispatched the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Oakland Fire Department to the scene at 12:09 p.m. Deputy medical examiner James H. Feaster, Jr. was also called to the scene where he pronounced Morris dead.

Morris was a native of Virginia and a son of Mrs. Maleta Morris Perdue of Pearisburg, Va., and the late William Morris. He was a veteran of Vietnam and was employed by the Mettiki Coal Company.

Surviving in addition to his mother are his widow, Mrs. Carole Jean (Welch) Morris, Oakland; two sons, Roger Earnest Morris, Jr. and William Todd Morris and one daughter, Rebecca Ann Morris, all at home; two sisters, Miss Cynthia Ann Perdue and Miss Mary Jane Perdue; three brothers, Jerry Wayne, Michael J. and Donald Ray Morris, all of Pearisburg.

Friends were received at the David A. Burdock Funeral Home in Kitzmiller. Services were held Saturday afternoon in the Nethken Hill Methodist Church by Rev. Gail Hixon. Interment was in Kalbaugh Cemetery.

Thieves

Cpl. Charles Hinnant is investigating the disappearance of the entryway.

Also reported was the theft of a television plus an undetermined amount of household goods from a cabin owned by Richard W. Plumb, located on the Stockslager Road.

According to the owner, entry was gained sometime during the last two weeks. The investigation is continuing.

An auto parked at the residence of Thomas Elwood Glotfelty, Accident, was discovered damaged by Glotfelty when he returned home on December 26.

According to police, an unknown culprit fired a shotgun blast through the side of the vehicle, breaking the rear passenger window and destroying the door and interior of the car. The incident occurred sometime between 1:30 and 4 p.m. that day.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

Monte Vista 4-H Club will meet January 7 at 7 p.m. in the Extension Office.

The buck starts here.

Making a start is probably the most important step toward saving.

There is a way to take the initial step and know you're on the right track toward a regular, scheduled savings. Just join the Payroll Savings Plan at work. A little is taken out of each paycheck toward the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. You don't have to worry about making a special effort to put something aside each payday. It's all done for you. Automatically.

The bucks start piling up, the interest grows, and you realize you've found one surefire way to save.

Take stock in America.

U.S. Savings Bonds

When you put your money into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for our country and for yourself.

CHLORINE GAS LEAK — The Friendsville Fire Department, Grantsville VFD rescue truck, the county air cascade unit from Bittinger and the Northern Rescue Squad were all summoned to the Friendsville water and sewage treatment plant at 4:28 p.m., Thursday after the cap blew off a tank of chlorine. David L. Riley, sewage plant technician, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was treated for chemical bronchitis and released. James Lininger, pictured above left, a member of Friendsville VFD, was treated at the scene after being overcome by carbon dioxide from a malfunctioning Chem-Ox breathing apparatus. Fire personnel remained on the scene for about two and a half hours to disssipate the chlorine with water. Chemtrec, the nationwide information center for handling emergency situations involving poisonous substances, was also consulted. In the photo, left to right, are Lininger, Carl Lefferts, Friendsville VFD; and Terry Spear, assistant chief of Friendsville VFD. Photo by Jeff Fratz.

PAYING OFF THE BALLOON

A second mortgage on a property can be a balloon mortgage in which only interest is paid during the term of the loan and the principal "balloons" and must be paid in full at the termination. If it's a six-year loan you may start to worry about how to raise the money come year number five.

One of the painless ways is to consider the magic of refinancing. Here's an example of how it would work.

Say the purchase price was $50,000 and you got a 25-year 8% loan with a first mortgage of $35,000 and a second mortgage of $5,000. If the property increased at only 6% per year, it would be worth about $67,000 after 5 years. If you refinanced with a 70% first mortgage ($47,000), this would give you enough cash to pay off your first mortgage balance of $32,300 plus your $5,000 second mortgage. Then you end up with almost $10,000 to put in your pocket - free from any current income tax. Always consider refinancing at a later date. It is one of the main financial tools of professional investors.

A CHRISTMAS CONCERT by the Northern High School Band was presented last Wednesday for the student body of the school and dedicated to Melvin Schwing, who recently retired after serving 27 years as band director and teaching music for 30 years. Betty Wellborn, president of the Band Boosters, spoke about Schwing's accomplishments over the years with the band. She announced that a scholarship to Frostburg State College Music Camp had been instituted in Mr. Schwing's name which will be awarded annually to an 11th grade student. Fred Fox, band president, pictured above with Schwing, presented him with a gold pocket watch and plaque.

Sarbanes Sponsors Bill To Curb Drunken Driving

U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Maryland, has joined in sponsoring legislation aimed at discouraging drunken driving nationwide. The bill, which would establish comprehensive alcohol-traffic safety programs, would "encourage state and local governments to expand enforcement against drunk drivers, and at the same time establish a strong national deterrent which will put every drinking driver on notice to expect strong mandatory punishment."

"Drunk driving incidents kill more than half of the 25,000 people who die on our nation's highways each year. Drunk drivers are the principle cause of death of Americans under age 35," Sarbanes said. Over 750,000 people are injured annually in incidents involving drinking drivers, he added.

"State law enforcement officers, especially in my own state of Maryland, are doing an admirable job with the resources available to them to combat this nationwide epidemic," Sarbanes said. "By providing nationwide minimum sentencing, better recordkeeping, uniform procedures for license suspension and revocation and a national requirement that persons convicted of drunk driving participate in a traffic safety or alcohol treatment program, we will be giving law enforcement personnel tools which are badly needed to seriously attack this problem which is truly national in scope."

The legislation Senator Sarbanes is sponsoring would provide that as a part of the Federal Highway Traffic Safety Program, persons convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol perform a minimum of ten days of community service as the alternative to and equivalent of jail. State and local law enforcement personnel could provide for stiffer punishment, but this would be the minimum. Persons convicted of drunk driving twice in a five-year period would be sentenced to a mandatory minimum sentence of ten days in jail.

In addition to requiring all convicted offenders to attend a traffic or alcohol safety program, all offenders would have their operator's licenses suspended or revoked, except that first time offenders could, if needed for work-related purposes obtain a "daytime only" license for essential driving. The bill would also encourage the establishment of record keeping systems which would help police and judges and motor vehicle administrators identify habitual offenders who are arrested repeatedly in different jurisdictions.

The legislation Senator Sarbanes is joining in sponsoring has received widespread bipartisan support, including sponsorship by Senators Pell, Glenn, Goldwater, Huddleston, Inouye and Mathias, as well as similar legislation proposed in the House of Representatives by Congressman Michael Barnes and others. It has been endorsed by the National Safety Council, the American Council on Alcoholism and other organizations concerned with highway safety. "The legislation does not require any new federal programs or appropriations, but does provide information that local administrators and law enforcement personnel need to provide a nationwide deterrent against drunken driving," Sarbanes concluded.

We're Fussy About Time

People have always been fussy about time. The annual coming and going of Daylight Saving Time is both welcomed and lamented in various parts of the country. Periodically, someone will announce that a better method of marking time has been developed and suggest that we should do away with the Gregorian calendar. For some time yet to come, however, time will remain as the weather—something we only talk about. The Gregorian calendar will be around for a while. Mathematicians estimate it will be accurate until at least 2500 A.D.

Perhaps the first fairly accurate calendar was devised by the ancient Egyptians. It consisted of 12 periods of 30 days each, with five days added to the last period just to keep things straight.

This method was somewhat similar to the Gregorian calendar, except that the Gregorian provides that years divisible by four, excluding the years numbering the centuries, shall have 366 days, while the century-marking years are leap years only if divisible by four after the ciphers have been removed.

Thus, leap years make it unnecessary to "tack on" those extra five days, because we are in tune with the solar year, which consists of 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds.

THE FIRST DAY

The New Year observance has not always been held on January 1.

March 25 was recognized as the first day of the year during middle ages. At one time, the date was June 21, the summer solstice, and again about September 21st, the autumn equinox.

Jewish people have celebrated their New Year in September or early October. The special occasion is called Rosh Hashanah, which means "The Feast of the Trumpets."

WASHINGTON FIRST

Some historians say that our first President, George Washington started the custom of receiving friends and holding "open house" at the nation's capital. Washington observed the custom in 1790, when New York was the seat of government. He made a practice of opening the doors of the presidential mansion for a reception each New Year's Day. Home and foreign diplomats as well as the local citizenry were invited.

LONGEST YEAR

Since mankind first decided that marking time by mere days and nights was insufficient a lot of shuffling has taken place to keep things in some semblance of order. Early calendars were not in exact accord with the solar year, so days were added now and then to keep things in line. The longest year of record, 46 B.C., had a total of 445 days. The mathematicians Julius Caesar put to work on the design of a new calendar discovered that the Roman Calendar created by Numa Pompilius in the seventh century B.C. had, in those seven centuries, fallen two months behind the sun. They solved the problem by inserting two months between November and December, for the year 46 B.C. only.

Judge Jones Hears Variety Of Charges

Two Deer Park women convicted of assault and battery of a police officer were placed on six-month's probation and ordered to refrain from assaultive conduct until judgment.

Judy Lenn Stemple, and her mother, Della Mae Stemple, were charged with physically assaulting Maryland State Police Cpl. Charles Hinnant in the detachment parking lot following an argument with a road trooper concerning a traffic violation ticket last September.

Richard Tasker, 25, Terra Alta, W. Va., was found guilty of public intoxication stemming from the report of a fight in progress at Ward's Bar, Oakland.

According to Cpl. Ronald Lewis, the investigating officer, Tasker refused to cooperate at the scene, becoming loud and disorderly.

Judge Jones fined the defendant $25.

Albert Paugh, 21, Swanton, was fined $100 after he pled guilty to charges of malicious destruction of property at the Garrett County jail.

According to the report, Paugh was brought to the jail in connection with an auto violation charge which involved the use of alcohol, and when placed in a padded cell for his protection, he broke the light fixture, and further damaged the interior of the area. Destruction cost was estimated at $50.

Judge Jones ordered restitution and alcoholic counseling. A three-month jail sentence was suspended, and the defendant was placed on 12-months supervised probation.

Two men from Swanton, Carl Lee, 22, and Gary Daniel Bray, 32, and a Rawlings resident, Fred Crossland, 32, were fined $250 each, sentenced to six months in jail, which was suspended, and placed on 24-months supervised probation after being found guilty of assault and battery, and destruction of property.

The victim, Jerry Cline, Oakland, reported that the trio attacked him while he was inside his vehicle, which was parked in the El Lobo Restaurant parking lot. He claims the three struck him about the face and shoulders, and damaged his vehicle and clothing during the melee.

In another destruction of property case, Walter Tasker, 18, Deer Park, was found guilty of breaking a window at Joe's place, Oakland.

According to the report, he was seen destroying the window by another customer.

Judge Jones fined the defendant $50 plus court costs. A 30-day jail term was suspended, and he was placed on 12-months supervised probation.

Denise Marie Tasker, 23, was charged by Diana Fay Rhodes, Bradley Manor, with the theft of $51 in cash from a dresser drawer in the Rhodes home.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Jones.

Harry Shahan, Oakland, was fined $50 plus court costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail, which was suspended, and placed on 12-months unsupervised probation as a result of being found guilty of issuing a bad check in the amount of $31.50.

The check was written to Hartman's Auto Parts store in October.

Judge Jones levied a $50 fine plus court costs, a 30-day jail term, which was suspended, and placed the defendant on 12-months unsupervised probation.

A Deer Park man, Leroy C. Stewart, was charged last August by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department with carrying a loaded handgun inside a vehicle and driving while intoxicated. A hearing was set for October 5, and when the defendant failed to appear, a bench warrant was issued.

Judge Jones found the defendant guilty, and ordered a special court investigation.

A Swanton woman, Karen Friend,, was placed on 12-months probation following charges by Ralph's Richfood, Mt. Lake Park, of issuing a worthless check in the amount of $18.28.

Robert Allen Sharpless, 21, Deer Park, was sentenced to serve six months in the Garrett County jail following his conviction of driving while intoxicated. He was also fined a total of $90, with $40 of that being suspended.

In addition, he was also sentenced to six months in jail for driving while his license was suspended, resisting arrest, and disorderly conduct (with an additional 30 day sentence) which are to be served concurrently with the DWI sentence, stemming from two separate incidents. Sharpless was convicted twice before for driving while under the influence of alcohol, possession of marijuana, and for disorderly conduct.

Browning's Supermarket, Mt. Lake Park, charged individuals with shoplifting. Kenneth Wayne Friend, 22, Swanton, was fined $25 and placed on 12-months unsupervised probation for leaving the store without paying for a package of chewing tobacco, valued at 63 cents.

According to the report, the defendant was observed by Kenneth Biser, a store employee. Biser reports that Friend took two packs of tobacco, laid one down on a shelf in another part of the store and left with the other.

Floyd Henry Mayle, 54, Oakland, was charged with the theft of a carton of cigarettes and a jar of olives after being observed by Biser.

Judge Jones levied a $50 fine plus court costs.

Karl Wilson, Jr., 41, Oakland, was found guilty of public intoxication and disorderly conduct after he attempted to forcibly enter the home of Sarah MacMurray, also of Oakland.

According to the report, Wilson was discovered sitting in a chair by Molly MacMurray, and would not leave when asked by the complainant.

Judge Jones levied a 28-day jail sentence, with 28 days credit for time awaiting trial, plus court costs of $15.

Sgt. Gail P. Stewart, Jr., grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carr, and his wife, Luzviminda, returned from a two-year tour overseas, and spent the Christmas holiday at home.

During the two-year tour overseas, Sgt. Stewart made visits to Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Singapore, Thailand, Gwan, in addition to serving a nine-month tour of duty as an instructor in the Philippines where he met his wife.

On Monday they left for California where he will be stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Airman Joseph A. Paolucci III, son of Grace E. Bradley of Route 1, Swanton, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associates degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

He is a 1979 graduate of Southern High School.

Southern Gains Snowball Finals Berth With Win Over Bedford

The Southern Rams will face St. Maria Goretti of Hagerstown this evening in the finals of the annual Snowball Basketball Tournament, which is hosted by the Rams. Southern earned a finals berth by defeating Bedford last evening, 45-32, in a defensive contest. St. Maria whipped St. Francis of Morgantown in the opening contest, 79-75.

After a 6-6 tie at the end of the first quarter, the Rams pulled out in front for good in the second stanza and held a 18-11 advantage at the half. The Rams' lead was expanded to 28-19 by the end of the third period.

Leading the Rams' scoring were Ron Bosley, Dave Harsh and Rick Selders, who bucketed 12, 11 and ten points, respectively. Scott Hardinger was Bedford's top point producer with nine.

Southern outshot Bedford from the floor by a 21-12 margin and connected on three of four foul shots, compared to an eight-for-13 showing by the Pennsylvanians.

In the opening game, St. Maria was behind at the half, 40-34, but surged to a 61-54 lead by the end of the third quarter. St. Francis battled back to knot the score at 71-71 with about three minutes remaining, however, St. Maria broke the tie and held on for the win.

John Sommer led the winners with 20 points, while Jerry Brode hit 15, Mark Scallion, 17, Matt Burback, 12, and Rob Casear, 11.

St. Francis was led by Bruce Sidwell who finished with 22 points.

Bedford and St. Francis will meet this evening at 7 p.m. for the consolation title and the Rams and St. Maria will do battle immediately afterwards.

The Rams, under Coach Tom Bosley, are now 4-3 on the season. St. Maria Goretti is 10-2, Bedford, 5-4 and St. Francis, 1-1.

HOLIDAY TOAST

No one knows who raised a glass and proposed the first "toast" on a New Year occasion. We do know that the ancients followed a successful harvest or hunt with a "toast," although the word itself goes back only to the 17th century custom of placing a bit of toasted bread in a cup of wine. The broken-glass toast is a military tradition of long-standing. A toast is offered to the queen and the empty glass thrown into the fireplace. Breaking the glass supposedly prevented someone unlucky from spoiling the wish for good health by drinking from the same glass.

Nehlen Counting On Luck's Arm And His Head In Peach Bowl

ATLANTA (UPI) — West Virginia coach Don Nehlen feels his quarterback, Oliver Luck, is "so smart — it's scary."

There's justification for Nehlen's comment because Luck, who is best known for aerial bombs he will aim at the Florida Gators in the 14th annual Peach Bowl Thursday, is in a select academic class.

Luck, a senior, has compiled a 3.96 grade-point average and was a candidate for a prestigious Rhodes scholarship to study at Oxford University in London.

He didn't succeed in the regional Rhodes competition but still boasts a 3.96 grade-point average.

"It was disappointing not getting the Rhodes scholarship only because of the time I put into it," Luck said.

Over the past two weeks, he had to take final exams, go to both Charleston, W.Va., and Baltimore, Md., for interviews in the Rhodes, and fit in practice with his Mountaineer teammates.

Nehlen said Luck needs to be told what to do only once and "if you change and tell him differently the next time, he reminds you of what you told him the time before."

The 6-foot-2, 190-pounder from Cleveland, who holds most of West Virginia's passing records, will be relying on his strong arm to speak for him against the Gator defense.

Luck passed for 2,341 yards as the Mountaineers ran up a 8-3 record in 1981, eclipsing the school record by 20 yards set in 1972 by Bernie Galiffa. His 202 completions and 317 attempts were also new records.

But all the brainpower isn't on the Mountaineer side. Florida put a record seven first-team players on the all-Southeastern Conference academic team, headed by sophomore quarterback Wayne Peace.

Peace, of Lakeland, Fla., ended the regular season against Floria State with his finest game yet, hitting 20 of 33 passing attempts for four touchdowns and 275 yards. He also gave defending national champion Georgia fits before the Gators succumbed 26-21 in the final minutes.

Three of the other academic Gators — 274-pound tackle David Galloway who collected 21 quarterback sacks in his career, 240-pound nose guard Robin Fisher and cornerback Vito McKeever — may test Luck's aerial success severely. Florida finished first in the SEC and 11th in the country in total defense, and was second against the pass, allowing only 129 yards per game.

"They've got a pretty fierce pass rush," conceded Luck, who has been sacked only six times in 1981.

That defense made the Gators a 7½ point favorite for the 3 p.m. EST game at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium. It will be televised by CBS.

Huskies To Meet Mt. Savage In Tri-Towns Tourney Finals

The Northern Huskies staged a fourth quarter rally and went on to defeat the Bruce Bulldogs last night, 54-49, in the second game of the Tri-Towns Holiday Tournament in Westernport. Mt. Savage's win over East Preston, 59-43, in the opening contest set the stages for the finals this evening between the Huskies and Indians.

Northern was on top, 11-8, at the end of the first quarter, but turned the lead over to the Bulldogs, 25-24, at intermission. The third quarter was dead even, as it closed with Bruce still on top by one, 39-38. However, behind the shooting of Brad and Lowell Yoder, the Huskies pulled away for good in the final stanza.

Brad Yoder finished with 18 points on six goals and six of eight free throws, while Lowell hit 16 points on five buckets and six of seven free tosses.

It was at the foul line that the Huskies won the contest, sinking 18 of 24, while Bruce connected on only three of 11. The Bulldogs outgunned the Huskies from the floor by a 23-18 margin.

Dave Morris, one of the area's leading scorers, paced the Bulldogs with 20 points on ten fielders.

The win was the fourth in seven outings for Northern, while Bruce dropped to 3-3.

In the opening game, Mt. Savage expanded a one-point lead at the end of the first quarter to a 28-21 advantage at the half over East Preston. The tribe widened the gap to 39-27 heading into the final stanza.

Mike Matthews connected for 19 points for Mt. Savage, while teammates Mark Williams and Dave Reith contributed 14 and 12, respectively.

The West Virginians' offensive effort was led by Mark Doll who hit 12 and Pat 'Adams who finished with ten.

East Preston and Bruce will meet in the consolation contest at 6 p.m. this evening. Coach Harv Speicher's Huskies will meet Mt. Savage for the championship at 8 p.m.

It's YOUR Money

By Randle A. Rodeheaver

A BUDGET IS ONLY A PLAN

Charles Dickens' colorful character, Micawber, pronounced the definitive statement on money management about a hundred years ago: "Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen, nineteen and six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds, ought and six, result misery."

The difference between happiness and misery may be just as minor a matter as that twelve pence of expenses—it's often just a small loss of control.

Setting up a budget sounds strict and forbidding to many people, but actually, a budget is only a plan, a chance to measure the money coming in and weigh it against what you want to do with it.

Start first with your income: what remains after income taxes, Social Security, and any other inescapable deductions. Voluntary deductions should not be considered now. Next, tackle the inescapable expenses: rent or mortgage, real estate taxes (if any), utilities, and food. Big expenses such as insurance should be included, and a portion of that expense allocated for each month.

The rest can be considered discretionary income, money that can be spent as you need or wish. Before you allocate it, review how you spent your money last year; that may offer clues to leaks in your ship of finance. Go through your checkbook and credit card statements. If you'd like to travel more this year, for instance, figure out where you can cut down.

Don't plan how you will spend it all. Contingencies will arise, from blown-out tires to dentist bills. Still, if you have a budget, however loose, you have a framework within which to remain safe and solvent—and, if Micawber is right, happy.

Attorney General's Docket

by Stephen H. Sachs
Attorney General of Maryland

"Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back" is a familiar slogan. It also is a warranty. Maryland consumers should know that there are a number of rights they are entitled to under both state and federal warranty laws that seek to make sure that the satisfaction and services you're guaranteed isn't an empty promise.

There are three kinds of warranties: written, spoken and implied. Under Maryland law, an implied warranty is given to consumers almost every time they buy something. It's not a written guarantee, and the merchant doesn't even have to discuss it with you. An implied warranty simply guarantees that the product you buy is fit for the ordinary uses for which it was purchased. There's no set time limit on an implied warranty. If a product doesn't last for a reasonable period of time, and you've been careful to maintain it properly, you can make a claim against the seller on the grounds that the item you bought was of substandard or inferior quality.

Spoken warranties frequently are made and even more frequently ignored. A salesperson can assure you that the store will fix a product if it goes on the fritz, and while such a spoken guarantee is binding legally, as a practical matter it often is only as strong as the salesperson's trustworthiness or the willingness of the store owner to back it up. Be sure to have the salesperson put such a pledge in writing.

Most costly products with a lot of parts come with written warranties, and the terms of various manufacturer and merchant warranties can differ greatly. Under federal law, the written warranties on any consumer product costing more than $15 must be made available to you before you buy, so you can compare the terms and find out precisely what the seller or maker is guaranteeing and for how long.

Under federal law, all warranties must be labled either "full" or "limited." A "full" warranty means that a defective product will be:

•repaired or replaced free;

•repaired within a reasonable period of time after you've reported the problem;

•repaired for whoever owns the product during the warranty period.

You don't have to go out of your way to get service under a "full" warranty. For example, you shouldn't have to lug a heavy piece of equipment back to the store on your own, and if the product seems to resist all reasonable attempts to repair it, you can get a new one or a refund under what is commonly known as a full warranty's "lemon" provision.

A "limited" warranty, understandably, guarantees you less than a "full" one. Read it carefully to find out exactly what is being guaranteed and — perhaps more important — what is not being guaranteed. Under a limited warranty:

•You may have to pay for labor, reinstallation or other repair costs;

•You may have to haul a heavy product back to the store for service, or do something else inconvenient in order to get an item repaired.

There is no "lemon" provision in a limited warranty, but a limited warranty doesn't mean you're more likely to get a lemon or that your item is not as good as one with a full warranty and won't work as promised. Under a limited warranty, you're entitled to what the warranty promises, and the company or seller must honor those pledges.

Maryland law says that under either full or limited warranties, if you make a complaint about the product while the warranty is still in effect, but the warranty expires before the product is repaired, the warranty won't run out until the repair is made. Then the warranty is extended for the period it took for the repair to be made.

Warranties come free with a product. Sometimes you may be offered an opportunity to purchase an "extended warranty" or "additional warranty coverage," but these actually are service contracts. Remember you already have both an implied warranty when you buy any kind of consumer product, as well as the written warranties — either full or limited — that often come with more expensive goods. Read the written warranty carefully, consider what it and the implied warranty offer, and decide whether you think additional protection is needed. Then read the proposed service contract and see if you want what it provides and are willing to pay for it.

In order to avoid problems obtaining the service due you under your written warranty, be sure to keep the sales slip with the warranty so you can prove when you bought the product. It's also important not to abuse or misuse the product and to make sure it has whatever maintenance is required by the company for the warranty to apply.

If you have problems having the seller or manufacturer of a product fulfill a warranty, contact our Consumer Protection Division. We'll do all we can to make sure the warranty issuer honors both the guarantees given and the law that protects you.

Earliest Celebrations

In the United States the West can hear or see by means of radio or television the earlier celebrations in the East. Pandemonium sets in at Times Square when the old year is over.

While many Americans celebrate New Year's Eve in this fashion, others consider its arrival more seriously. They take stock of themselves, review their mistakes and failures and resolve to do better.

Making New Year's resolutions has long been an American custom, even though some scoff at the idea and few succeed in keeping them.

Straight Talk About Aging

FOOD SHOPPING AND YOUR BUDGET

By Matthew Tayback
State Director On Aging

Have you ever thought of using your grocery list as a budget management tool? It's an idea from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service, and it's one that can work for many people, especially the elderly, for whom food costs constitute a disproportionately large percentage of income.

Since the idea is based on the assumption that cost-conscious, experienced food shoppers will already have a pretty good grasp of the costs of the items they most frequently use, we'll start with the same assumption. The procedure, then, is this:

With pencil and paper, sit down and determine the amount of money you have to spend on food each week.

Next, plan menus for a week. Once you've done that, break your menus down into food groups: dairy products, meat, poultry, fish and eggs; flour, cereal, baked goods; and fruits and vegetables. This step will allow you to make sure your menus are nutritionally balanced. It will also allow you to apportion percentages of your weekly food budget to each group.

You can do that by making a simple, "fill-in-the-blanks" sort of chart, setting up each food group as a major heading. Then, under each heading, list the specific food or ingredient you'll need to prepare your week's menu. Beside the name of each food, write down its cost.

When you've finished each food-group's list of items and costs, total the costs and compare the sum to the amount you've budgeted for the week.

If you find you've been following that old "champagne taste, beer pocketbook" theory, go back and re-work your menu with more of an eye toward economy (but always be mindful of nutritional balance).

On the other hand, your figures might surprise you. If you've really been careful about costs, you could wind up with a bit of a "surplus". This is money you might save, spend for a special treat, or perhaps use to buy enough extra to allow you to entertain a friend at lunch or supper.

As you're working out your list, remember to include a "Miscellaneous" category. Here is where you put such items as soaps and cleansers, or such staples as sugar, coffee or tea.

When you get to the store, shop strictly according to your plan, but be flexible within its categories. If, for instance, you need canned tomatoes for a stew or soup, buy Grade C rather than Grade A. The lower grade will be lighter in color and less uniform in size, but it will be cheaper. And who is concerned about uniformity of size in a stew?

Don't forget to compare prices and unit costs among brands, especially when they're packed in newly-designed containers. And if you come across some extremely good sales, check your list and see if you can take advantage of it by making a menu substitute.

Good food-shopping planning should help you keep control over your purse strings. It should also help you shop less frequently. That way, you'll save time, energy and gasoline as well as food costs.

SPANISH HOLIDAY

In Jerez and other areas of Spain, families gather on New Year's Eve to celebrate with music and entertainment. It is customary for each person present to receive twelve grapes. When the clock strikes midnight, each person begins to eat, hopefully to consume the entire dozen before the twelfth stroke of the bell, thus insuring a Happy New Year.

TAX SAVINGS FOR EVERY WORKER
Income tax deductions! This great benefit of Individual Retirement Accounts is available to every American wage earner. Even if you are covered by a company or Keogh pension plan where you work, you can open an Individual Retirement Account and save additional tax-deductible money toward your retirement. Saving tax dollars builds your fund in a way that may amaze you. (Let one of our counselors show you actual figures based on your individual retirement savings program.)

HOW MUCH CAN YOU SAVE?
"Regular" IRA
Any worker may set up a Regular IRA. Annual contributions can be up to $2,000 or 100% of compensation, whichever is less, tax-deferred. You may elect to contribute smaller amounts, of course. And you may save in a lump sum each year, or in smaller amounts throughout the year.
If both husband and wife work, each may establish his or her own IRA. Each may contribute up to $2,000 annually, or 100% of compensation, whichever is less.

EVERY WAGE EARNER CAN DECREASE INCOME TAXES NOW . . . AND INCREASE RETIREMENT INCOME

WHEN ARE TAXES PAID?
No federal income tax is paid on either savings or interest until funds are withdrawn at retirement, (after age 59½). At that time most individuals are in a lower tax bracket, with perhaps more exemptions available. Thus the tax savings can be considerable.

HOW ARE BENEFITS TAXED?
Benefits are taxed as ordinary income as they are received in a taxable year. If you choose to receive your benefits in a lump sum, you may be able to use the five-year income averaging provisions available to all tax payers.

WHEN ARE BENEFITS PAID?
Benefits are payable upon retirement but cannot begin before you become 59½ or are permanently disabled ... distribution must begin no later than age 70½. Upon death, the IRA funds will go to your named beneficiary.
You may elect to receive your retirement benefits in a lump sum or by regularly scheduled checks drawn from your savings account.

* Open your IRA account in January and receive 25% per annum for the first 30 days and select one of our two plans for the remaining 18 month term following this bonus period.

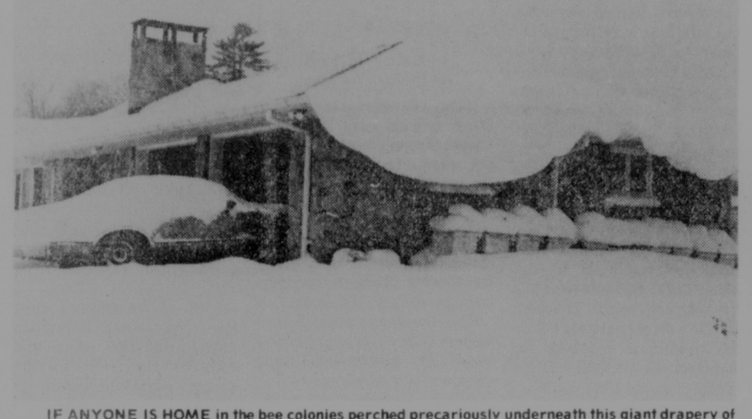
Although the numerals on this speed limit sign are covered by mother nature's white stuff, only a foolish driver would travel at excessive speeds during a storm like this one which was received on the mountaintop about two weeks ago. A few days of rain caused most of the snow to melt last week, however two fresh inches arrived on Monday. Photos by Craig Phillips



IF ANYONE IS HOME in the bee colonies perched precariously underneath this giant drapery of snow on the side of the John Fitzwater, Jr., home, they've probably begun to hum strains of "Bustin' Loose" or "You Don't Send Me Flowers Any More." This scene, captured during the early December snowstorms, depicts one of many around the county after a warming trend begins to melt the typical heavy snowfall of a Garrett County winter.

Veterans' Burial Benefits Noted

The Veterans Administration recently reminded former servicemen and women that awareness of VA burial benefits can often spare a family anxiety and financial hardship immediately following the veteran's death.

Interment in a national cemetery is available, for example, to veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. The eligible veteran's spouse and minor children, and, under certain conditions, unmarried adult children, are eligible also. Some national cemeteries have no remaining space, however.

VA will furnish a headstone or marker to memorialize a veteran or mark the grave of a veteran buried in a national, state or private cemetery. VA will also provide markers to eligible dependents interred in a national or state veterans' cemetery.

According to VA regional director, Milford J. Clayton, recent legislation has broadened eligibility for memorial headstones or markers. Under the new authority, Clayton said, VA can provide these services to all veterans whose remains have not been recovered or identified. This includes those who were buried at sea—whether by the veteran's own choice or otherwise—those whose bodies were donated to science, and those who were cremated and the ashes scattered without burying any portion of the ashes.

The new law also requires a memorial section be set aside in a national cemetery if one does not already exist and where land is available.

VA also provides up to $300 toward the burial expenses of eligible veterans and an additional $150 as a plot or interment allowance if the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery or other government cemetery, Clayton added.

Effective October 1, 1981, the burial allowance, previously available to all wartime veterans, is now limited by public law to veterans eligible for VA pension or compensation and to those who die in VA medical facilities. The plot allowance, not affected by the new law, is available to all veterans who served during war periods.

If the veteran's death is service-connected, VA will pay an amount not to exceed $1,100 in lieu of the usual burial and plot allowance.

VA will also provide:

*an American flag upon request for use in covering a casket;

*a reimbursement for part of the cost of a private headstone or marker bought and placed on the grave of a veteran. The current amount is $63.00, the average cost of headstones purchased by VA; and,

*Presidential memorial certificates expressing our nation's grateful recognition of the deceased veteran's service which bear the signature of the President.

In addition to VA burial benefits, veterans and their dependents may be eligible for a lump sum monetary death benefit provided by the Social Security Administration. Local SSA offices have details.

For more information on VA burial benefits persons may contact any VA office or national cemetery. Toll-free numbers to VA regional offices are listed in the telephone white pages under "U.S. Government."

Bond Issuance

analysis and a precise listing of projects and amounts for a bond.

Besides the general obligation bond the commissioners discussed the following legislation with the legislators:

— Legislation to stipulate that existing Community Action Agencies in the state would receive the same percentage of available funds as in previous years. Duane Yoder, director of Garrett County Community Action Committee, explained the legislation to the legislators and requested their support.

He noted that in the past the federal government has allocated money the the CACs, but now state's will receive block grants and will have to allocate the money. He said the Garrett County CAC could lose as much as $100,000 if this legislation fails.

— As a housekeeping measure, the commissioners requested the legislators propose a bill to raise the limitation for projects which have to be bid from $500 to $2000.

— The commissioners requested a bill to impose a lodging tax which would generate revenues to be used specifically for the Deep Creek Lake - Garrett County Promotion Council. Although the commissioners emphasized that the tax would be a user tax, not a tax on county residents, neither legislator supported the idea. Bolden said he would first want to hear from hotel and motel owners in the county.

— The commissioners noted they were considering county-wide zoning, but wanted to put it on a referendum vote. Both legislators agreed to find out whether they needed enabling legislation to put the question on a ballot.

— The two legislators agreed to investigate the commissioners request to change a state mandate that reimbursement for livestock kills come only from dog license tag revenues. The commissioners said they could not generate enough money with dog tag revenues and were two years behind in reimbursements to county livestock owners.

The New Year Around The World

Tradition has it that in Scotland the first one in a house on New Year's Day gets a big bear hug. Why? Because he has brought the host good luck. Midnight Scot celebrators carry cakes and spiced ale to wish their host a good year.

Italians consider January 1st as part of their yuletide festival, and so revel until 12th night, 12 days after Christmas.

Near China, in old japan, New Year's was a time for everybody to don new clothes, take three days off from work and visit with their friends. Each gatepost would be adorned with green pines and bamboo. And over each door would hang red lobsters, crabs and scarlet tangerines, standing for long life and happiness.

Gypsies in Spain used to marry on New Year's eve. The 18th century writer George Borrow tells us that a main feature of the bridal ceremony was the feasting associated with it. Once the gypsy couple took their vows, guests swirled down sherry and ate and sang and danced throughout the night and day.

In ancient China, people took a different approach to the First Day. They cleaned house, paid debts and closed their shops. Then they shot off their firecrackers. What a sight to see a New Year's in Chinatown of a big American city, with its colorful procession and fiery paper dragons breathing good cheer to everyone.

Since antiquity, Jewish people have celebrated their New Year's late in September or early October. The special name which was given this momentous occasion, Rosh Hashanah, means "The Feast of the Trumpets."

Russian people, long ago, welcomed the New Year in with a hundred cannon shots at midnight.

BIG HOLIDAY

The New Year in China compares to the American Fourth of July, Christmas and Thanksgiving rolled into one. To the accompaniment of exploding firecrackers, everyone feasts exchanges presents and cards and makes ceremonial visits to relatives and friends. Traditionally, all family debts are paid on the first day of the New Year.

Professor, On Retirement, Views Changes In Higher Education

INSTITUTE, W.Va. (UPI) — When Charles Byrd arrived at West Virginia State, he would have been the last person to predict he would stay for 40 years.

It was the start of World War II — a month after Pearl Harbor, in fact — and the 22-year-old professor had been transferred to West Virginia to set up a college war production training program.

"I came against my will," Byrd said. "I was teaching at Hampton (Va.) Institute, my alma mater, and didn't want to leave.

"I didn't know I was being conscripted. I thoght Lincoln had freed the slaves. But they were sending me to West Virginia — that God-forsken place."

When he arrived, it was the snowing and temperatures were hovering between zero and 32 degrees, he said.

"I wanted to leave," he recalled. "In fact, I think I quit once a month for the first three years I lived here."

His resignations were ignored and on Jan. 5 Byrd will retire. At 62 years of age and with 40 years of teaching under his belt, no one on the State faculty has been there longer than Byrd.

Byrd was a black professor at an all-black school back in the early years. But in 1954, a U.S. Supreme Court ruling ended segregation.

"It took us by surprise," Byrd said. "But we thought maybe we'd have a kid or two from Dunbar come over, and maybe another from St. Albans. Little did we dream that on the first day of registreation, we'd have 200 white kids. And during the second semester, we had another 100. We weren't prepared, but we took it in stride."

Byrd said the transition was generally smooth, but not without its tensions and incidents. The school survived attacks by both by the black and white communities, he said.

He gives a large amount of the credit to William J.L. Wallace, president of the college at the time.

"It wasn't an easy job for him," Byrd said. "We were in a very precarious position because we knew we were in a community that did not subscribe to the idea of mixing..."

"Naturally, there were occasions when frictions did arise among students. But we didn't want any headlines of, quote, inter-racial incidents.

"As far as the public was concerned, we didn't have such incidents. But those of us on the inside knew we did. They occurred between students and between faulty.

"But they were handled as they came up. And I would dare say that we have perhaps more animosity between the races now than we had then. But it's more subtle now."

Looking back, Byrd said that while it wasn't easy, desegregation was made to work.

"But if I were to pick out one thing in this whole microcosm of history between '54 and '82, it would be that West Virginia State had a group of people in 1954 who seized upon an opportunity to be what America is all about."

WVU Technician Finds Improvements For Almost Everything Under The Sun

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (UPI) — For Clyde Hindman, gizmos and gadgets that are merely good are never good enough.

And if there's a way to make one better, you can bet Hindman will be working on it.

Hindman, an engineering technician at West Virginia University Hospital, spends much of his time in the physical plant at the Basic Science Building tinkering his way toward improvements in medical and household devices.

"I try to make things that work better and easier," he said.

For instance, there is the device that injects radioactive iodine seeds into the prostate gland for the treatment of cancer. Hindman developed that one — an improvement on the device already in use — in about four hours.

He said doctors seem pleased with it, but added he's not seeking a patent on it.

"It doesn't have great sales potential," he said. "It is not a volume item. A hospital can only use so many."

But while Hindman downplayed the device, others don't. Officials at the West Virginia University Foundation, Inc. say they may attempt to get a patent on the injector to lend a little prestige to the university hospital. And itrecently won a second-place prize in a medical show.

Hindman's creativity isn't limited to the medical world. He's also worked some improvements on everyday devices. For instance, there's the stainless steel arrow.

"It can just go like anything because it has a broader range," he said, explaining it's due to concave linear recesses in the arrow's structure.

"The basic idea can be applied to nails. Nails and spikes could be made strong and would have better holding power," he said. "In fluorescent lights it would reduce the interior area and would save the amount of gas used.

And then there's the set of improved shower heads. Hindman said he's developed three of those in which he managed to eliminate the "dead" spot in the middle of the shower head.

One invention he said he's working on could be used on a regular basis by people across the country. He refused to reveal much about it, saying only that it will change the nature of paper money.

Hindman said he caught the tinkering bug while being trained in a high school machine shop. He's been at it ever since.

He also said he's considered going to work for the government.

MSHA Accepts WVU Mine Rescue Training Material

MORGANTOWN, W.VA.—The mine rescue team training material developed by West Virginia University has been accepted for use by the Federal Mine Safety and Health Administration.

"These materials meet the rescue team's training needs for both the 20-hour initial program and the annual 40-hour refresher course," according to William E. Moser, project director for mine rescue in WVU's Mining and Industrial Extension Service. "They are applicable to coal, metal and non-metal mines."

Moser is not only an experienced miner, he was a mine safety trainer as well as the captain of the rescue team.

Under federal law each mine operator must provide rescue teams in case there is an underground emergency. Team members must be "physically fit, properly trained and appropriately equipped." In addition, each member is required to have at least a year's experience underground in the past five years.

"At the beginning of the project, we realized that existing materials had led to a remarkable range of standards and practices in training teams for underground emergencies," Moser said. "There was also a clear need for professionalism in dealing with underground emergencies. To achieve this was doubly difficult because of the part-time, voluntary basis of team membership.

"Fundamentally, the teaching materials would have to serve in a framework that honored superior competence, high-energy, self-esteem and the experience of exclusiveness," Moser said. "And we feel that the final materials constitute a fairly exhaustive list of what mine rescue team members should know and be able to do."

Before serving on a mine rescue team, a person must complete an initial 20-hour course in the use, care and maintenance of some type of self-contained breathing apparatus.

This course is covered with eight training modules that consist of introductions to mine rescue and to self-contained breathing apparatus, instructions on how to use five different models of breathing apparatus and on auxiliary equipment.

After completing the initial course, team members must take a 40-hour refresher course each year. This course is covered by seven training modules—surface organization, mine gases, mine ventilation, exploration, fires, firefighting and explosions; rescue of survivors and recovery of bodies, and mine recovery.

These teaching materials were prepared under a contract with the U.S. Bureau of Mines in conjunction with the National Mine Rescue Association.

For more information on teaching and training mine rescue teams, contact William E. Moser at the Mining and Industrial Extension Service, West Virginia University, Bicentennial House, Morgantown, WV 26506; phone (304) 293-4211.

Preston Co. Deputies Resign

KINGWOOD, W.Va. (UPI) — Two fired Preston County sheriff's deputies reinstated by the county's Civil Service Commission several weeks ago have decided to resign.

Sgt. William Borchert's and Deputy Freddie Harrison's resignations became effective Dec. 23. Borchert said Tuesday he was quitting because he could not work under current conditions in the sheriff's office. He would not elaborate on what those conditions were.

He also said he did not think he could be treated fairly.

Sheriff Jim Liller fired Harrison and Borchert earlier this year after a female inmate charged they harassed her sexually. She said Borchert entered her cell and kissed her passionately on one occasion and that Harrison watched her while she was in the jail's shower.

The Civil Service Commission reinstated both men after ruling there were no grounds for dismissing them.

No Charges Made In Fatality

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (UPI) — No charges are likely to be filed against a woman who was behind the wheel of a car which struck and killed a 65-year-old Maryland man, Jefferson County Sheriff Donald Giardino said Tuesday.

The county sheriff's office identified the victim as William Clayton Arnett of Westminster.

The accident occurred Monday evening on Kearneysville-Leetown Road. Arnett died two hours later at Jefferson Memorial Hospital.

Giardino said the driver of the car which struck Arnett as Irene Faircloth of Rt.3 Kearneysville.

Byrd Approves Polish Sanctions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Minority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Tuesday he was "heartened" that President Reagan is imposing sanctions against the Soviet Union in the Polish crisis.

"It is the Soviet government which is responsible for the repression the Polish people are suffering," the West Virginia senator said.

Byrd said the United States would be in a better position to win support from its allies if this country hadn't lifted the grain embargo that was ordered against the Soviet Union during its invasion of Afghanistan.

"The grain embargo was a heavy price, but the administration lifted it without any quid pro quo from the Soviets," Byrd said. "I'm afraid we didn't demonstrate leadership in the free world by lifting the embargo."

W. Va. Ruling Tightens Debt Collection

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — In a unanimous opinion Tuesday, the state Supreme Court ruled that collection agencies cannot sue in magistrate court to collect debts from individuals.

The high court held that agents of collection firms were illegally acting as lawyers when they sought to collect in one lump sum, debts owed by individuals to various creditors.

The court said that the purpose of the so-called "people's court," was not to authorize laymen to engage in the practice of law free from regulation.

"To hold that a collection agency may appear regularly in magistrate court as the representative of creditors seeking to recover debts," Justice Darrell V. McGraw Jr. wrote for the court, "would be to pervert the legitimate purpose of the statutory scheme in providing an inexpensive and efficient procedure for resolution of disputes by the parties themselves and would turn the magistrate court into an enforcement agency of debt collectors."

The case came out of Boone County where South Charleston Adjustment Bureau, using a common practice of collection agencies, had obtained a default judgment in magistrate court against Woodie Frieson, of Sang Creek.

South Charleston Adjustment Bureau sought to collect three separate debts owed by Frieson to the Charleston Area Medical Center, C&P Telephone Co. and Associated Radiologists Inc. The collecion firm consolidated the bilis into one claim totalling $434.14.

Frieson, who has a wife and six children, earned $690 a month as a state Department of Highways employee.

In his appeal, Frieson contended the complaint against him did not adequately inform him of the nature of the separate claims against him, or whether he had been credited with any payments.

West Va. Corrections Officials Study Cost Of Prisoner Programs

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Officials of the state Department of Corrections said Tuesday they do not know how much additional money they will need to prepare and implement prisoner rehabilitation programs.

In a case brought by 10 inmates at the State Prison for Women in Pence Springs, the state Supreme Court last week ordered the deparment to come up with plans that will affect 1,200 prisoners in the three state-run prisons.

The inmates said they were not receiving daily outdoor exercise and meaningful educational and rehabilitation programs.

In an interview earlier this week, Corrections Commissioner Joseph McCoy said his department would have to exceed its budgetary limits under the court's order, but did not say by how much.

William Whyte, the deputy commissioner, was not able to shed any more light on the matter Tuesday.

"Obviously, we haven't been officially se4ved with the court document yet, and we're just now putting together plans on how to approach it," he said.

He added he is planning to chair a task force that will develop the department's overall plan of action.

Under the court's order, the department will have six months to come up with the plans for prisoners at Pence Springs, the State Penitentiary at Moundsville and the Huttonsville Correctional Center. McCoy said the department should have no trouble meeting that timetable.

McCoy said his department will have to provide a level of classification, education and rehabilitatibn programs that meet the American Correctional Association standards.

The commissioner said the present classification program is designed to indicate the level of security each inmate will need, his skill level and intelligence. But he said the current methods don't match each individual's interests and needs for rehabilitation.

Whyte said the impact of the decision by the state court is unlikely to extend beyond statelines.

"The trend in the country is going away from prisoner rehabilitation, not toward it," Whyte said.

Surplus Bargain-Hunting Is Full-Time Job For State Employee

DUNBAR, W.Va. (UPI) — George Afflerbach is a scavenger for the state.

Afflerbach's job is to locate surplus equipment for state, county and municipal government agencies at the best possible price. As such, his shopping list includes an atomic absorption photospectrometer, pontoon bridges, a 50-foot landing craft and football equipment.

More common requests are for ambulances, trucks and other heavy equipment.

"Everybody wants it yesterday," Afflerbach said. "Some people just want new stuff, it seems. But I enjoy helping those who can see the value in surplus goods.

"We always get request for firetrucks and bulldozers. Many county and cities need the bulldozers for their landfills."

The surplus equipment often looks and works like new, he said. And some communities do a better job than others of utilizing it, he said.

"Al Fiorini, the city's garage maintenance chief, does absolutely beautiful work," Afflerbach said. "Once I was up there looking at their equipmen and they had what looked like a brand-new ambulance.

"They had been asking us to find them an ambulance. I said 'What happened? Did you go out and buy a new one?'

"He just smiled and said, 'That's the one you got for us.'"

The savings Afflerbach encounters can be substantial. A surplus street sweeper was found for $2,500. A new one goes for $30,000, he said.

The state gets 1.11 percent of all federal government surplus. Afflerbach's department takes it and turns around and sells it local governments.

What can't be distributed to various governmental agencies is sold at public auction.

"Office equipment and furniture is one of our biggest moneymakers," he said. "More and more, I'm getting calls from lawyers and other professionals who say they are setting up offices and need desks and chairs.

"In February, we'll have our annual sale of used state police cruisers. A lot of towns and villages couldn't afford the heavy-duty package they come up with, such as a large engine, suspension system and so on."

County Police Investigate D.O.P. Reports

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is investigating two apparently related destruction of property reports in Swanton which occurred between 10 p.m. on Dec. 25 and 7:25 a.m. Dec. 26.

Roy Alvie Dillsworth, Swanton, reported on Dec. 26 at 9:42 a.m. that sometime during the night vandals had broken the mirror of his 1976 Chevrolet truck with a beer bottle and had taken a spare tire and rim which was on the bed of the truck. The damage was estimated at a $25 loss and the theft was estimated to be a $50 loss.

Also on Dec. 26 at 8:06, Kenneth Bruce Van Meter, Swanton, reported vandals had broken the rear glass of his 1973 Chevrolet pickup truck with a beer bottle. His truck was parked 100 yards east of Dillsworth's truck on main street in Swanton. The damage was estimated at $100.

In other department reports, Harold Henry Upole, Deer Park reported Sunday at 4 p.m. a breaking and entering and a theft occurring at his automobile repair garage in Deer Park sometime on Dec. 26.

Police reported that unknown subjects removed the window from the front door of the building, entered and removed 12 gallons of gasoline from the 1979 white Ford tow truck. The subjects replaced the glass upon leaving the building. No other items were missing. Total estimated loss was $15-60.

Police reported that sometime around midnight on Dec. 23, unknown subjects broke out a window and screen at the Fratz Southern States Gas Station, Accident. Unknown subjects removed a white money bag from a cabinet, but then left it between the window and screen, apparently after discovering it was empty. Nothing else was missing. Total estimated damage was $100.

On Dec. 19 at 2:35 p.m., Gaver Augustus Wilson, Swanton, reported that sometime between September and December 1981, unknown subjects entered his unlocked residence and removed items amounting to $5,700 in value. The items included rings, watches and old coins. Wilson requested that the department not investigate the case because of his wife's poor health.

Albert Fauber, Friendsville, reported a destruction of property at his business, the Riverside Lounge, on Dec. 26 at 9:55 p.m. An unknown person threw a beer bottle through a glass sign overtop the lounge building. Estimated damage was between $400 to $450.

Clifford Humberson, manager at Red Run Condominiums, reported a destruction of property occurring sometime between 10:30 a.m. and 12:24 p.m. on Dec. 24. Police said that a power line across Mayhew Inn Road to the condominium well pump was cut and left on the roadway.

Further investigation revealed that the power on the line had been switched off at the power box on the south side of the road. The repair crew which replaced the line found evidence that the line may have been caught by a vehicle and pulled down, then cut. The crew also discovered a wooden pole on the north side of the road was broken and a metal pipe on the south side of the road was bent.

Anyone having any information or leads on these or other reported crimes should contact the Garrett County's Sheriff's Department at 334-2141, or Garrett County Crime Solvers at 334-3111. Information supplied is confidential upon request.

In other police reports, police arrested William Ralph Teets, 21, on Dec. 24 for public intoxication. Bond was set at $100. On Dec. 28, District Court Judge Lewis Jones released Teets on his own recognizance after a bond review.

New Year's Eve Events Set At Baptist Church

The Pleasant View Baptist Church will provide a special New Year's Eve worship service tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. The service will follow a sauerkraut and pork dinner (covered dish) and the showing of the film "Image of the Beast" will follow the service. The film is a sequel to "A Thief in the Night" and "A Distant Thunder" and deals with the second coming of Christ.

Following the showing of the film, which is slated for about 8 p.m. there will be family prayer as candles on an eight-foot rough wooden cross will be lighted one at a time. The evening's activities should conclude at about 11 p.m.

Rev. Robert Taylor, pastor, extends an invitation to the public to attend and participate in the events. The church is located along U.S. Rt. 219 about three miles south of Oakland.

Mt. Center Plans Senior Citizen Flea Market Event

The Mountain Fellowship Center, Rt. 40, Markleysburg, Pa., will sponsor a flea market on Saturday, January 2, with free admission for senior citizens aged 55 years and over. Those seniors who provide their own tables may set up with no reservations necessary for the month of January only. The flea market will run from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The lunch counter will be open, chairs are available and there is a large parking area available as well.

Those persons wishing further information may contact Joanna Bontrager at 412-438-0393.

National Guard Members Promoted

Several members of Company C of the 121st Engineering Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, recently received rank promotions, according to SFC Thomas E. Bittinger, unit publications NCO. Those receiving promotions to the ranks indicated are as follows:

SSG Dorsey C. Valentine, Sgt. Michael W. Paugh, Sgt. David C. Steyer, Sgt. Stephen D. Steffen, Sp/4 David A. Athey, Sp/4 Calvin J. Patton, Sp/4 William J. Smith, Pfc. Donald J. Baker, Pfc. William E. Davis, Pfc. Alonzo D. Ray, Pfc. Howard P. Rhodes and Pfc. Calvin R. Schrock.

National Guard members received a 14-17 percent salary increase in October.

State Income Tax Packets On Their Way

A mountain of 8,815 mail bags full of Maryland State Income Tax returns are already on their way to Maryland taxpayers, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "We saved $600,000 by presorting the 1.8 million packets ourselves," Goldstein said. "This includes an additional savings of $20,000 for the first time this year by sorting and bagging right down to the local carrier routes."

The Comptroller reminded taxpayers to use the pre-printed address label provided on their tax packet whenever possible, to speed processing of their return. "However, do not use the label if it contains any wrong information."

Goldstein also urged taxpayers to use the proper envelope to mail their Maryland tax return. "Do not use the envelope provided for the Homeowners Property Tax Credit Application, which is also in the tax packet. Mail the State Income Tax return separately to the Income Tax Division in the Grey envelope. And remember that the 12 offices of the Maryland State Income Tax Division, listed on the back of your tax packet, will be happy to answer any of your questions or help you fill out your Maryland return, free of charge," he said.

Virginia Police Untangle Identity Of Murder Suspect

(UPI) — The alleged slayer of a Virginia Beach police officer was an escaped convict who had assumed his dead cousin's identity and who had been sentenced to life in prison for rape and other crimes, police said Tuesday.

Police Capt. W. Baker said Leslie Hugh Joyner Jr., 27, of Baltimore, who was shot and killed by another officer Sunday, was using the name of a cousin who had drowned in 1975 in Japan, where he was serving in the Marines.

Police had initially identified the man as Julius Hyde Joyner, 27, of Norfolk, but Joyner's father identified the body as that of his son, Leslie.

Baker said Joyner was placed in a pre-lease prison in Queen County, Md., while awaiting consideration for parole in June. When parole was denied, Joyner escaped before he could be returned to prison.

"He showed up here and assumed his dead cousin's identity," Baker said.

Maloney was gunned down early Sunday morning when he attempted to investigate a suspicious vehicle. Before Maloney could get out of his squad car, Baker said, "Suddenly the window (of the police car) was blown apart."

Lying mortally wounded on the front seat, shot twice in the back and twice in the buttocks, Maloney called in a description of his assailant and the vehicle, a yellow Cadillac.

About 20 minutes after Maloney was shot, Officer J.L. Bell spotted the car and gave chase. Joyner pulled over, got out of the car and fired a pistol toward Bell, hitting the windshield of his police car.

Bell, who was shielded behind the door of his car, returned the fire and hit Joyner in the head, killing him.

At the same time, police dispatchers were preparing to broadcast a report of an attempted rape by a man who matched Joyner's description.

U. S. District Judge Convicted On Bribery And Obstruction Count

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal grand jury late Tuesday afternoon indicted U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings on charges of conspiracy to commit bribery and obstruction of justice.

The four-count indictment was returned in U.S. District Court in Miami, the Justice Department said.

The first count of the indictment charged both men with conspiracy to commit bribery and to defraud the United States.

Count two charged both defendants with obstruction of justice.

Counts three and four charged Borders with traveling interstate to commit bribery.

The indictment ended a 2¼-month grand jury investigation that began after Borders was arrested and charged with Travel Act bribery in Arlington, Virginia, on October 9, 1981.

The arrest followed an undercover operation by the FBI in which a retired FBI agent posed as Frank Romano. Romano is a criminal defendant, who, with his brother Thomas, had been sentenced by Judge Hastings.

The undercover agent posing as "Frank Romano" responded to the defendants' solicitations to pay money in order to have the sentence reduced, the indictment said.

According to the indictment, it was part of the conspiracy that Borders and Hastings would receive $150,000 from the man.

The prosecution is being handled by the Public Integrity Section of the Justice Depsrtment's Criminal Division.

The penalty could mean five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for conviction on each count.

Unemployed Man Finds $300,000 In Checks And Food Stamps

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A startled unemployed construction worker and a friend found a bag containing almost $300,000 in checks and food stamps on the street.

Donald Stonebraker, 31, of Weirton, W.Va., found the rain-soaked bag Monday night when he and William DiNino, 30, of nearby Burgettstown stopped at a convenience store to buy lottery tickets.

The pair eventually took the bag to the Pittsburgh Press. The FBI then was called and Mellon Bank, whose messgner dropped the bag, was notified.

The bank planned to reward each man $250 for turning over their find.

Stonebraker, who has been doing odd jobs since being injured in a car accident two years ago, said, "I wanted to see if being honest would change my luck."

After putting the bag under a car seat, he decided to play the lottery, as he does daily. "I played the numbers just for insurance," he said.

Stonebraker, who said he and DiNino didn't keep the bag for fear of being jailed, said the find was almost like Christmas.

"I opened my car door and saw the bag there," he said. "When I saw it there, I had some visions of sugar plums."

A Mellon Bank spokeswoman said the messenger had begun to retrace his steps after the bag was found.

RICHMOND (UPI) — Gov.-elect Charles Robb dipped Tuesday into the Dalton administration and two of the state's universities for his cabinet.

Leading state Republicans immediately attacked the choices as "liberal" and "political payoffs" to Democratic and conservative groups that elected Robb.

Woman Claims 11 Unneeded Operations, Sues Hospital

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A woman who said she underwent 11 cancer operations unnecessarily planned to sue the hospital in which the surgery took place, her lawyer said Tuesday.

The woman already had sued four physicians for malpractice over the operations, which she said left her mutilated — without her breasts and reproductive organs.

Mark Aronson said he will file a court complaint within the next two weeks against Citizen's General Hospital of New Kensington on behalf of his client, Bonnie Filabaum, 33, of New Kensington, who said she learned this year she didn't have cancer. But he declined to specify what the charge would be.

A hospital spokeswoman said last week she would not comment on the suits against the physicians because the hospital was not a party.

The mother of two, who modeled bathing suits in her native California, sued Dr. Nizar W. Oweida in mid-November and filed complaints before Christmas against three of his associates — Augusto Gonzales, Mehdi B. Javan and K.W. Salatka. Oweida had been her family doctor.

The four physicians work at Citizen's General, where the operations were done over 12 years, but also have private practices.

The doctors have denied the charges.

Aronson said his client obtained information about her condition after being transferred to West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh.

"West Penn records clearly show there never was cancer or any history of cancer," he said. "There is nothing in Citizen's General records to show there was ever any cancer."

Aronson said Mrs. Filabaum still was being treated at West Penn for effects of the operations, and he declined to name the doctor who allegedly found the woman didn't have cancer.

Mrs. Filabaum was out of town Tuesday, but last week said she submitted to operations when told in 1969 she had cancer and needed surgery.

The case probably will not come to trial in Westmoreland County Court for a year to 18 months.

Mrs. Filabaum is seeking more than $10,000 damages from the physicians, one of two choices available to her under Pennsylvania law. Aronson said to his knowledge there has not been a similar case in Pennsylvania.

"But there was one in Maryland in which a woman learned she had no cancer after cobalt treatments," he said. "She claimed emotional harm and torment and a jury awarded her $800,000. It was reduced to $400,000 by a higher court."

"But that was with no surgery," Aronson said. "Our client was mutilated. The settlement could be some multiple of that."

Mrs. Filabaum, whose mother died of cancer, was her family's breadwinner because her husband was disabled.

Her husband, who joined her in the suits, said he had a vasectomy in 1972 after learning that having more children would mean his wife would die.

Colorado Storms Stall Search And Rescue Attempts

Near-blizzard conditions in the Colorado mountains today hampered the attempted rescue of one person stranded since a Christmas Eve plane crash and complicated the search for a los cross-country skier. Storms rocked the northern and central Pacific Coast region with up to 8 inches of snow.

On the East Coast, a winter storm swept into New England Tuesday, dumping up to 8 inc es of snow in parts of Vermont. Some areas were buried under 2 feet of snow during a 48-hour span.

Southern Oregon was hit with a combination of rain and snow, triggering a heavy snow warning and travelers' advisories along the northern Pacific Coast into the Central Rockies. The National Weather Service predicted up to 8 inches of new snow for the area.

An Army helicopter late Tuesday flew three of four people stranded since Christmas Eve on a mountain near Buena Vista, Colo., to safety afer mountaineers on snowshoes waded through waist-deep snows to the wreckage of their small plane.

Maj. Jerry Cassidy of the Colorado Civil Air Patrol said the helicopter was "chased out by snow" before rescuers could load the fourth survivor.

It was not immediately known when the helicopter would be able to make a second airlift to pick up the remaining survivor and a ground rescue pary at the crash site.

Warnings were issued by the National Weather Service for storms that could dump another 18 inches of snow in the area.

Another military helicopter was called in to ferry teams of searchers into the windblown Colorado backcountry between Crested Butte and Aspen to search for cross-country skier, Robert Shaw, 38, missing since last Saturday.

"The winds have been blowing hard in the area," said Jo Anne Stone, search coordinator. "It has blown the snow into 10-foot drifts in places and the avalanche danger is very, very high."

In all, three plane crashes in Colorado since Christmas Eve have been blamed on the severe weather.

Authorities Sunday recovered the bodies of three holiday skiers from a plane crash the Steamboat Springs ski resort in the northern Colorado mountains, and five Dallas men survived the crash of their light plane near Gunnison in the central mountains Monday.

The four frostbitten survivors from the Christmas Eve crash included two adults and two teenagers.

Brutal cold locked an icy grip across the Northern Plains from Montana into Wisconsin. The mercury bottomed at a hearty 25 below zero at Havre, Mont. Double digit sub-zero readings were common throughout the area.

A 55-year-old man was found frozen to death in Wewoka, Okla., in the back of his pickup truck. Thick fog in downstate Illinois reduced visibility to near zero and was blamed for a train-car collision that killed a 52-year-old rural Homer woman.

Winds gusting to nearly 1 0 mph in the higher mountain ridges mear Park City, Utah, southeast of Salt Lake City, were reported Tuesday.

Heavy rains doused San Francisco with nearly 2 inches in a 24-hour period and gale warnings were posted for San Francisco Bay.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (UPI) — Seven Polish seanen sent to replace defectors sought asylum as soon as they arrived in Canada and 20 more plan to defect. Another 200 Polish seamen called a vote today to decide if they will strike until martial law is lifted in heir homeland.

A Canadian representative for Solidarity said late Tuesday union statutes require a strike if martial law is declared.

The greatest concern among the potential strikers, Solidarity representative Zygmunt Przetakiewicz said after meeting with 50 seamen, was that a strike coald be viewed as mutiny under international law.

Pa. Compensation Statute Ruled Sex-Biased In Eligibility Standard

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Commonwealth Court ruled Tuesday that a section of Pennsylvania's workmen's compensation law was unconstitutional because it perpetuated sex discrimination in determining eligibility for benefits.

In an unanimous decision, the court said the law unfairly made a distinction between widows and widowers seeking workmen compensation payments.

Frederic Oknefski, of Ridgway in Elk County, charged the law was discriminatory in a case stemming from the death of his wife in a work-related incident.

Oknefski was appealing a decision by the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board denying him benefits.

The court said that, in determining eligibility, the law presumed a widow was dependent on her husband but a widower was not offered the same presumption of dependence.

Furthermore, said Judge Madeleine Palladino in the court's opinion, a widower has to prove he cannot support himself in order to get benefits while a widow does not have to establish her inability to be self-sufficient.

The company that employed Oknefski's wife, Louisiana Pacific Corp., a maker of wood products, argued that the law was formulated to counter past economic discrimination against women in the job market.

However, the court found the law actually perpetuated discrimination against women by depriving working women's beneficiaries of benefits that spouses of male wage earners would get.

The court ordered that the eligibility criteria for widows be extended to widowers.

Conversations on Carpeting

Brought to you by Carolyn & Butch Helbig
Who say
"A Floor without a Rug is like a Kiss without a Hug."
CARPETING AND TOGETHERNESS
In today's fast-paced world, family members are constantly going their separate ways. Father off to work, mother to a job or to take care of the household errands, and the children off to school. Mealtime is one of the few occasions when all family members come together. It should be a pleasant, relaxed time for family conversation.
Did you know that kitchen carpeting can aid mealtime enjoyment? It sure can! Parents and youngsters will be more relaxed because they need not worry about spills. Unlike the tile floors that require frequent waxing, kitchen carpeting is easy to clean and it's marvelously stain-resistant. Milk and other liquids can be wiped away with a damp cloth. Carpeting makes for more enjoyable family conversation, too. It absorbs sounds much better than hard floor covering, thus providing a quieter, more pleasant atmosphere. Mother will be less tired and more able to enjoy mealtime because of kitchen carpeting. It's easier on feet and legs and provides lots of comfort while cooking.
Want to make your family meals more pleasant while bringing a striking new look to your kitchen decor? The kitchen carpeting is for you. Stop in or call us today.
Each week we will tell you more about carpeting for your home. Watch for these columns.

Funds For Prison Health Care Must Come From Assembly

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The state must ask the General Assembly for a special appropriation to pay for prison health care, a corrections department consultant testified in federal court Tuesday.

U.S. District Judge Alexander Harvey II has ordered monthly hearings to find out the status of overcrowding and health care at Maryland prisons. The state has been embroiled in lengthy court action since attorneys for inmates filed a suit alleging overcrowding constitutes cruel and unusual punishment.

Harvey has held compliance hearings the past two months to determine what steps the state has taken to eliminate overcrowding and provide adequate mental and physical health care.

Dr. Benjamin White, a consultant for the Department of Correction, told Harvey he had hoped funds for a health care program at the Maryland Correctional Institution in Hagerstown would come from a state contingency fund when department money ran out.

"I have to accept the blame for not understanding where the money for this would come from," he said. "When any department runs in the red, although they try not to, they have to ask the General Assembly and the governor to make up the deficit."

Philip M. Andrews, an assistant attorney general, said the legislature, which convenes Jan. 13, probably will expedite the funding request and a bidder to provide health care could be available in February.

The state also is asking for permission to boost the number of inmates at the Maryland Correctional Institution in Jessup, Andrews added.

The 4th U.S Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond ruled in September the state can house two inmates in cells built for one at MCIJ and add double-decker bunks at the new reception center at the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore.

MCIJ, which opened this fall, was designed to house 512 prisoners. The court order permitted the state to add beds in 224 cells, boosting the prison population to 736.

But Gregory J. Leyko, corrections department coordinator, testified there currently are 804 inmates at MCIJ.

The state has filed an addendum to the motion calling for a ceiling of 848 inmates, Andrews noted.

Nevett Steele, attorney for the inmates, pointed out the ftate "filed the motion after the fact (of violating the court order) and that doesn't give you permission."

Harvey suggested the state file for immediate injunctive relief to forestall penalties for violating the limit.

Shock Trauma Unit

50% Of Admissions Involved Drinking, Driving

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Researchers at the University of Maryland's Shock Trauma Center Tuesday released a report that showed 58 of 103 drivers admitted for car crash injuries had been drinking.

From July 1975 to December 1981, blood alcohol levels were studied for 103 pairs of drivers and passengers involved in a crash admitted to the Shock Trauma Center, said Dr. Carl A. Soderstrom, who headed the research team.

The study showed in 63 motor vehicle accidents, the driver and-or the passenger had been drinking.

In 38 crashes, both the driver and the passenger had been drinking. The driver had a higher blood alcohol level than the passenger in 25 instances. In 20 of the 25 cases, the driver had a BAL of .13 percent or higher, the study indicated.

Fifty-eight of the 103 drivers showed evidence of drinking.

On July 1, 1981, a new drunken driving law went into effect in Maryland. The law lowered the blood alcohol level from .15 percent to .13 percent for intoxication.

Baltimore Port Traffic Declines 4.4% Despite Coal Export Volume

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Foreign commerce passing through the port of Baltimore declined by 4.4 percent this year, but the decline could have been worse had it not been for the high demand for export coal, state officials said Tuesday.

New year-end figures compiled by the Maryland Port Administration showed that coal was the only commodity handled at the port that showed an increase over comparable 1980 figures.

During the year, the port handled an estimated 35,265,000 tons of cargo, about 1.6 million tons less than in 1980.

Port Administrator W. Gregory Halpin, however, said the port showed its strength as a competitive East Coast port "in limiting cargo losses during a perio- of international recession and severe attacks on its markets by Canadian and West Coast diversions."

"Baltimore more than held its own in 1981 and only a 77-day coal strike prevented the port from advancing over the previous year," he said.

'The ability of the port to withstand labor disruptions, worldwide economic stagnation and assaults by ports competing for our business indicates that 1982 could show gains over the year just concluded," he said.

The Port Administration report was based on actual figures from the first nine months of 1981 combined with projections for the final quarter of the year.

Coal exports amounted to about 12.9 million tons, keeping the port's export of bulk products almost in pace with the 18 million tons of cargo exiorted in 1980, port officials d. Port officials said 12.5 million tons of cql was exported in 1980.

"We project a significant increase in coal exports during the coming year since there will be no strike to contend wit ," Halpin said.

The report said, "The 1981 level of import-export general cargo is estimated to be 5,615,000 tons, a decline of 7.2 percent from the previous year's six million tons."

The statistics showed a 5.5 percent decrease in the handling of container cargo; a 1.9 percent drop in exports; a 7.2 percent decline in ore shipments and a whopping 30.4 percent drop in the handling of petroleum products.

'Diminished ore figures reflected the reduced demand for steel by manufacturers as a result of economic conditions during the year," the report said. "The lower petroleum figures demonstrate the reduced use of oil products by Americans in response to conservation efforts.

Halpin said Congress is expected to enact new legislation to slow the diversion of cargo to Canadian ports, thereby putting the American ports in a competitive stance.

"In addition, the North American shipping lines which were hurt last year by the cargo diversion are rallying to get that cargo back," Halpinn said. "We will see gains in tonnage movements through Baltimore as the situation is reversed."

Baltimore TV Station Reveals Federal Food Stamp Fraud

BALTIMORE (UPI) — As many as 50 city Social Service Department case workers are the targets of a federal investigation into food stamp fraud, WBAL-TV news reported Tuesday.

WBAL-TV quoted a source familiar with the investigation who said several hundred thousand dollars may have been stolen by case workers who placed ineligible or fictitious clients on the food stamp rolls.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's enforcement division, postal service inspectors, Secret Service agents and the FBI conducted the 18-month investigation.

The U.S. attorney's office in Baltimore is coordinating criminal prosecutions, but U.S. Attorney Frederick Motz would not comment on the existence of a food stamp investigation.

WBAL-TV quoted sources who said the case workers allegedly obtained the illegal food stamps, then worked with accomplices and redeemed the food stamps for cash.

Using computers, government agents were able to screen names of those possibly engaged in fraud.

Last July, about 10,000 records were seized at local social service offices that were closed for the day while investigators collected documents. Federal investigators have continued to scrutinze records, WBAL-TV said.

During the case worker investigation, agents also apparently uncovered recipient fraud that involved selling stamps to middlemen at below value who then redeem them for their full worth.

The Baltimore investigation is unrelated to a special 12-city food stamp fraud inquiry that was initiated last fall following a network television program on eged abuses.

$4,000 Refunds To Customers Ordered From Appliance Dealer

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The state Tuesday ordered an appliance dealer to pay 17 customers a total of more than $4,000 because of failure to repair defective goods and other violations, the Consumer Protection Division said.

The dealer, Vernon Harris, was also ordered to place a sign in his Washer City firm telling customers how to contact consumer protection if they have complaints against the Baltimore store.

Harris must also post another sign that details warranty terms and print the terms on all sales slips.

Washer City sells used refrigerators, washing machines and other appliances and was ordered to pay customers $4,293.90 plus another $561.64 to the Consumer Protection Division to cover costs of investigating complaints.

The division found the store didn't repair machines during the warranty period, sold appliances said to be working that were broken and delivered different machines than the ones customers bought

Poor Ticket Sales On Luxury Home Force Raffle Cancellation

COLUMBIA, Md. (UPI) — A citizens group that was forced to cancel its raffle of $125,000 because of poor ticket sales Tuesday announced a new fund-raising venture in an attempt to recoup its losses.

Jerome S. Colt, president of Columbia Citizens in Action, said his group will sponsor a Feb. 4 raffle to make up some of the $3,000 lost in promoting the raffle of a luxury house.

The organization abandoned the house raffle after it sold only 1,069 of the 1,450 tickets it needed to sell to cover the price of the house. Colt said the group had hoped to sell as many as 2,000 tickets to raise money for a number of non-profit organizations in Howard County.

Citizens in Action's latest fund-raising effort will be a $50-a-ticket game with a grand prize of half the money collected.

Identity Sought

OCEAN CITY, Md. (UPI) — Police said they were trying to identify the body of a man who washed ashore near the resort Tuesday.

Police described the victim as a 6-foot white male, 45 to 55 years old and weighing 180 to 20 pounds.

3 to 1 Decision

School Board Decision Prohibits Couple From Teaching In Home

BEL AIR, Md. (UPI) — A Harford County couple said Tuesday they probably will contest a school board decision barring them from teaching their 6-year-old daughter at home.

By a 3-1 vote, the Harford County school board Monday denied Miguel and Ellen Andriolo's request that they be allowed to teach their daughter, Zoe, in their Bel Air home.

"We evaluated everything they (the Andriolos) presented to us and based on what they presented to us, it did not meet what the Harford county school system offers," said board President John Tillery.

Tillery said the board questioned whether the parents could properly educate their daughter because neither is a trained teacher.

Alfonso Roberty, the county school superintendent, said he will sue the Andriolos if they disregard the board's order to enroll Zoe in a public or private school. Roberty had ruled against the couple's earlier requests to educate Zoe at home.

Mrs. Andriolo said she and her husband, a mathematician at Aberdeen Proving Ground, were not surprised at the board ruling. She added they would probably file a law suit against the Harford County school system or appeal the decision to the state education department.

"Just about everyone who knows anything about the school system had told me that this would happen," she said. "In a way, I guess I'm the kind of person that has to learn from experience."

The Andriolos maintained the school environment would have a "negative influence" on Zoe and be "detrimental" to her education and said they planned to use correspondence courses from the Calvert School of Baltimore — courses approved by the state Board of Education — to educate their daughter.

daughter.

Zoe, who has been schooled at home since September, recently scored high on acnievement tests conducted by an outside consultant at the request of the county school system.

Protest Forces Evacuation

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UPI) — Inmates clogged drains in the Carroll County jail early today, creating a flood that forced the evacuation of cells, state police say.

State police said officials at the Carroll County Dentention Center called them in to help handle the disturbance that began shortly after midnight. A police spokesman said inmates were moved out of their cells and into other areas of the jail during the three-and-a-half hour cleanup.

The Carroll County sheriff's department refused to release details on the flooding incident early Wednesday. They also would not speculate on what triggered the disturbance.

Three Injured

PORT DEPOSIT, Md. (UPI) — Three people were seriously injured and a factory gate was smashed when a tractor trailer sped out of control on a steep grade early today.

Police said the brakes failed on a tractor trailer driven by Thomas Raymond of Hallsville, Ohio, around 12:45 a.m. Police said the vehicle then careened off Route 276, crossed Main Street in Port Deposit, crashed through the main gate at a factory called Wiley's, and then struck one of the tube sections for the new Fort McHenry tunnel.

Rymond was taken to the Shock Trauma Unit in Baltimore were he was listed in stable condition.

Two passengers in the tractor trailer were taken to local hospitals where they were also listed in stable condition.

Two Wiley's employees, whom police said were injured when the truck burst through the factory gate, were treated and released.

Police had no estimate on the amount of damage caused by the runaway rig.

Suspect Pleads Innocent To First-Degree Murder

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UPI) — A suspect in the contract killing of a Carroll County woman pleaded innocent to a first-degree murder charge and remained jailed Tuesday on $250,000 bail.

Daniel Lee Chadderton, 31, of Hampden, was in the Carroll County Detention Center following his innocent plea Monday for the 1979 killing of Mary Ruth Myers.

Robert Lee Myers, 39, who was the victim's husband, and Ernestine Gillen Marco, 30, are also charged with first-degree murder in the crime. Ms. Marco married Myers after the killing, but the marriage was ruled invalid by a Bermuda court.

Prosecutors said Ms. Marco introduced Myers and Chadderton and Myers hired Chadderton to kill Mrs. Myers.

Myers was held in Carroll County on no bail and is trying to sell the $235,000 Silver Run home where the crime took place. At the time of the incident, Myers' assets were valued at $1 million, but recently he declared debts of more than $500,000.

Ms. Marco was in Baltimore City Jail, held on $100,000 bail.

Keys In Car Make Easy Target Of Police Cruiser, Officer Learns

WILLIAMSPORT, Md. (UPI) — A police officer is facing possible disciplinary action because a thief stole his car and wrecked it, officials said Tuesday.

Officer Jay Davis left the keys in his unattended cruiser Monday night when he was investigating a broken window.

Someone took the car and wrecked it, then vanished, police said.

City officials said they are contemplating disciplinary action because Davis should not have left the car with the keys in i.

The car was one of just two in the Williamsport's police department.

Seeks Permits For Exploration

Historian Believes Treasures Abound Under Ocean City Waters

SNOW HILL, Md. (UPI) — A Maryland historian prepared Tuesday to launch a search for treasure off Ocean City next spring and thinks four ships, possibly containing gold and silver, are buried under water and sand.

Donald F. Stewart took the first official step in the search Monday when he asked the state to issue permits so his company, Subaqueous Exploration and Archeology, can to look for ships he believes beached and broke apart between 1775 and 1820.

He said the wrecks were of the Spanish ships San Lorenzo de Escoral, Santa Clara and Santa Rosalea and the British privateer Royal George. They are thought to be buried under two to 30 feet of sand, Stewart said in his application to the state.

He said he wasn't sure what he would find, but if any gold or silver was located, it "would be used to satisfy the investors" who are backing the exploration attempt.

But he said even the most mundane items offer a "wealth of knowledge to interpret colonial history" because "the most concentrated colonial trade was in this area."

No opposition to the application was voiced at the hearing and wetlands hearing officer William J. McWilliams said he would recommend approval of the permits to the Board of Public Works. The board decision could be made in 30 to 60 days.

Stewart, who headed the committee that restored the historic Constellation in Baltimore's Inner Harbor, said his research indicated two of the ships are just off downtown Ocean City and the others are off the resort strip known as the Gold Coast.

Lawrence T. Whitlock, an Ocean City engineer and consultant to Stewart, said divers would use electronic detectors and hand-held water probes to look for the wreckage. The project could last a year at each of the four sites, he said.

Stewart said years of research has also pinpointed other wreck sites, two in Delaware and one in Virginia.

Court of Appeals Rules

Attorneys May Waive Clients' Rights To Be Present At Trials

the Maryland Scene

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Maryland's Court of Appeals has decided modern law has become so complex that attorneys in criminal cases must be given the power to waive their clients' right to be present at every stage of a trial.

Until Monday's 5-2 ruling by Maryland's highest court, the state's judges traditionally relied on the common law rule that only the defendant — not his or her attorney — can waive the right to be present at each state of a trial by doing so "personally" and "expressly."

The Court of Appeals reaffirmed the right itself, but focused its ruling instead on who may grant a waiver to that right.

Judge John C. Eldrige concluded in the majority opinion that times have changed since the common law right of the defendant was last upheld. He said because of the complexity of modern law, there are now times when an attorney must be empowered to waive the rights of the men or women they represent.

"Today, with the complexity of many criminal trials and the absolute right of counsel if there is a danger of incarceration, our system proceeds upon the assumption that it is primarily counsel's function to assert or waive most 'rights' of the defendant," he wrote.

"Unless a defendant speaks out, normally he must be bound by the trial decisions, actions and inactions of counsel. Otherwise, the system simply would not work," Eldridge's opinion said.

Judges Harry Cole and Rita C. Davidson filed a short dissenting opinion that simply disagreed with Eldridge's assertion that times have changed sufficiently to warrant a change in the waiver rule.

Eldridge, however, wrote, "The right of a defendant to be present at bench conferences involving examination of jurors or prospective jurors, or during communications on a point of law between the court and jury, or during certain other stages of the trial, is no more 'fundamental' than many other 'rights' which can be waived by counsel's action or inaction."

"We know of no reason why this right should be set apart from other matters which are left to counsel," he said.

The decision came in a case involving Edward H. Williams, who was convicted in the Criminal Court of Baltimore in December 1975 of second degree murder and assault with intent to murder.

In a post conviction hearing, the lower court ordered a new trial, saying Williams' right to be present at every stage of his original trial had been violated when the judge interviewed a prospective juror at the bench in the presence of Williams' attorney, but not in the presence of Williams.

The state appealed to the Court of Special Appeals, Maryland's intermediate appellate court, which ruled that Williams' rights had not been abridged. The court said there are times when rights can be waived by a defendant's inaction rather than by some affirmative action on his or her part, and upheld Williams' original conviction.

The Court of Appeals, however, said the intermediate court's decision was inconsistent with previous Maryland rulings on the waiver issue and reversed it, ordering a new trial for Williams.

The high court then went a step further, saying that in future criminal trials "taking place after the issuance of our mandate in this case, an effective waiver of the defendant's right to be present at every stage of the trial will not always require a personal waiver by the defendant."

"In our judgment, the Maryland common law principle, that the right to be present at every stage of the trial can never be waived by counsel's action or inaction, should now be modified in light of present conditions," the court said.

FIRST CABLE

We take today's instant satellite communication capabilities so casually it's difficult to comprehend the important event which occurred January 1, 1903 when the cableship "Silverton" arrived in Honolulu after laying 2,600 miles of cable from San Francisco, setting the stage for the first cable across the Pacific Ocean.

WHEREFORE A.D.?

Most everyone knows that the notation A.D. is a latin phrase which translates "in the year of our Lord." The use of the notation was initiated by Charles III of Germany, who affixed the symbolism to his reign in 879. The system of retroactively dating the years prior to the Saviour's birth and dedicating the succeeding years to His Glory was invented by a Monk about 532 A.D. and marked the beginning of what is known as the Christian Era.

Christine Diller Becomes Bride Of Duane W. Maust December 13

Christine Diller, El Dorado, Ark., and Duane W. Maust, Grantsville, were united in marriage Sunday, December 13, at 2 p.m. in the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. The ceremony was performed by James Maust, brother of the groom, with meditations by Rev. Oren Bender. Greens decorated the candelabras and unity candle.

The bride is a daughter of Henry and Irene Diller of 655 N. Murphy Street, El Dorado. The groom is a son of Willard and Ella Maust, RD 1. Meyersdale, Pa.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a fitted gown of crepe-backed satin which featured a chapel train, lace bodice and scalloped neckline. The long, sheer lace sleeves were cuffed. She wore a floor-length veil, trimmed in beaded lace, and she carried a bouquet of blue and white roses and carnations.

Rhonda Yoder, Phoenix, Ariz., cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Marjorie Maust, Grantsville, sister of the groom, and Pam Schrock, Hartville, Ohio, friend of the bride, served as bridesmaids. All wore matching floor-length blue gowns.

Best man was Jessie Maust, Meyersdale, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Willis Beitzel, El Dorado, friend of the couple, and Merlin Maust, Meyersdale, brother of the groom.

Music was provided by Cindy Tissue, organist, and a ladies' trio, composed of Barb Miller, sister of the bride, Dorothy Yoder, aunt of the bride, both of Hartville, Ohio, and Wilma Miller, aunt of the bride, Goshen, Indiana. Selections included "The Lord's Prayer," "O Perfect Love," "Each for the Other," and "Sweet, Sweet Spirit."

The mothers of the bride and groom wore blue knit, street-length dresses.

Following the ceremony, approximately 400 guests met in the church fellowship hall for a reception.

Out-of-town guests were from Arkansas, Arizona, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Virginia.

After a honeymoon trip to Florida, the couple established residence in Springs, Pa.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of El Dorado High School and a 1981 graduate of the Practical Nursing Program of Oil Belt Vo-Tech School, El Dorado. The groom is a 1975 graduate of Salisbury Elk-Lick High School and is employed by Beitzel Welding of Grantsville.

A miscellaneous shower was given by friends of the bride in El Dorado, a kitchen shower was given by sisters of the bride in Hartville, Ohio, and a miscellaneous shower was given by the groom's family and friends in Grantsville.

RESOLVE

Resolve, in the months ahead, to do the things you like to do. Spend more time pursuing favorite hobbies, visiting friends. Think more about the people around you, both family and friends. Make an effort to change the things you don't like about yourself—and learn to live with the things that you cannot change. Do what you can to make life better, but accept what must be and make the best of everything.

Don't discard all of your holiday shopping bags. Keep at least two of them for Christmas morning—one to hold ribbons and bows you wish to keep, one for scraps that are to be thrown away.

Dave is such an avid bowler he spends New Year's eve at the alley. Jokingly he says I've gotta practice because next year I'm gonna get 'em all.

Many of us look at next year with similar hopes. We want to excel. We want things to be perfect. We want our every effort crowned with success.

But Dave knows 1982 won't bring all strikes — and we know it will not fulfil all our superlative hopes.

The beginning of a new year is a time to evaluate our goals, measure them against what God expects of us, and seek His help in achieving right aims and purposes.

Before the New Year begins, and after it is underway, the church is where we all should be seeking what it takes to make 1982 a better year.

GRANDMA HAD NO SECRET MIRACLE FORMULAS
Sometimes we all like to kid ourselves into believing Grandma's secret formulas for home treatments could cure anything from bunions to galloping consumption. We all know better though. A lot of old recipes were alcohol with some herbs to make them smell and taste like medicine.
It took centuries to sort out the handful of useful medicines like belladonna, digitalis, opium, ipecac and quinine from among the many totally useless concoctions. Now, we have many drugs which can be depended upon to accomplish a desired result. We have them in stock.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DOING YOUR "THING"
January 3, 1982

Background Scripture:
John 20: 26-29; I Corinthians 12: 1-3; Colossians 1: 15-20.
Devotional Reading:
I Timothy 1: 8-14.

We live in a "do your own thing age."

It was an idea whose time had come. There was a need for an emphasis urging people to take responsibility and control for their own lives. There was a need to break out of patterns that had become meaningless, whose purposes had long been forgotten.

But as with any new current of human thought, we have tended to push a good thing to absurd extremes. Many people have wrongly assumed that "doing their own thing" somehow freed them from responsibility and commitment to other people. It also became a justification for blatant selfishness and irresponsibility.

THE FREE CAPTIVE

What we need to realize is that when we have taken both responsibility and control for our own lives it does not mean that we therefore need to go it alone. For one of life's paradoxes is that when I live only for me, I am not free at all. I am a prisoner to my own dark emotions, deep suspicions, hurts and unrecognized motivations. No one is more surely a prisoner of him or herself than the one who tries to live in isolation.

At the same time, if I am really a free person—my own person, so to speak—then I have the capacity to commit myself to something beyond myself without the loss of my freedom or sovereignty. The old hymn puts it clearly:

Make me a captive, Lord,
And then I shall be free;

If we would really be doing our own thing, we need to give ourselves in commitment to Christ.

But that's where many of us have a problem: commitment. We don't want to commit ourselves. Jealous at our sovereignty, we don't want to give ourselves to anything or anyone. We want to run our own lives, little realizing that, without Christ, we cannot experience freedom.

SAVIOUR AND LORD

Many people want the benefits of Christianity without making the commitment those benefits require. We are all happy to have Christ as our Saviour, one who frees us and heals us of the evil that touches our lives. But Christ is not offered to us as just a Saviour. When the angels announced his birth to the shepherds of Bethlehem, they proclaimed: "for unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour who is Christ the Lord" (Luke 2: 11). Jesus came as both Saviour and Lord. And when the Apostle John confesses Christ in the upper room, he cries "My Lord and my God" (John 20: 28).

So Jesus came, not only to save us, but to rule our lives. If we want to be his followers, we need not only to allow him to save us from our sin, but also to be Lord of our lives. That means that we put our lives into his hands, letting him direct and guide them. When we have allowed ourselves to do that, then, and only then, will we be doing our own thing.

Federal Tax Packages Are Mailed

Approximately 2.3 million Federal tax packages are now on their way to Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers, the Internal Revenue Service announced.

The IRS sends taxpayers either a 1040 or 1040A package, depending on the form they filed last year. Taxpayers who need to file a different form this year because of a change in tax status can pick up the proper form and schedules from most local IRS offices starting December 30, or from one of many post offices, banks and libraries which stock them. Extra forms are also available by using the order blank in the back of the tax package.

Whether taxpayers use the form the IRS sends them, or order a different one, the IRS encourages use of both the peel-off name label and pre-addressed, coded, return envelope provided in the originally mailed tax package. If used, both the label and envelope speed up processing the return, lessen the chance of making mistakes, and produce a faster refund for the taxpayers.

The peel-off label, which should be placed at the top of the return, contains the name, address and Social Security number of the taxpayer and, like the return envelope, is specially-coded to speed up the sorting process.

If there is a mistake on the label, or if the envelope is marked with the incorrect form number, the IRS said the taxpayer should simply make necessary changes in ink.

The step-by-step and more spacious format of the tax forms, retained from last year, should make it possible for most taxpayers to complete their returns, with the aid of their instructions, according to the IRS. The instructions take the taxpayer through each step of return completion and are number-coded to correspond to the lines on the return.

Taxpayers who need additional information before deciding what credits, dependents, or deductions they should claim can order any of some 90 specialized IRS publications by using the same order blank used to order forms. The publications will also be available at most IRS offices starting December 30.

Bradley Manor

Santa Claus presented treats to the children of Bradley Manor on December 22. The treats were furnished by Arnold and Sons Garage.

The Bradley Manor children also received presents on the 22nd from St. John's Episcopal Church and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Members of the Pleasant View Baptist Church were Christmas caroling at Bradley Manor December 22.

The tenants of Bradley Manor donated money, food and gifts to Ethel Coffman after hearing of her son's recent death. She also received a care package from the Seventh Day Adventists Church. Because she received an abundance of food, she gave a bag of food to another elderly lady who had no food in her home.

Sharon Elsey, president of the Bradley Manor Tenants Group spoke last week with Frank Gant of Frank Gant Architects who performed an architectural engineering study at the Bradley Manor housing complex. Gant stated the study has been completed and submitted to HUD officials and to Oakland Associates, owner of the complex.

Gant said the study recommends rehabilitation of the housing units. The study must be approved by HUD officials before anything can be done. Gant said the report should be available for release to the public within the next few weeks.

Homemaker Career Program Schedules Luncheon Meetings

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College invites all interested persons to attend a series of free lunch-time discussions designed to deal with the special concerns of women, whether they be full-time homemakers or employed outside the home, according to Barbara Frey, program director.

This lunch and discussion group, "The Lunch Bunch", will meet each Thursday during the month of January in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Participants may come for any portion of time that their schedules allow, or may plan to attend for the entire session. Each person attending should bring a bag lunch. Coffee or a cold drink will be provided.

The first lunch-discussion will be held on Thursday, January 7, with the topic "You Are Not Alone." For more information persons may call 334-9184.

OES Sets Belated Christmas Party

Oakland Chapter #67, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a Christmas party for all members following the regular meeting of the chapter on January 5 in the Masonic Temple, Oakland, at 8 p.m. The party which had been scheduled for December, had to be postponed because of inclement weather. Members are asked to bring their "jingle gifts."

Refreshements will be served by Helen Henline and her committee.

Holiday Drawing Grand Prize Goes To Oakland Man

Ronald Schrock, Oakland, was the grand prize winner in the final Christmas Promotion drawing held Thursday, sponsored by the Oakland Downtown Merchants' and Businessmen's Association.

Schrock won a 19-inch color television set.

Winners of $100 gift certificates also drawn Thursday, were Vicky Elliott, Oakland, who won a certificate from Kight's Insurance; Shirley Craver, Swanton, Rolyans Furniture Co.; Ed Wolf, Oakland, Gregg's Pharmacy; Leroy Reams, Oakland, Miller's Market; and Jerry DeWitt, Oakland, Family Shoe Store.

New Year Gifts Exchanged In Quebec

The exchange of gifts takes place on New Year's Day, when parties are at their peak. The Holiday Season is brought to a close with The Feast of the Kings on Epiphany. This is celebrated with the traditional cake, Le Cateau Des Rois. This cake has a pea and a bean in it and the king and queen of Twelfth Night are elected by those receiving them.

Homemaker Career Workshop Scheduled

A free career workshop, "Identifying Your Marketable Skills," sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College, will be offered at the Kitzmiller Library on Monday, January 4, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. This workshop will assist homemakers to identify transferable skills they may have developed over the years in their homes which may aid them in seeking employment.

The workshop will be led by Barbara Carl, administrative assistant of the program.

All interested persons are invited to attend. For further information persons may call 334-9184.

DEER PARK

A Christmas program was presented at the Deer Park United Methodist Church December 24. Rev. C. Franklin Mick gave the Christmas message.

A play "Christmas Lights" was presented by the beginners class. A play "The Other Wiseman" was presented by older children.

Recitations, Christmas songs, prayer and a gift exchange were other features of the program.

Special music was rendered at the Deer Park Methodist Church during the Sunday School hour, December 27. Beth and John Moore sang a Christmas Carol accompanied by Anne Welling playing the clarinet with Mary Lee Moore at the piano.

Goldstein Urges Use Of Proper Fuel For Unvented Kerosene Heaters

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has a winter warning for persons buying and using unvented kerosene space heaters.

"I have met with the State Fire Marshal and representatives of the Department of Health & Mental Hygiene, and our investigation indicates that these heaters are approved only for use with 1K kerosene fuel, a clean, low sulphur fuel," Goldstein said. "However, our office finds little or no 1K kerosene is available in Maryland. Consumers are apparently purchasing 2K kerosene, which is allowed to have a far higher sulphur content, posing a danger of exposure to dangerous levels of sulphur dioxide as well as carbon monoxide in homes and other places where there is inadequate ventilation."

Goldstein announced that his office, which is responsible for testing petroleum products and establishing quality specifications is publishing regulations enabling the Motor Fuel Tax Division to label dispensing devices as providing either 1K or 2K grade kerosene.

"This way consumers can determine what grade of kerosene they are purchasing," he said. "I am also ordering our field inspectors to immediately begin collecting and testing samples of kerosene from distributors throughout Maryland so we will have a current laboratory profile of the kinds of kerosene being sold in Maryland."

State Fire Marshal James Robertson warns that 2K kerosene is also more likely to cause the wick to clog in unvented kerosene space heaters, increasing the possibility of malfunction resulting in fire. A Charles County home burned December 13, 1981, as a result of just such a condition, he said.

"The recently amended regulation permitted limited use of unvented kerosene space heaters applies only to Underwriters Laboratory labeled units. Consumers should know that the UL label applies only when the unit is used with 1K kerosene fuel, and use with other fuel—such as 2K—invalidates the Underwriters Laboratory certification of safety," Robertson said.

Goldstein said he has obtained directives from two refiners warning their resellers that their 2K kerosene was unsuitable for use in unvented kerosene space heaters.

He also warned consumers to be wary of kerosene descriptions such as "water white" since that is not an assurance that the product is free from impurities.

Goldstein stated that he has informed Attorney General Stephen Sachs and State Health Secretary Charles Buck of his findings in the hope that other consumer protection measures will be found under various provisions of state law and put into effect.

During the construction of the Hoover Dam, concrete had to be poured continually for two years.

CARING FOR CHILDREN'S SOFT TOYS

The beloved stuffed animal or doll that becomes a child's favorite is apt to become shabby, gray and sad-looking in record time—and the more loved, hugged and cuddled it is, the shabbier it becomes. Here are some suggestions to help revive and restore even the most bedraggled stuffed toy:

*First, brush or vacuum to remove surface dirt and dust, then take off any garments which should be laundered separately.

*Check the washability of the toy, some say if they are machine or hand washable. If you are not sure, open a section of a seam and check the stuffing. If it is of brownish—colored cotton, various types of fabric or multi-colored fibers, the stuffing may stain the covering material if it gets very wet. It is best to scrub these toys with a suds-filled brush and rinse by wiping with a damp cloth. This method can also be used on toys with mechanical insides.

*If the toy is washable, pretreat dirty spots and smudges by scrubbing with a small brush dipped in liquid detergent, or a paste of detergent and water. Be sure all seams are securely stitched.

*To wash by hand, immerse the toy in a detergent and warm water bath, quickly dunking in and out of the solution and swishing it through the sudsy water. Rinse thoroughly.

*To launder machine-washable toys, several should be washed together to balance the load. Partially fill the washer with warm water, add detergent and agitate to dissolve it. Add the toys and fill the washer to the desired water level. Use a short wash cycle and continue through spin and rinse automatically. The use of a fabric softener will enhance the feel and look of animals or dolls with plush or fur-like coverings.

*To dry, place the toy on a rack or line to let air circulate around it. A fan speeds drying time. Or dry the toy in a dryer, along with several clean, dry bath towels to serve as buffers. Set the dryer heat according to the stuffing material. Toys stuffed with foam rubber or kapok should be dried on AIR setting only. Stop the dryer and shape the toy to redistribute the stuffing. Handwashed toys also need to be reshaped when the toys are almost dry.

FOOD NOTES

Here's a fun recipe I think you'll enjoy trying:

CREPES

1 cup milk
3 eggs
¾ cup pancake mix
2 tablespoons vegetable oil

Combine all ingredients, mixing until smooth. Let stand 5 minutes. Heat lightly greased crepe pan or small skillet. For each crepe, pour about one-half ¼ cup dry measure of batter into hot crepe pan; immediately tilt pan to coal bottom evenly with thin layer. Cook 45 seconds or until top looks dry. Turn, cook about 20 seconds. Stack crepes between sheets of wax paper. Makes 12 crepes. NOTE: Crepes may be wrapped securely and frozen up to 3 months. Thaw overnight in refrigerator.

EASY CHICKEN CREPES

2 cups chopped cooked chicken
One 10-¾ oz. can condensed cream of chicken soup
One 4 oz. can mushroom slices, drained
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed (optional)
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
12 crepes

Prepare crepes, set aside. Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine all ingredients except crepes and cheese, mix well. Fill each crepe with ¼ cup chicken mixture, place in 13x9-inch baking dish. Cover with aluminum foil, bake about 15 minutes. Remove foil, sprinkle with cheese. Continue baking 5 minutes or until cheese is melted. Makes 6 servings.

HCO Program Schedule Noted

The Homemaker Career Opportunities program schedule for the month of January has been released by Barbara Frey, director of the project.

Several new ideas are planned, including a lunch get-together discussion day each Thursday in January.

Those interested in meeting will talk about the special concern of women, following a schedule of different topics each week. Each participant should bring a bag lunch. The sessions will run from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

A series of 13 workshops will be offered beginning February 3, which are open to the public. The topics will range from Managing Stress to Educational Opportunities in Garrett County.

The workshops are free, and will be held on Wednesday mornings at the Oakland Center, room 306, from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

The usual free career workshops are set for beginning in January, 1982, with Barbara Carl, administrative assistant, in charge. Dates, times, and area locations will be announced.

Resume writing workshops will be held each Friday from 10 a.m. until 12 noon for those interested in learning the correct procedures for preparing an employment resume.

Anyone with questions is asked to contact Barbara Frey or Barbara Carl at the Oakland Center, at 334-9184.

TRADITIONAL FOODS

Good foods are associated with most every holiday, and New Year's Day is no exception. The American Indians served acorns and salmon on the first day of the year. In Quebec, the traditional cake, Le Cateau des Rois, is served on Epiphany. It contains a pea and a bean and the king and queen of Twelfth Night are determined by whoever receives them in their portion of the cake.

Early Scots carried cakes and spiced ale to wish their host a good year, while natives of Ceylon dine on rice cakes.

In the southern United States, of course, black-eyed peas are traditionally served on January 1 to assure that all who partake will receive good fortune throughout the coming year.

Versatile Cranberry New Year Favorite

Among the most traditional New Year's foods is the cranberry, one of the most versatile of all winter fruits.

Cranberries are tasty, colorful, eye-appealing and full of vitamin C, some vitamin A as well as iron, calcium and iodine.

Most on the market are large and bright red. Occasionally, you'll find smaller, darker berries. In any event, purchase berries that are shiny and hard.

Career Workshops Slated In Various County Locations

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College announces that a series of free career workshops will be offered in the communities of Kitzmiller, Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville, beginning in January. The series of six workshops, to be led by Barbara Carl, administrative assistant of the program, will be designed to assist women who are now seeking employment or who plan to seek employment in the future.

These workshops will be offered on Mondays from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. according to the following schedule:

"Identifying Your Marketable Skills" - Kitzmiller Library, January 4; Accident Library, January 11; Grantsville Library, January 18; Friendsville (place to be arranged), January 25.

"Saying What You Mean and Meaning What You Say" (Assertiveness Training) - Kitzmiller Library, February 1; Accident Library, February 8; Grantsville Library, February 15; Friendsville (place to be arranged), February 22.

"Job Hunting Tips" - Kitzmiller Library, March 1; Accident Library, March 8; Grantsville Library, March 15; Friendsville (place to be arranged), March 22.

"Resume Writing" - Kitzmiller Library, April 5; Accident Library, April 12; Grantsville Library, April 19; Friendsville (place to be arranged), April 26.

"Interviewing Techniques" - Kitzmiller Library, May 3; Accident Library, May 10; Grantsville Library, May 17; Friendsville (place to be arranged), May 24.

"Managing Job and Home" - Kitzmiller Library, June 7; Accident Library, June 14; Grantsville Library, June 21; Friendsville (place to be arranged), June 28.

All interested persons are invited to attend any or all of these free career workshops. Residents of the Friendsville area should check the newspaper for further announcements for that location.

For further information, or to register for any or all of the workshops, persons may call the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program at 334-9184.

ORIENTAL CABBAGE

If your holiday fare has been heavy with turkey and ham or duck and goose, you might want to go heavy on the vegetables when planning the New year meal. Oriental cabbage could be center stage. Here's how:

½ cup melted margarine
1 medium head cabbage, chopped
1 green pepper, cut into strips
2 stalks celery, chopped
2 carrots, thinly sliced
1 large onion, sliced into rings
¼ cup evaporated milk
salt and pepper to taste

Combine margarine and vegetables in a large skillet; cover and cook over medium heat 10 minutes. Stir in milk, heat thoroughly. Add salt and pepper to taste. Yields six to eight servings.

HEALTH FOOD CANDY

Here's something for weight watchers who find it difficult to resist the endless chocolates, jellybeans, caramels and candy canes that seem to be everywhere during the holiday season. This is a health food candy that's not only good, it's good for you.

1¼ cups quick-cooking oatmeal
1 cup flaked coconut, chopped
1 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped
½ cup toasted wheat germ
⅓ cup sesame seeds
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
½ cup snipped dried apricots
1 stick butter or margarine
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
⅓ cup honey

Combine oatmeal, coconut, walnuts, wheat germ, sesame seeds and cinnamon in large bowl and stir to mix well. Add apricots and toss. In a small saucepan, melt butter, stir in brown sugar and heat until dissolved. Drizzle over cereal mixture and toss until evenly moistened. Spread evenly in 13x9x2-inch baking pan, sprinkle with honey. Bake in 350 degree oven 25 minutes, stirring occasionally with a fork. Turn onto lightly greased aluminum foil and spread into layer about 1-inch thick. Let cool. When mixture is cool enough to handle, shape into 1-inch balls. Allow to cool completely and store in plastic bag or airtight jar. Makes about five dozen balls.

Bill Moyers looks at the creative force

"Creativity with Bill Moyers," a 17-part television series about creative people and the creative process, will be presented weekly on most public television stations beginning Friday, Jan. 8, with a special hour-long profile of Maya Angelou, the poet, actress and author. All other programs, except the last, are half-hour segments. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

In the opening program, Moyers accompanies Ms. Angelou back to the childhood home she left 30 years ago. Says Moyers, "When you walk through the dusty streets of Stamps, Ark., with this remarkable woman who was rescued as a child from fear and despair by a few people who touched her deeply, including her grandmother and Shakespeare, you begin to understand how creativity is both threatened and nurtured in our earliest years. And you say to yourself, 'Aha!' "

In fact, Moyers says, he and the executive producers, Charles Grinker and Merton Koplin, almost decided to call the series "Aha!" "That very commonly-used term means, 'I see, I see,' and creativity is just that — a fresh way of seeing. My colleagues and I have come to see creativity as more common than cosmic. We believe all of us can be more creative by seeing in different ways what we usually take for granted. We even demonstrate that thinking can be fun, even if you have to use your mind."

To depict the varied faces of creativity, the programs employ many types of reporting and producing. In Moyer's words, "If life is too rich and diverse to be contained in one technique of television, so is creativity. So we're using all the tools of journalism to explore what has been called 'the fertile verge' — that place where the power of ideas encounters the force of personality to create something new in the world."

Moyers, after working on the project for two years, describes it as one of the most exciting experiences of his career. His original intention, he says, was to find an answer to the question, "What is creativity?" When an answer proved too elusive, he decided "to exemplify the creative process instead of to define it. There may be as many creative processes as there are creative people. So we decided to explore people who reveal in their life and work different characteristics of creativity. Some are unheralded, some are extraordinary — but none so extraordinary that we might not see ourselves in them."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'The Doctors' cast kicks off new year

By Nancy M. Reichardt

NEW YORK — Scores of cast and crew personalities gathered in the Time-Life building in New York City to help "The Doctors" celebrate the holiday season. Party goers partook of the lavish buffet-style dinner and later had the chance to show off their hoofing talents to the tune of a five-piece band.

The big announcements of the evening came when Kim Zimmer (Nora Aldrich) announced that she and her actor-husband, A.C. Weary, would become parents in June, 1981; and Michael Stark (ex-Joe Bradley on "Guiding Light") was introduced as a new "TD" cast member in the newly created role of Jeff Manning. Although the Nielson ratings for the show may be low, everyone's spirits were high and hopeful, for a successful '82 season.

"As the World Turns" has had yet another head writer change, this time bringing back to the show the scripting talents of Jerome and Bridget Dobson. This move is sure to mean future changes in the cast lineup on "ATWT."

Over on "Guiding Light," Chris Bernau will be conspicuously absent as Allan Spaulding for about two months. Chris has been granted some time off from his soap role in order to take a European vacation. Before leaving, however, Bernau pre-taped several scenes which will be aired while he's away.

Robert Burton (Beau Baker on "Texas") recently worked on a pilot film about a detective in the '30s. Describing his role, Burton said, "I play a rich scion, who so loathes the company of his fellow pre-jet-setters, that he spends his time solving crimes which he then incorporates into his own detective novels."

Michael Tylo (Quint McCord on "GL") will appear with Phil Esposito at New York's Madison Square Garden in March for a benefit hockey game. The proceeds from the game, which will also feature many well-known players of the past, will be donated to a fund that benefits former hockey players.

Actors lend a name to help out a cause

By Ruth Thompson

When it comes to aiding good causes, the mere lending of a celebrity name to a newspaper advertisement often can do some good.

But many performers give of their personal efforts, as well. For sheer enthusiasm and hard sell, current honors go to croaky-voiced, humorous, attractive Susan Saint James, long the co-star of Rock Hudson on "McMillan and Wife" and this season, on NBC, the star of "The Kid from Nowhere" (Jan. 4), in which she plays the mother of a retarded child who finds a sense of achievement through the project called the Special Olympics.

In truth, as well as fiction, the Special Olympics — competitions tailored to train and give a sense of achievement to retarded and handicapped youngsters — is a cause she champions.

She explained at a press conference last month that she was pressured by one of her bosses a few years ago to make a personal appearance at a local (athletic) meet. That one encounter with the Olympics project, conceived and fostered by siblings and in-laws of the late President John Kennedy, became her continuing stand-up-and-cheer personal commitment.

Susan Saint James

Susan continued, "I have custody of my two children only on weekends — and no way I want that taken away, so I take my kids with me to the meets around the country. And we fly coach because this is at my personal expense."

Other performers in "The Kid from Nowhere" are also avid supporters of the Special Olympics, Susan added. Loretta Swit of "M*A*S*H" is one, as is the script's writer, Judy Farrell, the wife of Mike Farrell, who plays Alan Alda's sidekick, B.J. Hunnicutt, on "M*A*S*H."

Farrell, who once said that as a child he had been abused, also endorses causes to aid battered children.

UNICEF, to aid children the world over who lack both sufficient food and medical attention, has long had a powerful champion in comedian Danny Kaye, who pilots his own plane to remote places to entertain the children and raise funds.

A year ago the National Council on Alcoholism's Celebrity Golf Tournament in Las Vegas had a willing volunteer host in Gordon MacRae.

But health causes are not the only attractions for celebrity support.

The Episcopal Actors Guild, which has its headquarters at the historic Little Church Around the Corner in New York City, has voted in two major show folks as vice presidents — Joan Fontaine and Rex Harrison. Both are taking an active role in vitalizing the guild itself and aiding the picturesque church which opened its arms to actors over a hundred years ago when other churches shunned them.

Last month a statue of Jesus in the courtyard was vandalized and toppled to the ground, a further burden to a structure already in need of repair. To aid the cause, Rex Harrison is personally leading a tour of the church (Jan. 6). A party will follow. It should help. Tickets are $50.

"FAME," a new series based on the movie of the same name, will continue the story of the young people from New York's High School for the Performing Arts, to premiere Thursday, Jan. 7 on NBC.

TV PEOPLE

James Brolin stars at a moment's notice

James Brolin took on the starring role of the defense attorney in "The Ambush Murders," airing Tuesday, Jan. 5, literally on a moment's notice. He stepped into the role after another actor, who had been playing the part for several days, became ill. For Brolin, it was a personal challenge.

"I wanted to prove I could do it," he said. "I have always tried to make it a rule to have several weeks of preparation and study before tackling a role. To go in cold and have to get pages of legalese dialogue letter-perfect at first reading was a challenge I wanted to meet for my own satisfaction."

Brolin plays the defender at the third trial of a drawn-out case against an outspoken black activist, portrayed by Dorian Harewood, who is accused of the murders of two white policemen. This fictionalized version of a true story is written by Tony Kaden and based on the book of the same title by Ben Bradlee Jr.

"We were extremely lucky to get an actor of Jim Brolin's caliber at short notice to take on the role of Paul Marshall," the producer, David Goldsmith, said. "It really was due to a combination of events. Brolin had just had a picture commitment delayed because of the then-impending director's strike, we became bold because of our need to finish 'Murders' before the start of the strike. Brolin was looking for an acting challenge and our casting director, Judith Holstra, had the inspiration to visualize him adding something special to the part. She was right."

Brolin once said that he was the last guy in the world who should be an actor. "I couldn't give a book report in school," he said.

He originally was persuaded to try acting by producer Bill Castle, whom he met while working as a laborer on Castle's home. He was put under contract by 20th Century-Fox Studios, one of the last of the "studio system" actors.

That was 20 years ago, and his career has had its highs and lows, fits and starts ever since. He gained his first big success as Dr. Kiley in the long-lived "Marcus Welby" television series and his greatest movie prominence as George Lutz in "The Amityville Horror."

"I've been successful one step at a time," he said. "I went through the whole sensationalism of stardom with 'Welby,' but I wasn't fond of those years. I'm not a tap dancer and never was. I'd really like to become a film producer, able to entertain and still say something about the real world."

FRIDAY

Bob Barker and Kathryn Ann Potthast, the 1982 rose queen, will host the "CBS Tournament of Roses Parade," to air Friday, Jan. 1 on CBS.

'Fame' returns

"Fame," a new one-hour series based on the Oscar-winning movie of the same name, and featuring three of the film's stars, will continue the story of the students at the New York High School for Performing Arts, beginning Jan. 7.

Starring as students in "Fame" are Lee Curreri, who continues his movie role as Bruno; Erica Gimpel; Carlo Imperator; Valerie Landsburg; P.R. Paul; Gene Anthony Ray, who was in the movie as Leroy, dancer supreme; and Lori Singer.

Starring as teachers are Debbie Allen; Albert Hague, reprising his movie role of Shorofsky, music teacher; and Carol Mayo Jenkins.

Parenting picture

"The Surrogate," starring Susan Dey, Paul LeMat, Edward Herrmann and Cassie Yates, is now in production for future broadcast on CBS.

The film draws upon the current controversial issue of surrogate parenting and dramatizes the story of a family-oriented married woman who undertakes a surrogate pregnancy for another woman and encounters severe family and social disapproval.

Susan Dey made her feature-film debut in "First Love" and also stars in the current release "Looker." Paul LeMat won critical acclaim for his role as Melvin in the film "Melvin and Howard."

Edward Herrmann won a Tony award for his work in "Mrs. Warren's Profession" at Lincoln Center. Cassie Yates starred in the mini-series "Rich Man, Poor Man," among many other television appearances. Her films include "FM" and "F.I.S.T."

China filming

After five months of filming in the People's Republic of China, the cast and crew of NBC's "Marco Polo" are heading back to Rome, Italy, for the final two weeks of principal photography on the epic mini-series, which stars Ken Marshall in the title role.

Starting at the Great Wall outside of Peking on July 13, the production company of several hundred Italian technicians, Chinese associates and an international array of actors, moved on to location sites in Inner Mongolia, Chengde, Peking and Kweillin in South China.

American actors filming in China were Leonard Nimoy, Kathryn Dowling, James Hong and Beaulah Quo. Other stars in the eight-hour drama, which recreates the travels and adventures of the young 13th-century Venetian, are Anne Bancroft, Sir John Gielgud, John Houseman, Burt Lancaster, Tony Lo Bianco, Ian McShane and Sada Thompson.

Willie Aames

Aames to host

Willie Aames is the new host for "We're Movin'," Group W Productions' syndicated weekly half-hour magazine series for and about young people, starting this month.

Aames, well known as Tommy Bradford on the series "Eight is Enough," succeeds Scott Baio, who served as host for the first 12 episodes of "We're Movin'."

Baio, the popular Chachi on "Happy Days" and star of several motion pictures, is leaving "We're Movin' " because of his network taping schedule.

The Simons' new love; Ryan at Farrah's party

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Neil Simon and Marsha Mason have found a new love: Italian food. Saturday night they were seen at one Italian restaurant and Sunday they were seen at another across the street... Ryan O'Neal, not the type to play secondary roles — such as the patient escort — came with his lady friend Farrah Fawcett to a Farrah shampoo party, sighing, "I'll do anything for my woman — even this"... The Kirk Douglasses were seen at "Nicholas Nickleby," where nobody sees much of anything besides the stage.

Ali MacGraw

Ali MacGraw: "Men complain they have to take out the garbage. They should remember that we women were the ones who had to cook that garbage"... Richard Burton: "Now that I'm on the wagon I find people who drink very boring. I'm not even crazy about myself"... Ilie Nastase: "As the IRS sees us, America is the land of untold wealth"... Myrna Loy: "Diamonds are a girl's best friend and a dog is a man's best friend which will give you a quick idea of which one's the smarter"... Walter Matthau: "Me, I'm a gambler but my luck is so bad that even when I cheat I can't win."

Walter Matthau

Wayne Rogers, of "House Calls," invested in the new Anne Bancroft-Max Von Sydow play, "Duet for One"... George Segal and his estranged wife, Marian, aren't so estranged. They're working together on his newie, "The Neighbor," filming in Canada. He stars. She edits... Four of L.A.'s beloved Dodgers recorded a "We Are the Champions" single. So far, no advance orders from the Yanks... In the film "Neighbors," Dan Ackroyd and John Belushi reversed their parts after having been first cast in the other fellow's spot.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

DOUBLE HEADER — What is Charlene Tilton's address? And where can I get scripts of old "General Hospital" shows? I missed the summer shows because of my job. But now I'm back in school and would like to catch up. — J.E. Nelson, Conneput Lake, Pa.

Write Charlene in care of "Dallas," at Lorimar Productions, 3970 Overland, Culver City, CA 90230. As far as "General Hospital" scripts, there's no place you can get them. However, there are magazines that print story lines from soaps and they are available in supermarkets. Check them out. Also, talk to friends who might have seen the show during the summer and find out from them what happened. Luke and Laura are married, you know.

Charlene Tilton

WONDER-FUL — How does Lynda Carter change into "Wonder Woman"? — Shari Julson, Beloit, Wis.

Through the magic of camera techniques. They can photograph her in one costume, stop the film, have her change and then photograph her in her Wonder Woman costume. Then they blend the two together through modern technology.

Lynda Carter

DAISY TIME — My girlfriend and I are trying to remember the name of the female star of the old TV series "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." I say it was Patricia Neal and she says it was Doris Day. Can you help us out? — Elerie Hazelton, Jacksonville, N.C.

Both of you are mistaken. Patricia Crowley played the lead in the TV version in the NBC series which aired in 1965. Doris Day played the lead in the 1960 film version of the Jean Kerr book.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

MOM DOESN'T KNOW THIS ANSWER — My mom and I have a bet and you know how moms are... they are never wrong. The question is about Ron Howard and Cindy Williams. My mom says they are married and I say they are not. So — have they ever been or are they married now? — Steve Swift, Maple Hill, N.C.

This time, mom is wrong. Ron and Cindy have never been married to each other. Ron is married to a lovely lady, Cheryl, and they are the parents of a baby daughter named Bryca.

Cindy Williams

CRYING U.N.C.L.E. — Can you please tell me the names of the two main actors who starred in the series "Man from U.N.C.L.E."? — Darin Shorey, Caribou, Maine.

Sure can. They were Robert Vaughn, who played Napoleon Solo, and David McCallum, who played Illya Kuryakin. The late Leo G. Carroll played their boss. There was eventually a spin-off called "The Girl from U.N.C.L.E." and Stefanie Powers, now of "Hart to Hart," played the role.

RELATIVES — Is there any family connection between John Travolta and the girl who plays Jo on "Facts of Life"? They not only look a great deal alike but she sounds a lot like he did when he was playing Barbarino on "Welcome Back, Kotter." — Mrs. D. Criner, Blacksburg, Va.

No relation at all between Travolta and Nancy McKeon, who plays Jo. She, however, is the sister of Philip McKeon, who plays Alice's son on "Alice."

Nancy McKeon

WESTERN HERITAGE — Please print the name of the TV series Ty Hardin starred in many years ago. I think it was a Western. Thank you. — B. Noble, Middletown, Conn.

Ty's series was "Bronco" and it was on in 1959. It alternated with "Cheyenne," starring Clint Walker, and "Sugarfoot," with Will Hutchins.

Frazee Named To Who's Who

Lori A. Frazee, daughter of Mrs. Renelda A. Frazee of Friendsville, and William D. Frazee of Uniontown, Pa., was recently named in the 1982 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A dean's list student, Ms. Frazee earned convocation honors this fall. She is a senior, majoring in sociology/social work and a 1978 graduate of Northern High School.

The 1982 edition of the Who's Who Yearbook carries the names of students from Hood College who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievment, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activites and future potential. They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Named To Who's Who

Steven Sisler, a senior at Liberty Baptist College and son of Richard and Diane Sisler of Friendsville, has recently been selected for the 1982 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Sisler, a pastoral major at the college, plans to graduate in May, 1982.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

GCTA Teacher Talk

by Nancy Meyers

The National Day of Conscience for Public Education — January 17, 1982 will mark the start of a campaign to save public education. NEA, along with state and local affiliates, is planning to communicate to the general public the pressing need to get involved in supporting our public schools. This campaign will continue right up to election day next November.

The major goal in this campaign is "to alert the American people to the very real threat that some in Washington are directing against federal aid for public education," said NEA President Willard McGuire. Along with informing Americans of the Reagan economic approach to education, this campaign will emphasize the fine job school teachers are doing. This day will be an opportunity for all of us to reflect on the role of public schools in our own lives, in the lives of our children and in the growth of our country.

The most stressful occupation in the U.S. today, second only to air traffic controlling, is teaching. With that in mind, GCTA will sponsor a Stress workshop at 4:30 on Thursday, January 21 at GCC. The sessions will concentrate on causes of stress, kinds of stress, and methods of coping with stress.

HOW MONTHS WERE NAMED

Many know that January takes its name from Janus, the two-faced god who supposedly could look back over the past and foretell the future at the same time. The origin of the names for some of the other months is also interesting.

February came to us from Februalia, the time at which the ancients sacrificed to their gods. March, of course, took its name from Mars, the god of war. The ladies enter the picture in May and June, with May reminding us of Maia, goddess of marriage while June, the traditional month for brides, took its name from the goddess Juno.

Quintilis, once the fifth month, was moved to seventh position and renamed July in honor of Julius Caesar. April came to us from "aperire," to open, denoting the time when the earth opened up with new fruits.

The sixth month of the Roman calendar was Sextilis, which became August, the ninth month.

Beginning January 1, 1982 . . .

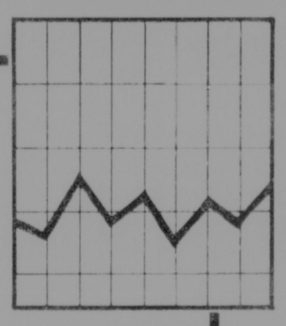
Save with an IRA

And pay less on income taxes. The IRS approves.

First National Bank of Oakland offers you

Two Steps

to a comfortable retirement.



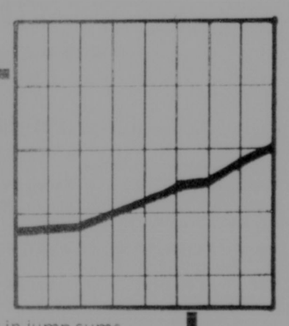
Variable Rate IRA "Growth" Certificate

Step 1:

Our IRA "Growth" Certificate* is the ideal way to get your retirement plan started. It offers you a high rate of return on a minimum deposit of only $10.00, and a maturity of 18 months. This certificate is perfect for those who wish to make regular payroll deductions because you may make deposits in any amount you wish, whenever you wish, throughout the term of the certificate.

The rate of interest we'll pay you on your IRA "Growth" Certificate is subject to change every six months, as it is tied to 6-month Money Market rates.

When your IRA "Growth" Certificate matures, and you have accumulated $500, you have the option of renewing it for the entire amount, or you can withdraw $500 or more and buy one of the high-yielding, fixed-rate certificates described in Step 2.



"Locked-In" Rate IRA Certificates Step 2:

If you prefer to make your IRA deposits in lump sums, or once you've accumulated $500 in your "Growth" Certificate, you may have your choice of the following high-yielding certificates:

(a) The 24-month IRA Certificate. This is a fixed-rate certificate which is tied to 2-year Treasury Notes. The rate at the time you purchase the certificate is guaranteed for the full 24-month period. A $500 minimum deposit is required.

(b) The 30-month IRA Certificate. This IRA Certificate provides our longest maturity and allows you to obtain high, fixed rates for a longer term. This certificate is tied to 2½-year Treasury Securities. A $500 minimum deposit is required.

When, at some point in the future, your IRA plan grows to $10,000 or more, you may take advantage of our IRA Money Market Certificates. This 6-month certificate has a fixed rate which is tied to 6-month Money Market rates, and it allows you to reinvest every six months. A $10,000 minimum deposit is required.

The compounding of interest, tax sheltered in an IRA can really add up.

— EXAMPLE —

Let's assume you would make the maximum allowable deposit of $2,000 per year, and that you would earn an average rate of interest of 10% annually on your funds. Here's how your IRA would grow over the years:

After	Your Contribution	Total Value of Your IRA
5 years	$10,000	$ 13,431
10 years	20,000	35,062
15 years	30,000	69,899
20 years	40,000	126,005
30 years	60,000	361,886

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Waybright of Brookside were surprised on December 20 by members of the Sugarlands Church in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones with a 50th wedding anniversary celebration. The Jones family invited them to dinner following church services and after the dinner, the other members of the church gathered there for cake, punch and candy. The Waybrights were accompanied by their son, Delbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Waybright were married December 24, 1931, and Mrs. Waybright, the former Wilma Bittinger, has been pastoring the Sugarlands Church of the Brethren regularly for the past few years and holding services there for over 51 years.

Those attending the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Knotts and Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Simmons and Darek, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Knotts, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Knotts, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Jeremy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Knotts and Lori, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mullenax and Diane. Several of the families were unable to attend because of sickness and the deep snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Harsh of Accident had their family there for Christmas dinner. Visiting were: Mrs. Eldean Harsh and Gloria, Roger, Pai and Jason Harsh of Ohio; Bernard, Wilda and Carrie Harsh, David and Teresa Opal of Preston; Kathy Harsh and her fiance, Robert Burge, Vernon and Jane Harsh, Carolyn, Brenda, Lisa and Debbie, Richard and Janell Harsh, Becky and Justin.

Christmas evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stemple, Aurora, were Adrian and Pat Stemple, Eva Wotring, Aurora; Dand Elaine Stemple, Debbie, John and Shelly Stemple, Patricia Hastings and Tom Martin, all of Morgantown; Dianne and Danny Stemple of Travers City, Mich.; Tom, Billie, Shana, and Jessica Stemple of Fairview, Mich.; Jerome and Connie Pearsall, Sarah and Aaron of Deer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hardesty of Aurora spent Christmas with Cecelia Hardesty in Terra Alta.

Mrs. Elsie Stemple of Aurora is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she is undergoing tests.

Horst Greaser of Eglon was admitted last week to Garrett County Memorial where he remains a patient.

Kevin Wiles of Rowlesburg is a patient in Garrett County Memorial where he was taken following a Christmas evening accident in the Cathedral Park area of U.S. 50. He underwent surgery to treat two compound fractures of his arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lantz and Glenda of Medina, Ohio, visited last week with her mother, Mrs. Lela Roth at Eglon, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Lantz, in Aurora. Additional Saturday dinners guests of Mrs. Roth were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Roth and Kathy of Troy, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Roth, Joshua and Krista of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Roth, Robert and Wanda Roth and granddaughter, Jamie Downs, all of Morgantown. Farming in Maryland

High Farmland Prices And Interest Rates Change State Dairy Industry

A combination of high farmland prices and high interest rates is causing Maryland dairy farmers to look more closely at the alternative of renting land when they expand dairy operations.

According to Dr. John Wysong, an agricultural economist with the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, the dairy industry has been changing rapidly since the late 1950's. Dr. Wysong said that the results of a 20-year study that began in the Central Piedmont area (Frederick, Carroll, Baltimore, Harford, Howard and Montgomery counties) in 1956 shows a significant change in farm ownership and land use patterns.

Farm size increased from 195 acres to 367 acres per farm during the 20-year study as the number of farms fell from 203 to 73 in the area of the study. Wysong said, "Land for farm expansion and business consolidation came largely from farms that stopped producing milk. If a dairyman died, the dairy operation may have been sold to settle the estate, or a dairy operation may have been so small that the owner decided against the capital investment necessary to increase the size and became employed off the farm.

"In either case, the farmland and buildings were available to a neighboring dairy farmer who could increase his profits by expanding his operation without making a large investment in land."

At the beginning of the study, 60 percent of the farms reported "no rented land." By 1970 only 19 percent remained in the "no rented land" category. The rented land used by the average dairy farm increased from 30 to 58 percent of all land operated during the study. Therefore, the proportion of owned land dropped from 70 to 52 percent.

Dairy herds of 10-40 cows were either being dispersed because they did not generate enough income, or the herd size was being increased to increase profits. During the 20-year period herd size increased from an average of 36 cows to 85 cows.

Wysong pointed out that the latest "Census of Agriculture" for Maryland shows a decline in the number of herds of 10-99 milk cows between 1974 and 1978. The number of herds in this group dropped from 1,874 to 1,477. Farms with 100 or more milk cows increased from 293 to 324. Maryland also had 784 farms with from 1-9 cows in 1978. "Maryland dairy farms have become larger and fewer in number with greater investment in land and more rented land in the last twenty years and apparently the trend is continuing," said Wysong. He added, "High interest rates combined with high market valuation of farmland makes carrying charges almost prohibitive for young farmers and even established dairy farmers.

"Rented land as an expansion alternative will continue to be used, not only by Maryland farmers but by farmers throughout the country."

Farmers Reminded To Make Regular Grain Inspections

To prevent economic loss and protect stored grain from insect damage, farmers participating in the commodity loan and reserve programs are required to make year round inspections of crops destined for future markets. "The farm-stored grain needs to be inspected not only in warm weather but also during the winter," William B. Crum, chairperson of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said.

Insects in stored grain go almost dormant for the winter. Grain near the outer surfaces of the bin cools before that located in the center, and as the grain cools, insects will move toward the center of the bin where the grain is still warm. "The larger the bin, the longer it takes the grain to cool," Crum said.

Stored grain also contains moisture that may shift from one location to another, mainly because of temperature differences that develop within the structure when surface and perimeter areas of the grain cool. Moisture from warm grain moves to cooler parts of the structure, causing damp areas within the grain that favor insect activity and mold development.

When determining eligibility for the grain reserves program or commodity loans, ASCS considers the condition of the storage structure and the commodity stored within the structure. Farmers are responsible for any loss in quality or quantity caused by insect infestation or rodent damage. "If there is evidence of insect infestation, the grain should be fumigated as soon as possible," Crum said. Liquid fumigants are most commonly used and should be applied on a calm day.

The ASCS official encourages farmers to continue using proper storage and handling methods to preserve farm-stored grain year-round.

Small Grain Production Up

Maryland production of small grains in 1981 exceeded year earlier levels for winter wheat, barley and rye, with oats the only crop being slightly lower, announced the Maryland Crop Reporting Service.

Wheat production at 5.62 million bushels was 52 percent above the 1980 crop of 3.69 million bushels. The increased production was harvested from 40,000 more acres, having an average yield of 41 bushels per acre, the second highest on record.

Barley production totaled 5.04 million bushels, 138 percent above the 1980 production of 3.64 million bushels. A 20% increase in acreage combined with an eight-bushel yield increase to a record of 60 bushels per acre, made the difference.

Rye production of 240,000 bushels resulted from increased yield of 30 bushels per acre, tied for the record mark. Acreage harvested was unchanged at 8,000 acres.

Oats production amounted to 1.10 million bushels, two percent below the 1.12 million bushel 1980 production. A decline of four bushels per acre more than offset the 1000 more acres harvested.

Winter wheat seedings in the fall of 1981 for harvest in 1982 increased 14 percent to 160,000 acres.

Rye plantings for the 1982 crop are an estimated 70,000 acres, a six percent increase over planted acres last year.

Hog Count Up

Hogs on Maryland farms on December 1, 1981, totaled 250,000, according to the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service, six percent above last year. Breeding hogs numbered 45,000, 41 percent above the 32,000 on December 1, 1980. Market hogs, at 205,000, increased one percent from the previous year. The 1981 pig crop totaled 434,000, up 21 percent from a year earlier. During 1981 59,000 sows farrowed, producing an average of 7.4 pigs per litter.

Over 19,000 Farm Facility Loans Issued

Farm facility loans made to farmers by USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service totaled 19,338 in fiscal year 1981, compared to 33,850 for fiscal 1980. The new loan disbursements amounted to $225.9 million and represented 166.6 million bushels of storage space.

ASC Chairman William B. Crum said Maryland farmers expanded their grain storage space by 542,232 bushels in fiscal year 1981 through the farm facility loan program. The loans totaled $545,104.

"The program authorizes up to 75 percent of the cost of storage structures and equipment not to exceed $50,000," Crum said. A 25 percent down payment is required and the interest rate is 14½ percent. Borrowers have five years in which to repay the loan, and security involves a lien on the facility and the equipment.

Crum said the 32-year-old program helps the nation's economy and the stability of food and feed supples by making more effective marketing of crops possible.

Eligible storage structures include conventional bins, flat, multipurpose structures for storing dry grain, as well as silo-type facilities for storing high-moisture forage and silage. The drying equipment includes continuous-flow dryers, batch or in-storage drying systems as well as systems that dry by aerating or circulating the crop.

Crum said farmers who have sufficient storage space can take advantage of commodity loans and exercise greater independence in their marketing operations. Currently, some 1,376,170 bushels of wheat and feed grains are under commodity loans in Maryland counties.

To be eligible for the farm facility loan program, a farmer must grow one or more crops of barley, corn, grain sorghum, oats, rye, soybeans, sunflower seed, wheat and high moisture forage.

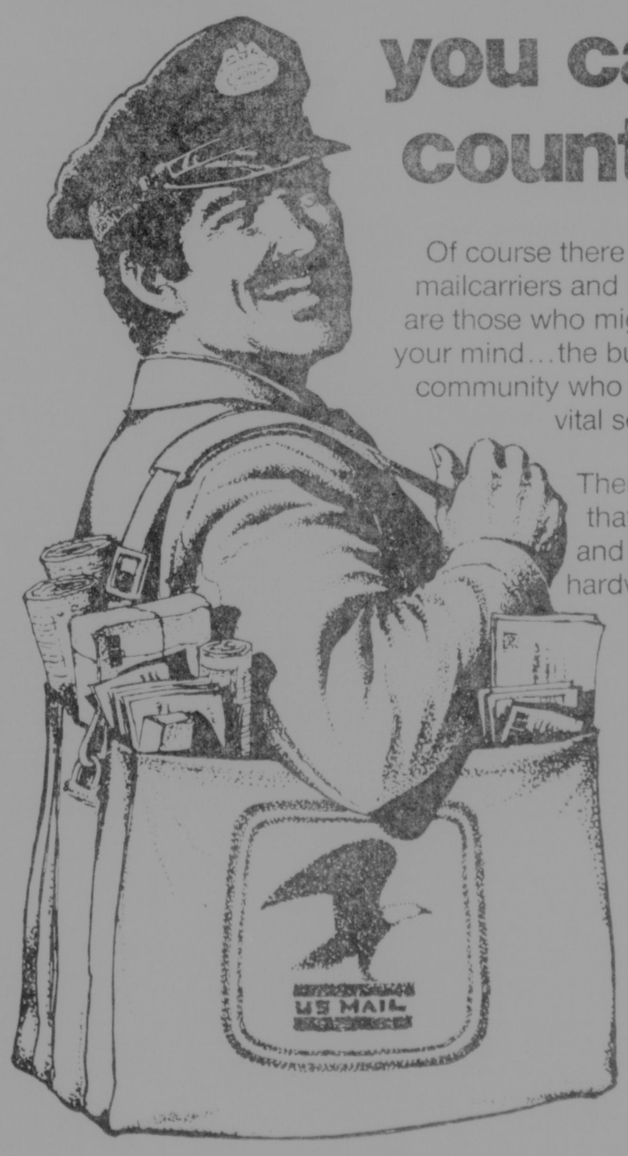
In our town, there are lots of people you can count on!



Of course there are the police, firefighters, mailcarriers and many more. And then there are those who might not readily come to your mind...the business people of our community who provide those extremely vital services we all need and count on.
There's the pharmacist who'll compound that important lifesaving prescription and quickly deliver it. There's the hardware store that stocks those emergency plumbing parts, and the service station that comes out and gets your car quickly started when it just doesn't want to turn over. Local business can be "lifesavers" too. They're there when you need them in an emergency...and when it's not an emergency, will you still call on them? When you shop locally, you help build your community.
We care about our community.

CRIME SOLVERS

Call 334-3111
Reward $100-$1000

This week, Crime Solvers and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are seeking information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for the breaking, entering, and theft which occurred on October 5, 1981.

Criminal investigater Harland Tichnell reports unknown persons entered the residence of Darrell Severe located on Rt. 50, east of Red House. The intruders entered the residence sometime between 12 noon and 4 p.m. Taken from the home were numerous old coins, pennies, nickels, quarters, and half-dollars, along with a small amount of antique jewelry. The perpetrators then ransacked the residence causing a considerable amount of damage. Total loss in damaged items and stolen property exceeded $1,000.

All leads in this investigation have been exhausted and Crime Solvers is seeking your help. Persons having information on this crime or any unsolved crime are asked to call Crime Solvers at 334-3111. Names do not have to be revealed, and no court appearance is necessary. If the tip leads to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible, the caller will be eligible for a cash reward up to $1,000.

Parents To Learn Play Techniques

A weekly workshop, entitled the Mom And Me Play Group, will begin January 11, 1982, and will be held each Monday on the second floor of St. Peter's Catholic School from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Susan Murray, one of the organizers of the group along with Sara Marc, stated the purpose of the group is for parents to learn a variety of ways to play with their children.

During the first half-hour of the workshops, speakers from the community will talk with the group on various subjects. The remainder of the time will be spent in learning songs, games and crafts.

The workshops are open to parents and their preschool children.

Instructors who will direct the group sessions are licensed teachers who currently are not working but are willing to volunteer their time. Muray noted that more teachers are needed for the group.

For more information, persons may Call Sara Marc at 334-4301 or Susan Murray at 334-8650.

D.A.V., Auxilary Annual Christmas Celebration Held

The Disabled American Veterans Chapter 29 and Auxiliary held the annual family Christmas dinner and party on December 19 at the Oakland fire hall.

The evening's activities began with a covered-dish meal at 6 p.m., followed by a time for games led by Wilda Sanders.

Bill Corbin was the winner of the guessing game, organized by Margaret Williams.

Roberta Manning and Bill Corbin were winners of cakes baked by Brenda Butts.

The door prize was awarded to Bill Corbin.

Members of the Auxiliary exchanged gifts and the children received Christmas treats.

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 30, the 364th day of 1981 with one to follow.

The Moon is moving toward its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Capricorn.

British novelist Rudyard Kipling was born Dec. 30, 1865.

On this date in history:

In 1853, the United States bought some 45,000 square miles of land south of the Gila River from Mexico for $10 million. It now is the southern areas of Arizona and New Mexico.

In 1903, a total of 602 people died when fire swept through the Iroquois Theater in Chicago.

In 1944, the Allies began a counter offensive against the Germans in the Ardennes sector and troops of the U.S. 3rd Army relieved the hardpressed 101st Airborne Division at Bastogne, Belgium.

In 1972, President Nixon ordered a halt in the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong and announced secret North Vietnamese peace talks would be resumed in Paris on Jan. 8.

A thought for the day:

British Novelist George Eliot said, "Blessed is the man who, with nothing to say, abstains from giving in words evidence of that fact."

Before You Sign Up For An IRA...

Look At The Other Plans . . .
Then . . . Compare Garrett National Bank's Plan

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE!

Our Plan gives you the best of both worlds

★ The flexibility and ease of use of a Passbook Savings Account, and

★ A high rate of return from your very first deposit of $10 or more.

The Difference Could Mean MANY More $$$ For You!

1. HIGH RATE OF RETURN. Your Garrett National "Special" IRA account* will have a variable rate of interest subject to review every 30 days. This rate will be tied to our 30 month "small saver" certificates of deposit. The yield on your "Special" IRA account will be equal to the rate on our 30 month small saver certificates. (Current rate on 2½ yr. small saver C.D.s is 13.39%.) From your first deposit of $10 or more, your "Special" IRA account will earn this high rate of return. Garrett National requires no minimum amount to accumulate before you begin earning a high yield.

2. FLEXIBLE DEPOSIT SCHEDULE. You can set up a deposit schedule that fits your specific needs. You can make as many deposits during the year as you wish, in any amount.

3. AUTOMATIC DEPOSIT. We can even set up an automatic deposit that will transfer your IRA deposit from your GNB checking account to your IRA account at any time or in any amount you wish.

4. INTEREST COMPOUNDED DAILY. Interest earned on your Garrett National "Special" IRA account will be compounded daily and credited to the account quarterly. This feature allows you to earn a higher yield than an "interest at maturity" certificate of deposit, at the same annual percentage rate.

5. YOUR FUNDS INSURED. As with all deposits at Garrett National, your IRA account is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, up to $100,000.00.

*This account has a maturity of 18 months and requires a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.
Substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.
